MUNICIPAL GARBAGE COLLECTION AGITATION

Majority of Physicians Recommend That Proposed System be Established.

MR. BUCKLE'S OPINION

METAL RECEPTACLES SUGGESTED IN PLACE OF BARRELS.

Only Slight Increase in Tax and a Real Saving to the Citizens—Its Need From a Sanitary Standpoint—Various Opinions.

The subject of a system of municipal collection of garbage is interesting the citizens of Plainfield since Mayor O. L. Jenkins' annual message was read to the governing body of the city at the first meeting of the year. Is municipal garbage collection needed here? Will it cost more to the taxpayers than the present system? Are the people in favor of it? Can it be carried on in this city as in others? These are the questions which are being discussed by those who have the interests of the city at heart.

Said one prominent citizen who does not care to have his name used: "Municipal collection of garbage is bound to come. It is one of the greatest improvements which can be made in a city as progressive as Plainfield. It is needed from a sanitary point of view and it is needed from the standpoint of the taxpayers' interest. The method of removing garbage in use today is impractical and expensive and the only remedy I can see is to have the city do the work. The slight addition to the annual tax bills will be much less than the amount now paid to private concerns to remove the refuse from the kitchen and furnace. In my opinion we need it badly and it cannot come too soon."

Former president of the Common Council James F. Buckle is in favor of the city collecting the garbage. He says that the majority of the physicians of the city, many of whom he has talked with personally, favor the improvement.

When Mr. Buckle was asked whether the same system would be adopted here as in use in New Brunswick and Trenton, he said that he believed some other plan would have to be adopted. In those cities the municipality is divided into districts and one division is covered each day by the garbage collectors. The residents living in this section must have the garbage cans standing along the curb ready for the garbage collector.

In referring to the subject Mr. Buckle said: "This plan will have to be changed in this city. In New Brunswick, where there are so many persons who strive for a living in factories, there is little pride in municipal affairs and the unsightly barrels lining the sidelwalks for blocks does not, as a rule, appeal to them as a blemish to the beauty and sanitary condition of the city. In the city of Trenton, where the population in some districts is very much congested, that system must of necessity be used.

"Here," he said, "the conditions are different. The people of Plainfield have a pride in the appearance of the town and unsightly barrels would disfigure the city streets and sidewalks. While it would no doubt take longer to make the collections, the collectors would have to take the cans from the rear of the houses and replace them when they are emptied."

A physician said that municipal collection of garbage is needed here. It will be found to be cheaper in the long run than the system now used. "The majority of the people are in favor of it and it is bound to come sooner or later."

HALE OLD CITIZEN.

Dr. R. Hutchinson, of East Fifth Street, Celebrating His Ninety-First Birthday.

Dr. R. Hutchinson, of East Fifth street, is celebrating his ninety-first birthday today. He has written a poem in commemoration of the event, one of many poems he has written recently. Dr. Hutchinson's powers are remarkably well preserved and his interest in men and books is no less active today than it was twenty-five years ago. Two weeks ago he was one of the leading speakers at a religious convention in Philadelphia. Dr Hutchinson has been both a practising physician and a minister of the Gospel.

Theodore Brahmst, formerly of Plainfield, now of New York, visited friends in the borough yesterday.

HIGH PRICES ASKED NOW FOR FOODSTUFFS

IN THE RETAIL MARKET

DIFFICULTIES OF SHIPMENT TEND TO ENHANCE PRICES.

Celery at 28 Cents a Bunch and Lettuce at 25 Cents a Head—Eggs Selling at 55 Cents a Dozen—Cauliflower as High as 35 Cts.

Those who live to eat are finding that their chief pleasure is becoming an expensive luxury, with the gradual increase in the price of vegetables, and other household commodities; while those who eat to live are becoming aware that "old fashioned" winters do not fit the inside of the household purse as the more up-to-date ones have done. Food prices have been gradually climbing higher and the cost of supplying the table with fresh vegetables, chickens, turkeys and other eatables has been increasing apace as the cold season continues.

In not a few things the cold weather has forced prices higher than has been known in ten years. Vegetables which sold last winter for $5 a barrel, wholesale, are being retailed at that. Spinach costs $6.50 a barrel, wholesale; a price never heard of before. White turnips, which are sold usually at prices lower than potatoes, are purchased at wholesale at $2 a barrel more.

The cause of this advance is due directly to the extreme weather, and the consequent difficulty of shipping garden truck from the South without having it freeze. This has made many people class fresh vegetables as luxuries and there is a consequent increase in the sale of canned goods.

Here are a few prices of vegetables quoted from Neuman Brothers, which correspond to those at other leading grocery stores in this city: Celery from 15 to 28 cents a bunch; string beans, 18 to 20 cents; lettuce, 12 to 25 cents a head for the best; tomatoes, 25 to 40 cents a quart; and oyster plants, 25 cents each. Cauliflower comes from California and Florida and sells at 25 to 35 cents a head; hot house cucumbers, which are brought from Boston, bring from 15 to 18 cents each. Turnips and parsnips and such home grown products, as are usually to be had in winter, have not been coming in very freely. Those which have been kept in the pits are frozen.

Eggs have been the real luxury during the winter. At one time they sold for 60 cents a dozen and the very best fresh farm eggs are now selling for five cents a piece. The prices have dropped a little, however, and today the average storage eggs are selling for from 40 to 55 cents. The wet weather of last spring killed off the pullets with the result that there was a scarcity of hens during the fall and winter. There is no apparent relief in sight. If anything the prices of food stuffs will continue to rise rather than diminish until the early crops can be harvested and milder weather comes to allow the unhampered shipment of vegetables.

Chickens, consequently are higher. They bring from 18 to 20 cents and turkeys from 24 to 28 cents a pound.

BAPTISMAL CEREMONIES HELD

FOURTEEN CANDIDATES RECEIVED RITE AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

There were fourteen accesions to the membership of the First Baptist church yesterday. There were baptisms morning and evening by the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss. In the morning the ordinance was conferred on eight young persons from the Sunday-school. At this service the pastor read a short letter received from Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, pastor emeritus, in which the latter expressed great joy over the reception of so many new members. At night six persons, also from the Sunday-school were immersed. At both services the pastor preached strong and impressive sermons to unusually large congregations. Nearly every seat was occupied at the services.

There are several others to be baptized and this will be done Friday night following the covenant meeting of the church.

READING GOOD BOOKS, A CIVILIZING FACTOR

The Library Equally as Important as the Church and the School Today.

SUBJECT OF THE SERMON

DISCOURSE OF REV. A. C. NICKERSON A TIMELY ONE.

Shakespeare's Works Especially Helpful—Zola's Realism Not Beneficial to the Mind—A Word for Senator Hoar.

A sermon on "The Books We Read" and their strength of influence on thought and character was delivered by Rev. A. C. Nickerson, at All Souls' Unitarian church yesterday morning. Mr. Nickerson said that the church and the school room were for long years the two strong civilizing factors but that the library had taken its place alongside them as not the least of the three.

The importance of making a careful choice of books as one would of his companions was emphasized, the influence of the one being almost as powerful as that of the other. The novel was praised as a forciful means of illustrating life's truths and deepening one's knowledge of human nature. In addition, the good novel takes the reader out of his ordinary existence and makes him live heroic incidents and novel situations and deal with difficult problems.

The greatness of Shakespeare's works and the importance of familiarity with them occupied much of the speaker's attention. Of realism as exemplified in the works of Zola, Mr. Nickerson was not approving. The horror of the butchery of war, as brought out in "La Debacle," he thought better left unwritten.

Biography and more particularly autobiography were recommended as most instructive and helpful. When such a noble man as Senator George F. Hoar, of Massachusetts, sets forth the incidents of his long life in the midst of the affairs of the nation and relates his intimate thoughts of men and affairs it pays men, said the preacher, to listen.

"THE ANTIDOTE FOR TROUBLE"

IT IS IN THE FOURTEENTH CHAPTER OF ST. JOHN, SAYS REV. MR. FINN.

"The Antidote for Trouble" was the subject of a sermon preached yesterday morning by Rev. A. E. Finn at the Park Avenue Baptist church to which he was recently called as pastor. The antidote, he said, is found in the fourteenth chapter of St. John. The minister's text was "Believe in God; and also believe in Me." Rev. Mr. Finn said trouble can be divided into three classes; that of the body, of the soul, and that of the hereafter. The antidote for the first is in a perfect belief in God and the remedy for trouble in the soul and in the hereafter is belief in Jesus Christ, he declared. "God is the Father and will have a Fatherly care over our bodies," he said, "while Christ saved us from sin and has gone to prepare a place for us."

He likened the Christian to a soldier who starts out for the seat of war with not a thought as to whether quarters will be found for him. He trusts to the quartermaster. Christ, the pastor said, is the quartermaster for the great army of Christian people and he will prepare a place for his followers in the hereafter.

GREEK SPOKE.

Told of Encouraging Work Done in Far Off Christian Field.

Reports of an optimistic nature on mission work in Greece were given last evening by Alecko A. Vasakas, of Monaster, Macedonia, before the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian church. The speaker said that the Christian influence in all parts of Greece is spreading and strengthening its hold, opposition having no other effect than to make the mission workers more enthusiastic in their labors.

Dr. Chambliss Spoke.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church, was the speaker at the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting yesterday afternoon. Special music was by the Trinity Reformed church choir. There was a large attendance.

SUSPECTED MARAUDERS AT RAILROAD STATION

Gang of Five Rough-Looking Men Caused Uneasiness at Clinton Avenue Station.

QUINTETTE ARRESTED

ORDERED TO LEAVE THE CITY BY JUDGE RUNYON.

Escorted to City Line by Patrolman Flynn—Money From Sale of Commuters Tickets in Station at Time—Going to New York.

There was a large-sized scare at the Clinton Avenue station of the Jersey Central this morning, the presence of five disreputable-looking men hanging about the station combined with the fact that there was from $400 to $500 in the station, in cash received from the sale of commuters' tickets for February, causing considerable uneasiness on the part of the station agent, Mrs. Sarah A. Meader. Not only was the station agent alarmed, but many passengers, noticing the roughly dressed tramps peering in the windows and loafing about outside and in the station feared that there might be some danger.

The men were first seen at about 7:30 o'clock and as they had given no signs of disappearing three-quarters of an hour later, Mrs. Meader sent a boy to W. W. Wilson's store to telephone of the police. One of the men followed the boy and evidently discovered his purpose, for all five of them left the station a few minutes later.

Patrolmen McCarthy and Overbaugh were dispatched to the scene and found four of the men on the road half way from Clinton avenue. The fifth man was located somewhat later by Patrolman Higgins.

James Simpson, Sidney Northcote, Charles Hagelin, John J. O'Melia and John Plugger were the names given by the quintette. They were brought before City Judge Runyon on a charge of vagrancy. They said that they had gone into the station to warm themselves preparatory to resuming their travels to New York. They were discharged and ordered to leave town as quickly as possible. Patrolman Flynn accompanied them as far as the city limits and saw to it that they did not linger.

HALF-TIME SYSTEM.

Pupils in North Plainfield School Suffer From Lack of Accommodations.

More than one thousand children in the North Plainfield High School have been promoted and with these promotions comes the half-time system for the children in the lower grades. In order to propertly take care of the children in the lower grades, which have come in in such numbers as to fill every seat in the lower class rooms, two teachers are employed in the primary class room.

The Board of Education has made a change in the location of the third B class. It has been removed from the store at the corner of Manning avenue and Somerset street to the Watchung School and the first grade pupils have been placed in the store building used as a school.

UNION COUNTY BAR ASSOCIATION BANQUET

Corporation Counsel Craig A Marsh, of This City, Acted as Toastmaster.

AFFAIR AT CAFE MARTIN

ASSEMBLYMAN S. S. SWACKHAMER RESPONDED TO A TOAST.

Menu in Form of a Summons—Judge W. R. Codington, William Newcorn and Sheriff B. F. Corlell Among Those Present.

There were about fifty members of the Union County Bar Association and their guests from other parts of New Jersey at the banquet of the association Saturday night in the private banqueting room of the Cafe Martin, New York. Craig A. Marsh, president of the association, presided and acted as toastmaster. Other members present from this city were former Judge W. R. Codington, former Assemblyman William Newcorn, Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer and Sheriff B. Frank Corlell.

Mr. Marsh, in making the introductory address, spoke of the "Uses and Benefits of a Bar Association," taking his text from a quotation from Cicero, "the diligent farmer plants trees of which he himself may never see the fruit."

Assemblyman Swackhamer was the other Plainfielder who responded to a toast. He explained "The Duty of the Bar to the Legislature," and his text was "whatever may be the issue, we shall share one common danger, one safety."

The menus were unique affairs, printed in the form of summonses. The keynote of all the speeches was progress, the glory of New Jersey and Union County, and the success and prosperity of the Bar Association and its members. The officers of the association are Craig A. Marsh, president; N. C. J. English, vice president; F. C. Hyer, secretary; N. R. Leavitt, treasurer.

TO SELL BOWEN HOMESTEAD

THE HOUSE WHERE FATHER OF PLAINFIELDER ENTERTAINED LINCOLN.

One of the most interesting of the old residences in the Heights section of Brooklyn is to be sold and will in all probability be razed by the purchaser. The property is the Henry C. Bowen homestead, at 90 Willow street. It is to be sold at auction on Feb. 18. The sale is directed by Edward A. Bowen, Charles W. Bowen and Franklin D. Bowen, executors of the estate.

The house, which was built in 1840, is a large frame structure, 60 by 100 feet, standing in the middle of a plot 100 by 200 feet. The property had been the site of a fort during the Revolution, and afterward was used as a public park. Kossuth was received there when he visited America. David Leavitt, President of the American Exchange Bank of New York, was the original occupant of the house, and it was bought from him by Mr. Bowen in 1853. Mr. Bowen, who was the editor of The Independent, entertained President Lincoln at one time in his home.

Among those interested in the property are Herbert W. Bowen, United States Minister to Venezuela, Mrs. George C. Holt, wife of United States Judge Holt, and H. E. Bowen, of this city.

MAN'S INDIFFERENCE.

Minister Says That Passive Acceptance of God's Word is Not Enough.

Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, last night preached a strong sermon on "Man's Place in the Universe," the importance of which, he said, is revealed in God's act in sending His Son to earth for man's salvation. The attitude of indifference towards spiritual life, adopted so generally in modern life, the pastor attacked vigorously, describing as insufficient a mere passive acceptance of the truths of Christianity.

Preparing for Athletic Meet.

Candidates for the Y. M. C. A. athletic team, which will represent Plainfield in the inter-association meet in this city next Monday night, were given a stiff practice Saturday night. The entries from four of the competing associations have already been received and it is expected that the complete list will be ready today or tomorrow.

ORGANIZATION'S PLEA FOR BIRD PROTECTION

Aububon Society of New Jersey Protests Against Any Legalized Killing.

ALEX. GILBERT, PREST.

LEAFLET BY FRANK M. CHAPMAN ON THE SUBJECT OF STATE INTEREST.

Commendatory Note by Mr. Gilbert—Form of Petition to the Legislature—Complete Text of Mr. Chapman's Leaflet.

A leaflet, entitled "A Protest Against the Legal Killing of Songbirds," by Frank M. Chapman, and bearing at its head the name of the Audubon Society of the State of New Jersey, of which former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, of this city, is president, has just been issued. Appended to it is a strong commenndatory note from Mr. Gilbert, and it is accompanied by a blank petition to the Governor and Legisalature, protesting against the passage of any bill that removes protection from song and insectiverous birds. In view of Mr. Gilbert's prominence in this movement, it is interesting to note that he is a member of the Plainfield Audubon Society, which has passed a resolution calling for the enactment of a bill permitting farmers to shoot robins when caught robbing fruit trees.

Mr. Chapman's "Protest," and Mr. Gilbert's accompanying note, are as follows:

Residents of New Jersey, whether or not they be interested in birds, should spare no effort to prevent the passage of the bills recently introduced into the Senate and Assembly, which permit the killing at certain times of robins, catbirds, meadowlarks, flickers or golden-winged woodpeckers and doves.

There are three reasons why these bills should not become laws.

First—Because the birds mentioned, in devouring noxious insect and the seeds of weeds, are of inestimable value to the State. Granted that robins and catbirds destroy fruit, does it follow that the birds do more harm than good? The bird is the property of the State, not of the individual. The laws of the State are designed to provide for the welfare of the many, not of the few. When it is shown that the robins and catbirds are more destructive than beneficial, then the State will be justified in destroying them. Until, however, the birds have been proved to be guilty, we are not warranted in condemning them. In the mean time, fruitgrowers can protect their crops by using firearms charged with powder alone, quite as readily as by using shot and firing with intent to kill.

Second—There can be more certain method of having the State overrun with pot-hunting Italians than to add robins, flickers and doves to the list of birds which may be legally killed in the fall. With few exceptions, this list is now confined to game birds which are pursued by true sportsmen, whom game wardens can readily distinguish from the sneaking songbird killer. If, however, we legalize the killing of even a few songbirds, we not only practically remove protection from them all, but we invite invasion from a horde of ignorant foreigners, to whom trespass signs will be unintelligible, and who will not only murder our birds by the thousand, but incidentally steal more fruit than the birds could rob us of in a century. Let the farmer recall that melons, peaches, pears and apples, not to mention garden truck of many kinds, ripen at the very time when it is proposed to give fruit-loving foreign gunners a legal excuse to prowl armed about the country. As a New Jersey fruitgrower, I speak here from an altogether too practical experience.

Third—Birds, especially songbirds, and more particularly those species of songbirds which, because of their abundance and trustfulness, enter into out daily lives, have a value not to be expressed in dollars and cents. The robin and the meadowlark, in New Jersey, are the musicians of spring's advance guard. In all the year is there a more cherry note than the robin's carol from the topmost bough of a leafless elm or maple some March evening, when the frogs are croaking in the lowlands? It is a voice which appeals to a constantly increasing multitude, as nature study classes open our eyes and ears to the charms of the world about us. It is a message

PROSPECTS FOR NEW HIGH SCHOOL BRIGHT

The Proposed Structure to be Erected as Soon as Council Can Take Necessary Steps.

CAUSE OF THE DELAY

HOPE TO HAVE THE STRUCTURE COMPLETED IN TIME FOR FALL TERM.

Overcrowded Condition of Schools Demand Speedy Work—Bonds for $125,000 Will Have to be Sold Over Again—To Act Promptly.

The prospects for the early erection of Plainfield's new high school building are now considered most promising by the members of the Board of Education and others interested in the project. The decision by the courts as to the unconstitutionality of the old school law was a disappointment to those who had fully expected that all obstacles had been removed and the new building would soon be a reality. The old law was amended to comply with the objections set forth and the Colby act will permit the local authorities to commence the work.

There is considerable red tape and this cannot be ignored in any particular. Although bids were issued the money was not transferred by the successful bidders, Landenburg, Thalman & Co., of New York, owing to the decision of the courts. And even after the law was amended the brokers would not negotiate the loan until all the legal steps had been taken. This means that after the Board of School Estimate has passed upon the matter, the Common Council will have to take the necessary action. The bids for the acceptance of the bonds will have to be advertised, exactly the same as in the first instance. The figure offered at first and accepted in the issuance of the school bonds will probably be changed and while every one hopes that the new bid may be just as advantageous as the first this cannot be assured, for it is said that it costs more to borrow money today then it did when the first bonds were issued.

The Board of School Estimate recently passed upon the necessary matters, and it is expected that at the Common Council meeting tonight the members will be asked to do the same, that is grant the request to borrow the $125,000 for the project and advertise for bids for the bonds to be issued. There should not be as much delay as in the first case, as the site has been selected, the plans for the school have been drawn and accepted and all that now remains to be done is to issue bonds and get some responsible party to buy them.

Superintendent H. M. Maxson, when questioned about the matter, expressed the hope that the work on the new building would be started early in the spring, thus making it possible to occupy it when the fall term begins. The Common Council is believed to be in perfect harmony with the Board of Education in its desire to secure the much-needed high school and it is believed that the members will do all in their power to have the work started as soon as possible.

The present condition of affairs at the high school are such that it is an absolute necessity that a new building be erected and longer delay is seriously interfering with the cause of education. All the rooms are overcrowded, in fact uncomfortably so.

WANT TROLLEY WAITING ROOM

NO ACCOMMODATIONS FOR PASSENGERS AT DUNELLEN'S JUNCTION.

Patrons of the road are clamoring for a waiting room at the trolley junction at Dunellen. Passengers who transfer at that point are obliged to stand in the cold and snow sometimes half an hour waiting for a car to come along. At night this is said to be a dangerous locality, and women, frequently unattended, are obliged to wait in the street and listen to the vulgar remarks of a crowd of young boys who make the place a rendevous. The cars of the Middlesex and Somerset line do not make good connections with those of the Public Service Corporation line, and long waits are invariably the consequence. It is understood that some of the citizens of Dunellen, Lincoln and Bound Brook who commute to this city on the trolley cars are framing a communication which will be sent to the trolley companies, asking for the necessary relief.

AMUSEMENTS.

The success attained by Mr. Ralph Stuart in "By Right of Sword" at the American Theatre was voiced by the press of New York. Never before in the history of the debut of a new star was success so pronounced both for Mr. Stuart and his play. The American Theatre was crowded to the doors on the opening night, and from the rise to the final fall of the curtain calls and shouts of applause were continuous. So great has been the demand for seats that tickets have been put on sale for the entire engagement.

Chester B. Dennis, of East Sixth street, is confined to his home by illness.

LOWERS ALL MARKS.

W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Makes Fifty Miles In Forty-one Minutes.

ORMOND, Fla., Feb. 1.—William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., has departed from Ormond with three more brilliant victories to his credit, and for a year he will cease automobile racing until the next meet at Ormond. Mr. Vanderbilt will then have a 120 horsepower car, with which he hopes to lower his great bunch of records made at this meet. He has placed the fifty mile record to his credit and all intermediate marks by ten mile stretches. He won the ten mile event in the invitation race in 6:50. The twenty miles in the fifty mile championship he did in 17:02, thirty miles in 24:11, forty miles in 33:52 2-5 and fifty miles in 40:49 4-5.

These marks, with the five mile mark of 3:31 3-5 and his one mile record of 39 seconds, are all notable. Oldfield gained the mile competition record, but every mile made by Mr. Vanderbilt in the five mile record averaged better than Oldfield's time, bearing out the assertion by Mr. Vanderbilt that he was caught napping while changing his gears.

In the fifty mile race the terrific pace of a mile and one-fifth a minute was attained, or seventy-two miles an hour, faster than an express train.

The record of a mile in 48 seconds, the average speed attained by Mr. Vanderbilt in the fifty mile race, takes rank among the fastest miles ever achieved anywhere in the world. There are few records surpassing it.

In Germany recently an electric car made a mile in 27½ seconds. On May 10, 1903, the Empire State express made a mile in 32 seconds. On Sept. 27 G. C. Cannon on a circular track at Providence made a mile in 1:01 on his automobile.

Russian Won World's Championship.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The great interest in wrestling that is being shown throughout the United Kingdom reached its climax when at the Olympia club several thousand spectators gathered to witness the wrestling match for the championship of the world, carrying with it a purse of $10,000 and a side bet of $500. George Hackenschmidt, a Russian generally known as the "Russian Lion," and Ahamed Madrali, a Turk, popularly called the "Terrible Turk," were the contestants. The Russian won the first fall in one minute. The Turk's arm was dislocated at the elbow in the fall, and Hackenschmidt was declared the winner of the bout and the championship.

Yale Won Great Relay Race.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Relay racing aroused the followers of athletics to a high pitch of enthusiasm here. It was a long programme of relay competitions that was presented at the open athletic meet held under the auspices of Columbia university in the Madison Square Garden, yet the throng never tired, cheering lustily every courageous runner, from the deep blue shirted men of Yale who won the great two mile intercollegiate contest to the plucky little fellows of the public school teams, who displayed splendid stamina and judgment in the way they earned their victories or swallowed the bitter draft of defeat in true sportsmanlike fashion.

Harvard Downed Columbia.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The meeting of the hockey teams of Harvard and Columbia at the St. Nicholas rink resulted in a slugging match such as is seldom seen even at college hockey matches and an exhibition of goal keeping at both ends which could not have been nearer to perfection had a Canadian team of champions been engaged in playing All New York. The outcome was a surprise, Harvard winning by 2 goals to 0, both obtained during the last two minutes of play, after making a showing distinctly inferior in science to that of the local representatives.

Captain Arnold Landed First.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 1.—Captain Arnold, a fairly well supported second choice, landed the star number of the card, the Merchants' handicap. The stake was worth $1,920 to the winner. Tribes Hill was made favorite in the betting, but never figured in the contest. Floral King set the pace for six furlongs, when Captain Arnold, who had been outrun in the early part of the race, joined him. The finish was a hard drive, and the Ellison colt had only a nose the better of it at the wire. Hands Across and Handspinner were the only winning favorites.

International Racing on Ice.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Feb. 1.—In the first heat of the international ice yacht races sailed here Princess of Madison, Wis., finished first. The course of twenty miles was covered in 52:25, the light wind being accountable for the slow speed. The other boats finished as follows: Highlo, Kalamazoo, 56:19; Arctic, Muskegon, 58:15; Pedro, Kalamazoo, 1:05:04; Zero, Milwaukee, 1:11:10; North Wind, Galesburg, 1:14:45. Dreadnaught, Red Bank, N. J., started, but dropped out.

Corbett Willing to Meet Fitz.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 1.—James J. Corbett, who is filling a theatrical engagement here, has stated that, provided a sufficient purse was offered, he would cancel his present contract and agree to meet Fitzsimmons again. Corbett thinks Fitzsimmons has gone back rapidly and that there could be no doubt of the outcome if they should meet again.

MARRIAGE AND THE SABBATH.

"Two Things of All God Planted Live Today."

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—Judge William H. H. Emmons, chairman of the Boston police board, was the chief speaker at the annual public meeting of the New England Sabbath Protective league in Tremont temple here, unusual interest being taken in his remarks from the fact that his actions in enforcing certain laws have been sharply criticised.

Rev. Dr. P. S. Henson, pastor of Tremont temple, in welcoming the speaker said:

"There are but two things of all that God planted that live today. These are the family or marriage tie and the Sabbath. The marriage tie is being rapidly loosened, and the American republic will not long survive the abandoning of the American Sabbath. The people are going mad faster than they can build asylums to hold them because of the everlasting grind without rest.'"

In the course of his address Judge Emmons said:

"It is simply the duty of the police board to enforce the laws as made by the legislature, and the individual opinions of those laws by its members are not to be considered.

"So far as the board of police is concerned the people of Boston can have prize fights, gambling—they can have anything they want—provided they get it lawfully, and they cannot have it unless it is lawful."

Boston City In Collision; Is Aground.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The Wilson line steamship Colorado, Captain Cox, from Hull, while proceeding up the lower bay, while proceeding up the Southwest spit, was in collision with the outward bound Bristol City line steamer Boston City, Captain Carey, from New York for Bristol and Swansea. The Boston City had a large hole torn in her port side forward of the bridge, and her bridge was smashed. She began to fill rapidly and was run into shallow water to prevent her sinking. The weather at the time of the collision was clear and the tide ebbing. Later the Boston City was floated with the rising tide only to drift to the west side of Southwest spit and ground again. The Colorado after the accident stood by and took off some of the crew of the Boston City and then proceeded to her dock.

Six More Graft Arrests.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 1.—Six more arrests were made here on indictments returned by the grand jury as follows: Ex-Alderman Charles Cooke, charged with bribery; Henry G. Razall, stationery dealer, offering a bribe; Supervisor Julius Feige, obtaining county orders under false pretenses (three indictments); ex-Alderman Rudolph, bribery; Fred Heiden, Jr., former inspector house of correction, obtaining county orders under false pretenses; Alderman Adolph C. Weisenborn, bribery. Caplases were issued for the arrest of others as follows: Charles Esau, charged with perjury; Albert G. Peixner, coal dealer, charged with securing county orders under false pretenses.

Murderer Gave Himself Up.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 1.—Joseph Miller, alias Meunier, walked into police headquarters and gave himself up, admitting that he stabbed Mrs. James F. Seville to death. Miller told the police that the only reason he had for killing Mrs. Seville, whom he loved, was that he believed that she and her husband had concocted a plot to cheat him out of his money. He said that before stabbing Mrs. Seville to death he had decided to poison her and bought a half pint of sherry, in which he placed twenty grains of arsenic. He offered her this drink, but Mrs. Seville refused to take it. Miller says he afterward drank part of it himself and that it burned his stomach terribly.

Arrested After Two Years.

NASHUA, N. H., Feb. 1.—Harry A. Bailey, who has been arrested in St. Louis and who has been wanted in this city for two years for the alleged embezzlement of $2,000 of municipal funds, was known in this city at the time of his disappearance several years ago as Alfred A. Hall. A reward of $50 was offered by the police, as he was charged with the embezzlement of $2,000 of the dog tax money and also of the proceeds of letting the city hall. Since his disappearance his wife has become a teacher in one of the public schools.

One Killed; Twenty-five Overcome.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—One fireman was killed and twenty-five firemen overcome by smoke in a fire in a storehouse of the American Manufacturing company in Brooklyn last night. WAITING ON RUSSIA

Her Answer In Far Eastern Crisis Not Ready.

REPLY WILL BE GIVEN THIS WEEK

Efforts Being Made to So Shape Message to Japan as to Prevent a Rupture That Means So Much to Both Powers.

PARIS, Feb. 1.—Another delay has occurred in framing and forwarding the Russian answer to the latest Japanese note, and this will result in further averting the culmination of the crisis until the middle or the latter part of this week.

Late official advices received here from St. Petersburg, although somewhat negative, gave definite details of the status of the note and the programme it was intended to follow. Count Lamsdorff, the Russian foreign minister, had expected that the exchanges going on would have permitted the final drafting of the answer so that it could have been presented to the czar for his approval, but these expectations were not realized, and, as a matter of fact, the answer has not yet been finally drafted. It was therefore determined to defer its submission to the czar until tomorrow or Wednesday. Efforts are still being made to so shape this answer as to prevent a rupture.

This new delay is interpreted as slightly improving the situation, as it indicates that Russia is making extreme efforts to bring the answer within limits acceptable to Japan.

Owing to the fact that the Russian answer is not completed, it is pointed out that the reports concerning its general terms must be taken with allowance, as the delay indicates that some of the points which presented the most serious difficulties may yet be reconciled.

Throughout the past week the French foreign office has been kept fully advised of the general tendencies of Russia, but has not known if these tendencies would be incorporated in the answer by which Russia would irrevocably abide.

Owing to the feeling that a final effort toward reconciliation was being made, the tone of official sentiment in the matter has somewhat improved.

Baron Hayashi Says No Answer Yet.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister to Great Britain, stated officially last night that his government had not yet received any intimation as to Russia's answer and that it was therefore impossible to say whether war was probable or not. The fact that the Russian reply had not yet been dispatched showed, according to Baron Hayashi, that Russia's decision had not been taken, as it was hardly probable if a decision had been reached that the note should be delayed.

A semiofficial denial has been issued at St. Petersburg to the reports that the czar presided at a council at which the Russian reply was drafted.

Dodge Held Under Guard.

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 1.—G. F. Dodge, who is under arrest here charged with being a fugitive from justice from New York, has been taken to the Rice hotel, where he is under guard pending an effort to secure his release. The court proceedings resulted in Dodge being refused bond, and the preliminary examination was set for next Wednesday. A. H. Haffenburg of the firm of Howe & Hummel of New York conducted the case. He is now at work with local attorneys on the habeas corpus proceedings, which are to be taken up today in the district court to secure the release of Dodge.

Electric Car Ran Away.

AUGUSTA, Me., Feb. 1.—An electric car on the Augusta, Winthrop and Gardiner Street railway became unmanageable at the junction of Western avenue and State street, left the tracks and dashed across the street into a yard. The car contained fourteen persons. The most seriously injured was E. A. Moore, the local agent of the American Express company, who had both shoulder blades broken. He was removed to a hospital. The others in the car, although rendered almost insensible by the shock, sustained only slight bruises.

Germans Killed at Okahandja.

BERLIN, Feb. 1.—A dispatch received here from Swakopmund, German Southwest Africa, says that three men have been killed in sorties from Okahandja against the besieging rebel natives. The garrison at Omaruru repulsed a severe attack on Jan. 27, and it is assumed that Otimbingwe is also besieged. Repairs to the railroad beyond Karibib have been commenced.

No Russian Troops Killed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 1.—Further investigation of the story published in the United States under a Berlin date to the effect that during the recent maneuvers of Russian troops a bridge was blown up by order of Grand Duke Serge, governor general of Moscow, resulting in the killing or wounding of 50 officers and 1,000 men, proves it to be absolutely false.

MISSION TO MENELEK

United States Expedition to Abyssinia Successful.

GREAT RECEPTION GIVEN BY KING

President Roosevelt Selected Opportune Time For Establishing Relations With Ethiopia—Americans to Conduct Their Own Trade.

MARSEILLES, France, Feb. 1.—The following details of the governmental mission to King Menelek of Abyssinia which was led by United States Consul Robert P. Skinner have been obtained. Mr. Skinner's party has arrived here on board the steamer Victoria.

The American marines and bluejackets who accompanied the expedition were left at Aden and went on to join the American gunboat Machias.

Consul Skinner and the other members of the party are in good health, and they speak enthusiastically of the reception accorded them by King Menelek. On the way to the coast the party saw one elephant and heard a number of lions, but experienced no exciting adventures. In the course of an interview Mr. Skinner said:

"President Roosevelt selected a most opportune time for establishing relations with Ethiopia, as Americans heretofore have been too indifferent to the remarkable development which is now going on in Abyssinia. Our cotton cloths pass through many hands before being sold at high prices in Abyssinia, but now Americans have opportunities to conduct their own trade. King Menelek will send some of the products of his country to the St. Louis exposition as well as a commission composed of able men to show the Americans commercial opportunities in Abyssinia. The king is a broad minded statesman who will welcome Americans."

During the visit of the Skinner party at the capital King Menelek received them surrounded by an imposing assemblage of 2,000 functionaries. The escort of American marines established a camp called Camp Roosevelt, which attracted a great deal of interest. The king made a personal inspection of the camp, which lasted for three hours, and after having witnessed the maneuvers of the marines he asked one of the men for his gun and loaded and fired it. This act on the part of the king aroused much enthusiasm and impressed the visiting Americans with the assimilative ability of the Abyssinians.

Consul Skinner says further that the country is being rapidly modernized and that new roads, bridges, water supplies, telephones and telegraph lines are being constructed. He considers the Abyssinians to be the Japanese of Africa. He points out, however, that the postal and banking systems are defective and unsatisfactory. The money is on a silver basis. Consul Skinner believes that Americans will find a large field for activity in the gold, coal, petroleum and asphalt possibilities of Abyssinia.

An official report of the result of the mission has been forwarded to Washington.

According to news received by the foreign office, King Menelek is not likely to leave Abyssinia because of the political situation there. There is already a candidate for succession to the throne, and he fears that his departure would be a signal for civil warfare among the different chiefs. It is therefore considered impossible for the king to visit the St. Louis exposition.

Chicago to Be Held Up For Damages.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Personal injury suits amounting to $38,666,952 are pending against the city of Chicago, according to the report of City Attorney John W. Smulski, just made public. The council, the legislature and finally the people are appealed to for relief. Sidewalk injuries caused the majority of the suits. Mr. Smulski in his report shows that the interests combining to loot the city in this way amount practically to an organization. Names of lawyers, mostly young men, and doctors occur with great frequency in the list of suits.

Asphalt Company's Claim Is Void.

CARACAS, Feb. 1.—The federal high court, sitting in full session with ten judges on the bench, has finally handed down a decision in the long drawn out asphalt case. The court gives as its unanimous judgment the opinion that the claim of Messrs. Warner & Quinlan of Syracuse, N. Y., to possession of the Felicidad asphalt mine, a portion of the asphalt lake in the state of Bermudez, claimed also by the New York and Bermudez Asphalt company, who hold a concession to work the lake, is null and void.

Colorado Flier Wrecked.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 1.—The Colorado flier on the Missouri Pacific from Denver for Kansas City was derailed near Miller, Kan., while running at the rate of forty miles an hour. The engine and rear car, a Pullman alone, remained upright on the track. The baggage car, smoker and a chair car were thrown into the ditch, turning over and being shattered. One person, W. L. Brown of Sansom, Kan., was killed and thirteen injured, one seriously.

Boston Printers to Strike.

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—Unless a contingency unexpected by either party to the controversy arises fifty-six book and job printing establishments, fifty of which are in this city, two in Norwood and one each in Lynn, Cambridge, Brookline and Randolph, will be without job printers and compositors after a formal presentation of the rejected schedule to individual employers today.

Mrs. Maybrick Not Released—Merely Moved From Aylesbury Prison.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Mrs. Florence Maybrick, who is serving a life sentence for the murder of her husband, has not been released, but has been removed from Aylesbury prison presumably to a private institution for the purpose of recuperation. She is still undergoing sentence under guard, and, though apparently not an inmate of any prison, she still remains as much a prisoner in the eye of the law as when she was at Aylesbury.

On the authority of the United States embassy here it is definitely denied that Mrs. Maybrick has been pardoned.

A report from Aylesbury said that Mrs. Florence Maybrick, the American woman who was serving a life sentence for having poisoned her husband, was released from the Aylesbury female convict prison on special license and had been granted a ticket of leave.

MRS. FLORENCE MAYBRICK.
[At the time of her marriage.]

An English government official lately stated that Mrs. Maybrick probably would be released during the coming summer.

Florence C. Maybrick, the daughter of the late W. G. Chandler, a banker of Mobile, Ala., was convicted at Liverpool in 1889 of having poisoned her husband, James Maybrick, a cotton broker, who lived part of the time in Norfolk and part in Liverpool. She was sentenced to death, but this sentence was later commuted to life imprisonment.

Many efforts by Americans and others who believed her innocent of the crime were made during Mrs. Maybrick's imprisonment to have her pardoned, and it was announced on March 23, 1903, on authority of the home office, that she would be released in 1904.

At the trial it was established that Mr. Maybrick, a man of dissipated life, was a confirmed arsenic eater. The judge before whom Mrs. Maybrick was arraigned was afterward shown to be a man of unsound mind, with a violent antipathy against Americans. Soon after the trial he was retired, and in a short time he died in a private insane asylum.

Five Miners Killed.

MAHANOY CITY, Pa., Feb. 1.—Five men were instantly killed by an explosion of powder in the Maple Hill colliery of the Philadelphia Coal and Iron company. The victims were rockmen. The men were killed in a steel cage in which they were being hoisted. The explosion ripped the cage apart, and the mangled forms of the workmen fell 300 feet to the bottom of the shaft. The head of one of the men was blown off. The Maple Hill is one of the collieries visited by the anthracite strike commission, and it is one of the best equipped mines in the hard coal regions.

Swiss President's Son Shot Himself.

DIJON, France, Feb. 1.—Arnold Comtesse, son of the president of Switzerland, has committed suicide. M. Comtesse, who had been living here recently, drove out to pay a visit to a woman of his acquaintance. Upon being informed that she was not in Comtesse re-entered his carriage and shot himself in the mouth with a revolver, the bullet penetrating his brain. He was taken to a hospital, where he died. He had been suffering from cerebral derangement resulting from malarial fever.

New Head of England's Army Will Be Chief of Staff, and Military Executive Will Be Modeled After German Force.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The report of the royal commission, known as the Lord Esher commission, which was appointed for the purpose of advising the government concerning the administrative business of the war office, has been issued. It advises that the post of commander in chief of the army be abolished. With the approval of the king and acting upon the recommendations of the commission, the government has decided to appoint an army council framed upon the admiralty model, to abolish the office of commander in chief of the army and to create a new post, that of inspector general, whose principal duty will be to inspect and report on the efficiency of the military forces.

The commission suggests the addition to the existing defense committee of a permanent secretary holding office for five years, two naval officers selected by the admiralty, two military officers chosen by the viceroy of India and if possible other colonial representatives holding office for two years.

With regard to the war office, the commission suggests that the secretary of state for war be placed in the same position as the first lord of the admiralty, directly responsible to the crown and to parliament. The constitution of the army council aims at decentralization, the individual members of the council being intrusted with different branches, such as armament, supply, finance, etc. In this connection the report remarks significantly:

"New measures demand new men. We therefore attach special importance to the appointment of military members not hitherto closely connected with existing methods and who therefore are not likely to be embarrassed by the traditions of a system which is to be radically changed."

The commission considers the abolition of the post of commander in chief to be imperative, and it urges the divorce of the administrative from the executive department.

The inspector general is to be appointed for five years. His sole function, aided by a staff, is to report upon actual facts without expressing opinions on policies.

It is understood that all the necessary changes will be carried out with the least possible delay after obtaining formal consent of parliament. Where it is necessary the report is most practical and business-like. It says it is "necessary to make a complete breach with the past and endeavor to reconstitute the war office with a single eye to the effective training and preparation of the military forces for war," and again it says, "The object should be to secure for the British empire with the least possible derangement of the existing machinery the immense advantages which a general staff conferred upon Germany."

Negro Drowned In Race Melee.

WEBSTER, Pa., Feb. 1.—One of a party of five negroes here fired upon a party of white men who had been making fun of them. Two of the white men were wounded, one of them fatally. In trying to get away from the infuriated companions of the injured men one of the negroes was drowned in the Monongahela river. The wounded are Robert Wilson, bullet lodged at base of brain and cannot recover, and Robert Booth, bullet in leg. The name of the negro who was drowned is not known. For some time a bitter feeling has existed here among a number of white men headed by Wilson and the negroes of the vicinity.

Troops to Prevent Lynching.

ROANOKE, Va., Feb. 1.—Mrs. George J. Shields and her three-year-old daughter Mildred, who were brutally assaulted in their home by an unknown negro and left for dead, are still alive, but physicians say if they recover it will be a miracle. The Roanoke light infantry and Roanoke blues are sleeping on their arms and will not be disbanded until the guilty man is caught or all probability of an outbreak is past. The city council offers a reward of $500 for the capture of the negro, and this amount will be duplicated by the state.

Bryan and other relatives, will accompany the remains to the former home of the deceased at Salem, Ill., where the interment will take place. W. J. Plainfield, N. J., Feb. 1, 1904.

The Daily Press has a higher circulation rating than is accorded to any other paper in Plainfield.—Printers' Ink.

The country is in a rotten condition when Wall street can dictate who can run for President on the Republican ticket.

Col. Hine will become a popular candidate for governor if he will remedy the troubles of the P. S. C. to the satisfaction of the public.

It is safe to say that wife-beaters will steer clear of North Plainfild justice in the future. The treatment meted out to the last offender should have a salutory effect.

It is reported that DeWitt C. Flanagan will again be Charles N. Fowler's opponent in the coming Congressional fight. If Mr. Flanagan is going to make the run, it means that Mr. Fowler will not have to take any violent exercise before the race commences.

The public is assured by many responsibe newspapers that Mr. Bryan is politically dead. If Mr. Cleveland's friends can be furnished with a certificate of death between now and the time of the Democratic National convention it will greatly add to their peace of mind.

In order to settle that controversy about the first Union flag unfurled on Virginia soil, we suggest an oratorical combat to a finish between General J. Madison Drake, of Elizabeth, and Col. E. C. Stahl, of Trenton.—Camden Post Telegram.

And we suggest that General Drake hire his brother, Silas Dewey Drake, as his substitute.

Flour advertising is a growing branch of publicity, thanks to the pace set by the breakfast foods. It is growing in volume on one hand, but it is also growing in advertising value, which is a more important consideration, says Printers' Ink. Who knows that George Washington was a miller? Yet the Father of His Country raised the finest wheat in the new United States at Mount Vernon, ground flour, sold it at $12 and $13 a barrel, exported it to Europe and the West Indies and was always proud of the fact that his Mount Vernon brand was known as the finest in the world. —Mahin's Magazine.

Senator Kean did not attend the Plainfield function, to which he had been invited, and neither did Congressman Fowler. It may be true, after all, that these two factional leaders have reached an understanding, and they are keeping away from each other to prevent their breaking it.—Newark Evening News.

Probably Senator Kean is busily engaged giving dinners of his own at Washington, while Congressman Fowler is figuring out how much it cost the government to allow him to circulate free of charge copies of his financial bill during his recent campaign. Our representatives at Washington are kept awfully busy looking after the interests of their constituants.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert told a good story at the expense of Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh at the Board of Trade dinner Thursday night. He said that Mr. Marsh's first case before a court was in defense of a negro guilty of some minor misdemeanor. He lost his case and then offered to appeal it provided a little more of the wherewithal were forthcoming from his client. The negro couldn't see it. "Why, boss," he said, 'if I'd had money enough for that, don' you s'pose I'd have got a good lawyer in de fust place."

It will be of interest to know that there is in existence within the State of New Jersey, with all its railways and electric traction lines, 352.08 miles of star mail routes. In other words, the mails are carried over that distance by stage or on horseback. The annual cost for maintaining these star routes in New Jersey, according to the recent repors of the second assistant postmaster general, is $43,651.85. There are no mails carried by steamboat in the State of New Jersey. Of course, the ferryboat service between New Jersey and New York does not come under the head of steamboat service. There are 1,866.04 miles of railway within the State of New Jersey over which the United States mails are carried at a transportation expense of $538,682.43. In connection with this railway mail service there is an annual expenditure of $88,143.45 for railway postoffice cars, or a total of $626,825 88 for railway service in New Jersey. There is an electric and cable car mail service in New Jersey with a total mileage of 92.86.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

QUESTIONS OF THE DAY DISCUSSED BY THE PRESS.

Will Still Attract.

If reports are true that come from the winter quarters of the "Greatest Shows on Earth" there will be no more circus parades. The showmen say they are too expensive, require too much work and do not add materially to the ticket wagon receipts. The abandonment of the circus parade will be a sad blow to the small boy, but it will take more than that to dampen his enthusiasm when he sees the canvas spread and hears the seductive cry of the pink lemonade man and the peanut vender.—Salem Standard.

Not to Their Credit.

While a Democratic Assemblyman of this State is making a row at Trenton because the Pennsylvania Railroad Company had not sent him a pass—for the very good reason that it had caught another man riding on it—a representative in Congress of the same faith is trying to get the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company punished because it did offer him a pass over its lines. The contrast is probably about as creditable to one party as to the other, but, as the object of Representative Baker is doubtless the manufacture of political capital, he seems to be a lap or two ahead of the Hudson County statesman. — Paterson Press.

from bird to man in the universal language of music, and its force cannot be ignored. If the English sparrow spoke the robin's tongue, he would have as many friends as he now has enemies.

In preserving the Palisades from the attack of quarriers, residents of New Jersey have been given indubitable proof of their love for the beautiful in nature. No considerations of paving blocks and crushed stone or their equivalents in the coin of the realm, were permitted to outweigh the claims of these rocky walls to exist solely because of their beauty and grandeur. Our birds have an even stronger claim to protection, for they are not only beautiful, but incalculably useful, and their care is demanded, not only by self-inetrest, but by that broader sentiment which has saved for us the noble ramparts of the Hudson.

Frank M. Chapman.

Englewood, N. J., January 27, 1904.

The above protest is from an authority on birds, Professor Frank M. Chapman, the well-known writer and student of bird life. The Audubon Society respectfully urges every citizen who loves the beautful in nature and who wishes to protect what scientists have proved to be one of the most valuable assets of the State, to do what Professor Chapman suggests, "spare no effort to prevent the passage of bills which permit the killing of non-game birds."

Respectfully,

Alexander Gilbert, President.

The accompanying petition, which is receiving hundred of signatures, is also headed by the name of the Audubon Society of the State of New Jersey. It is as follows:

To His Excellency the Governor and the Honorable Legislature of New Jersey:

We, the undersigned, citizens of the Commonwealth of New Jersey, most respectfully, earnestly and urgently protest against the passage of any measure that removes protection from song and insectivorous birds and especially against Senate bill No. 3 and House bill No. 8, which propose to make an open season on the following beautiful and valuable birds, viz., the robin, catbird, highholder or flicker, and dove.

These birds are protected under the present law and rightly so, because they are the property of all of the citizens of the State, and we object to giving a small number of persons the privilege of killing beneficial birds to the serious loss of the majority of the citiezns.

We do not want our best friends shot.

LITERARY.

To writ of abuses without being abusive is part of Miss Tarbell's strength as a historian. Her ability is equalled by her dignity. And nowhere is this better illustrated than in Chapter III of the second part of her "History of the Standard Oil Company," appearing in McClure's for February. She takes up her narration at the point where Mr. Rockeller, controlling the oil refining and transportation of the country, turned to the markets as his next field of conquest. Just as, when struggling for railroad rebates and pipe-lines, no obstacle had been too great for his towering genius to overcome, so, in the fight for the retail oil trade, no detail was too petty to escape his comprehensive eye. It was "cutting to kill" even at the country peddler, driving from door to door, who had stocked his wagon with oil from an independent refiner.

For using profane language on the Park and North avenues corner, yesterday morning, James Kelly was arrested by Patrolmrn McCarthy. Kelly promised that he would leave town if allowed to go and City Judge Runyon discharged him.

WHO WILL WIN OUT?

Question That Is Now on the Lips of Every Washingtonian.

Triangular Fight for Senatorial Toga Is Causing Intense Rivalry Between the People of Tacoma and Seattle.

The "stevedore candidate," Edward S. Hamilton, of Tacoma, Wash., is the most interesting figure in the approaching campaign for the honor of representing the state of Washington in the United States senate. Hamilton, a natural political leader, a man of long experience in the art of whipping his followers into line, has long been considered a probable successor of Senator Addison G. Foster. The expiration of Foster's term is drawing near, and in the face of considerable opposition, the genial senator is asking his constituents for reelection. And now Hamilton, the stevedore "boss," although long a stanch supporter of the incumbent, has come forward with a public announcement of his candidacy.

The Chicago Record-Herald says that the campaign is more than a personal contest between Foster and Hamilton. It is a strife between cities, for Seattle and Tacoma are and always have been keen rivals for this honor. Foster is Tacoma's man, and "Stevedore" Hamilton mapped out the campaign which won him the office. Seattle already has a candidate in the field—Samuel Piles, a clever corporation lawyer. The natural result of Hamilton's intrusion of his personality into the fight will be to split the strength of the Tacoma clans and to transform what had been an "old guard" of political power into two bickering groups of partisans.

The rivalry, industrial and political, between two young, virile, growing cities of the west far surpasses the trivial exchanges of pleasantries in which eastern municipalities indulge. Tacoma's dilemma, with two strong candidates in the field, to oppose to the welded attack of the Seattle cohorts, is therefore causing dismay in the hearts of the politicians of the former city.

The opposition to Senator Foster, which has arisen this summer, is due to a feeling that he lacks "backbone." Foster's smiling face and cheery laugh have won him a host of friends, even his political enemies, but there is a sentiment, which is daily gathering strength that Washington needs a fighter in the chamber. The state wants money for harbor improvements, federal buildings, lighthouses, land surveys and a hundred other things, and it also wants a man in the senate who will work until he gets the appropriations. For this reason the aggressive "stevedore" is more popular in the Tacoma ranks than the sociable Foster.

Hamilton has been a member of the state senate for three sessions. He knows men, has a genius for planning campaigns, is a man who does things, and does them thoroughly. Never before has Tacoma and Pierce county had a political leader like him. He contributed more than any other one man to the election of Foster in the last senatorial campaign. He outlined the fight which won friends for Foster, while the John L. Wilson and Levi Ankeny factions were in deadlock, and carried his man through to victory.

Hamilton's fighting qualities made him the leader of the railroads in their struggle during the last two sessions to prevent the passage of a bill creating a state railroad commission. As chairman of the appropriations committee he introduced New York methods into the legislature, with the result that no appropriation bill can be attached to another measure, however meritorious, thereby placing each measure upon its merits.

He was born in Brooklyn in July, 1865, and was graduated from the Westchester County institute, of Peekskill, in 1882. Six years later he moved to this state and opened a real estate office at Port Townsend. In October, 1888, he entered the employ of the Puget Sound Stevedore company as bookkeeper, afterward becoming manager. Soon afterward he became a member of the firm of McCabe & Hamilton, which now does 90 per cent. of the stevedoring work on Puget sound. The firm uses electric conveyors of its own invention, which have contributed largely toward making Tacoma the port where heavy cargo, inward and outward, is handled, at less cost per ton than in any other port in the world. Hamilton's political experience began in New York, where for four years he was assistant to Gen. J. W. Husted, known as the "Bald Eagle of Westchester."

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark.
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

IN FASHION'S REALM.

Striking Features of the New Coats and Gowns—The Bolero.

One of the daintiest ball gowns of the season is the creation of black tulle arranged with any number of tuckings and gaugings. This treatment of tulle renders it firmer.

The widest possible fichus and berthas are seen on all decollete costumes, so that the bodice seems to consist wholly of the decolletage trimming held on by a strap or two. The sleeves, however, are quite fussy, and the flowing, graceful lines of the wing sleeve make it especially popular.

Accordion plaited chiffon is used a great deal for evening sleeves; also innumerable small ruffles sewed on a chiffon foundation.

The foundation slips of thin evening dresses are often made entirely separate, and this is a very good idea, for, if carefully fitted, they may do duty with several gowns.

A RED AND WHITE TOQUE.

The skirts of all thin and, indeed, of some of the heavier materials are made extremely full all around. The trimming also tends to make them appear fuller. It is in the shape of bands of coarse lace headed and edged by ruchings or heavy ruchings alone, either of taffeta or chiffon.

The bolero promises to be more to the fore than ever—that is, the short bolero, allowing a wide belt of crushed velvet or silk to be seen.

Dyed lace collars of all shapes and dimensions will appear on spring garments.

Collarless dresses are seen only for home and restaurant wear. They come close around the base of the throat and are finished off with lace applique or jeweled effects.

An accordion plaited dress needs very little trimming save a pretty bolero and a handsome wide girdle.

The cut shows a toque of red and white fancy weave. It has the modish pointed effect in front and is trimmed with fancy quills.

DRESS HINTS.

Smart Colorings—Utility Gowns—The Revival of Jet.

A general utility gown is one of the necessary items of a spring wardrobe, and this is both economical and pretty made of veiling in black, gray or lavender and trimmed simply with shirrings and embroideries of the same color.

For the woman who can wear it there is a peculiar shade of blue half between light and dark. This is very effective when made up with dyed lace or embroidery to match and a black and white hat having ostrich tips for trimming.

Not much red is being shown unless in the odd crushed strawberry or wine shades, and, after all, red is not a spring shade, but some very dainty gowns are shown in champagne colored veiling embroidered with deep red motifs in silk and chiffon velvet.

The revival of jet is marked. It appears both on day and evening gowns. In Paris they are even using it as a trimming for white frocks. Jet bolcros aré mounted on a foundation of chantilly lace and sometimes on cream guipure.

The cut shows a collarless blouse of pale blue accordion plaiting. The material is crepe de chine trimmed with bandings of ecru lace.

U. S. MARINE CORPS.

Command of This Body Transferred to Gen. Elliott.

New Chief Is One of the Most Popular Officers in the Service and Has Done Excellent Work in Many Places.

The formal transfer of the command of the United States marine corps from Maj. Gen. Charles Heywood to Brig. Gen. George F. Elliott took place recently at the headquarters of the corps in Washington, and was attended by all the officers of the corps stationed in that city. There were no special formalities beyond the reading of the official orders for the retirement of Gen. Heywood and the assignment of Gen. Elliott to the command. Each of the officers made a short address suitable to the occasion, and at their conclusion the two held a reception to allow the members of the corps to take official leave of their retiring commander, and to pay their respects to the new commandant. The clerical force of the office also called in a body and paid its respects.

Gen. Elliott is one of the most popular and efficient officers in the service. His promotion was based entirely on merit, and mainly in recognition of his meritorious services during the Spanish war and the insurrection in the Philippines.

A native of Alabama, he was appointed a second lieutenant in the marine corps from New York October 12, 1870.

When Gen. Elliott was attached to the Monongahela, of the South Atlantic station, in 1875, yellow fever broke out on that vessel while she was lying in the harbor of Rio de Janeiro. Despite the fact that he could have had leave and gone to the mountains, he of his own volition remained with the ship and his men, and when the asisstant surgeon of the vessel was taken down with fever, volunteered to assist the surgeon in so far as his ability would permit, and he performed valuable service.

He served with the marine battalion in the railroad strikes of 1877, and in 1875 served under Gen. Heywood with the marine battalion on the Isthmus of Panama.

While in command of the marine guard of the flagship Baltimore, of the Asiatic station, in 1894, he marched his guard from Chemulpo to Seoul to protect the American legation at the latter place, the Chinese-Japanese war being in progress and Corea, the scene of hostilities. This was a night march of 31 miles, accomplished in 11 hours. Gen. Elliott commanded the legation guard for three months subsequent to this time.

The scene of hostilities having been transferred, he was ordered with the marine guard to Tientsin, which he helped to protect during the winter. Later on, at the request of Mr. Denby, then American minister at Peking, he acted as aid to that official on the occasion to the first audience ever granted by the Chinese emperor to foreigners. In order to perform this duty Gen. Elliott was compelled to make the trip on horseback, passing through about 25,000 undisciplined Chinese troops, suffering constant insult and running no little personal risk.

During the Spanish-American war, in 1898, Gen. Elliott commanded company C of the marine battalion during the four days' battle at Guantanamo, Cuba, and later, while in command of a battalion of 250 men, defeated the Spanish in a spirited battle at Cuzco Valley, after killing and taking a number of prisoners in addition to destroying the wells which were the source of the enemy's water supply. This fight resulted in giving security to the marine camp on Guantanamo Hill, and for his conduct in this battle the president advanced Elliott three numbers for "eminent and conspicuous conduct in battle."

Gen Elliott having been ordered to the Philippines, in command of a battalion of marines on October 8, 1899, defeated the enemy over very bad ground, and captured, by direct assault, a position at Novaleta which had been deemed impregnable by the Spanish and before which they once lost an entire regiment. For this service he received a commendatory letter from the secretary of the navy. He has had almost 14 years at sea and foreign service, and has always rendered a good account of himself.

Buried Treasure of Jesuits.

About 100 years ago, when the Jesuits were banished from Mexico, it was known that they possessed vast wealth, but they took very little of it with them. What they did with it was a mystery. A very old man, Pierre Guire, says that about $20,000,000 of it was buried beneath the old cathedral in the little town of Typozottan, and it is believed to rest there yet.

Proceedings of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

[OFFICIAL.]

Adjourned meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, held on Tuesday, December 15, 1903, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll call showed the following members present, viz.:

Director Hubbard and Freeholders Adams, Bonnel, Brucklacher, Cady, Connoly, Embree, Farrell, King, Klee, Krouse, McCandless, Pierson, Robinson, Swain, Smith, Tillman, Wahl, Westphal and Woodruff—20.

On motion of Freeholder Cady the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was dispensed with.

The Director stated that the business before the meeting was the further consideration of the petitions heretofore presented from the town of Westfield and the township of Cranford for the construction of a road, under the provisions of the State Road Act, from Union avenue, in the township of Cranford, through the town of Westfield and the township of Springfield to the Summit city line.

The clerk then read the petition as originally presented.

On motion of Freeholder Swain it was ordered that the petitions as originally presented be taken up for consideration.

Freeholder Embree then addressed the Board and said, in part, that the improvement was one which was very much desired by the people of Westfield; he believed it would be of great benefit not only to the town of Westfield, but to all the territory through which the road passed, and to the county at large as well.

Freeholder Swain moved that the road as petitioned for be adopted by this Board for purposes of improvement, as provided for in the State Road Act, which was duly seconded.

Freeholder King stated that the town of Westfield was the only place through which said road passed which had guaranteed the payment of its share of the expense of said road if constructed, and at his request the County Attorney read the law governing such matters.

In reply to a question by Freeholder Robinson, Freeholder Bonnel stated that the length of the proposed road was about five and four-fifths miles, and that the cost of the road, if constructed six inches in depth, would be at least $5,000 per mile.

The roll was then called, and Freeholder Swain's motion to adopt, etc., was lost by the following vote:

Ayes—Freeholders Adams, Bonnel, Cady, Connoly, Embree, Swain and Smith—7

Nays—Director Hubbard and Freeholders Brucklacher, Farrell, King, Klu, Krouse, McCandless, Pierson, Robinson, Tillman, Westphal and Woodruff—12.

Freeholder Wahl stated that he had not had the opportunity to enquire very fully into the matter before the Board and asked to be excused from voting, which was so ordered.

Freeholder King then on behalf of the officers and members of the Board presented to Freeholder Farrell (one of the retiring members from the city of Rahway) a handsome silver service. In doing so he said that the Board had the highest consideration for both members from the city of Rahway, Messrs. Farrell and Tillman. Mr. Tillman however had left the Board of his own volition to seek higher honors, while Mr. Farrell who had been a member of the Board for a long number of years and would have remained if he could; such was not to be, and his old associates took the present method of showing their friendship and appreciation of his services during the years he had served in the Board.

Freeholder Farrell briefly replied returning his thanks for the gift and referring to the pleasant relations which he had always maintained with the officers and members of the Board during his term of service.

Freeholder Krouse moved to adjourn, which was carried.

The Director declared the Board adjourned until Thursday, January 7, 1904, at 2:30 p. m.

S. Rusling Ryno, Clerk.

DEAD SEA NAVIGATION.

It Is Carried On by a Simple Sailing Boat Which Is Just About Twenty Feet Long.

Since the earthquake in Palestine last April some one circulated the story that the mouth of the River Jordan had been so affected by the shock that the level of the river had been altered to such an extent that at the place where the historic river goes into the Dead sea there was now a waterfall of considerable depth and strength. This is altogether false, and no change whatever has taken place at or near the mouth of the Jordan. A writer for the London Graphic has just spent some days there, and made it his special business to investigate this matter. Much has also appeared from time to time in papers and periodicals about steamboats navigating the Dead sea.

DEAD SEA'S ONLY BOAT.
(It Is a Sailing Vessel, Just About 20 Feet in Length.)

This, too, is a fabrication. The only boat on the Dead sea is a small sailing boat about 20 feet long. The accompanying photograph gives an idea of its appearance when lying at anchor, and the terminus on the shore at the southern end of the lake. This vessel makes trips, as the wind allows, from the north end of the sea to the bay on the eastern side of the tongue that divides the water near the middle. Here at this terminus some Jews are located. The whole concern is, in fact, in the hands of Jews, who, at a low rate, buy wheat and barley from the Arabs, to be delivered on the seashore. From there it is shipped to the Jericho side and carried on donkeys to Jerusalem, where it finds a ready sale at a good price. When adverse winds blow the little craft is in danger of being swamped, for the so-called Dead sea becomes a living mass of waves. The writer recently spent four nights such as never will be forgotten on these waters, and the smartness of the old man at the helm and his boy with the sails saved us from being wrecked again and again. A charge of one mejedie (three shillings and four pence) a trip is made for each passenger, and for such a unique voyage it is not exorbitant. There is some talk about a small steam tug being put on the sea, but the authorities are loth to grant permission. It will be a great boon when, if ever, it does arrive, as it will bring the east and west sides of Jordan nearer to one another for communication and trading purposes.

GREAT LARYNXOLOGIST.

Prof. Schmidt Who Operated on German Emperor and Also Treated Emperor Frederick.

Prof. Schmidt, of Frankfort, who performed the successful operation on the kaiser, is one of the most noted larynxologists in Germany. He first attracted public attention at the time when he went to San Remo, Italy, with Crown Prince Wilhelm, now the kaiser, to attend the operation on his father, the late Emperor Frederick. Prof. Schmidt has retired from active practice. The story of his present operation reads like an interesting tale. With the exception of the royal patient, the empress and Chancellor Count von Buelow, no one knew of the operation. Two days before a closed carriage was seen before the depot in Potsdam. When the express train from Berlin arrived an old man with a turned up collar entered the carriage and was taken to the palace. When he was ready to perform the operation, by a winding stairs he directly entered the imperial chamber, and was assisted by an old servant, who had rendered the same service for Emperor Frederick.

Church Smoking Parlors.

Rev. Howard B. Bard, of Lansing, Mich., in a recent address, said: "I do not encourage smoking, but if your son, brother or husband does smoke, don't let him go to places where the whole atmosphere is full of vice. Let him smoke in the place where there is no danger of being ruined. Therefore, provide a smoking-room in your church."

MOOSE TOWS CANOE.

Big Bull Acts as Motor Power for the Small Craft.

Unique Journey of a Hunting Party Around a Lake in the Maine Woods—Adventure Never to Be Forgotten.

The Bangor (Me.) Commercial says there are two people of that town, a camp proprietor and a guide, who had an adventure recently, which they will tell about for the rest of their lives. The people are Miss Carmy Coombs, of Bangor, who is staying at the well-known camp at Lily bay, Moosehead lake, kept by Alphonse Berdeen; Joseph Patten, of Bangor, a well-known guide of that region, and Mr. Berdeen himself.

It does not come to the lot of many people to be towed a mile and a half through a lake by a big bull moose, while two cows swim alongside, the people being in a canoe and resting on the moose to keep him from swamping, fairly riding him, but that is what happened to these people.

It was Tuesday afternoon that Mr. Berdeen, who is always looking out for the pleasures of his guests, spied a big bull moose on the shore of the lake near the camp and at once thought what fun it would be to chase the big animal in a canoe.

Calling to Miss Coombs, Mr. Patten and Jack Dyer, the guide, Mr. Berdeen started toward the big animal, who at once began to swim out into the lake. Quickly jumping into a canoe the quartette started. Driven by the lusty strokes of the guide and the camp proprietor, the canoe was not long in overtaking the animal, who was making frantic efforts to escape across the lake.

Upon reaching him Dyer, who was in the bow, seized the moose by the horns and the fun began. It was at this point that the most remarkable occurrence happened. The party was about 100 yards from the shore when, on turning around, one of them saw two cow moose making out from the shore.

The smaller animals soon overtook the big bull, who was sadly handicapped by having to drag the canoe full of people, and they began to swim alongside.

It was at this juncture, however, that the fun nearly became serious. As the four people, each one wanting to get a better look at the big moose, crowded forward into the bow of the frail craft, it nearly swamped, the bow coming perilously near going under.

How Mr. Berdeen got over the three people and, resting himself on the moose, held up the canoe, no one can tell, but he did, and for a mile and a half the big animal towed the four people in the canoe, while the two cow moose swam alongside. All this time, too, the bow of the craft was being kept up by Mr. Berdeen, who was supporting it on the moose's back.

When the party had traveled as far as it wished and the moose was puffing and blowing at a great rate, he was released, and the four occupants of the canoe said that it was a sight worth going miles to see the way that moose, even in his winded condition, humped himself and made the water fly getting across the remainder of the lake to the opposite shore.

INSECT HORSE GUARDS.

They Look Very Much Like Hornets and Keep Away Flies from the Laboring Beasts.

In the northern states horses that travel in the country during hot weather are protected from the bite of the horsefly by some sort of cover, which is made of leather straps or coarse cord, which keep up a dangling with every motion of the horse. This, with the incessant switching of his tail, serves to intimidate the pests in some degree. Still the big, daring flies will sting the poor brute every now and then most cruelly. In Florida the horse guards are unique, and so effectual that a horse can travel all day, or stand under trees, or browse in the pastures well, and not be bitten by a single fly.

These horse guards are very much of the appearance of hornets. Perhaps they are somewhat longer in body and the stripes not so wide as those of a hornet. Each horse is guarded by five of these vigilant insects, and woe to the fly that is bold enough to alight on a horse, for in a flash the faithful guard snaps it up, carries it away to the side of the road, and there digs its grave. All this is done so quickly that the guard has soon caught up with the horse, and is on the watch for another victim. The horse seems to understand, for although the guards keep up a continual buzzing, they do not annoy him in the least.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

UP AND DOWN THE STATE

The annual dinner of the Elizabeth Board of Trade will be held at Elizabeth on February 9.

Communication by telephone between Perth Amboy, Woodbridge, Carteret and Rahway on the lines of the Hudson and Middlesex Telephone Company, was opened last week. It has required about eighteen months of hard work and the expenditure of upwards of $30,000 to complete the work. The entire system is what is known as the overhead system. At the present time the company has over 200 subscribers.

The fifth annual report of the New Jersey State Board of Children's Guardians has just been issued. The work of the year is carefully reviewed both by President Fox in his report addressed to the Governor, and by Superintendent Stone in his report to the Board. The work has shown steady progress, both in the number of children cared for and in the increasing confidence of the public. Especial attention is called to the great necessity for careful and persistent supervision of children placed out, and also to the possible relation of mid-wives to the question of abandoned and dependent children.

The plan to build a monument at Greenwich in memory of the tea burning has awakened a renewed interest in that event. In the history of Cumberland County, Lucius Q. C. Elmer writes as follows: "Those familiar with the history of the English colonies in North America will remember that it was the persistence of the British government in taxing the people, without allowing them to be represented in parliament, that brought on the Revolution and hastened their independence. In 1773 all these taxes were repealed, but the duty on tea, which our forefathers not only resolved not to use, but which they would not suffer to be landed and offered for sale. A brig called the Gryhound, bound to Philadelphia, with a cargo of tea, the captain of which was afraid to proceed to his place of destination, in the summer of 1774 came into the Cohansey, landed his tea and had it stored in the cellar of a house standing in front of the then open market square. This house is not now standing, and the market square has been inclosed as private property. Imitating the examples of the Bostonians, a company of nearly forty men was organized, with the concurrence of the committee of safety of the country, of which Jonathan Elmer, the royal sheriff, was an active member, who disguised themselves as Indians, and on the night of November 22, 1774, broke into the storehouse, took out the boxes of tea and burned them in a neighboring field. The owners of the tea commenced actions of trespass, but no trial ever took place. Ebenezer Elmer, who was one of the Indians, entered in his journal under date of Thursday, May 25, 1775, "Came up to Bridge (from his nephew, Daniel Elmer's, who lived at Cedarville) just before court, being supreme court. Judge Smith gave very large charge to the grand jury concerning the times, and the burning of the tea the fall before, but the jury came in without doing anything and the court broke up." Under the date of September 7 he entered, "Expected as Sheriff Bowen had got a jury of Tories we should be indicted for burning the tea, but they could not make it out."

After standing for more than two centuries at Salem, N. J., the oldest house in New Jersey has been changed into a modest dwelling and when finished will resemble very little the old landmark that sheltered more American officers during the Revolutionary War than any other building in this State. For many years it was known as the "Governor's House," having been occupied by several of the Governors appointed early in the seventeenth century. For nearly fifty years before the light-house was built at the mouth of the Salem Creek, James Bradway and his descendants displayed a light from the top of the house to guide the ships up the creek. The dwelling has been owned continuously by the descendants of Bradway for nearly 200 years. James Bradway, the original owner, came from England with William Penn. He secured a part of the consignments of bricks from the William Penn House in Philadelphia to erect this dwelling. In the early part of the last century the house was used for a hotel and has been the scene of many notable gatherings, having been occupied almost continuously by prominent people.

Further facts which have developed in the case of Mrs. James B. Medhurst, wife of the proprietor of the Central Hotel in Fanwood, and Alfred Stocker, the manager and bartender, who left the hotel in each other's company January 22. An Elizabeth man called upon Mr. Medhurst Saturday afternoon and stated that he held a chattel mortgage on the hotel piano. He said Mrs. Medhurst, who had represented herself as a widow, sent him a letter several days ago in which she asserted that Mr. Medhurst would settle for the money loaned on the piano. Mr. Medhurst refuses to pay. The letter received from Mrs. Medhurst bore the postmark, Cleveland, O.

WORTH ABOUT $100,000

REASONS FOR OBJECTION TO PROBATE OF WILL.

Said That Document is Not the Last Testament, and That Testator Did Not Know What He Was Doing.

The contest over the probate of the will of the late William Bird, father of Major Harrison K. Bird, military secretary to Gov Odell, began before Surrogate Thomas this morning. Major Bird asks that the will be probated. The contestants are Howard Bird, a brother of the testator, living at West Dunellen, at whose house William Bird died, and Constant M. Bird and Ada Bird, son and daughter of Joseph Bird, president of the Manhattan Savings Institution, who was a brother of William Bird.

The amount involved is not far from $100,000, and unless the proponent and contestants developed a more kindly feeling for one another very shortly, the contest will be a bitter one. The contestants say this will be necessary in order to defend the memory of the dead man. Major Bird, on the other hand, who, the contestants say, neglected his father, alleges that the contest is simply an effort on the part of collateral relatives to possess themselves of property, most of which originally belonged to his mother and came into his father's possession only because his mother died intestate.

The contestants urged two reasons why the will should not be probated. One is that it was not the last will of William Bird. The other is that, when William Bird executed it, he did not know what he was doing and never knew, to the day of his death, the real nature of the instrument.

William Bird died on the evening of Sunday, Dec. 20, 1903. He was born in New York on Jan. 13, 1844. When a very young man he went into Wall street, became a member of the old Gold Board and later a member of the New York Stock Exchange. At one time he was possessed of a considerable fortune, but ultimately lost most of it in speculation.

In the days of his greatest success he married Miss Emma Kerr, a daughter of John Kerr, who built and was the chief stockholder of the Broadway and Seventh Avenue Railroad. Their only child was Harrison Kerr Bird, who is now about 29 years old.

Mrs. Bird died on Feb. 2, 1893. She inherited not far from $500,000 from her father, but her estate depreciated so that its value at her death was put at between $180,000 and $200,000. As she left no will, her husband got a life interest in the realty and one-third absolutely of the personal property. The remainder went to her son. It was this one-third of his wife's personalty, plus whatever property of his own he might have, that Mr. Bird had to devise.

Not long after the death of his wife, Mr. Bird became a hard drinker. In June, 1898, of his own volition, he became an inmate of "Falkirk," Dr. James Ferguson's sanitarium for inebriates, at Central Valley. He left there on Dec. 8, 1899. On the following day he was returned to the sanitarium by order of the late Supreme Court Justice Miles Beach. On Sept. 6, 1900, he was released and turned over to the charge of his brother, Joseph.

The relations between father and son had become strained, but Major Bird's friends say that the two would have got on much better had not members of the family tried to prejudice the father against the son.

The cudgels for the relatives have been taken up by John H. Bird, another brother of William, and a wealthy retired lawyer. Mr. Bird is a veteran yachtsman, was secretary of the New York Yacht Club for many years and drew up the deed of gift of the America's cup. In the famous Dauntless-Coronet ocean race he was the representative of the Dauntless on board of the Coronet. For twenty-five years he was general counsel for Bradstreet's.

It seems that, as William Bird grew older and the relations between him and his son grew more and more strained, the old gentleman developed the will making habit. He made six wills in all. The first was made

TIE VOTE DEFEATED HIGHER LICENSE FEE

Proposition to Raise Fees, as Approved by Ministers' Association, Was Killed.

IT STOOD FIVE TO FIVE

LIQUOR DEALERS' AGENT WATCHED THE PROCEEDINGS.

Seventeen Applications for Licenses —An Increase of Three—Petitions Referred to the Committee— Names of Applicants.

The Common Council, by a tie vote of five to five defeated the proposed high license scheme, at the regular February meeting held last night. The result was not a surprise. Early in the evening it was hinted that the ordinance raising the license fee, which had previously been adopted on its second reading would not reach final passage. Before a vote was taken, the members took a long recess and when they returned they killed the ordinance by the tie vote. Theodore D. Wilson was the only member absent, and it is believed that had he been present the ordinance would have passed. There was a well-filled lobby, including J. H. Buckridge, State organizer of the Liquor Dealers' Protective League, of New Jersey, and he especially watched the proceedings with evident interest. Here is how the vote stood:

Aye—W. S. Bullock, Leslie M. Daniel, W. A. Garrigues, W. S. Tyler and R. I. Tolles.

Nay—W. L. Gloak, Robert L. Lee, Frank Randolph, Clarence L. Murphy and J. S. Higham.

By the above vote the license fee for the coming year will remain as last year, it now being too late to make a change before time for granting licenses. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church, and Rev. John McMurray, of Monroe Avenue church, were also present, but they had nothing to say on the subject under consideration.

The applications for liquor licenses were presented at this meeting, there being seventeen in all, an increase of three, J. J. Goff, for a place on West Front street, near Clinton avenue; Adolph Wolfgang, for a place on Park venue, where John H. Tier formerly had an ice cream place, and W. J. Dyer for Dan. Galbraith's old place on West Fourth street. The other applications, renewals, are these: Eastern Bottling Company, Alexander D. Findlay, John Rafferty, Henry Haurand, Frank Linke, J. A. Staats, E. P. Turner, Charles Schantz, Christopher Gloeckner, Bernard Clark, Henry Windham, Michael Watson, Jacob Blimm, A. B. Rosell. They were all referred to the license committee.

CITY COUNCIL AFTER JEHUS

' CABBIES" VIOLATING ORDINANCE MAY LOSE THEIR LICENSES.

Councilman W. S. Tyler introduced the subject of violations of the hack ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council last night. He declared that these practices are deserving of condemnation and that it is the duty of the police to enforce the ordinance. "If the ordinances are good," he said, "they should be enforced, and if bad they should be repealed." He referred to the requirements, such as the placing of a placard in each cab giving the fare full information as to the ordinance, the charges and provisions, all of which he understood were being violated.

Mr. Tyler offered a resolution providing that the chief of police report to the license committee violations of the ordinance before the next meeting and if the offense continues he urged the license of the offenders be revoked.

Turkey Supper Netted $175.

The Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church met yesterday afternoon in the church parlor and it was learned with much gratification that the profits from the recent turkey supper will be about $175. Y. M. C. A. ORCHESTRA'S EXCELLENT CONCERT

Many Were Turned Away Because of Lack of Seating Accommodations.

LIBERALLY APPLAUDED

TWELFTH CONCERT A SUCCESS FROM THE START.

Descriptive March, "The Burning of Rome," An Elaborate Production—Martin I. Korff, Conductor —Miss Florence Ackor, Soprano.

Many people who wished to hear the twelfth concert by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra in the large hall of the association building last night were turned away for lack of seats or standing room to accommodate them. The members of the orchestra, Martin A. Korff, conductor, gave one of their best concerts of the year. They were ably assisted by Miss Florence Ackor, soprano, and Miss Charlotte Conger, accompanist.

All of the selections were popular and liberally applauded. The most ambitious effort was the descriptive march, "The Burning of Rome," a difficult selection which, considering the demands it makes upon skill in orchestration, was most capably rendered. The march presents a picture in harmony of the chariot race with its attendant excitement, the evening song of the Christians, broken by alarms of fire, the raging of the fire, etc.

The programme in detail follows:

Part I.—March, The Court Jester, L. O. Smith; overture, The Calif of Bagdad, A. Boildieu; caprice, Gavotte, "Beaumarie," B. S. Carnes; soprano solo, "Because of Thee," Tours, Miss Florence Ackor; barn dance, "In Old Alabama," Dox Cruger.

Part II.—Selection, from "Red Feather" new comic opera, by R. deKoven; Italian serenade, "The Blue Mediterranean," F. Volpatti; soprano solo, (a) "Entreaty," Bohn; (b) "So Dear," (by request), Chaffin, Miss Ackor; characteristic, "Among the Lilies," E. H. Frer; descriptive march, "The Burning of Rome," E. T. Paull.

The ushers were Charles Steiner, Frank Manley, A. M. Vanderbeek and Clarence Vail.

A CHURCH SOCIETY'S OFFER

TRINITY'S L. C. W. S. WILLING TO PROVIDE INDIVIDUAL COMMUNION CUPS.

The Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church is desirous of using a portion of the money now in its treasury, as the result of the recent turkey supper, toward purchasing an individual communion service, which it is proposed to present the church, providing a majority of the church members desire it. Nothing has yet been done officially in the matter, but at the next meeting of the consistory the women will probably ask that a meeting of the congregation be called to discuss the subject and possibly vote upon it.

A canvass of the congregation has not been made, but it is believed that very few will vote against the change from the present style of communion to the individual service.

RABINOWITZ NOT CONVICTED

ESCAPED PUNISHMENT AT NEW BRUNSWICK, BUT MUST FACE CHARGE HERE.

The jury in the case at New Brunswick against Jacob Rabinowitz, the Perth Amboy saloon keeper, who was charged with running a disorderly house, disagreed after being out nineteen hours. It is understood that the vote was nine to three for conviction. There is a question as to whether Rabinowitz will be tried again owing to the expense involved.

The case made a sensation in Perth Amboy owing to the fact that Rabinowitz claimed he was being persecuted for political reasons.

Rabinowitz will be brought to this city for a hearing tomorrow afternoon on a charge of receiving stolen horses from Charles Brown, the self-confessed horse-thief. Brown's preliminary hearing will take place at the same time.

BOARD OF EDUCATION IN MONTHLY SESSION

C. B. Scott, of Mass., Was Appointed a Special Instructor in Science and Nature Study.

THE PHYSICIANS' REPORT

MR. MAXSON INSTRUCTED TO ATTEND EDUCATION ASSN. CONFERENCE.

Delay in New High School Due to Common Council's Failure to Go Ahead—Every Pupil Required to Undergo Medical Examination.

All the members of the Board of Education were present at last night's regular monthly meeting. Merely routine business was transacted. It was announced that nothing could be done in the matter of proceeding with the new High School building until the Common Council acted.

L. N. Lovell, for the Board of School Estimate, reported that the plans for a $125,000 structure were heartily approved and that notice of such approval had been conveyed to the Common Council.

The appointment of C. B. Scott, of Hyannis, Mass., to be special instructor to teachers in science and nature study was recommended by the committee on teachers, J. B. Probasco, chairman, and the recommendation adopted. Mr. Scott's appointment will go into effect March 1, and continue through the school year.

The medical inspectors, Drs. Tomlinson and VanHorn, announced that they had examined 230 pupils during January. The unusually large number of examinations was due to the postponement of examination of new pupils last fall, every pupil upon entering the schools being required to undergo a medical inspection as to eye-sight, condition of throat, etc.

Superintendent H. M. Maxson announced that the annual meeting of the department of superintendents of the National Educational Association would take place at Atlanta, Ga., February 23 to 25. He was authorized by the Board to attend.

The report of the custodian of school moneys showed a balance on hand of 19,885.41.

ENTRIES COMPLETE FOR Y. M. C. A. MEET

Arrangements Perfected for Indoor Athletics, in Which 5 Associations Will Contest.

A FULL LIST OF EVENTS

THE AFFAIR TAKES PLACE NEXT MONDAY NIGHT.

Newark, Summit, Orange, Jersey City and Plainfield to Take Part—Summit Won at Last Year's Meet—List of Entries.

Arrangements for the Y. M. C. A. athletic meet in the gymnasium of the local association next Monday, February 8, have taken definite shape. All that remains is the final preparations that will bring the athletes into their best form for what is one of the big Y. M. C. A. athletic events of the year.

There are five teams entered—Plainfield, Newark, Jersey City, Summit and Orange. Montclair, Paterson, Passaic and Morristown were invited to participate but for one reason or another have seen fit to withdraw. Among the teams that remain, however, the rivalry is keen and the meet promises to be a rousing good one. There will be cause for surprise if one or more records are not shattered in the course of the evening's entertainment.

The events to be contested are the potato race, running high jump and running high dive, three standing broad jumps and shot put. The championship of Northern New Jersey will go to the winning team.

The entries have closed. Plainfield's are Walter McNaughton, O. H. Munger, A. L. Denton and Walter Cahoone. Of these some will necessarily contest in more than one event. Summit's entries, four in number, include Charles Dean, who won the shot put at last year's indoor meet, Albion Buckley, Willard Halsey and Clifford Bernard. Newark will be represented by a man for each event, Harry Shonher, Otto Kollman, Harry Todd, John Allen, George Curtin. The Central Branch of Jersey City will send F. N. Esher, F. S. McDougall, H. Abrams, W. DeMott, W. Simmons; and Orange will have A. Poeller, Jr., a high diver of exceptional ability, W. S. Lindsay, W. S. Courter, I. P. Nielson and J. F. Munson. The directors of the teams are not required to state into which events the men will go.

The last indoor meet which combined athletics, gymnastics and calesthenics, was won last year in Jersey City by Summit, which led Plainfield by only two or three points. Summit, it is expected, will be strong again this year and Orange is another team that will be in at the finish. Orange is strong in the high dive.

One of the special attractions at the meet which, in itself, will be "well worth the price of admission," will be the exhibition of swinging illuminated clubs by Fred Metz, the national amateur champion club swinger.

AMITY HOSE CARRIAGE TO GO

EXEMPT FIREMEN'S TRUSTEES TO ARRANGE FOR SENDING IT TO ST. LOUIS.

The matter of sending the famous Amity hose carriage to the St. Louis Exposition was discussed last night by the Exempt Firemen at their regular monthly meeting. The main question was as to the safety of the carriage. The members were assured by Chief Deane that ample protection would be afforded it. He had the word of former Chief Hale, of Kansas City, who is in charge of the exhibition of fire apparatus at the fair, that the carriage would be shown in a large enclosure and that it would be constantly guarded. Bonds will be required and furnished for its safe return.

All arrangements for sending the carriage were left in the hands of the Board of Trustees, of which D. W Littell is chairman.

CITY WANTS CHANGE IN PRESENT TAX LAW

Common Council Instructs Corporation Counsel to Draft Measure for the Legislature.

SESSION A BUSY ONE

CITY FATHERS MAKE BUT ONE CHANGE IN OFFICIALS' SALARIES.

Cost of Extension of Sanitary Sewers $24,210—To Be Assessed Against Abutting Property Owners—Appointments Confirmed.

Councilman L. M. Daniels at last night's meeting of the Common Council introduced the question relative to the new law which causes all taxes to become due on December 20 instead of November 20 as formerly, stating that he believed it would be better for Plainfield taxpayers if the former date could be returned to. In this connection he offered a resolution that the corporation counsel be authorized to prepare a bill for Legislative enactment, changing the date to November 20, provided it is feasible. This resolution was adopted, although Councilman W. A. Garrigues took exception on the grounds that he believed it wise to have a uniform date.

According to the custom of former years, Mr. Daniel offered a resolution at the meeting, providing that Assemblyman C. L. Moffett, Plainfield's representative in the Assembly, secure for Plainfield copies of all bills introduced, as soon as printed, so that any unwise or hasty legislation which might be introduced affecting Plainfield could be looked after before it is too late. The expense for this work is not to exceed $25, and the copies of the laws are for the inspection of city officials only.

Other resolutions by Mr. Daniel provided that the salaries of all city officials for the coming year remain the same as last year with the exception of that of Collector F. H. Smith, which has already been fixed, also that H. C. VanEmburgh be made custodian of the block assessment maps drawn by F. J. Hubbard, civil engineer, that the same be kept in the collector's office and that the collector notify the county collector of such action. Another resolution by Mr. Daniel provided for the transfer of $1,000 from the general to the fire fund. All of these resolutions were adopted.

Mr. Gloak, chairman of the street committee, reported on a new suit instituted against the city by the Cameron Septic Tank Co., on a claim of infringement of a patent used at the sewage disposal plant. He offered a resolution that the matter be referred to the committee with power to take such action as the corporation counsel my deem necessary to protect the city's interest. In connection with this the committee was authorized to continue the services of Livingston Gifford, Esq., a specialist in patent litigation. He has been assisting the corporation counsel in the city's fight against the American Sewage Disposal Company, of Boston, the company having instituted a suit against the city for the alleged infringement of a patent in the method used for sewage disposal.

In a communication to the Council, F. D. Woodhull, secretary of the Board of School Estimate, certified to the fact that the board has determined that the sum of $125,000 is necessary for the purchase of lands and erection of a new High School building as previously proposed. The matter was referred to the finance committee to be reported on later.

In accordance with a request of Mrs. Harriett M. Myers, Miss Mary E. Martine and Miss Ella L. Martine, the Council through a resolution offered by Mr. Daniel voted to sell to the petitioners the property formerly owned by them and located at 126 East Ninth street, for $1,650, the amount set forth in the petition. The property was bought by the city at a Martin Act sale at a price much lower than is now offered. The petitioners were represented by F. W. Yates as agent.

J. C. Pope, secretary of the Public Service Corporation, informed the Council that in the future all bills to the city would be payable to this corporation as successors to the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company.

In accordance with the annual custom, the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital asked the Council to make the usual appropriation of $1,500 to the hospital. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

FIGHT OVER BIRD WILL BEGUN IN NEW YORK

shortly after the death of his wife. Before executing that one he consulted his wife's brothers, telling them that, since the great part of what he had came from his wife, he ought, in the event of the death of his son, to make provision for them. They agreed and a will was executed making those provisions. After providing for his sister, Annie E. Marlow, and his brother, Howard, the residue of his estate, in case his son died before him was to go to his brothers-in-law, Thomas B., and Chauncey Kerr, $50,000 to each.

He made and revoked two other wills after this, and on March 11, 1903, he executed a fourth, in which, after making some small bequests, he left $30,000 to his son, the remainder to be divided equally between his brother, Howard and his sister, Mrs. Marlow.

The contestants charge that Major Bird, assisted by Assistant District Attorney Edward Sandford, induced his father to destroy this fourth will and to execute with his son the so-called mutual wills under which each was to inherit the entire estate of the other.

It is alleged that William Bird told his brothers that he never understood the terms of this will, which he executed on April 4, 1903, and that he never saw it or his son's will after they were executed, because Major Bird put them in a box in the Lincoln National Bank. At the same time, it is alleged, Major Bird induced his father to turn over to him all the old gentleman's securities, which were deposited with the will, and he still has possession of the securities.

It is the will of April 4, 1903, that Major Bird has offered for probate. The contestants have been executed on Dec. 1, 1903, nineteen days before Mr. Bird's death, which they assert was the last will of William Bird. In it $10,000 each is given to Howard Bird and to Mrs. Marlow; to Joseph Bird, $5,000, and the remainder to his son This will has been offered for probate in New Jersey, where, the contestants allege, William Bird had his legal residence for at least two years before his death.

Part of the evidence to be introduced in the case will include a number of letters written by William Bird and Major Bird. The letters of Major Bird seem to be pretty affectionate for a neglectful son. One, dated at the Executive Chamber, Albany, Nov. 13, 1903, is addressed to his uncle Howard, at Dunellen.

Here is a passage from a letter dated Albany and written by the Major to his father:

There is one peculiar thing. You always write for checks and money from the Hotel Roselle. How are your friends there? I am afraid they are getting into you like Third Avenue did.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Moore, of Park avenue, are spending a week with relatives at Westerly, R. I.

CZAR'S FRIENDSHIP

Emperor at Winter Palace Ball Assures McCormick.

TALKS PEACE, BUT PREPARES FOR WAR

Russian Army In the Far East to Be Strengthened by Addition of Manchurian Reserves — Military Trains Go East Daily.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 2.—The court ball at the Winter palace last night was the most brilliant event of its kind held here for years, and it marked the climax of the social season. The vast labyrinth of the famous halls presented a remarkable scene, for every one present, from the czar down to the lowest civilian, was in uniform. The ladies were clad in magnificent court costumes, and the dazzling display of jewels probably could not be surpassed at any other court of Europe. The ladies of the diplomatic corps present wore court gowns of great beauty.

The czar and czarina and the imperial family met the guests in the white marble saloon. His majesty, wearing the simple uniform of an officer of the imperial guard, led the grand march with Lady Scott, wife of the British ambassador, the ambassador escorting the czarina. The dowager empress was not present. Mrs. McCormick, wife of the American ambassador, was escorted by Grand Duke Cyrille. The czar did not dance the Russian mazurka, which is the feature of the court balls, but instead he moved about and conversed with the diplomats. While speaking with Ambassador McCormick his majesty took occasion to renew the assurances of his warm friendship for the United States.

During the evening Count Lamsdorff, the foreign minister, drew M. Kurino, the Japanese minister, into a window embrasure, where the two talked earnestly for half an hour. This incident attracted general attention.

In the course of the evening Spencer F. Eddy, secretary of the American embassy, was presented to the czarina.

A grand supper at which 3,000 guests sat down was laid at midnight.

In spite of the expressed hope of the Russian authorities that the present crisis will be passed and that a pacific solution of the Russo-Japanese negotiations will be reached, it is no longer concealed that Russia is practically preparing for eventualities by the mobilization of the Manchurian reserves.

It has been well known for months that Russia has been steadily strengthening her army and navy in the far east to meet the preparations which Japan was openly making. The available warships were dispatched to the far east, and the last division, which left the Mediterranean a month ago, is now nearing its destination. Quietly, but surely, it was necessary that Russia's preparations should keep pace with those of her diplomatic adversary. The feverish activity of Japan during the last few weeks naturally increased the distrust of her ultimate intentions, and the Russian authorities have been pushing their precautionary measures with more vigor.

It is understood that six or seven military trains daily have been going east over the Siberian road, and the charters of some ships' cargoes for the Pacific have been canceled because the water route was considered too slow. There has been some difficulty at Irkutsk, the capital of eastern Siberia, on account of the stoppage of the ice breakers and the excessive cold impeding the sledges from crossing Baikal lake, but this will be obviated when the line around the lake is completed shortly.

Chinese coal exclusively has been purchased for the Russian fleet.

The authorities now feel that the situation is secure should Japan reject the efforts the czar is making to avoid war.

The draft of Russia's reply probably will be submitted to the czar today. It is said that it will be pacific and should lead to a settlement. An official said:

"We have conceded much already, and we are ready to concede more, but some things we cannot grant. From our standpoint the Manchurian question was settled by Russia's circular note to the powers recognizing all the Chinese treaties. Why should Japan demand more than the other powers?"

The Russian press agrees that treaty guarantees covering Manchuria and permission for Japan to fortify southern Korea, making a closed sea of the sea of Japan, are impossible.

Whitney's Condition Critical.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—It is announced that the condition of William C. Whitney is about the same. There is no change, but Mr. Whitney is not yet out of danger. A consultation was held between Dr. Janeway, Dr. Bull, Dr. Delafield and Dr. Poole. The four physicians were together an hour and a half. Apparently the serious condition of the patient caused the protracted conference.

Seven Vessels Adrift In Ice.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Feb. 2.—The colonial fisheries department received advices that seven vessels, hailing from American, Canadian and Newfoundland ports, are adrift amid the ice floes in the gulf of St. Lawrence. It is feared that the crews of some of these boats have perished.

Kaiser Inspects St. Louis Models.

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—Emperor William and a number of dignitaries dined with General Budde, minister of public works, and inspected numerous models illustrating German sea and inland navigation which have been prepared for the St. Louis exposition.

Minister Squiers Calls on Cuba For Redress.

Mob at Cienfuegos Bespattered United States Consulate With Mud as a Result of Many Election Disturbances.

HAVANA, Feb. 2.—A riotous mob at Cienfuegos vented their ill feelings by flinging mud upon the United States escutcheon hanging over the entrance of the United States consulate, practically covering the escutcheon with mud and filth, as the result of disputes over the election of registrars.

United States Minister Squiers cabled the Cuban government to take action at once to punish the instigators of the insult.

Mr. Squiers said that, while the incident of mud throwing in itself might be unimportant, the generally disturbed condition of Cienfuegos made it incumbent upon the United States' representatives to insist on fitting punishment for the culprits and the prompt checking of such conduct.

The Cuban department of state and justice has taken action and ordered the prosecution of the persons at Cienfuegos suspected of responsibility in the defacing of the escutcheon at the United States consulate and has notified Minister Squiers that an investigation and punishments have been ordered. General Rodriguez, commander of the rural guards, has left here for Cienfuegos.

There is much public criticism of the mayor of Cienfuegos, and the leaders of the party which caused the disturbances are said to be well known locally.

A number of Nationalists recently asked Consul Baehr to request that American warships be sent and stationed at Cienfuegos on account of the incapacity of the city officials to preserve order. This request, however, was not regarded as worthy of serious consideration.

The only motive assigned to the mud throwing incident is a desire to create a situation which would result in the ousting of the local officials.

Old Lady Robbed and Injured.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2. — Four men entered a small jewelry store at 3416 Market street, West Philadelphia, beat, bound and gagged the aged owner of the place, Mrs. Annie Hassler, and then gathered up jewelry to the value of about $500 and escaped. The daring robbery was committed while persons were passing the store, but so quietly was it done that no one's attention was attracted until the men left the store and ran away. A neighbor then entered the store and found Mrs. Hassler unconscious on the floor. She is seriously injured. Mrs. Hassler is seventy-one years of age.

Temperance at Ship Naming.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 2.—Champagne at the christening of J. J. Hill's steamship Dakota at New London, Conn., Feb. 6 is not wanted by 3,000 women of North Dakota and South Dakota, who have signed a petition to that effect and forwarded it to Mr. Hill in New York city. The women say that the boat is named after two prohibition states and should not be baptized with champagne. Miss Mary Bell Flemington of Grand Forks, N. D., is to christen the ship. Great Northern railroad officers in Minneapolis refuse to comment on the temperance petition.

London Fog Envelops Boston.

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—A heavy mantle of fog which hung over the city early has caused much inconvenience on the railroads and among the harbor craft. At times the vapor was so thick that in the railroad yards it was difficult to see more than two car lengths ahead of a train. Signal lights were indistinct, and many trains were late in arriving from out of town. Tugs and ferryboats in the harbor were navigated with the greatest caution, and whistles had to be blown constantly to avoid collision. The fog made the atmosphere so dark that lights were necessary indoors all day.

Reward For Distinguished Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Secretary Root has transmitted to congress the draft of a bill containing a method of reward for distinguished service in the army. The plan, which was prepared by the general staff, authorizes the president when in his judgment the services of any officer shall warrant to grant to such officer a distinguished service commission, not to exceed two grades above that held by him, such commission to carry with it the pay of such grade.

Died of Privation; Had $1,000,000.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 2.—An old woman who for twenty years past has resided in a small room in this city has been found dead of privation. The officials who went to her room to seal up her furniture discovered the sum of $8,000 in a cupboard, and a further search resulted in the finding of securities valued at $1,000,000. The woman leaves no heirs.

May Mean a Royal Marriage.

ROME, Feb. 2.—The journey of the Duke of Aosta, heir to the throne of Italy, to Paris and Brussels is surrounded with ever growing mystery, but the report that he will ask the hand of his sister-in-law, Princess Louise of Orleans, for his brother, the Count of Turin, is gaining credence.

JIMINEZ AT MONTE CRISTI.

Revolutionists Received War Munitions From New York.

ST. THOMAS, D. W. I., Feb. 2.—Advices have been received here to the effect that the revolutionary General Jiminez is at Monte Cristi and is preparing to resume the contest, having received a large supply of ammunition by the steamer Cherokee from New York. A gunboat appeared in the offing of Monte Cristi and was supposed to intercept the Cherokee. She sent a boat in toward the shore, but the revolutionists prevented it from landing by artillery fire. To this the gunboat responded by bombarding Monte Cristi. She did but slight damage, however, and finally steamed away before the Cherokee arrived and landed her ammunition, she having been delayed.

An armed schooner appeared off Monte Cristi and exchanged shots with the shore, the revolutionists firing first. The schooner is still off Monte Cristi. She seized a lighter load of provisions, valued at $700, which was being sent from Monte Cristi to a small town on the coast.

There has been hard fighting around Monte Cristi and Santiago de los Caballeros, hundreds of men have been killed, and business is paralyzed.

NORDICA DIVORCED.

Referee Has Found Husband Guilty of Misconduct.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Mme. Nordica, the prima donna, who off the operatic stage is Mrs. Lillian M. Doeme, has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Judge Bischoff in the supreme court. The decree was based on the report of William M. Turner, who was appointed referee to take testimony in the action.

All the papers in the case except the decree were sealed up by order of the court. The decree states the referee has found Zoltan Doeme, the defendant, a well known tenor, guilty of misconduct.

No provision is made for any alimony for Mme. Nordica.

It became known about a year ago that there was trouble between Mme. Nordica and Mr. Doeme, and it was hinted that a person close to a well known opera singer would be named by the wife as corespondent.

When Mme. Calve came to this country recently she denied that she had given any information to Mme. Nordica upon which a divorce might be secured.

Abyssinians and the Mollah.

ROME, Feb. 2. — The situation in Somaliland is growing more serious. It has been learned that the Abyssinian army sent out to fight the mollah did not proceed beyond the point where the water wells ended, and it is known that the mollah sent emissaries to the Abyssinians, who seem to have succeeded in inducing them not to fight against their own race. It is not true, however, as the mollah boastfully declares, that this Abyssinian force entered into an alliance with him. Still, their attitude has been changed from the active assistance expected from them into one of passivity.

Uruguayan Troops Defeated.

BUENOS AYRES, Feb. 2.—Later reports show that the Uruguayan forces met with a disaster and not a reverse at San Ramon. The revolutionists captured the ammunition of General Muniz, the commander of the Uruguayan troops, though Muniz saved his guns. Two regiments of national guards at Montevideo have been disbanded because of their mutinous conduct. The Uruguayan government has recalled troops from the country districts, as the situation at Montevideo is serious.

Heintzemann Press Burned Out.

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—The Heintzemann Press, occupying the top floor of a five story brick building at 653-655 Atlantic avenue, was burned out, with a loss of $50,000. The office and storage rooms of the American Cotton Mills company on the fourth story also suffered damage amounting to $25,000. The fire originated in the printing establishment.

Ogden Wanted In New York.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—J. H. Ogden, said by the police to be wanted in New York and Boston on charges of forgery, has been arrested here. He is charged with passing a worthless check for $200 on a Chicago bank. When arrested, Ogden had, the police say, $2,500 worth of certified checks, which, the police believe, are worthless.

Josef Hoffman, Artist, Dead.

VIENNA, Feb. 2.—Josef Hoffman, a well known Vienna artist, who is dead here in his seventy-second year, had traveled extensively in America and Alaska. He was the first artist to introduce pictures of American scenery into Austria, and he painted the scenery for Wagner's first production of the "Nibelungen."

American Artist Robbed.

ROME, Feb. 2.—The police have arrested the three sneak thieves who broke into the studio here of Elihu Vedder, an American artist, and stole, among other things, two of Mr. Vedder's pictures. The pictures were found hidden in a drain outside the city gate not far from the artist's studio.

Mrs. Storer Headed Procession.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 2.—At Ascot park the horses ran close to form. The chief event was the fourth race at seven furlongs. Golden Rule and Paul Whaley set a fast pace, with Golden Rule in the lead to the last thirty yards, where Walsh got Whaley's nose in front and kept him there to the wire. Ocean Dream was favorite. The time, 1:27, is a new track record. Up to date more than 50 per cent of the favorites have won. Results:

Canadian Amateur Won.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Arthur Marcotte of Quebec, the Canadian amateur champion billiardist, defeated J. De Mun Smith of St. Louis by a score of 300 to 258 in the opening game of the amateur billiard championship tournament, which was begun here in the music room of the Liederkranz club. Neither man played anywhere near to his normal form, although at times both made fine runs. Smith opened with a well nursed 31, but his next best effort netted only 24, which he got in the thirteenth inning. Smith's nursing plays were better than Marcotte's, but in open table work the Canadian excelled, making runs of 35, 29, 24 and 23 by good all round work. Each played seventy-seven innings.

Parr Defeated Munroe.

BUFFALO, Feb. 2.—Jim Parr, the English heavyweight champion wrestler, defeated Jack Munroe of Butte at the Olympic Athletic club last night. Parr won two straight falls in 21 minutes 40 seconds and 15 minutes 20 seconds, the first by a leg and half Nelson hold and the second a combination back hammer and leg hold. The conditions of the match called for the best two in three falls catch as catch can, strangle hold barred. Al Limerick, whom Munroe put out in Boston, challenged the Butte miner for another bout. Munroe agreed to give him another chance.

Blizzard Ties Up Trolley Lines.

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 2.—The cold wave struck this vicinity, and a fair sized blizzard was soon raging. The thermometer dropped from 30 to 17 degrees and with the mercury still falling promises to hover about the zero mark. With one exception, the Columbia line, all the suburban branches of the local trolley company are paralyzed. The strong wind caught up snow that had fallen in the last week and piled it on the tracks, some places to a depth of eight and nine feet. Cars are snowbound on the Strasburg, Millersville, Ephrata and New Holland lines.

Ships Mix In Fog.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 2.—The Bay line steamer Georgia, from Baltimore to Norfolk, rammed the schooner Henry W. Cramp in Hampton Roads during a dense fog. Both vessels were damaged by the collision, but neither to a great extent. The Georgia's steel prow is crumpled, and the bow of the Cramp is stove in. There was considerable excitement among the passengers on the steamer, but no one was injured.

TAFT IS SECRETARY

Root Surrenders Portfolio to Resume Law Practice.

SPECIAL HONORS PAID BY ROOSEVELT

Ex-Governor of Philippines Was In Best of Spirits, While Ex-Secretary Showed the Relief He Felt In Laying Aside Cares of Office.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. — Former Governor William H. Taft has taken the oath of office as secretary of war and has entered upon his new duties. The ceremony took place in the large reception room attached to the secretary's office in the war department, and the transfer of authority from Elihu Root, retiring secretary, was more impressive than any similar event in many years.

Before the appointed hour Governor Taft came over to the department from his hotel with a little party of personal friends and some of his immediate family. These included Charles P. Taft and Miss Wilby of Cincinnati, H. W. Taft of New York, L. R. Wilfley, attorney general for the Philippines, and J. D. Schmidlapp of Cincinnati, a personal friend of the governor.

They were ushered into Secretary Root's office, where Mr. Root in a few well chosen words and with a good deal of feeling surrendered his portfolio. The party then went to the reception room, where General Chaffee, chief of staff, in uniform, took charge of the ceremonies. The room was cleared of all except the participants in the induction, the party of friends and the members of the general staff. Governor Taft and Secretary Root took their places at the long table, where stood John Randolph, a notary, who administered the oath of office to the incoming secretary.

Then congratulations were showered upon Secretary Taft, and goodbys were said to Secretary Root. Every army officer on duty in Washington was aligned at the doorway, and the brilliantly uniformed column passing before the retiring and incoming secretaries formed a striking spectacle. Secretary Taft was in the best of spirits, and he had a smile and good word for every one, while Secretary Root showed in his countenance the relief he felt in laying down the cares of the great office.

After the military men had passed through the room the heads of bureaus and finally most of the employees of the department were admitted, and each of these received a pleasant greeting. At the conclusion of the reception Secretary Taft, with his personal friends and family, went to luncheon. Ex-Secretary Root left Washington during the afternoon for New York.

President Roosevelt went on foot to say goodby to the retiring war secretary. He was escorted to the depot by a numerous guard of honor ordered out by the president.

PHILIPPINE ISLES.

Taft's Report on Conditions In Our Asian Possessions.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The president sent to the senate the annual report of the Philippine commission, including the report of the civil governor of the Philippine Islands and the reports of the heads of the executive departments for the period ended Dec. 25, 1903. The report of the commission contains a detailed statement by the auditor for the islands of expenditures under the appropriation of $3,000,000 for the relief of distress in the Philippine Islands.

Governor Taft says the year was one of considerable suffering among the people of the Philippine Islands on account of a short food supply, but that the worst is passed. While he does not consider the future as bright as it might be, he believes we are beginning an era in the history of the islands which, with the assistance of proper tariff reduction in the United States and proper navigation laws for the islands, will be one of decided material development.

One of the causes of the food famine, he says, was a "corner" in rice formed in November, 1902, which he met by having passed an act appropriating $2,000,000 in Mexican money to buy rice in foreign markets and distribute it among the natives. It was necessary to go to Siam and Calcutta to get sufficient supplies. The Calcutta merchants palmed off on the Manila authorities an inferior red rice for first class famine rice, and the loss to the Philippine government on account of the rice developing weevils was extensive.

Speaking of the conditions in the islands, Governor Taft says that at no time has there been less ladronism than when this was written, Dec. 10, 1903. He refers to the fact that on a dead ladrone a letter was found from Mabini, who had recently landed in the islands from Guam after taking the oath of allegiance, and says he sent for Mabini and expressed surprise that so soon after taking the oath the Filipino should open communication with men in arms against the government. Mabini, he says, replied by sending a copy of a letter he had sent San Miguel advising that it is better to endeavor to secure independence through the paths of peace rather than by open warfare. He said, further, however, that he believed that so long as the Filipinos do not endeavor to liberate themselves from their bonds the period of their liberty will not arrive. Governor Taft corresponded with Mabini and in one letter thanked him for his interest in the maintenance of law and order in the islands. Within a few weeks after this correspondence Mabini died of cholera.

Plainfield, N. J., Feb. 2, 1904.

The Daily Press has a higher circulation rating than is accorded to any other paper in Plainfield.—Printers' Ink.

Col. Bryan has eliminated so many of the rival Democratic factions that the nominee for President is almost certain to be a dark horse.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Lame donkey, not a dark horse.

William C. Whitney, father of our modern navy, lies dangerously ill at his home in New York. He has occupied a distinguished position in the Democratic party and his death at this time would be a great loss.

The Common Council's order for the police to be on the alert for violations of the hack ordinance is timely. If the cabmen persist in charging fees higher than allowed by the present ordinance their licenses should be cancelled forthwith.

These councilmen voted in favor of increasing the fee of liquor licenses in this city:

Ralph I. Tolles,
William Starr Bullock,
William S. [illegible]ayler,
William A. Garrigues,
Leslie M. Daniel.

The most successful advertiser is the man who is enthusiastic about his business. It is discouraging to attempt to do business with a man that you have to keep continually pumping enthusiasm into. It is too much of a drain on one's vital resources. It is possible to galvanize a corpse into seeming life to the extent of making it kick, but that is all. The man who requires constant enthusing in order to keep him in line is a "deader." He will never make a real live advertiser.—Exchange.

That the Common Council should suddenly, and for some unknown reason, kill the measure to increase the liquor license fee when the proposed ordinance was presented on third reading last night, is generally regretted by the public. What actuated the five members, who arrayed themselves against the scheme recommended by the Mayor and approved by the Plainfield Ministers' Association and well-wishing citizens, was not even broached at the meeting, though possibly some reason was given by the protesting ones at an executive session proceeding.

A somewhat protracted conference of certain members of the Common Council and politicians, representing the machine, took place in the city offices before the session was called to order and it may be that the plot to defeat the measure was arranged there. Certain it is that the general public was of the belief that there would be no opposition to the plan, which was in the best interests of the city. Local option as a remedy for the liquor evil has failed in many instances where it has been tried and experiments have shown that a high license fee together with the activity of an efficient police department have been generally satisfactory in coping with the problem.

The public owes a vote of thanks to its representatives who cast their votes in favor of a measure which was for the welfare of Plainfield.

Totten, of West Fourth street, broke his collar bone in two places last Friday night by a fall on the cement sidewalk in front of the offices of the Plainfield Beef Company on East Third street. CITY WANTS CHANGE IN PRESENT TAX LAW

The Board of Education advised the Council that L. N. Lovell and C. F. Abbott have been chosen as members of the Board of School Estimate. They will serve with two members from the Council and the Mayor.

A communication was received from F. H. Smith, secretary of the Board of Trade, entering a protest against the wretched trolley cars and service and asking for immediate action on the part of the Council. The matter was referred to the street committee.

Titus H. Laury, who was assessed for a dog which he claims he never owned, presented an affidavit to that effect and asked for a return of his money. The finance committee will consider the request.

H. O. Tracy and other residents petitioned for electric lights in the vicinity of Prospect, Hillside and Woodland avenues. The matter was referred to the proper committee.

Mayor Jenkins appointed Frank Day, Anthony Parsons and Leonard D. Amelio as special policemen and they were confirmed.

Building Inspector Doane reported that during the month of January ten building permits were issued.

Mr. Daniel reported favorably upon the bonds of Collector F. H. Smith and Constables Amos Moffett and P. V. Weaver and they were filed. Constable John Manley's bond was returned for correction as to form.

Mr. Gloak offered a resolution setting forth that the cost of the extension to the sanitary sewers was $345,210. R. A. Meeker, Townsend Rushmore and J. F. Buckle, appointed as commissioners to assess benefits and damages, will now assess the property-owners with a view to securing that sum total.

In response to a request from Chief T. O. Doane, of the fire department, Mr. Lee offered a resolution authorizing the purchase of 2,000 feet of hose at a cost not to exceed $1,800.

SIDEWALKS CARE DISCUSSED

NEW ORDINANCE MORE STRINGENT AND OBJECTION IS MADE.

A somewhat lengthy discussion was provoked by an ordinance introduced at the meeting of the Common Council last night by Mr. Gloak relative to the removal of snow and ice, as well as weeds and other obstructions from side walks and the streets. While the only change suggested was that making it compulsory for property-owners or tenants to remove snow and ice twelve hours after a storm, instead of twenty-four, as heretofore, the reading of the entire ordinance acquired several members with facts they did not know.

Mr. Daniel thought the ordinance too stringent for a suburban city like Plainfield, believing that the property-owners or tenants should not be compelled to clean their gutters of snow. Mr. Garrigues thought likewise, while Mr. Gloak and Mr. Tyler argued in favor of the ordinance.

Mr. Daniel said that it would soon be a question of deciding the limit to the heighth of grass. He said that he did not believe that the purpose of the ordinance should be to remove grass and so from each side of sidewalks, as these are considered attractive.

Mr. Lee cited instances where grass was allowed to almost cover sidewalks, making walking very disagreeable. One place cited was on West Front street near Grant avenue.

After an apparent useless discussion of the question, Mr. Gloak stated that the ordinance was drafted in accordance with the State law by Corporation Counsel Marsh, yet to satisfy the protesting members he would withdraw it and consult further with Mr. Marsh.

Rev. John McMurray, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, will be the speaker at next Sunday afternoon's 4 o'clock meeting for men at the Y. M. C. A. Hall. Miss Mildred Till, of the Rock Band Concert Company, will be the soloist. Miss Till was a pupil of Mario Celli, the celebrated vocal artist and teacher.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will be held Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The subject will be "The Treasury." Members are requested to come prepared to take part in an informal discussion on the duties and obligations of stewards.

"The Worth of a Soul," was the topic of Rev. John McMurray's Sunday night sermon. He referred to the soul's capacity for enjoyment; that a home has been prepared for it and that if people realized the great and full value of a soul there would be less evil influence, a less number of saloons and temptations. He said that most persons underestimated the value of a soul and if they could only be led to place the true value on it there would be more accomplished in Christian work and for the upbuilding of Christ's Kingdom.

A business meeting of the consistory of the German Reformed church will be held tonight when the organization of the new governing body of the church will take place. The retiring members are Christian Debele and Fred Endress, deacons. The former has been secretary of the church for a number of years but has recently resigned his office. The successors to the retiring members are: Frank Bach and Henry Hess. Other matters of importance will be discussed at that time.

DOG WITH A SCENT.

No Trail Too Cold for His Truly Marvelous Powers.

Displayed His Good Breeding and Delighted His Master—Scented a Thirty-Year-Old Coon Track Under Ground.

This is a story of a dog with a remarkable scent. It was discovered in a recent number of the National Bloodhound Magazine, which is published in Fort Wayne, Ind., and the town is celebrated for the veracity of its citizens.

The magazine contains photographs of noted hound breeders out in that part of the country and all of them are looking pleasant. Two or three dogs look as if they were laughing and some of the type is askew. No wonder, for the story is there. It has even upset the equanimity of the dog jury in the trial of a pup for chicken stealing, depicted in the frontispiece.

The story has to do with a 'coon dog that picked up a 30-year-old 'coon track covered by a foot of earth.

That was a nose to make 'coons climb a tree.

Gee! No wonder the pictures are on the grin.

This is the how of it: Away back in 1735 a ministerial gentleman named Webster squatted on land near the place where Anthony Wayne fought the battle of the prostrate timbers. He was making drain pipe one day from an adobe-like clay, and while absent from his task for a moment to tong a hop coal from the fireplace to the bowl of his pipe, a big, fat raccoon, in running across his dooryard, stepped on a piece of unfinished pipe.

At the moment when the 'coon put his feet down the clay was in a receptive mood, and the animal made a lasting impression. Mr. Webster saw 'coon signs in his handiwork, but not possessing a destructive temperament he allowed the clay to retain the footprint. In the course of time the pipe with the impression was shunted into another pipe without an impression, other pieces were added, and finally the whole string of clay cylinders were buried under ground to run the moisture out of the reverend gentleman's front yard. Then the pipe and the footprint were forgotten.

Thirty years later a hard-shell Baptist minister by the name of Flannigan—Rev. Pat they used to call him—came from Pennsylvania to visit Rev. Mr. Webster and he brought along with him his celebrated 'coon dog Digemout. The dog was known all through the mountains of Pennsylvania for his marvelous scenting qualities, and his owner was consequently very proud of him. Rev. Mr. Flannigan arrived one Saturday night, and the next morning after breakfast and worship and a mutual agreement that it would not cause the recording angel to dip for ink should they go out to see if any 'coons were abroad, the two toilers in the Lord's vineyard stepped forth and were sizing up the surrounding timber for a likely place when Rev. Pat wondered aloud what the dickens the pup was scratching for in the yard.

Sure enough, Digemout was busy. His eyes sparkled with warm prospects just beyond his paws, and Rev. Mr. Webster, remembering the old drain, suggested that mink might have crawled into it. Mink? Rev. Pat rather guessed not. Digemout was a 'coon dog, and to 'coons alone he gave his attention. Mink be fiddled, the dog had not forgotten his education.

"Sic 'im, boy," shouted the reverend visitor, and Digemout worked faster, breathed harder and looked fiercer. In order to hurry matters Mr. Webster fetched an old shovel from the smoke house and began to dig. In a moment man and dog had reached the drain pipe, and the dog with yell crowding on yell of delight placed his nose into the all-enduring 'coon track made in the molded clay 30 years before.

"There," exclaimed Rev. Pat, with overflow enthusiasm, "I knew there was 'coon somewhere beneath the sod; that dog never fooled his master."

Model School Regulations.

In the interest of preventing consumption in the boarding schools of France, only metal bedsteads are permitted; every child older than 12 years must sleep in a room by itself; and in the kitchen and in the dining-room scientific precaution must be taken against the disease. And no pupil or teacher who is known to have consumption is permitted in any school. Circulars, prepared by physicians, are sent to every school principal, which explain in detail preventive measures of all kinds.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

OUT OF DOOR GARMENTS.

Smart Automobile Coats—Fancy Coats Hang Loose Back and Front.

The new automobile garments are very smart and no longer suggest the clumsiness of times gone by. Fine leather and fancy wool materials are beautifully fitted and lined with squirrel or mink to keep their wearer warm on long runs.

The cloth coats for street wear are very smartly made with white satin linings to the wide cape collars and dainty little application of lace and empresent, and these are short enough in the back to reveal a wide girdle of contrasting material.

The most elaborate and beautiful braidings appear on many of the new broidery. The wide cavalier cuffs are being revived, and in general any cuff is fashionable which allows a frill of lace to fall over the hand.

Very fancy coats hanging loose both back and front are the smart things at models. The buttons also form a large item when one is considering the cost of a suit.

Feather boas and muffs and also muffs of crushed chiffon are among the half season fads. Stoles made of every possible material will also be prominent features of smart spring dressmaking. They are planned to match the gowns with which they are worn.

In the cut is shown a very smart auto coat of gray and white checked goods. It is lined with gray and white squirrel. The auto cap matches and has a gray chiffon veil attached.

ORNATE UNDERWEAR.

Chemises and Nightgowns Which Are Creations—Dainty Stockings.

The more ornate styles are not simply confined to outer garments. Underwear is also being rendered fancy in a multitude of ways. The nightgowns, many of them, have beautiful deep berthas of lace knotted most elaborately at the left side with bows and rosettes of pale blue or pink ribbon. The bottom of these nightgowns often boasts a full ruffle, and the sleeves are miracles of daintiness, with their insertions and puffed fullness.

Chemises are masses of crisscross lace and medallion effects across the bust, and the petticoat part is most fancifully frilled.

The most beautiful stockings are of sheer silk embroidered with roses or other flowers to correspond with the tint of the stocking. Often pale blue stockings will have a design of pink rosebuds and their delicate green leaves.

The kimono shape is still the favorite for negligees, and beautiful robes are made out of oriental embroideries.

The new petticoats are one mass of ruffles from the knees down, and many petticoats have a full ruffle sewed on to an accordion plaited flounce.

Green is being revived, and this very trying color should be worn with care. Green to look well must be in a good fabric, either chiffon voile, crepe de chine, fine cloth or velvet, and it needs very careful trimming.

The illustration shows a debutante's gown of white mousseline de soie trimmed with ruchings of the same and of white lace.

CUPID ALWAYS BUSY.

Does Not Respect Old Age and Conquers Woman Haters.

How a New Jersey Widow Won an Aged and Silent Husband—Ohio Millionaire Marries Adopted Daughter.

The fact that a man does not get married before he is 21 years old does not argue that he is immune. Sedate men who figure out at the age of 40 that Cupid can do no harm to them might well take care. There is no age of immunity and no disposition which is entirely proof.

To substantiate this, it is only necessary to tell the story of William Vannote, of New Brunswick, N. J.

For 35 years Vannote had not spoken to a woman. The other day he was married. For nine years he had boarded with Mrs. Mary Hendrock, a widow, and Jacob Agan, her son-in-law, and her daughter. He did not speak to the two women. He had nothing to say, and he has since explained.

Suddenly, however, Vannote awoke to the fact that he ought to have a wife, and so at the breakfast table he remarked, breaking his long silence:

"Mrs. Hendrock, ma'am, will you marry me?" Adding thereto by way of an afterthought: "And will you have corned beef and cabbage for dinner?"

Evidently he thought that while he was speaking he might as well make two requests as one, and get a dinner to his liking as well as a wife.

The buxom German widow was startled, as she well might be, at hearing the words of a man celebrated for miles around as a woman hater, but she recovered her composure quickly and stammered:

"Yes, sir."

It was left to Vannote to decide whether she meant that she would be his wife or whether she would provide him with the cabbage dinner. It might have meant both or either one.

"WILL YOU MARRY ME?"

Vannote thought over it a moment, and then asked which she meant.

"Both," she said.

"Then put on your hat," said the sudden bridegroom. In a quarter of an hour they stood before a justice of the peace. After they had been married they moved into a tiny house which Vannote had built. Evidently he had been thinking of matrimony.

Since they have been married the husband has not spoken ten words to his wife, but with the experience of knowing him ten years without hearing him speak at all, Mrs. Vannote is quite reconciled to her silent husband.

From Ohio there comes another story which illustrates the statement that age does not bring immunity. This story concerns Henry Godman, a Columbus millionaire, and his adopted daughter, Mrs. Cora G. Flora. Godman is 71 years old, and the bride 38.

Only recently Godman retired from business with a fortune to his credit. Some years ago he became interested in Mrs. Flora, a young widow, who had been supporting herself by work as a trained nurse. He decided to adopt her, and did so, making provision for her in his will. She made her home with him, and the man soon fell in love with her. The marriage is the result.

Thirty years ago Charles McKee, of Kentucky, was undecided whether he wanted to marry Miss Elizabeth Plummer or Miss Matilda Wheat, who were chums and lived in the same neighborhood of Fleming county. Finally he decided on Miss Plummer, who died three years after the wedding.

His second wife was Miss Elizabeth Humphries, who died several years afterwards. Then he married Mrs. Margaret Haggarty, who died at the age of 50. After a proper season of mourning the still undiscouraged man took a fourth wife, another widow, Mrs. Olive Davis, who died in the second year after her marriage to him.

After his second marriage, McKee had moved to Indiana. He decided that for the fifth wife he would go back to Kentucky. Back to Fleming county he called at the Wheat homestead, and was introduced to a Mrs. Doyle. He was asked if he recognized her, and after some time succeeded in doing so. She was Wheat's daughter, one of the two women he had been undecided about 30 years before.

She had married soon after he chose Miss Plummer, and her husband had died about the time he married his fourth wife. In about four weeks from the time he met her again he askd her to marry him, and she consented. They went back to Indiana.

The Origin of Chivalry.

The chivalry of Europe is, in great measure, a product of the Saracen chivalry, which entered Europe in two streams flowing through Constantinople and through Spain.

MAN OF MANY PARTS.

Gen. Rafael Reyes, Soldier, Explorer and Statesman.

First Man to Penetrate Into Heart of South American Continent—Presidente Designado Republic of Colombia.

One man who has stepped into at least temporary world prominence in the imbroglio over the isthmus of Panama is Gen. Rafael Reyes, now in Washington on a mission. His task is to secure, if possible, the undoing of the recognition of the republic of Panama by the United States government, and the bringing about of a renewal of negotiations between this country and the men who at present rule his land.

A man well worth studying is Rafael Reyes. In addition to being diplomat and politician, and presidente designado, or the one designated for the presidency in succession to Jose Marroquin within a few weeks, he is a military chieftain, a soldier of fortune, an explorer and scientist, and a leading figure among the literati of Bogota, that strange city built on a high plain of the Cordillera mountains and known as "the Athens of South America." In either of these roles he is interesting, but the combination of qualities in his make-up is one that appeals with peculiar force to the people of Latin blood whose opinions he is in such a powerful position to influence for good or ill.

While he is regarded by some American officials who have come into contact with him as a wily, elusive and dangerous politician, he is looked upon with veneration by millions on the southern side of the equator. He is, in fact, a sort of South American Ulysses. His explorations on that continent from Panama to Patagonia, in which all of his companions lost their lives, are full of romantic interest. Although the travelers did not go through a literal Hades, they braved the dangers of fever, of cannibal tribes and the savage cruelty of the aborigines of the far interior, where man had never before set his foot, and Reyes, returning alone from his fearful journeyings, was hailed as the hero of a modern Odyssey.

The story is told in South America that Reyes began his explorations by the merest chance. One of those periodical revolutions was on, and he found it necessary to seek exit from Colombia by the back door, or down the Orinoco, because the ports and main traveled roads were in control of his enemies. Thus it chanced that the revolt which sent him upon his wanderings was the most profitable to the world that the land of revolutions has ever produced. He traveled 25,000 miles, and almost every step was through regions hitherto unknown to the pioneer of any race or civilization.

GEN. RAFAEL REYES.
(Colombian Envoy Extraordinary to the United States.)

Having begun a journey to save his life, Reyes, the lust of the explorer and adventurer aroused in him, continued on and on, and science and trade have him to thank for the result. A canoe trip down the Orinoco was followed by a journey on foot along the banks of the Yapura. He and his companions proceeded through entirely unknown regions, for the greater part uninhabited even by Indians, and at last reached the great Amazon, where, building a canoe, he floated down to Para and the Atlantic. Only a few months elapsed after the completion of this trip before a firm of English ship owners availed themselves of Reyes' discoveries by placing a line of steamers along the route. A trade sprung up that has developed into one of the best-paying industries on the continent.

The chief explorer's brother, Enrique Reyes, died of fever, and the remaining brother, Nestor, was killed and eaten by cannibals near the headwaters of the Parana. The last of the party, his nephew, Felipe Calderon, fell by a poisoned arrow from an unseen hand just as they were upon the point of reaching the frontiers of civilization again.

Such sacrifices, however, were not made in vain, for Reyes proved what had never been suspected before, that South America from 35 degrees south to ten degrees north of the equator is supplied by nature with the finest water system imaginable.

His work accomplished and the veil of mystery which had hung so long over the interior of the continent raised, Colombia welcomed back the hero as enthusiastically as Ulysses was received upon his return from his wanderings following the siege of Troy. Party and sectional lines were forgotten and the people unanimously demanded of the government that he who had so honored his native land be given recognition. So the refugee was made minister plenipotentiary to France, and the Paris Geographical society published in its bulletins the record of his explorations.

WOMEN WE NEED.

Rainsford Asks Y. W. C. A. For True Charity and Gentleness.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Some pointed things were said by the Rev. Dr. W. S. Rainsford at the annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian association. He seemed particularly to object to the "lady board member." He said:

"What we need is not one institution such as yours, but a half dozen of them. I can't exaggerate the needs of your own sex in this city.

"Money is not so much needed as women. The sixteen-year-old girl goes out in the world to earn her living, and she is told to have a good time. She keeps on having a good time until by the time she is twenty-five she is not fit to be a good wife.

"What we need is the personal element in this work. The Lord deliver me from the highly developed lady board member. You want the worker. Four years ago I inspected the hospitals and found that only in two was any worth while visiting done. I have known plenty of women who have gone down, down, down, because they would not take one hour a day off to serve their sisters.

Of course they attended board meetings, but think how much more good they could have done if they had gone and sat by the bedside of some poor mother instead of listening to the reports of what some one else had done.

"We need the girl who is willing to give up her afternoon teas and fancy dress balls and theater parties to labor with those of her own age in the spirit of true charity and gentleness."

Undraped Figures Make Trouble.

VIENNA, Feb. 2.—The present conflict between an artists' society here known as the Secessionists and the Austrian commissioners of the St. Louis exposition with regard to the proposed exhibition at St. Louis of a wood relief carving of Arnold Winkelried by Ferdinand Andre will probably result in the Secessionists not being represented at the exposition. The carving in question created a considerable outcry when it was exhibited at the Secessionists' academy a few years ago, the authorities objecting to the undraped figures in the group. They tried to prevent the exhibition of this work, which the Secessionists now wish to include in their St. Louis exhibit, and this is now opposed by the exhibition commissioners. The Secessionists declare that unless the commissioners promptly withdraw their objection they will not send their collection to St. Louis.

Zeigler Extradition Refused.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 2.—Governor Odell has decided to refuse to issue a warrant of extradition of William Zeigler of New York, wanted in Missouri on a charge of bribery in connection with baking powder legislation in the legislature of that state in the session of 1901. The governor bases his refusal upon an opinion just submitted to him by Attorney General Cunneen, who holds that there is no sufficient evidence to show that Mr. Zeigler was in St. Louis in April, 1901, when the crime is alleged to have been committed.

Chairman Follows Bailey's Lead.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 2.—Following the lead of Governor Bailey, who has withdrawn from the race for governor, Morton Albaugh, chairman of the Republican state central committee during three campaigns, has announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election. "Governor Bailey having withdrawn," said he, "I neither expect nor desire to remain at the head of the committee."

Mr. Marx was one of the founders of the Congregation in this city.

Other beneficiaries of the will are Mrs. Loeb and Mrs. Jane O'Connor, relatives of Mr. Marx, both of whom are former Plainfielders. It has been announced that the contest will probably be withdrawn before the case can come to trial. William Newcorn, Esq., represents the Hebrew Congregation.

NO OPPOSITION TO HEARST

DEMOCRATIC CLUB, HOWEVER, DOESN'T WANT TO BE CONNECTED WITH BOOM.

The Democratic City Committee met last night and adjourned at the call of the chair without political or business discussion.

It has been stated by a member of the committee that there is no objection on their part or on that of the Democratic Club to the formation of a Hearst club. What the members do object to is the identifying of such an organization with the city committee or Democratic Club. It is doubtful, however, if the objection would be carried so far as the expulsion of a member from the city committee unless he attempted to use the name of the committee for the benefit of a Hearst organization.

The committee believes that it is unwise to commit itself in any way to a particular candidate at so early a date. It would, however, support Hearst if nominated as it would any regular nominee of the party.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS FROM TRINITY REFORMED

The Gains in All Departments Shown at Quarterly Meeting of the Sunday-School.

F. E. SMITH PRESIDED

THE TOTAL MEMBERSHIP OF THE ENTIRE SCHOOL IS 715.

Average Attendance for Year 309, a Gain of Twenty Over Last Year —The Collections in Various Departments.

The quarterly meeting of the officers and teachers of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school was held last night in the church parlors. Superintendent F. E. Smith was in the chair. After the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, Secretary E. H. Bird's report was read. It showed a total membership of 715, making a gain over last year of fifty-seven, due largely to the increase in the Junior and Primary departments. The total average attendance on any one Sunday was 419 and the smallest 91.

The report of the superintendent of the Home department showed 151 members enrolled, a gain of forty over last year and of fourteen for the quarter. The amount collected was $39.79 for the quarter.

The report from Miss Minnie Wyman, assistant superintendent of the Junior deparment, showed a total attendance for the year of 1,196 and an average attendance of twenty-five. There were forty-four pupils at the close of the year on enrollment, a gain of fourteen over last year. The regular collections amounted to $24.99. Mite boxes were given out and $8.50 realized from them. The money received from this source was sent to the Amoy Mission, China. The sum of $5 was also raised and given to the King's Daughters baby camp on the mountains.

Coldest in Thirty-Four Years.

With a mean temperature of 24 degrees the past two or three days are recorded, with one exception, the coldest during a period covering thirty-four years. January, 1893, was colder, having a mean temperature of 23 degrees. The temperature that month, however, did not touch zero, while in the month just past it went below zero three times. It was below freezing every day but two. The snowfall was 15.2 inches, the greatest January snowfall since 1893.

Test of Public Pride.

There are many ways in which a man's good citizenship may be shown. One pretty good indication is the condition of the side walk in front of his house in winter, and that of the street at his premises in the heat and dust of summer. A due regard for the rights of the public should be shown by property owners in all seasons.—New Brunswick Daily Press.

DOANE ORDERS FIRE ESCAPES

SAFETY CONTRIVANCES WILL BE PUT ON THE VANDERBEEK BUILDING.

Fire escapes will be placed on the Vanderbeek building, in which The Daily Press plant is located, and the Taylor building on the opposite corner. This matter has been under consideration recently by Building Inspector T. O. Doane and he has been in consultation with Mrs. Andrew Vanderbeek and Rev. Dr. J. P. Taylor, the owners of the two buildings. The exits from these buildings are not considered sufficient in case of disaster and the owners willingly comply with the request to establish the additional means of escape. The work will be started in the near future.

CRUSADE AGAINST BAD HABIT

BOROUGH BOARD OF HEALTH WISHES TO STOP EXPECTORATING ON SIDEWALKS.

"What can be done in the crusade about to be started by the Board of Health in the borough, against the habit of some men of expectorating on the sidewalk?" This was the question discussed at the meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Health at its meeting Monday night. The matter has been laid over until the next meeting, when some more data will have been secured which will be used to guide the Board in its fight against this unsanitary practice.

It is known that tuberculosis has been spread into healthy families through the expectorations of men on the sidewalks, which circulate in the atmosphere and spread the germs. The North Plainfield Board of Health intends to follow the example set by New York and other large cities in drafting ordinances designed to make it a misdemeanor to expectorate upon the sidewalk. Secretary Dr. William E. Honeyman said yesterday that such an ordinance was strongly urged. The Board of Health in this city will be asked to concur with the borough Board in an effort to stamp out this evil.

TALKED ON MISSIONARY WORK

MISS PETRIE ADDRESSED CONGREGATION AT WARREN CHAPEL LAST NIGHT.

Miss Petrie, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Missions, addressed a large audience at the Warren chapel last night, describing the work of the missionaries in this country and in foreign lands. Her principal line of talk was on the Christian Endeavor missionary work, which she said was growing rapidly and in a most encouraging manner. She also told of the California convention of mission workers in an interesting way.

Miss Cornelia Miller sang several solos during the evening and a missionary offering was taken. Mrs. Ely, chairman of the missionary committee of the Christian Endeavor Society, was in charge of the arrangements, assisted by the other members of the committee.

FINE NOT REMITTED.

Borough Board of Health Refuses Garbage Collector's Request.

Before the meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Health, Monday night, Antonio Guivani, a garbage collector, appeared and asked the board to remit its fine imposed upon him by Justice Mattison for collecting garbage without a license. His request was not granted. Guivani lives just outside the borough limits near the "Notch." For almost six months the Board of Health has been trying to locate and arrest the man who has been doing this work, but had been unsuccessful until last week when the inspector saw him come into the borough with a covered wagon and collect garbage. He placed him under arrest and Justice Mattison fined him $10. The man was also charged with keeping pigs in an open sty within the borough limits.

HILLSIDE GOLF CLUB REVIEWS ITS SEASON

Income for the Year Ample to Discharge Several Debts of the Organization.

WINNERS OF TROPHIES

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR THE ENSUING YEAR.

Trustees Chosen—Members Numbers Two Hundred and Ninety-Nine Active Players—Indebtedness Now $18,900.

The annual meeting of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club was held last night at the Casino, and the reports presented showed the club to be in excellent financial condition. According to the interesting report of the president, George P. Mellick, it was shown that the prediction has come true that at the close of the year the income for that period would amply pay the floating debt of $800, to defray all expenses of the club and to redeem bonds to the amount of $800.

The membership at the close of the year is as follows: Active, 299; associate, 88; junior associate, 156, nonresident, 20; honorary, 3, making a total of 566. The outstanding indebtedness of the club has been reduced to $18,900.

Mr. Mellick also says in his report that the interest in golf during the past year was greater than since the club was organized. There were a large number of entries in the various events. The record on the course in competition for the cup, is 65, made by F. O. Reinhart, August 8. There were more cups played for this past year than ever before, the club presenting ten, besides the one in the regular schedule. The golf team won four matches out of five played with other clubs.

The regular schedule events were won by these members:

Championship of the club, F. O. Reinhart; golf committee cup, H. R. Stockton; green's committee cup, H. R. Stockton; holiday cup, E. B. Shoemaker; championship consolation cup, Walter Peterson; woman's handicap cup, Miss Margaret Goddard; Gilbert cup, foursomes, Miss Maude VanBoskerck and T. R. VanBoskerck.

The finals for the Gilbert and Fourth of July handicap cups will be played in the spring. The cup for the best record made by a member of the golf team will also be decided in the spring, as there are four ties.

Lawn tennis has been an important feature during the past year and the growth of this, especially among junior members, necessitates an increase in the number of courts and it is hoped to have two in commission on the south of the old seventeenth green at the opening of the season.

Tennis tournaments held during the season and prizes were awarded as follows:

Men's singles, won by T. M. Day, Jr. Runnerup, G. H. Taylor. Mixed doubles, won by Miss Schuyler and G. H. Taylor. Men's singles handicap, won by O. H. Fleming, half 15. Consolation prize (Open to players beaten in their first match) won by G. H. Taylor, scratch. Men's singles. won by H. D. Bulkley. Runnerup, O. H. Fleming. Men's championship singles, won by N. D. Bulkley. Runnerup, A. D. Beers. Boy's singles, won by J. Rex Shoemaker. Mellick cup for ladies' singles (Presented by George P. Mellick.) The winners of the four preliminary tournaments held at intervals during the summer were Miss Whiton, Miss Schuyler, Miss Burke and Miss Bushnell. The cup was won by Miss Whiton.

The large increase in attendance at the clubhouse renders it necessary that during the coming year some changes be made. It is also proposed to build a shelter for automobiles. The club begins a new year with every evidence of continued prosperty if there be hearty co-operation on the part of the members.

The balance sheet of the club treasurer, Walter Peterson, shows these assets: Land, buildings and equipments, $23,162.78; cash, $366.33; due from members, $30.95, total, $23,550.06. Liabilities: First mortgage bonds, $18,900; locker key deposits, $56.25; adjustment of fire loss, $110; reserve for depreciation of buildings and equipment, $4,483.81, total, $23.550 06. In the cash statement the receipts are shown to be $10,297.98, leaving a balance of $366.33. The total debts for the year were $9,900.10 and the total credits the same.

Ernest R. Ackerman, George P. Mellick and Lewis E. Waring were elected as trustees to serve for three years.

After the annual meeting adjourned, a meeting of the trustees was held to elect officers and appoint committees for the ensuing year: These were chosen:

President, George P. Mellick; vice president, Ernest R. Ackerman; treasurer, Stuart H. Patterson; secretary, Albert H. Atterbury; chairman house committee, Lewis G. Timpson; chairman Greens' committee, Elliot T. Barrows; chairman tennis committee, Thomas M. Day, Jr.; chairman golf committee, Thomas R VanBoskerck.

The resignation of the former treasurer, Walter Peterson, was accepted as a trustee, as well as treasurer, and Stuart H. Patterson was elected in his place.

This nominating committee for 1905 was selected: Francis A. Clark, Howard Huntington and Walter M. McGee.

SWACKHAMER TO FIGHT BILL

SOMERSET'S ASSEMBLYMAN BELIEVES ROBINS SHOULD NOT BE KILLED.

Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer says he has been requested by a number of Somerset County farmers and by some people in this city and in the borough to fight the proposed bill aiming at the destruction of the robin, which will be given a hearing in Trenton next Monday night. He declares that the robin is a positive assistance to the farmer.

Mr. Swackhamer said last night: "I have been interviewed by a number of people in this city and in the borough and have received letters from many farmers throughout Somerset county asking me to fight the measure. I have given the matter a great deal of consideration and I am convinced that the robin should not be exterminated.

"Today," said he, "the cotton market is agitated in a manner never before seen or heard of. Why? Partly because the robin was driven out of Texas. It was placed on the game list and as a consequence the cotton boll weevil multiplied until it destroyed whole crops and the farmers prayed the Legislature to remove the birds from the list to save them from going into bankruptcy."

One of the principal changes proposed is as follows: When a suspended member applies for reinstatement he shall be governed by the conditions surrounding the admission of new candidates; he shall be reobligated in the Workman degree, but instead of receiving a new beneficiary certificate his old certificate shall be revived. It is also proposed that in future the grand lodge shall meet in Trenton on the third Thursday in March of each year. This is a change from February. LITERARY.

It is almost four years now since Mr. McKinley brought one William H. Taft to our notice by making him Chairman of the second Philippines Commission. Nothing is a better illustration of the bigness of the United States. A man may stand almost at the top of his profession, and be a leading figure in a State as important as Ohio, and the country asks, Who is he? So when the President chose Judge Taft to do the most responsible work that has fallen to an American since the days of the war, the men who are alleged to make a living by their pens pulled down the "Who's Who" and the other weapons of the brotherhood.—Collier's Weekly.

Two capital stories about Senator Hoar are retold in Dr. Lyman Abbott's article about the Massachusetts Senator in the February magazine number of The Outlook. The first is Mr. Hoar's characterization of General Butler's fiat money scheme: He (General Butler) had said, in explaining and defending his fiat money scheme, that the word "fiat" means "let there be." God said "Fiat lux," "let there be light," and there was light. He argued that fiat money was excellent, from the very fact that it cost nothing and had no intrinsic value. So, if a bill were lost or destroyed, a new one could be supplied without cost. He also said that it would stay in the country, and would not be sunk in the morasses of Asia, especially in China and India, where silver and gold were absorbed and never heard of in civilized nations afterward. I quoted these sentences with the following: "Thus, fellow-citizens, is precisely the difference between Omnipotence and Humbug, between the Almighty and General Butler. God said, Let there be light, and there was light. General Butler says, Let there be money, and there is rags. This is the first time in our history that the American workingmen has been gravely asked to take for his wages money it costs nothing to make, that it is no loss to lose, that it is no gain to get, and that even a Chinaman won't touch."

EX-SECRETARY DEAD

W. C. Whitney Succumbed to Operation For Appendicitis.

WAS IN CABINET UNDER CLEVELAND

He Had Widespread Interests In Many Directions and Was a Great Patron of the Turf.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—William Collins Whitney, ex-secretary of the navy, many times a millionaire and one of the best known citizens of New York city and of the country, is dead at his home, 871 Fifth avenue. He died while under the influence of ether preparatory to a second operation for appendicitis.

Mr. Whitney was first operated on for appendicitis Saturday night. The operation was performed at his home by Dr. W. T. Bull. Following this operation Mr. Whitney seemed to rally, and the last bulletin given out before the death bulletin announced that the patient was doing well, although he was not entirely out of danger. It was firmly believed that Mr. Whitney was convalescent and would recover.

William Collins Whitney was the eighth of the American Whitneys, and, although his genius followed a different line than that of his ancestors, his life, like theirs, was filled with an overflowing measure of success. Like his progenitors, William C. Whitney fought for all he got. An indomitable energy, backed by natural gifts of a rare kind, brought him the prestige in political and commercial life that his ancestors won on military fields in the early history of this country.

Starting with little or nothing in the way of material wealth, William C. Whitney began the hard grind of a lawyer's life in this city forty years ago. His early successes were of the meteoric kind, but they never served to turn him from his inflexible purpose, which was to build up and control big things. Perhaps his most conspicuous natural gift was his remarkable versatility. It led him into scores of fields, in each of which he achieved success.

His mother came from an equally splendid line of pioneer Americans, being descended from Governor William Bradford of the Plymouth colony.

William C. Whitney was born at Conway, Mass., in 1841, was educated at Williston seminary, East Hampton, and later went to Yale, from which he was graduated in 1863. He took a two years' law course at Harvard and in 1865 came to this city, hung up a shingle and waited for clients.

Mr. Whitney came of a distinguished line of manly men. First there was John Whitney, who came here in 1635 with Sir Richard Saltonstall. Then there was General Josiah Whitney, who fought valiantly against the French and the Indians at Crown Point and afterward taught military science to the youth at Harvard. Equally valiant and successful were those who followed up to the time of General James Scollay Whitney, father of William C. Whitney.

In 1882 Mr. Whitney resumed private practice and three years later entered the cabinet of Grover Cleveland as secretary of the navy. At that time the dominant feature of Mr. Whitney's character was a craze for reorganization. Whenever he found things wrong he wanted to right them. It was his mental recreation to tackle some tough proposition and work over it until he solved it to his own satisfaction.

Therefore when he took charge of the navy he had a splendid field for this sort of effort. He reorganized the navy. He built new ships, he built plants for the equipment of these ships in different parts of the country, he stimulated private effort in the same direction, and his successors have thought so well of his initiative that they have followed it unerringly ever since.

In 1887 Mr. Whitney's bent for reorganization led him to a consideration of the street railroad problem. He tackled this with his usual enthusiasm, and, although $40,000,000 was needed to start the consolidation of twenty-two different car lines, he got the money, effected the consolidation and in six years is credited with having made $119,000,000 for the stockholders.

Meanwhile Mr. Whitney was reaching out in other directions. With the Elkins-Widener-Ryan-Brady crowd he embarked in gas, electricity and other illuminants, preserving at the same time a most harmonious relation with his powerful ally, the Standard Oil company. Other fields of commercial enterprise too numerous to mention were invaded by Mr. Whitney, while down in Wall street big operators bumped him in an effort to stop his growing power, but always to their own undoing.

In 1902 Mr. Whitney began to gradually withdraw from his numerous business enterprises. He retained his interests, but declared that he was going to enjoy life and let the young fellows run things. He persistently followed this course for two years, giving up his time to travel, to hunting, to horse racing, in which he had $1,000,000 invested, and to cruising about in yachts. His greatest interest in the sporting line was the Saratoga race track, where he spent several weeks each summer.

After he became interested in the turf Mr. Whitney gathered together a remarkable stable. It is said that he paid $500,000 alone for the stallions and brood mares at La Belle stud, near Lexington, Ky. His colors are well known on the local tracks and have been carried to victory in many historic events.

ANXIOUS FOR PEACE

Opening Parliament, Edward Deplores Eastern Crisis.

CHAMBERLAIN DEFENDED BY HIS SON

Unique Situation In House of Commons When Austen Chamberlain Spoke For Premier Balfour on Government Fiscal Policy.

LONDON, Feb. 3. — King Edward has opened parliament and in his speech from the throne pleaded for a peaceful settlement of the controversy between Russia and Japan in the far east. His comment was brief, but his words created a profound impression. He said:

"I have watched with concern the course of the negotiations between the governments of Japan and Russia in regard to their respective interests in China and Korea, and a disturbance of the peace in those regions could not but have deplorable consequences. Any assistance which my government can usefully render toward the promotion of a pacific solution will be gladly afforded."

Touching on the Alaska decision, the king in his speech says that on some points the verdict was favorable to the British claims, and on others it had been adverse. Much as this last circumstance was to be deplored, it must nevertheless be a matter for congratulation that the misunderstandings in which ancient boundary treaties made in ignorance of geographical facts are so fertile have in this case been finally removed from the field of controversy.

"My right honorable friend, the member from West Birmingham," as Austen Chamberlain described his father, was the central figure in the drama that marked the opening of the house.

No playwright could have devised a more curious situation. For the first time in years Joseph Chamberlain took his seat as a private member of the house of commons and was separated from his former colleagues in the cabinet by the gangway. From this seat he saw his son act as leader of the house of commons, a position which Joseph Chamberlain, with all his years of parliamentary experience, never attained.

Premier Balfour was laid up with influenza and therefore unable to be present. When Austen Chamberlain rose up to reply in behalf of the party of which his own father is supposed to be the most powerful member, the house was spellbound. Until that moment Mr. Ackers-Douglas, secretary of state for home affairs, was generally expected to take Premier Balfour's place, and interest in the proceedings was heightened by the fact that Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, had just concluded a merciless satire on Austen Chamberlain's father. The situation was without parallel in the recollection of the oldest politician, and all eyes were fixed alternately upon the father and the son.

Joseph Chamberlain, who had sat unmoved under the ridicule of the Liberal leader, turned nervously toward his son, who now takes precedence of him. With his monocle in his eye, an orchid in his buttonhole and his hands clasped across his knees, the most prominent figure in the British empire sat and listened to his own defense from the lips of his son.

Austen Chamberlain spoke haltingly and under evident strain, yet when he referred to his father it was always as "the member from West Birmingham." There was a tinge of impassioned feeling in his words which brought constantly to his hearers a realization of the relation between the two men. Now and again jeers greeted the youngest member of the cabinet, whereupon, with unmistakable anger, his father turned his glance in the direction of the offender, and occasionally Joseph Chamberlain cheered his son on with an emphatic "Hear! Hear!"

As Austen Chamberlain neared the conclusion of his defense of the attitude of Premier Balfour and his father toward the fiscal question the interruptions grew more frequent, and the chancellor of the exchequer clutched the brass bound treasury box on which Gladstone was so fond of leaning and addressed his remarks almost solely in the direction of his father. Defiantly Austen Chamberlain accused Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman of attacking the premier in his absence, and with a touch of pride he said: "The member from West Birmingham is here. He can speak for and look after himself."

In the house of lords in regard to the United States Lord Lansdowne said the government had endeavored to translate into practice what it affirmed rather as a matter of principle in the French and Italian treaties.

Commenting on the Alaska decision, Lord Lansdowne said that although the tribunal which disposed of the Alaska difficulty was not, strictly speaking, arbitral, its efforts illustrated the possibility of settling by other than diplomatic means long standing, dangerous international differences.

TOM SHARKEY WON.

Piening Failed to Throw the Sailor Three Times.

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—Tom Sharkey won in the wrestling bout with John Piening before the Criterion Athletic club here. The match was for a percentage of the receipts and a side wager of $1,000. Piening contracted to throw the sailor three times within an hour.

Piening got the first fall in 16 minutes and the second in 34 minutes. The latter bout was decidedly interesting and was concluded only a few seconds before the expiration of the time limit.

The crowd was with Sharkey, whose cleverness in repeatedly squirming out of danger when almost on his back provoked constant applause.

Conklin Outplayed Townsend.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Two games of 300 points each of 14½ balk line for the amateur billiard championship of America were played at the Liederkranz Club of New York. Charles F. Conklin of Chicago made a splendid showing in the game he won out from Arthur Townsend of the Hanover club, Brooklyn, in 26 innings, making an average of 11 14-26. The Chicago man's play was remarkably fast and accurate, his best run being 68 in the third inning. From beginning to end Conklin outplayed his opponent, who only scored double figures in one inning, the fifteenth, when he made 22.

Racing at Ingleside.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—The principal attraction at Ingleside was the six furlongs handicap, in which some clever sprinters met. Arabo was favorite throughout and won. Kenilworth had slightly the best of a poor break, and cut out the pace, followed by Schwalbe. They ran together until the stretch was reached. There Arabo moved up and in a drive beat Kenilworth half a length. The last race resulted in a close finish, Mimo beating Ada N., the favorite, a head.

Racing on the Ice at Lake George.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Feb. 3.—The annual meeting of the Lake George Ice Racing association, which will continue for three days, has opened. The course is laid over a kite shape track at the head of the lake, and the ice is in fine condition. The only race started was the 2:30 class, which was won by Guy, who took the second, third and fourth heats; best time, 2 minutes 27½ seconds. Victor was second and Muggins third.

Uruguayan Rebels Advance.

BUENOS AYRES, Argentina, Feb. 3.—Reports received here from revolutionary sources in Uruguay say that the insurgents command the whole coast from Salto, at the lower end of the rapids on the Uruguay river, 287 miles from Buenos Ayres, to Colonia, opposite Buenos Ayres. The forces of General Saraiva, the insurgent leader, are said to be approaching Montevideo. The political prisoners at Montevideo have been sent to Isla de Flores.

Russian Fleet Is Ready.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 3.—A dispatch from Vladivostok says the Russian fleet at Vladivostok has been fully equipped for immediate service and prepared for sea. All the wooden fittings of the ships have been removed. The harbor is being kept open by ice breakers. The fleet consists of four cruisers—the Cromoboi, of 12,336 tons; the Rossia, of 12,130 tons; the Bogatyr, of 6,750 tons; the Rurik, of 10,923 tons, and a transport, the Lena.

Headlight Exploded, Loss $50,000.

CANTON, O., Feb. 3.—The shops of the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad in this city were gutted by fire last night, entailing a loss of from $50,000 to $75,000. The fire was started by the explosion of a headlight in the shop, and the flames, fanned by a blizzard raging at the time, could not be checked until the machine and carpenter departments were destroyed.

Bob Sleighs Substituted For Train.

NILES, Mich., Feb. 3.—Southwestern Michigan is in the embrace of a blizzard, and farmers are snowbound. A Big Four passenger train has been buried in a snowdrift twelve miles north of Niles, and the passengers were conveyed to a nearby town on bob sleighs. So much snow has not been known in this section in years.

Slayer of Ranchman Hanged.

CALGARY, N. W. T., Feb. 3.—Ernest Cashel was hanged here for the murder of a ranchman. Cashel escaped from the mounted police barracks after his conviction and remained in hiding for forty-five days. He made a public confession on the scaffold.

FIGHTING IN PANAMA

Panamanian Troops Under Torres Engage Indians.

GUNBOAT BANCROFT HELD FOR ORDERS

Natives on San Blas Coast Thought to Have Mistaken Torres' Command For Colombians—Buchanan Has Sailed For New York.

PANAMA, Feb. 3.—A report has reached the isthmus that Colombian troops are fighting with the Indians on the San Blas coast, which is in Panamanian territory.

The United States gunboat Bancroft was to have sailed from Colon to Bocas del Toro, but these orders were countermanded at the last moment because of the report of fighting on the coast.

A report from Captain Torres, commanding the Panamanian troops at Chepo, on the south side of the isthmus and directly south of the San Blas country, has been received saying he had decided to cross over to the Atlantic side. There is a possibility that the Indians are fighting with Captain Torres' command, mistaking them for Colombians.

W. I. Buchanan, United States minister to Panama, has sailed for New York on the steamer City of Washington.

J. T. Ford, consulting engineer of the Colombian government, has arrived at Colon from Cartagena and also goes north on the City of Washington. Mr. Ford declined to express his views regarding the situation in Colombia before reaching New York.

Trains Held Up by Snow.

SUFFIELD, Conn., Feb. 3.—Forty passengers were held up all night half a mile from West Suffield station on the Central New England branch line between Tariffville and Springfield, Mass. A high wind packed the snow into hard drifts, against which the engine could make no headway. The stalled passengers were provided with food by the railroad authorities, and most of them slept in the cars, which were kept comfortably warm. A snowplow was sent out from Hartford to the relief of the train, but before it reached here the train crew and section gang, assisted by some of the passengers, had succeeded in shoveling a way through the big drifts so that the train was enabled to proceed. A freight was stalled all night at Feeding Hills, Mass., six miles from here, but that also has got clear.

Threats Against Lehigh Valley.

HAZLETON, Pa., Feb. 3.—Details of an alleged dynamite plot along the Lehigh Valley railroad twenty miles north of White Haven has come to light. T. H. Pindell of Wilkesbarre, superintendent of the Wyoming division of the Lehigh Valley railroad, received an anonymous letter saying if $10,000 was not deposited at Lake station on the Wilkesbarre mountain between 10 a. m. Saturday and the same hour Sunday morning that section of line would be blown up. Sheriff Albert Jacobs was notified, and he, with a posse, patrolled the tracks twenty-four hours, but no attempt was made to carry out the threat. A guard is still maintained by the railroad company.

Bertillon's New Scheme.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—M. Bertillon has devised a new method for the better identification of unknown bodies taken to the morgue. The fact that photographs of dead persons do not always well portray that person when alive created difficulties. These M. Bertillon overcomes by the injection of glycerin into the eyes of the body, whereupon the lids open, the eyes become lifelike, the lips redden, and the whole face seems to revive, making it possible to take a photograph resembling the person before death.

Warrant Out For Cashier.

ALTAMONT, Mo., Feb. 3.—A warrant has been sworn out for the arrest of Lee De Ford, cashier of the Bank of Altamont, charged with the embezzlement of $21,000 of its funds, but he left the city before it could be served. The bank has been placed in the hands of John Meade as temporary receiver. De Ford, who is thirty years old and married, is the son of a wealthy Altamont man.

Weber & Fields' Long Jump.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—The Weber & Fields special train has passed through Chicago on its unbroken run from New York to San Francisco. Argentina Beef Barred.

VIENNA, Feb. 3.—The ministry of agriculture has issued an order prohibiting the importation of beef from Argentina, and the forty car loads of Argentina beef expected here must be returned to the shippers. The government gives sanitary reasons as the cause for this action.

Blizzard Strikes Corry, Pa.

The grand jury, which adjourned today, gave a ten dollar bill to the clerk, telling him to go buy a hat with it. Very generous spirit but kind of rough on the clerk.

A Warren County man is the latest aspirant for the coming vacancy on the State Board of Assessors. This makes the forty-ninth Democrat who does not believe that "the office should seek the man" in this particular case.

Some disgruntled politician, who evidently belongs to the conservative element of the Democratic party, has sent this contribution to the office: President—William Randolph Hearst; vice president—Allen Benny; secretary of state—Harry Lehr; secretary of the treasury — John Alexander Dowie; secretary of war—Benjamin Pitchfork Tillman; secretary of the navy—Webster Davis; secretary of commerce—Richard Croker; secretary of agriculture—David Bennett Hill; attorney general—Charles A. Towne; postmaster general, ex-Governor Ima-andyoura Hogg; secretary of the interior, Sam Parks; ambassador to the court of St. James—William S. Devery. Official record of Congress—The Evening Fudge.

The steps taken by the Common Council to have a measure passed by the Legislature amending the general tax law in so far as it provides for a definite date when taxes become due appear to be directed by a sense of business. Under the present law taxes become delinquent after December 20 and consequently a special effort is made during the Christmas holiday season to discharge the debt. This means that a considerable amount of money is diverted from the merchantile establishments. The Common Council's plan is to have the Legislature pass a bill which would make taxes here due on November 20, the time designated under the old act. This is sensible, but why not draft the bill in general terms so that it applies to the whole State? What is good for Plainfield is good for other municipalities.

—The entertainment committee of the Park Club will provide music for dancing Saturday night.

—A servant at the home of W. R. Cook, of East Fifth street, is ill with scarlet fever and the house is quarantined.

—The work of furnishing the Plainfield Camera Club rooms is about completed and, without a doubt, they are as fine as any in the State.

—Arthur Lederer, of baseball fame, has decided to quit the diamond and devote his time in the future to the work in his father's dry goods store.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The fourth quarterly conference will be held in Vincent chapel tonight after the regular prayer meeting.

Rev. Garret M. Conover, of Nyack, N. Y., will give an illustrated lecture on "The Life of Jesus," at Warren chapel, Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Under the auspices of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First M. E. church a thank-offering service was held yesterday afternoon in Vincent chapel.

The Christian Endeavor Society, of the First Baptist church, will meet Fridays instead of Sundays as heretofore. A covenant meeting will be held this week and a general meeting next week will be addressed by Dr. J. A. Chamblies.

The Army of Standard Bearers of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, the Young Women's Mission Band of the church, will meet tomorrow night. The Boys' Club of the church will meet at the same time in the Epworth room of the church.

Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, pastor emeritus of the First Baptist church, observed the eightieth anniversary of his birthday on Wednesday of last week. The event was celebrated in a quiet manner. During the recent cold weather Dr. Yerkes has been detained at his home and his health has not been so good as formerly. He received many congratulations on the day and altogether it was a pleasant occasion.

There is a strong sentiment, held by many members of the First Baptist church branch of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, favoring the severing of all connection between the branch and the United Society of Christian Endeavor. The idea is that if the branch is independent and not bound by formal pledges of support to the United Society, its work can be made more useful. Cards have been sent out asking for expressions of the opinions of members. It is possible that the matter may be acted upon at the meeting of the branch on February 12. If the change is made, the name of the branch will be changed to Young People's Society of the First Baptist church.

Editor, The Daily Press:

I feel very certain of voicing the sentiment of a number of residents of our city, when I enter a protest against the exclusion of our young sons and daughters from the many entertainments given at the local Y. M. C. A. building, particularly the orchestral concerts. Our ears have become somewhat accustomed to the oft reiterated "no children allowed," and we are able to understand it when coming from some quarters, but when we find the same words emblazoned above the doors of an institution bearing the name of the very Christ who gives the preference to those who are ejected by that institution, we feel that we are entitled to an "explanation which will explain." On hearing of the order my presumption was that the officers had deemed it necessary from a financial standpoint. I find, however, that I was in error, as tendered admission fees were refused as well as the boys and girls. If this state of affairs is further augmented there will doubtless be some foundation for the expressed fear of our honored president as to "childless homes." We can understand why very young children should be refused admittance because of their liability to cause confusion and consequent annoyance. But when boys and girls of older years, many of them having a musical ear, are debarred from the instructive enjoyment afforded by good music in a place bearing the best of reputation, we are lead to question whether the Young Men's Christian Association is worthy of its name. Will the management kindly explain? Grove Street.

—There has been a large number of patients admitted to the hospital recently for operations and according to report al have been successful. Since taking possession of the new institution the demand for such a place appears to be greater than ever.

—The dinner scheduled for tomorrow night at the Hotel Kennington, to be given by C. E. Ball, superintendent of the Prudential Insurance Company, has been postponed indefinitely, owing to the illness of several officials of the company who were expected to attend.

HE WAS CERTAINLY DRUNK

THOMAS BRENNAN TOO FRIENDLY WITH JOHN BARLEYCORN.

Thomas Brennan does not like to see his name in print. He is modest. He is retiring. He is not fond of the glare of publicity. To have his little frailties and eccentricities exposed to the public eye wearies and annoys him. When he gets drunk he wishes to keep the joy of it all to himself.

Thomas got corned yesterday, pifflicated, animated with the essence of conviviality superinduced by a too intimate acquaintance with John Barleycorn, saturated with a surcharge of distilled nectar, call it what you will. He was drunk. And he made a disturbance on North avenue which called for police interference. He was arrested. Patrolman Overbaugh did it. And Thomas's night's lodging didn't cost him a cent. And in return for all this public attention Thomas is ungrateful. It is often so with the world's great ones. But Thomas is more. He is ungracious, even. He threatens us with bodily injury if we print his name.

Thomas has been arrested before, but the matter was of such minor importance that it escaped his mind this morning when he faced City Judge Runyon. He said he hadn't. However, in consideration of his effusive promises to amend his ways and forswear the wine that is a mocker, he was released on a suspended sentence.

Hope's Minstrel Show.

A rehearsal of the Hope minstrel troupe was held last night at the Hope chapel Sunday-school rooms. The individual songs were given out to the various end men. City Judge William N. Runyon, who has been devoting much of his time to the minstrel show, declared that the troupe was progressing in a favorable manner. There is every indication that the show this year will outclass all others.

Candlemas Day Services.

Candlemas day was celebrated in the two local Roman Catholic churches yesterday. Special services were held in the morning and the Blessed Sacrament was exposed. Tomorrow will be observed as St. Blasius day. The rite of blessing the throats of the congregations will be performed. St. Blasius was the patron saint of the wool gatherers and spinners of England and Scotland.

PREPARING TO DISBAND.

Warren Engine Company Orders Its Members to Keep Their Uniforms.

Warren Engine Company met last night and paid some bills. An invitation was received from the Princeton Fire Company to attend a fair. A check for $5 was sent to them by the Warren members. Freeman Shotwell was elected an honorary fireman. A resolution was passed authorizing each member to care for his own uniform when the company is disbanded. Another meeting will be held Tuesday night.

FRED CASPAR ALIVE.

Plainfielder Not in Iroquois Theatre at Time of Disaster.

Fred Caspar, formerly of this city, who was said to have been one of the list of unknown dead recovered from the Iroquois fire at Chicago, is alive and well and was not in Chicago at the time of the fearful holocaust. He arrived in New York yesterday and met his brother, Charles Caspar, who lives on Columbus avenue. Charles immediately communicated with friends in this city.

Case on Contract.

The case on contract of A. M. Griffen against James E. Totten in Justice Hand's court will be tried tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock by a twelve-man jury. The case is continued from last week. L. A. Clement, Esq., represents the plaintiff and V. W. Nash, Jr., the defendant.

Drawing Big Crowds.

MET IN A CEMETERY.

And Fell in Love While Weeping O'er Partners Gone Before.

Courtship Begun in Strange Place Ends in a Happy Union—Love in a Lunatic Asylum—Cupid in Jail.

A cemetery seems hardly the kind of spot one would choose to go a-courting in, yet it proved an attractive trysting-place to a couple who were married in Baltimore the other day. Both had been married previously, and the acquaintance of the bereaved widow and widower began through visits made to the cemetery containing the remains of their departed partners.

Mr. Charles H. Ogle, who is an engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad and 30 years of age, lost his wife a year ago, and, having been very happy with her in former days, frequently visited the spot where she lay buried in order to meditate and put a few flowers on her grave. Mrs. Katherine Elder, who lost her husband three years previously, and who is now only 26, spent much of her time in the cemetery with the same praiseworthy object as Mr. Ogle.

The two mourners soon began to notice one another, and one day Mr. Ogle, stepping over to the tombstone of the deceased Mr. Elder, offered the weeping widow his sympathy, which was gratefully, if tearfully, accepted. A few days later the two mourners met once more, and, having laid their floral offerings on the graves, strolled out of the cemetery together. Almost unconsciously their steps led them in the direction of the parsonage of the Church of St. John, wehre Rev. Thomas Lowe, who seemed to expect them, speedily made them one.

A lunatic asylum, one would think, is a queer place in which to find a bride. A gentleman, whose home is in the west of England, found it necessary in 1900 to put his wife in an asylum, as she had developed suicidal mania. Here she remained under close observation for nearly a year, during which time she was placed in the special charge of a pretty, fair-haired nurse of 24, who seemed to have made a pleasant impression on the husband of her patient.

In the summer of 1901 the lady died, and of course the widower had no further need to call at the asylum. But after a few weeks he began to miss seeing the pretty nurse, and when six months had passed he felt so strong a desire to know if she were still in the same situation that one day he called and inquired for her. Six months later, when he considered his term of mourning had expired, he proposed, was accepted, and the two are now the happiest married couple you could wish to see.

Jail is not altogether a pleasant place in which to meet one's future life-partner, but several instances go to prove that there are unlikelier spots. Early in the nineteenth century a young man of the name of Benjamin Flower was imprisoned in Newgate for writing a spirited defense of the French revolution. While there he was visited by a Miss Eliza Gould, a lady of a philanthropical turn of mind, who spent much of her time "visiting the prisoners in their affliction," and, when permitted to do so, reading to them and writing their letters.

Mr. Flower was strongly attracted by Miss Gould's goodness no less than by her remarkable beauty, and when his term of imprisonment expired and he gained his freedom, the friendship begun under such romantic circumstances continued, and the two frequently met. Ultimately, finding that they could not live apart, they were married. Two daughters were born to them, one of whom, Sarah, gained immortality as the authoress of that beautiful hymn: "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Bright Scheme That Failed.

Bristling with ambition; a young physician who has a limited practice recently thought of a scheme which he felt would be a money maker for him. His idea was to fool his neighbors into the belief that he was overrun with business. This he attempted to do by inducing all the charity patients he treated at the dispensary with which he is connected to come to his office, telling them it would be a convenience for him, and that it would cost them nothing. But the result was not all he anticipated. While his office was always crowded, the number of his paying patients did not increase, and at the end of the month he had made a visible impression on but one person. His landlady raised his rent, because she was sure he had acquired an extensive and prosperous practice.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
3 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

THE GOOD WOMAN.

The Harm She Does In This World Through Her Narrowness.

"I think Mrs. H. is my ideal of a good woman. She is as ignorant as a baby of the real wickedness of the world."

The man looked at the speaker with a curious expression in his eyes. "And do you know, my dear lady, that she is just the type of good, narrow minded woman who does lots of harm in this world."

She could not repress an amazed expression, and he hastened to explain: "Don't misunderstand me. I like Mrs. H. immensely. I respect her for her good works, but she is not my ideal of a good woman. My ideal must be broad minded, with the knowledge which comes from experience and discrimination. Hers must not be the goodness of ignorance or of sheltered life. Why, I could tell you of cases where Mrs. H.'s point of view, narrow in its very righteousness, has caused serious family trouble, where she has passed criticisms on people who were not doing as she thought they ought to do, and these criticisms have really affected their social standing."

HER VIEWS ON LIFE.

"I am sure she never says anything about anybody unless the person deserves it!"

"Well, I have known her to pass judgment in several cases where the victims did not deserve judgment, but she thought they did. I will do her this credit—she doesn't realize she is saying these things. They come out quite naturally in the course of conversation as a part of her views on life and things in general. The trouble is that her views and ideas of life are not infallible and are even less so than those of the average person, because she really does know so little about the heart throb and pulse of life. She regards weakness as crime and temptation as sin. Well and good, but she has no right to give her opinions on the subject. She ought to remember the 'judge not that ye be not judged' of the Scriptures and be glad for her part that she has none of the turmoils and hardships and temptations of life for which she blames others. It is such a hard world, after all, that the best of us ought not to be too good to extend universal charity."

QUAINT ROOMS.

A Billiard Room Which Is Artistic and Unique.

Woodwork is now being stained every conceivable shade, particularly in browns and greens, and every effort is being made to give the most prosaic rooms an artistic and even unusual appearance.

The illustration shows this idea carried out in an up to date billiard room.

DULL GREEN WOODWORK.

The woodwork is dull green. The wide frieze combines several shades of green and red with a deep cream. The ceiling is of this deep cream. The fireplace is green tiled, with a copper grate. The quaint recess holds a leather upholstered seat. The rug is Persian, and the floor is of course of hard wood highly polished.

R. DE LA BAUME.

FAMOUS FIGHTING DOG.

His Name Is Si and He Would Rather Lick Another Canine Than Gnaw a Bone.

Miss Anna Dunn, of Plymouth, Ind. owns the grittiest fighting dog in the Hoosier state. She has spent no time in teaching the animal to pitch on to other dogs. In fact, she has been trying for seven years to have her pet give up his quarrelsome tricks, but without avail.

The dog is a Scotch terrier and is known all over town as Si. The dog began fighting when he was a pup and has kept it up ever since. He refused to go with his mistress when she changed her boarding place, because the new place was not so well adapted to canine mixups. She sent the animal out on a farm, hoping to cure Si of his troublesome disposition, but in a single week he had thrashed all the farm dogs within two miles of the house, and one morning, bright and early, he was back at his city home, where he was found occupying his customary position on the street corner. The attitude that he takes is shown in the picture. In this pose he has been known to sit on the pavement for hours looking for trouble, which comes along in anything that looks like a dog, no matter how large or ferocious.

Si despises a circus, and when one of these aggregations strikes town he runs along ahead of the elephant, barking and snarling as if he would like to drive the big fellow off the earth.

The dog still refuses to live in the new home of his mistress, puts up at her old boarding house, contenting himself with a daily visit. More than this Miss Dunn is unable to coax from her fighting pet.

HONEY HAD VAMOOSED.

Hotel Waiter Replied to Guest's Question in a Way That Surprised Young Bride.

A young man, whom we may call Johnson, because that was not his real name, was married several days ago, and it occurred to him that he would take his bride to a town which he knew well on their honeymoon.

He was particularly desirous of visiting this town, as he told his bride, because at the hotel where he intended staying "they served such delicious honey at every meal."

"YOUR HONEY HAS LEFT."

"That will be delightful," said Mrs. Johnson.

The couple arrived at the hotel in due course, and they were just in time for tea. Johnson escorted his bride to a table in the dining-room, and then, after an admiring glance at her, looked quizzically round the board.

There was no honey on the table, and none in the room. Johnson was surprised, and called a waiter.

"See here," said he, "where's my honey?"

The waiter seemed at a loss what to say, but finally leaned forward, and, in a stage whisper, said: "She don't work here no more!".

Governor Shoveled Dirt.

"I shoveled dirt for the first railroad built within the limits of the Louisiana purchase," said Former Gov. A. J. Seay, of Oklahoma. "The line I helped build was from St. Louis to Jefferson City, and the people I lived among were of that sturdy pioneer stock that transformed the wilderness into smiling farms and planted the seeds of civilization in the west. Many a time as a boy I got up at midnight to take a bag of corn to the mill in order to be on hand when the miller roused at dawn of day to begin his daily task. Every fellow wanted his meal ground first, and so there was tremendous rivalry among the country lads to see who would be first on the ground."

TO STOP YELLOW FEVER.

Mexican Cities Will Be Visited to Improve Sanitation.

LAREDO, Tex., Feb. 3.—A party of distinguished physicians have left this city en route for the City of Mexico for the purpose of holding a conference with the members of the superior board of health to devise means to prevent a recurrence of a yellow fever epidemic such as visited northern Mexico and the southwest border of the United States last year.

The personnel of the party is well known physicians and health officers among the number being Dr. C. P. Wertenbaker of the United States public health and marine hospital service.

The itinerary of the party includes visits to points where yellow fever generates, such as Tampico, Linares, Victoria, Monterey, Vera Cruz and cities along the coast of the gulf of Mexico.

A thorough inspection of these cities will be made and the campaign of education and sanitation begun.

Two Crushed by Water Tank.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—In a collision here between a crowded suburban train on the Chicago Terminal railway and a switch engine two men were killed and a score of others slightly hurt. The accident occurred just as the train was leaving the station at Ashland avenue with the car platforms crowded with people. The force of the collision hurled the water tank on the passenger engine from its fastenings, and it came down on the front platform of the car directly behind the engine. The two men who were killed, both of them Bohemian laborers, were standing on the platform and were crushed by the tank as it fell. All the other passengers who were on this platform were hurt, but none seriously.

Soldier and Bride Took Poison.

SAGINAW, Mich., Feb. 3.—The wedding here last week of Corporal Charles A. Valois of Company H, Twenty-sixth United States infantry, home on furlough, and Miss Mabel Steiner has had a tragic climax. The young couple took poison in a room at a rooming house on Franklin street. Mrs. Valois is dead, and her husband is in a critical condition. The match met with the disapproval of the parents of each of them. They left a letter saying that their parents had turned them out, and they had no place to go and had decided to die together. Mrs. Valois died from a dose of carbolic acid and laudanum.

Spanish Story of Manila's Capture.

MADRID, Feb. 3.—The Heraldo publishes documents relating to the capitulation of Manila to the forces of the United States in 1898 which are intended to prove that Mgr. Nozaleda, who was then archbishop of Manila as well as president of the Manila defense committee, received a visit on the eve of the capitulation from a chaplain atached to the American army and this in spite of a decree issued by the Spanish captain general of the Philippines threatening any person who had relations with the enemy with court martial.

IN THE SENATE.

New Democratic Senator From Arkansas Supports Panama Policy.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Mr. Clarke, the new Democratic senator from Arkansas, has made his first speech in the senate. He spoke for two hours and announced his indorsement of every position taken by the president in connection with the Panama revolt and in the negotiation of the treaty with the new state. He even said that in view of the provocation given by Colombia the president might have been expected to go farther than he did in advancing the cause of Panama. He declared that there was more popular support of the course of the president's policy among Democrats than among Republicans and said that the Democratic votes necessary to ratify the treaty were assured.

Mr. Fairbanks also spoke in support of the treaty, contending for the irregularity of all the proceedings of the administration on the isthmus of Panama.

The proceedings of the day were opened with prayer by Rabbi Philipson of Cincinnati.

Ice Gorge Causes Flood.

PORT DEPOSIT, Md., Feb. 3.—The Susquehanna river is out of its banks and covers the lower portion of this town. There is a heavy ice pack between here and Havre de Grace, five miles below this point. The water has overflowed the lower streets of this town and covers the tracks of the Columbia and Port Deposit Railroad company, which connects with the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington railroad at Perryville. Many of the residents in the lower part of the town have moved to the upper stories of their houses or removed their furniture to the highland. It is feared that the ice gorge will break and injure the bridges of the Baltimore and Ohio and the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington railroads at Havre de Grace at any moment.

Traffic Stayed by Storm.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Feb. 3.—A heavy snowstorm has prevailed here, accompanied by high winds and falling temperature. Country roads are absolutely impassable. Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley and Pittsburg and Chautauqua Lake railway trains are stalled in heavy drifts, and traffic has been practically abandoned. Some Erie trains have been annulled, and others are running very late. Street car service in this city has been suspended.

Knoxville Has Big Fire.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 3.—The six story Gay street building occupied by Murphy & Robinson, wholesale hats and millinery, has been destroyed by fire. The fire spread south and into the four story building of M. L. Ross & Co., wholesale groceries. It also went north and into the six story building occupied by Cullen & Newman, wholesale notions. Two firemen were killed, their bodies being buried in the ruins. The loss, $300,000.

Herrick Said, "I think Not."

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 3.—"Governor Herrick," said Colonel W. P. Orr of Piqua while chatting with the executive, "is Ohio going to demand your acceptance of second place on the national ticket this year?" Herrick's reply was quick and decisive: "I think not. Ohio knows that I am not ambitious beyond serving my state. I sincerely trust that I may not be embarrassed by my friends."

Pennypacker Asks Aid For Victims.

The proclamation asks that vigorous and prompt action be taken for the relief of the stricken families.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Reform Club Athletic Association is talking about a baseball team for the coming season. E. P. T. Smith is in charge of the matter.

It is reported that the field formerly known as Hope Common is to be cut up into building lots during the coming summer and that the chances of seeing baseball there are not good. There are very few good baseball fields in Plainfield accessible to the trolley.

Walter N. Martin, formerly of Plainfield, but now in Porto Rico, has written to his friend, Robert D. Rick, of East Third street, telling him of a recent game of baseball in Porto Rico. "Red" Waller, so well-known to lovers of baseball in this vicinity, pitched for one of the teams in the game and lost by a score of 5 to 4, eleven innings. This looks as though the natives know how to play the National game.

Word has come down the line that Manager Charles Denman, of the famous Westfield baseball team, feels uneasy concerning the Alis Club team for the coming season. Undoubtedly, Mr. Denman will be accommodated at the proper time should he desire to arrange a schedule. He has already announced his intention of being out for the Union County championship. No doubt he will have plenty of opposition before the season is over.

Inasmuch as Elizabeth has a strong baseball team, it is hoped that arrangements may be made whereby that team will be able to play in Plainfield this season. The same is true of Garwood, where the strong Aeolians hold forth. Either team or both would make strong drawing-cards. Last season Elizabeth was anxious to meet the Westfield aggregation, but Manager Denman evidently was afraid of his laurels. There is every reason to believe that Somerville will be a top-notcher this year and that team would receive a cordial welcome in Plainfield.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

An effort is being made by C. B. Koons, manager of the Y. M. C. A. bowling team, to arrange a match with the Alis five.

The Rahway Y. M. C. A. will bowl the local association five on the Plainfield alleys Friday night. It will be the third match for Plainfield in the second round of the Y. M. C. A. League of Northern New Jersey.

The Daily Press Bowling League tournament will be continued tomorrow night, when two series of games will be rolled. The Park Club will roll at Roselle and Cranford Casino will roll Westfield at the latter place. The result will be watched with interest.

BASKET BALL.

Leal's and the High School basket-ball teams will play their second game Monday, Feb. 15, in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. Leal's won the first game.

The next basket ball game for the local Y. M. C. A. team will be with Newark at Newark next Saturday, the game to form a part of a general gymnastic and athletic carnival of the Newark association. The first game between the two teams, played in this city, was won by Plainfield 27 to 25.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The annual meeting of the Alis Club will probably be held Monday, Feb. 8, when arrangements for the opening of the season in baseball will be discussed.

The Orange Field Club will hold an important meeting, Friday night, when the question of new rooms and plans for the coming season will be discussed.

ROD AND GUN.

George Voehl, of West Front street, has returned from East Arcadia, North Carolina, where with August O. Trust he has been hunting game.

Arrangements are being made for the regular holiday shoot of the Independent Gun Club which is to be held on the Maple avenue grounds on Washington's birthday.

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

About thirty strong of Miantonomo Tribe journeyed to New Brunswick last night and attended an entertainment given by a lodge of Red Men there.

Three candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the first degree at the meeting of Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, last night. The castle will celebrate its anniversary on Tuesday night, Feb. 23.

POLITICAL NOTES.

William B. Gourley, of Paterson, will retire from the chairmanship of the Democratic State Committee of New Jersey at the expiration of his term this year. Mr. Gourley has been the head of the Democratic State Committee six years.

The anti-cigarette bill, which found opposition in numerous quarters, and which was not satisfactory to Governor Murphy, was withdrawn from the State Legislature by Mr. Roberts, its introducer. In its place Mr. Roberts introduced a bill fixing the age at which cigarettes may be purchased at 14 years and fixing a penalty of $150 or three months' imprisonment.

Senator Dryden has received an invitation form the Chamber of Commerce of Perth Amboy to attend the annual banquet of that body on Feb. 11, but he will be unable to be present. Senator Dryden has been advised that some of the Bound Brook residents, interested in the site for military maneuvres, expected to have an interview with General Corbin at Governor's Island.

The bill introduced by Assemblyman Huise, of Mercer County, has been placed back on second reading under a suspension of the rules for the purpose of rectifying a technical defect in the title. The object of the bill primarily is to prevent the use of the American flag for advertising purposes. When it was placed back on second reading it was further amended so as to include in its prohibition the State flag of New Jersey.

The senators and representatives for New Jersey at Washington receive some amusing letters in connection with the seed distribution. One man writes to his Congressman that last year the department sent him some watermelon and cantelope seeds, and he had no room for such things, and he wanted seeds for something that would take up less room. Another man, who seems to think there is no limit to the supply of seeds, writes for 127 varieties, and evidently wants to plant a farm of fifty or sixty odd acres.

The much heralded and eagerly expected meeting of United States Senator John Kean and Representative Charles N. Fowler at the Plainfield Board of Trade banquet did not result in any personal affront or political scrap as a great many interested persons had hoped for. Both were invited to the dinner, and it was announced that Mr. Fowler would probably make the speech of the evening, because Plainfield was his stronghold in Union County, and there, if anywhere, he would desire to show his oratorical superiority over his factional rival. But there was neither scrap nor affront; neither speech nor retort. Both men stayed away from the banquet. Mr. Fowler had no representative present, but Mr. Kean's younger brother, the chairman of the Republican county committee, attended and made a short speech, in which he touched on the number of printing press manufactories in Plainfield and threw some light on the Manchurian question, but made not the slightest reference to the currency bill or the recent county election. As the News has already suggested several times, those who expect a continuation of the Union County Republican factional fights of the last ten years are likely to be disappointed. Wiser counsels are beginning to prevail in that county.—Newark Evening News.

SLEIGHING PARTIES.

Jacob Muhldusky, of the borough, took a number of the members of the Butternut Social Club on a straw ride to Westfield last night.

A number of young people of the Grace M. E. church enjoyed a sleigh ride last night to Springfield. A dance at the home of friends there was the principal event of the evening. The return trip was made in the early morning.

A sleighride was enjoyed to Westfield last night by a party of twenty-five young people. The affair was arranged by Miss Alice Day and Miss Madeline Sutton. On their return they were entertained by Miss Day at her home on West Fourth street.

—Frank Denckla, who holds a position as clerk at E. S. F. Randolph's drug store, corner of North and Watchung avenues, has resigned his position to take effect Saturday night. He will take a trip to Boston.

FREDERICK GETS $35,000?

CENTRAL RAILROAD SAID TO HAVE AMICABLY SETTLED WITH HIM.

A report is in circulation today that the Jersey Central Railroad has paid Wilson Fredrick, of Dunellen, $35,000 in settlement of his claim against the company for injuries received in the Westfield wreck a year ago.

When a representative of the company at the New York offices was communicated with over the telephone this afternoon, a verification could not be obtained, it being stated that the matter was purely one concerning Mr Fredrick and that any information should be obtained from him or his counsel. Fredrick was confined in Muhlenberg Hospital for nearly a year, repeated skin grafting operations being necessary to save his life.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

"The workers in the vineyard who disobeyed the Master remind me of the so-called striker today. Many of these men show a disposition to want to dictate to the man or men who engage their services. They also assume the right to say whether a brother mechanic shall belong to this union or that union. He must, they say, belong to some union. I consider it a serious mistake for workingmen to dictate to their employers to such an extent that strikes result, and they cause injury to the community in which they live, cause their families to suffer and retard progress."—Father Hall, of South Orange.

V. W. Nash's Engagements.

Supreme Representative V. W. Nash, of Columbia Lodge, A. O. U. W., of this city, will, if his condition of health is such as to permit, deliver an address before Raritan Lodge, of New Brunswick, February 15. His subject will be the new plan of assessments. He will be a guest at a banquet to be given February 11, by the united lodges of Newark. It will be the eleventh annual banquet of the Newark lodges.

Sleighing Accident.

Mrs. Edward M. VanBuren, of Central avenue, together with her coachman, was upset from a sleigh in front of L. W. Randolph's drug store on West Front street, this morning. Neither occupant of the sleigh was injured. The runners of the sleigh caught in the trolley car tracks, causing the accident.

Realty Officers Elected.

The annual meeting of the Mono Real Estate Company was held last night in the offices of G. W. V. Moy. Officers were elected. They are: President, G. W. V. Moy; vice president, J. B. Woolston; secretary, H. W. Marshall; treasurer, J. C. Pope. These officers served last year.

Attachment Proceedings.

Attachments in the cases of Van Arsdale against Holz and Daly against Holz were dismissed yesterday in Justice Nash's court. Judgment for the plaintiff was rendered by Justice Nash in the contract case of Littell against Gulick.

Children's Home Meeting.

On account of the boys' fair in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, the Children's Home meeting will be held at Truell Court, 326 Central avenue, at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

—A trolley car on the Arlington avenue line became stalled late Saturday afternoon at Randolph road and delayed traffic for an hour.

W. H. ABBOTT WEDS MISS S. L. RANDOLPH

Nuptial Event at Home of Bride's Brother Witnessed by Concourse of Friends.

PRETTY DECORATIONS

REV. CHARLES E. HERRING THE OFFICIATING MINISTER.

Miss Lulu F. Randolph Maid-of-Honor and William Moore Best Man—Groom's Gift to Bride a House and Lot.

Miss Sadie Louise Randolph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester F. Randolph, of West Eighth street, and William H. Abbott, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Abbott, of West Front street, were married last night at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's brother, Edward S. F. Randolph, 927 Park avenue, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends, from this city and points distant.

No expense or effort was spared in the details and it was one of the notable events of the winter season. In the decorations the effect was pleasing. The parlor presented the colors of green and white, the dining room was pink and white, while the hall and library was green and white. The arrangement in the parlor included an improvised altar, with a floral bell, surrounded by a bank of palms, with an aisle leading from the staircase to the altar. This was made of smilax and ribbons, the pages carrying the ribbons being Edward Abbott, brother of the groom, and Edmund Smith, of Nyack, N. Y. Smilax and roses were used chiefly in the decorations.

While the Lohengrin wedding march was being played on the piano by Miss May Randolph, of this city, the bridal party wended its way to the parlor Preceding were the ushers, Richard F. Randolph, brother of the bride, and Clifford D. Manning, of this city, and Burns R. Hack, of Ohio.

Following the ushers was the flower girl, Catherine M. Randolph, niece of the bride, who wore a dress of white point d'esprit over white taffeta. She carried a basket of white roses and carnations. Miss Lulu F. Randolph, sister of the bride, was the maid-of-honor. Her gown was of pale green crepe, trimmed with pearl and point d'esprit lace. Her bouquet was of white carnations. They were followed by the bride, accompanied by her father, who gave her away in marriage. The bride was gowned in Lansdowne, trimmed with point and pearl lace trimmings. She wore a tulle veil fastened in the coiffure with an ornament and a spray of orange blossoms and she carried bridal roses.

The groom and his best man, William Moore, of East Second street, met the party at the altar, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

After the celebration of the happy event, congratulations were received by the couple and an elaborate wedding repast was served. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Abbott left Plainfield to enjoy a southern honeymoon. Upon their return they will live in Plainfield, where the groom has a well-established real estate and insurance business.

The gifts received were handsome and costly, comprising nearly everything that a favored bride might receive. Possibly the most notable gift was from the groom. It was a deed for a house and lot which he presented free of incumberance. In the exchange of gifts among the bridal party the best man and ushers received from the groom novelty stick pins, while the maid-of-honor received a gold bracelet and the flower girl a gold locket from the bride. Miss Randolph, who played the wedding march received a handsome stick pin from the bride.

The bride is a well-known and popular young woman. There were about one hundred guests present at the wedding from Philadelphia, New York, Newark, Nyack, N. Y., Spring Valley, N. Y., Plainfield, Bound Brook, Somerville, Flemington, Salem and from England.

To Repeat Concert.

The Y. M. C. A. orchestra will repeat its twelfth concert given Feb. 1 on Friday, Feb. 12. Free tickets may be obtained at the drug stores and unused tickets for the last concert will be accepted. The repetition is due to the fact that so many who wished to hear the last concert were turned away for lack of seats or standing room.

F. H. ANDREWS AND W. D. MURRAY TO TAKE ACTIVE PART IN DELIBERATIONS.

Fred H. Andrews and W. D. Murray, of this city, will be among the most active of the delegates to the thirty-third State convention of the New Jersey Y. M. C. A. at Trenton, February 11 to 14. He will also preside over the meeting for organization of the convention. The library conference, in Saturday's session's sessions, will be presided over by Mr. Murray.

Music for the convention will be directed by Secretary Merton L. Beebe, of Rahway, assisted by the Lotus Glee Club and the Trenton Association orchestra. Sunday, Feb. 14, will be a special day of prayer.

TO ACCEPT ALL BATTLE FLAGS

GOVERNOR THINKS PLAN WILL SETTLE DISPUTE BETWEEN THE VETERANS.

Governor Murphy proposes to accept all the battle flags that come his way and turn them over to the State for safe-keeping.

He will give priority to none because he knows, he admits, nothing definite concerning the claims of the warring Jersey veterans as to who carried the first colors of the Union into the land of secession during the War of the Rebellion.

This is the substance of a reply which he has sent to Aaron Wilkes Post, G. A. R., of Trenton, when members of the organization appealed to him not to accept the "first" flag to be offered next Monday evening at the State House by General J. Madison Drake, of Elizabeth.

Drake claims to have the original colors and declares that he carried them into Virginia in the first invasion of the South by Union forces. This is denied by the Aaron Wilkes men, who claim the honor for Joseph Lawton, of Trenton. A battered flag is in the possession of the post as evidence.

SOME OF THE PROPOSED LAWS

BRIEF MENTION OF MEASURES INTRODUCED IN THE LEGISLATURE.

Senator Bachellor has introduced in the Senate a new bill providing for the abolition of grade crossings. The bill provides that where the tracks of a street railway company cross those of a steam railway company in a city, and it is not found possible for the companies interested to agree upon a plan for the removal of such grade crossing, the board or body having charge of the streets of such city may apply to the Court of Chancery to determine a plan whereby such removal may be accomplished, the decision of the court in all such cases to be binding upon the principals concerned.

Senator Horner has introduced a bill amending the crimes act, so that in cases where there is a trial for murder and the defendant shall be found guilty of murder in the first degree the jury may qualify their verdict by adding "but without capital punishment."

Mr. Bradley introduced a bill, making it a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $100 or imprisonment in the county jail for three months for any person who shall sell, furnish or give away any cocaine or any patent or proprietary remedy containing cocaine, except upon the prescription of a registered practising physician, or of a dentist, or of a veterinary.

Senator Wood McKee, of Passaic, has introduced a bill in the Legislature designated to prohibit combinations among insurance companies for the purpose of fixing rates. The bill requires foreign insurance companies to file with the commissioner of banks and insurance each year a statement of all the premiums received during the preceding year. Under the bill every fire insurance company organized outside of the State must pay an annual tax of $1,000 before it can do business here.

ALLEGES W. C. WHITNEY WAS HER HUSBAND

Nellie V. Millar, of Watchung Avenue, Says She Was Married to Dead Statesman.

THE WOMAN'S STORY

DECLARES CEREMONY WAS PERFORMED IN WASHINGTON IN 1900.

Claims She Was a Writer for the Washington Chronicle—Her Career as She Relates It—Lives With Mother Here.

Nellie V. Millar, a song writer and newspaper contributor for Washington publications, this morning declared that she is the wife of the late William C. Whitney, whose death in New York occurred Tuesday. She is at present residing at 333 Watchung avenue, in the old Crescent Rink building.

She was seen at noon by a reporter for The Daily Press and to him she told her story. She claims that on June 10, 1900, she and the former Secretary of the Navy were married secretly in St. Patrick's church at the corner of Tenth avenue and G street, Washington, D. C., by a Father Stafford. She further states that on account of the objection of Mr. Whitney's children to the marriage, the wedding was kept a secret and no one excepting the minister, the bride and groom and her mother knew of the event. The woman further claims that she has proof of her marriage with the millionaire. She says that she has handed over to her lawyer in New York the marriage certificate and other documents, together with a number of letters, alleged to have been written to her by Mr. Whitney.

When asked how she became acquainted with Mr. Whitney she said that he met her at Washington when she was writing for the Washington Chronicle. This happened shortly after the death of his wife and her striking resemblance, she declares, which he recognized in her features, to those of his two dead wives caused a strong friendship to spring up between them.

She claims that she was born in West Philadelphia thirty-five years ago on a street which has since been made part of Fairmont Park. When she was a young child her parents moved to Washington and she lived on G street, opposite the pension office, until she was married to Mr. Whitney. After the marriage she moved back to Dunellen, N. J. She has lived in this city in a sumptuously furnished flat for over one month. She lives there with her mother, Mrs. E. A. Bradley, who corroborates her daughter's story.

MR. CLARK'S WILL PROBATED

The will of the late James Clark, of West Seventh street, was offered for probate at the Surrogate's office, Elizabeth, yesterday. The records show that his property passes to his lineal heirs, there being no public bequests whatever. The estate is valued at $10,000,000. John H. VanWinkle and son, John H. VanWinkle, Jr., Esq., are the legal representatives for the estate. The property will left to his wife and two sons.

The Board will hold its next regular monthly meeting Tuesday.

Rag-Time Schedule.

For nearly an hour this morning all the trolley cars on the main line through the city got the habit of running westward. In consequence persons traveling eastward were obliged to walk. The cars eventually returned from Dunellen. No cause was given for the irregularity in the schedule.

TUNIS J. CAREY DIES FROM HEART DISEASE

Former Councilman and Chief of Police Passes Away Unexpectedly in New York.

HIS EVENTFUL CAREER

HIS RAID ON BARROOMS CAUSED SENSATION IN THIS CITY.

Active Temperance Worker, Who Caused a Stir in the Municipality—He Leaves a Wife and Two Sons Living in the Borough.

Tunis J. Carey, for many years a resident of Plainfield, during which time he occupied public positions, first as councilman and then as chief of police during stirring times when the temperance question was warmly agitated, died yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. Radin in East Fourteenth street, New York, where he boarded. Word was sent to his son, Harry Carey, night baggage-master at the North Avenue Station, and when he reached New York late in the afternoon he learned that the body had been removed to a morgue.

Mrs. Radin informed the son that his father had been ill three weeks with heart disease, but when asked why she did not inform the family, said he expected to come to Plainfield soon.

Mr. Carey was born between Whitehouse and Lebanon in Hunterdon County, and his boyhood days were spent in that vicinity. When the Civil War broke out he enlisted in Captain J. Frank Hubbard's company in the Thirtieth N. J. Vols., serving throughout the war. Afterward he came to Plainfield and engaged in the second-hand and general storage business, his place of business for a long time being on West Front street in the Schepflin building.

Early in the eighties he was elected a councilman from the Fourth ward on the Republican ticket. For several years afterward he took an active part in politics. He resigned during his second term to accept the position of chief of police and he remained in that office for several years. It was during that time that Plainfield passed through a lively temperance crusade, an attempt being made to close up the drinking places in town.

Mr. Carey held several conferences with the temperance advocates and he told them that if they would furnish the material means he would close the places. This scheme was defeated, but for a year the saloons were closed by the Council, all applications for licenses being refused. It is said, however, that there was more drinking than ever during that period.

It was possibly during the term of the "Big Six," in the Council that Mr. Carey received his greatest prominence and he gave up his office about a year before the members went out of power. During that reign he caused a sensation by raiding the barroom of a local hotel while several Councilmen were drinking after closing hours. He detected the officials by looking through a transom in a door. It was probably this more than anything else that resulted in his retirement from the police department. Mr. Carey was fearless in the performance of his duty and in a great many respects was conceded to be a capable man for the head of the police department.

After his retirement he gave his entire time to his original business, continuing in it until five or six years ago, when he moved to New York. It is said that during his absence he conducted a furniture and storage business in Hoboken. It is not known that he had been doing anything for several months prior to his death.

Mr. Carey is survived by a widow and two sons, Alvah Carey and Harry Carey.

GRAND JURY ADJOURNS AFTER GIVING PRESENTS

Foreman Receives a Gold Headed Cane and Clerk an Order for a Hat.

INSPECTED COUNTY JAIL

THIRTY-TWO BILLS HAD BEEN PASSED ON DURING SESSION.

James E. Martine, Dr. Clawson, Albert Pope and Augustus Smith the Plainfield Members—Three Weeks Session.

The Grand Jury was adjourned sine die yesterday afternoon after passing upon thirty-two bills with some adjournments in a three weeks' session. The Plainfield members of the jury were James E. Martine, Augustus Smith, Albert Pope and Dr. Clawson.

The last day of its existence, the members of the Grand Jury marked by the presentation of a gold headed cane to Foreman Roberts, of Rahway, as a sign of appreciation for his good services. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Martine, and Mr. Roberts responded feelingly. The cane was appropriately engraved with the recipient's name, and the dates of the jury. Mr. Martine, on behalf of the jury, also presented the clerk, Mr. English, with an order for a $10 hat.

The members then spent the remainder of the day in an inspection of the county jail. On Mr. Martine's motion, resolutions were adopted congratulating the citizens of Union county on the fact that the jail is provided with such complete sanitary arrangements and administered with such thorough regard for cleanliness. The resolutions further highly commended Warden Charles W. Dodd, as well as the matron, Mrs. Fanny Dodd, as much for her good offices as a moral teacher of the inmates as for her efficient work in housekeeping.

The jail now contains sixty-five prisoners, of whom but four are women. Plainfield is represented among the prisoners by Charles Brown, the notorious horse-thief.

PLAINFIELD BILL IN ASSEMBLY

MEASURE TO PLACE TAX FOR FIRE HYDRANTS IN GENERAL LEVY.

Among the bills introduced in the Assembly yesterday was one known as the Plainfield fire hydrant bill. This bill which aims to place the tax for fire hydrants in the general tax levy, instead of having the fire department pay for them out of its regular appropriation, was introduced last winter, but owing to the fact that the enactment clause was through an error omitted, could not be passed. The local fire department has always claimed that this item of expense should be paid for by the city at large and not come out of the department's appropriation.

P. H. S. AGAINST HASBROUCK

BASKET BALL CONTEST AT JERSEY CITY TOMORROW AFTERNOON.

The Plainfield High School basket ball team will line up against the Hasbrouck Institute team, of Jersey City, tomorrow afternoon at Jersey City. Hasbrouck has a strong team and Plainfield will do well to keep the score within bounds, especially as the cramped condition of the Hasbrouck gymnasium is a handicap to visiting teams. Hasbrouck won last year's game from Plainfield by a big margin. The line-up for Plainfield will be: Capt. Thompson and Long, forwards; Freeman or Guinn, center; Fenno and Gavett, guards. A return game with Hasbrouck will be played later in the season in the local Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

Besides its games with Leal's School Feb. 19 and March 11, Plainfield High will play two games with Orange High on dates not yet fixed.

LIQUOR LICENSES IN COUNCIL

TALK AS TO THE POSITION THE CITY FATHERS WILL TAKE.

The Common Council takes action of all liquor applications at the regular March meeting. It has previously been the policy of the Council to retain the present number of licensed places, fourteen, but this year there are three additional applications. What will be done with them is not known at present. It is said that J. J. Goff, who applies for a license for his new hotel on West Front street, is likely to have his request granted and that one of the persons now holding a license may be refused.

On the other hand, it is said, that the Common Council will not increase nor change the number of places. Others are inclined to believe that inasmuch as the high license question was defeated the Council may grant the three additional applications for the purpose of receiving the extra revenue. Members of the Common Council are very reticient regarding the license matter and they all appear as though they will be glad when the applications are disposed of.

BOROUGH'S NEW FIRE CHIEF

J. J. STAHL DECLINES AND OTHERS ARE BEING CONSIDERED FOR POSITION.

Who is to be the first Chief of the borough's paid fire department, is the question which is being asked by North Plainfield citizens. Chief Julius J. Stahl, to whom the office has been tendered by Mayor Smalley, declares he will not accept it. He says that there are many reasons why he should not, but declares that none of his reasons are inspired by a feeling of resentment against the Council.

Among those whose names have been mentioned is Herman Klinsman. He seems to be the most likely candidate so far considered, but his friends say he will not take the place. Former Chief George Fairchild has also been considered.

CABLE FROM MR. M'CUTCHEN.

Popular Borough Citizen Responds From Egypt to Baptist Church.

At last evening's service in the First Baptist church, Rev. Dr. Chambliss read extracts from a letter dated Luxor, Egypt, Jan. 4, from Charles W. McCutchen in response to the cablegram of New Year's greeting sent him by the church. The cablegram was 3rd John, 14. Mr. McCutchen expressed his hearty appreciation of the thoughtful remembrance and spoke of the sojourn of himself and family in the ancient land of Egypt with its wonderful river Nile, as full of enjoyment.

HORSE THIEF'S ALLEGED ACCOMPLICE HELD IN BAIL

Jacob Rabinowitz Waived Examination Before Justice von Minden.

AIDED CHAS. BROWN P

CASE DISMISSED HERE FOR LACK OF JURISDICTION.

James E. Martine Gets Damaging Testimony From Brown Implicating Rabinowitz—Prisoner Escaped Punishment at New Brunswick.

Brought into one court to have his case dismissed, released, re-arrested, taken to another court, held in bonds for the Grand Jury, and all in about an hour, was what happened to Jacob Rabinowitz, of Perth Amboy, yesterday afternoon. Rabinowitz is the saloon keeper who was charged with keeping a disreputable establishment in Perth Amboy and in whose case the jury at New Brunswick disagreed last week.

Rabinowitz was first brought before Justice Huff yesterday afternoon on a charge of receiving stolen goods, in the form of horses, from Charles Brown, the confessed horse-thief. The case was dismissed from this court which was without jurisdiction inasmuch as the alleged act of receiving the goods was committed in another county.

The police were prepared for this emergency, however, and Constable Pierce, of Piscataway Township, immediately re-arrested Rabinowitz, and took him to Dunellen, in Middlesex county, before Justice R. P. F. Von Minden. George Plechner, Esq., of Perth Amboy, representing Rabinowitz, waived examination for his client who was held to await the action of the Grand Jury in $400 bonds, furnished by John Hansen and Jacob Schragowitz, of Perth Amboy.

Charles Brown, who confessed to the theft of the eight or nine horses recovered recently by Chief Kiely, through statement of himself and Rabinowitz, was indicted by the Grand Jury which disbanded yesterday afternoon. He will plead guilty when his case is brought to trial and the complete extent of his confessions will probably mitigate the severity of the court in passing sentence.

James E. Martine, of this city, a member of the Grand Jury, had a long interview with Brown yesterday afternoon at the county jail in Elizabeth and Brown's statements made to him seriously implicate Rabinowitz. Brown told Mr. Martine that he entered upon his career of horse-thieving through the influence of Rabinowitz which instructed him how to go to work and promised to buy from him all the horses he could steal. According to his own story, Brown was used by Rabinowitz as a mere tool.

Mr. Martine said to a Daily Press reporter last night that the wonder was that so many people were deceived in Brown, who appeared to him unintelligent and not at all the sort of man who could successfully represent himself as a sewing machine agent. Brown asserted that he could neither read nor write. Notes from his statements to Mr. Martine were taken down by a court office and will probably be used in the trial of Rabinowitz.

MRS. CHAMBLISS, PRESIDENT.

Pastor's Wife Chosen as Head of First Baptist Church W. F. M. S.

Mrs. J. A. Chambliss, wife of the recently installed pastor of the First Baptist church, was elected president of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, at its regular meeting, yesterday afternoon. The society has had no president since the retirement of Mrs. Knox some time ago, and Mrs. Chambliss was very willing to accept the office.

Aside from the routine business of the meeting, papers telling of the work of Mrs. Ingalls, who was a missionary in Burmah for fifty years, were read, followed by an informal discussion. There was a large attendance of members at the meeting.

Boys' Department Fair.

The reception room of the Y. M. C. A. building has been handsomely decorated and the booths tastefully arranged for this afternoon's fair for the benefit of the boys' department. The fair opens at 3 o'clock and continues until 10. Purchasers need not think of going home for dinner, as ample refreshments will be served on the spot for a small consideration in a worthy cause.

BOOK NEWS.

It is planned to issue on Thursday of each week items of library news. This will frequently take the form of book lists, such as lists of books recently added, lists on special subjects and like topics. Frequently the lists will be annotated, the aim being to make these annotations of real service to the reader, by giving him the opinion of a trustworthy critic as to the value of the books or a few words as to their scope. Borrowers should keep these lists. The Plainfield Public Library will furnish to anyone making application a list of its books on a given subject.

CAN'T BE SEPARATED.

Some Plainfield People Have Learned to Get Rid of Both.

Backache and kidney ache are twin brothers,

You can't separate them.

And you can't get rid of the backache until you cure the kidney ache.

If the kidneys are well and strong, the rest of the system is pretty sure to be in vigorous health.

Doan's Kidney Pills make strong healthy kidneys.

Mr. S. J. Conklin, traveling salesman for a New York confectionery house, 134 West Front street, says: "I was subject to pain in the back and hips which at times I felt in my side. I tried different kinds of kidney cures but received little or no relief. I read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills and I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I took three boxes altogether and was wonderfully improved. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy and accomplish all that is claimed for them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

There is one rational way to treat nasal catarrh: the medicine is applied direct to the affected membrane. The remedy is Ely's Cream Balm. It restores the inflamed tissues to a healthy state without drying all the life out of them and it gives back the lost senses of taste and smell. The sufferer who is tired of vain experiments should use Cream Balm. Druggists sell it for 50 cts. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren street, New York, will mail it.

Mrs. Penfield, of Park avenue, will leave tomorrow for Palm Beach, Florida. She will be gone five weeks.

MAY DECLARE WAR

Czar Empowers Alexeieff to Open Hostilities.

MIKADO HOLDS COUNCIL OF WAR

Tokyo Cabinet Losing Patience and Feels St. Petersburg Government Is Determined Not to Yield and Is Preparing For War.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg says the Russian government has given Viceroy Alexeieff authority to declare war and open hostilities on his own responsibility if circumstances render it necessary.

The dispatch adds that an imperial manifesto declares that war is expected if the Japanese government does not accept the conditions proposed in Russia's response, which, it is asserted, is Russia's last word.

Late dispatches from Tokyo indicate that the prolonged tension has reached a climax there.

The Marquis Ito, president of the privy council, was summoned from the country during the night. The emperor received him, and a council of the elder statesmen was held with the war minister and three admirals.

The conference lasted several hours. While it was going on Premier Katsura and Foreign Minister Komura had a long audience of the emperor.

Although the government officials continue reticent, it is manifest that the situation is of the gravest and that a crisis is near at hand. The time in which the Russian reply will continue to be a factor in the situation is narrowing.

The patience of the government is becoming exhausted, and if the expected answer is delayed many days longer the issuance of an ultimatum by Japan will become inevitable.

The Japanese feel that the existing conditions have entitled them to a more prompt reply and are bound to infer that the St. Petersburg government is determined not to yield, but is utilizing the time to advance its preparations for war.

The highest officials make no pretense of concealment of their exasperation at the tardiness of the Russian reply.

An unofficial dispatch says it is expected that the Russian reply will mean war.

Port Arthur dispatches indicate that in response to the Japanese war measures important naval and military movements have been effected. The Russian squadron heretofore inside the harbor, consisting of the battleships Retvisan, Peresviet, Czarevitch, the cruiser Fremiaschek, the battleship Orel, the cruiser Smiely and the battleship Sevastopol, have joined the outside fleet, consisting of the battleships Petropavlovsk, Probieda and Poltava, the cruisers Diana, Fallada, Askold, Varyag and Boyarm and the gunboat Bakan.

The latter has just arrived here from Chemulpo, Korea, with complete Japanese charts of the Korean coast.

The cruiser Djigit, the torpedo gunboat Gaidamak and the sloop-of-war Zabiyaka, four gunboats and the torpedo flotilla remain inside.

Simultaneously the Third brigade of Siberian rifles and two batteries of artillery started for an unannounced destination from the Liao Yang, south of Mukden.

Altogether about 9,000 troops have departed, leaving 10,000 men at Port Arthur, exclusive of the troops manning the fortifications.

In consequence of the military authorities monopolizing the use of the railroad the latter has declined to transport any more commercial freight.

The telegraph company declines to accept any more press or private messages so they will have to be routed via Chefu.

The authorities declare the naval and military dispositions should be regarded as precautionary, not as offensive.

Made Child Fast Seventy-two Hours.

AUBURN, Me., Feb. 4.—Rev. F. W. Sandford, head of the Holy Ghost and Us society, was tried in the supreme court here and found guilty of cruelty to his six-year-old son. Sentence was deferred. The state charged that Sandford in fulfillment of his religious teachings compelled his son to fast for seventy-two hours. The defense offered no evidence. Sandford is also under indictment for manslaughter, the charge growing out of the alleged ill treatment of children in his congregation.

Negro Arrested In Shields Case.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 4.—A negro answering in some respects the description of the Roanoke ravisher of Mrs. Shields was captured beating his way on a Norfolk and Western freight train near Suffolk by the train crew and brought here for safe keeping pending identification.

Rescue Cost a Life.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 4.—In saving the life of a sailor named Peter Hansen, George Stadle, engineer of the oil steamer Northtown, from Port Arthur, lost his life here. Several other men were prostrated by oil fumes, but were resuscitated.

Wickes Murderer on Trial.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Feb. 4.—The examination of Francisco Mecorra, recently of New York, for the murder of William W. Wickes and for assaulting Arthur Diefendorf, has begun here. Diefendorf will probably recover.

President a Refugee.

BUENOS AYRES, Feb. 4.—It is rumored here that the president of Uruguay, Senor Ordonez, has taken refuge on an Argentine cruiser.

National Tribute Paid to Ex-Secretary's Memory.

EVER COURAGEOUS AND CONSIDERATE

Liberal and Broadminded In His Patronage of Sports—He Strove For What Was Pure, Honorable and Right Always.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—It has been decided that the funeral of the late William C. Whitney will take place tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Grace church.

A special train will leave the New York Central depot for Woodlawn cemetery after the service at the church.

The death of William C. Whitney, who passed away at his home, 871 Fifth avenue, has been received with sincere expressions of regret on all sides. Such universally expressed sorrow is seldom noted.

The following gentlemen have been named as pallbearers at Mr. Whitney's funeral: Grover Cleveland, Thomas F. Ryan, Elihu Root, Thomas Dolan, J. Pierpont Morgan, Grant B. Schley, Colonel William Jay, P. A. B. Widener, H. McK. Twombley and George G. Haven.

A Washington dispatch says Secretary Moody has issued an order to commanding officers of the navy directing that the flags on all ships throughout the navy and at all navy yards and stations shall be half masted tomorrow, the day of ex-Secretary William C. Whitney's funeral. Secretary Moody has expressed a wish that every honor shall be paid to Mr. Whitney's memory.

At a special meeting of the Jockey club, on motion of the chairman, August Belmont, it was resolved that the organization attend in a body the funeral of William C. Whitney, and the following resolution was offered by F. K. Sturgis, secretary:

"The Hon. William Collins Whitney died at his home in this city on Tuesday last. It is therefore fitting that we, his sorrowing friends and associates, should meet and place upon our minutes a record of our respect for his many honorable qualities as a man and our deep sorrow for the loss which we have sustained.

"Gifted with rare intelligence and singular ability, it is given to but few men of Mr. Whitney's age to make as deep a mark upon the records of the community in which they reside as was his fortune. To the counsels of the nation he brought a farseeing assistance and advice, always advocating a courageous policy and ever just and considerate of all. With an open hand and keen appreciation of what was best in the higher walks of art, literature and science, his aid was never appealed to in vain. Liberal and broad minded in his patronage of sport, to those of us here assembled who had the good fortune to be constantly with him in matters pertaining to the best interests of the turf in this country he has bequeathed a memory which will ever recognize how earnestly he strove for what was pure, honorable and right as well as what was wise, enterprising and judicious. His strong personality and many winning traits have truly endeared him to a wide circle of friends, and his death has created a void which for many years to come will be sadly and sorrowfully remembered."

Tidal Wave on English Coast.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The English channel has been visited by extraordinary weather for the past few days, and tidal waves have done considerable damage to the coasts of both England and France. Earthquake shocks were felt on the island of Jersey between 4 and 7 o'clock. Unusually high tides flooded many coast towns, wrecking sea walls and cliffs and doing much damage, while continuous gales and rains have flooded miles of the Thames valley and caused the greatest inconvenience. Similar reports have been received from the coast of Portugal, where the sea has invaded villages and destroyed the crops. The breakwaters at Cascaes and Figueira have been demolished.

Hanna Had a Setback.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Senator M. A. Hanna has had a setback, which for a time considerably alarmed his family, who had been encouraged to hope that he was getting to be himself again. Now the senator, while not so well as was hoped, shows excellent rallying power and improvement in his condition.

Wreckers Strip Fishing Boat.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Feb. 4.—The fisheries department has received information that a party of coast people from Lark Harbor had boarded the abandoned Gloucester herring schooner Fernwood, which had been driven inshore at that point, and had stripped her of spars, rigging, sails and other gear and stores.

Army of Potomac Banquet.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—President Roosevelt, General John C. Black, the commander in chief of the Grand Army; Secretary Taft, General Nelson A. Miles and other well known officials were guests of honor at the banquet last night at the department of the Potomac of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Plainfield, N. J., Feb. 4, 1904.

The Daily Press has a higher circulation rating than is accorded to any other paper in Plainfield.—Printers' Ink.

Edward Cameron, Elizabeth, threw up an honest job in order to make a living stealing coal. Mr. Cameron evidently wants to get some training before branching out as a trust magnate.

"Who is the most optimistic man living?" asks a correspondent. We do not know his name, but he is a Pennsylvania Democrat.—Camden Post-Telegram.

Since when did Jim Martine live in Pennsylvania?

The Easton Express applauds the efforts of the Senator who has introduced a bill in the Jersey Legislature to abolish the gallows. It refers to it as a relic of barbarism. There is Biblical warrant for the death penalty. More sensible to substitute electrocution.

The average advertiser is prone to grow discouraged and feel his efforts do not yield what they should. This is unfortunate. Many advertising campaigns fall just short of success by the weakness of the man who is the initiative power. If more strength were a characteristic of the man in power there would be sure results and fewer failures. Keep it up to a successful issue and the satisfaction will be the greater.—Advertising World.

In order to settle the dispute about the first Union flag unfurled on Virginia soil, the Camden Post-Telegram suggests an oratorical combat to a finish between General J. Madison Drake, of Elizabeth, and Colonel E. C. Stahl, of Trenton, whereupon the Plainfield Press further suggests that General Drake hire his brother, Silas Dewey Drake, as his substitute. This latter hint is an open insult to the gallant commander of the Veteran Zouaves, who has never been known heretofore to quail before a foe, or hire a substitute whenever there was an opportunity to appear on the field of battle, oratorical or otherwise. A challenge to the editor of the Plainfield paper is now in order from the general, and Silas Dewey may be expected to demand the insertion of a real estate "ad" to make up for the slur on the family name.—Newark Evening News.

We will accept a challenge from the General provided he does not want to use the headline type of the Elizabeth Leader as his weapon.

ROBIN'S FRIENDS RALLY.

A Hearing to be Given Before the Legislative Committee.

Senator Minch, chairman of the Senate committee, and Assemblyman Gibbs, of the House committee, after a conference on the matter Tuesday, decided that a joint conference would be the most expeditious way of disposing of the large number of bills dealing with fish and game matters that have been introduced in both houses during the present session. The joint hearing will afford an opportunity for the friends and enemies of the robin to come forward and air their views as to the best way to rid the farmer and fruit grower of this bird, which he has long complained of as being one of the most destructive of the feathered tribe. Next Monday's hearing will take place in one of the house committee rooms at the State House.

Failed to Remove Dead Cat.

A large cat died on East Fifth street a week ago and still reposes in the street gutter where it expired. Theodore Glazer, who has charge of removing dead animals, was notified by the police several days ago but has failed to act. Unless tabby is planted within a reasonable time, a formal complaint will probably be lodged with the Board of Health.

SNAP SHOTS.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

According to statistics there are now three hundred Hebrew families in Plainfield, and their influence in the business, religious and social life Plainfield is noteworthy.

J. H. Wightman, of Newark, a veteran of the Twelfth Regiment, New York volunteers, now takes part in the dispute between General J. Madison Drake, of Elizabeth and members of Aaron Wilkes Post, Grand Army of the Republic, of Trenton, in regard to the claim made by each that they have the first union flag planted on Virginia soil during the war of the Rebellion.

Mr. Wightman says that his regiment was the first regiment to enter Virginia during the war and therefore the color bearer of that regiment planted the first northern flag in the "sacred soil." He added: "I do not want to detract from the patriotism, gallantry or heroism of any of the New Jersey troops, but in the interests of true history an investigation ought to be made before Governor Murphy accepts, on behalf of the State, either flag offered as the first flag to be planted on Virginia soil. The Twelfth Regiment, then in command of the late General Butterfield, advanced into Virginia on May 24, 1861. Colonel Henry W. Ryder, now living at 177 Broad street, Newark, was in command of the advanced guard of the regiment. Either one of the flags in dispute may have been first borne by a New Jersey regiment to enter Virginia, but it was not the first Union flag to be unfurled in that State."

AMUSEMENTS.

Souvenir night at the Majestic Theatre will be Monday, Feb. 15, the occasion of the one hundred and fiftieth performance and there will be extra matinees on Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays. Bessie Wynn, a principal in "Babes in Toyland," has designed a bracelet in which she carries a powder buff and a small purse. Besides being ornamental to her beautiful arm it is extremely useful precluding the usual worry women have in finding a place to carry powder for their nose.

When "The County Chairman" was produced at Wallack's Theatre, New York, with its quaint story of village life in the Middle West, the public had grown tired of risque French farces, musical comedies, society dramas and emotional stories of the woman with a past, and was ready to take up with avidity this thoroughly wholesome and otherwise delightful work. George Ade's comedy has met with a degree of success not recorded in favor of any other play this year. It has indeed served to pack the theatre every night with audiences whose peals of laughter can be heard across the street.

Ricobono's Morses, who were the stars of the Victoria Theatre Roof Garden last summer will be presented as the headliner at Mr. Proctor's Newark Theatre the coming week. Other artists comprising the interesting programme will be Adolph Zink, the clever Lilliputian comedian; Cressy and Dayne, in their newest sketch; Ward and Curtin, in a clever travestry skit; Kelly and Reno, comedy acrobats; Cherry and Bates, comedy cyclists; Princess Chinquilla and company, in an Indian musical novelty; A. Coleman, imitator, and the kalatechnoscope with a series of new films.

In "The Secret of Polichinelle" at the Madison Square Theatre, James K. Hackett has a play which has scored the bull's eye. The play is by Pierre Wolff, admirably adapted by Miss Mildred Aldrich, and is by all odds the most tender, witty and delightful little comedy that the town has seen in years. A play so sweet and fragrant as this restore's one's failing faith in the modern playwright. Already it is being played in six different languages in Europe, and in each has scored a triumphant success. The reason is simple enough. The play is close to nature and so human that it draws forth both tears and laughter at the same time. In some respects the cast which Mr. Hackett has got together at the Madison Square is superior to the French original.

Walter Dennis, of Watchung avenue, is visiting his grandparents at Bloomsbury.

Miss Sarah Hopewell, of East Second street, has been visiting Mrs. M. F. Chittenden and Miss Mildred Cathers, of Flemington.

Gashed His Thumb.

William Brokaw, an employe of the firm of S. Schener & Son, almost severed his thumb from his hand, yesterday, while at work chipping some beef. He lost considerable blood before the artery was bound.

—While unloading a bale of hay from a wagon, a few days ago, Peter Bowers, an employe of Henry Nischwitz, ran a large piece of wire in one of his fingers. He is compelled to carry the hand in a sling.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Feb. 7: "The Universal and Personal Christ."—John iii, 14-21.

This passage is the very heart of the gospel and the foundation fact of human redemption.

Salvation is in Jesus Christ.

Many precious truths of spiritual life have been revealed to different ones in various ways in the ages past. Slowly men have come up through ignorance and error into increasing light of the real nature of God and the relations of men to Him and to one another. An Abraham, a Moses, Elijah, Amos, Hosea, Isaiah, Jeremiah and many another in Israel have felt a divine uplift and illumination of soul and have spoken out as best they could the thought and impulse within them. Nor should we fail to recognize the searchings of devout minds outside Israel and the truth revealed to them.

But when all has been gathered how far short it falls of our cravings and needs! How uncertain the best appears and how inadequate all are to the task of bringing us to God in fullness of peace and blessedness. At some point each fails. No one proves himself the adequate leader of men. The more we search and know the story of mankind the more do we become impressed with the fact of universal ignorance of the Divine nature and will and the true mode to reach Him and satisfy the deepest needs of our own nature.

Herein appears the real greatness of Jesus Christ. Put the simple story of His life into any language and give it to any people in any state of civilization, and by its own inherent power it produces conviction and effects a transformation in views and actions. This is equally true of the savage and the most cultured of men. The lifting up of Christ, as this may well be called, brings such new conceptions of life and the awakening of hopes before unthought that the very motives and intentions change.

The notion of a Creator who caused all things to be as they are is in some sort or other common to all who rise above the bestial nature into the exercise of rational thought. That there is One who rules all and has control of destiny seems to be the common idea of men everywhere. But that this Over-power is kind is not the common view of men at large in all ages. More frequently He has seemed the cruel, vengeful, lustful one who was an exaggeration of the worst qualities of human nature. Such a One was to be feared. He could not be loved.

Jesus has changed all this. He declared plainly, beyond all possibility of mistaking His meaning, that God was mercifully disposed toward men. Pure and good and blessed Himself, He had special care and regard for men, as a true father seeks the benefit of his children.

No other one who has ever walked this earth and lived this earth life ever conceived of God in such manner. True, some have had glimpses and dim intimations of such truth, but in Jesus it is full orbed in certainty and declared with full authority of knowledge. God appears different since the Christ has spoken. The truth has a self evidencing power and carries conviction to the earnest, seeking soul. It satisfies.

Still more, Jesus has tested this view in His own life and has shown it to be workable, and, above all others, the sanest and most admirable. Some theories appear consistent and look well as speculations, but fail in practice. This plan of Jesus Christ's tests out the best of any the world has ever seen. It produced in Him the first and only satisfactory man the race has ever produced.

Best of all, He calls to every one of the race to be like Him. He promises the light to direct, the power to accomplish God's purpose in every individual. He becomes personal helper, friend, Saviour, to every one who believes and trusts and follows Him.

A Mere Calculation.

With too many religion is simply a wise, prudential feeling, grounded on mere calculation; a matter of expediency and utility, whereby some smaller quantum of earthly enjoyment may be exchanged for a far larger quantum of celestial enjoyment, or a something that sanctifies the otherwise unsanctifiable in life and renders evil good. It is not the work that makes the workman holy, but the workman's heart that execrates the useless, the frivolous, the sinful vocations and consecrates the useful toil and makes all he does to be serving the Lord Christ.—Pennsylvania Methodist.

Shining For God.

Communion with God has the effect of making us joyous. The Lord does not like to see any of His disciples looking sad. When men seek to entice you to forego communion with God and to follow the world with them let your face shine with the brightness that comes from your communion with the Master, and they will cease to trouble you. Christians can sometimes do more by shining for God than by speaking for Him.—Andrew A. Bonar.

Grace and Glory.

There is not such a great difference between grace and glory after all. Grace is glory begun, and glory is grace perfected. It will not come hard to people that are serving God down here to do it when they go up yonder. They will change places, but they won't change employments.—D. L. Moody.

Not the Courage of Faith.

Following God blindfolded is not the courage of faith, but the recklessness of credulity. A man of faith finds strength to go through hard places not by shutting his eyes, but by keeping them open; not by remaining ignorant of God's ways, but by watching Him in all His ways.—Sunday School Times.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 14—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—What will real friendship do?—I Sam. xx. 1-23.

The Bible has been criticised by a certain class of writers on the ground that it has practically nothing to say upon the subject of friendship, a most important human relationship. Plato, Bacon, Emerson and other great writers have eulogized friendship, say the critics, but not the Bible. It has emphasized the duties of men to God, of husbands to wives and vice versa, of parents to children and children to parents, it is said, but is silent upon the subject of friendship. But this charge, like all the others against the Bible, is untrue. The Bible has much to say upon this important subject and has given us illustrations of it that surpass those found in what we call secular history. If one should collect the Scriptural references to friendship, especially in the writings of Solomon and of Christ, he would find that the Bible is not wanting in something to say upon this subject. And what in history surpasses the friendship of Christ and His disciples and of David and Jonathan?

The friendship of David and Jonathan was one of the most beautiful illustrations of friendship that the world has ever seen. Saul, the father of Jonathan, was king of Israel, and Jonathan should have succeeded his father upon the throne of Israel. But this he knew was not to be, and, although he knew that David was to have what he should have had, yet his friendship for David never faltered, but in covenant and in deed was ever manifested. What eulogy more beautiful than that of David when he said after the death of Jonathan: "I am distressed for thee, my brother Jonathan. Very pleasant hast thou been unto me. Thy love to me was wonderful, passing the love of women."

From the friendship of David and Jonathan we may learn:

1. Friendship is confiding. David, fearing that Saul was seeking his life, came to Jonathan and freely told him of all his fears. Real friends confide in each other. "No receipt," says Bacon, "opens the heart but a true friend, to whom you may impart griefs, joys, fears, hopes, suspicions, counsel and whatsoever lieth upon the heart to oppress it in a kind of civil shrift or confession. It redoubles joys and cutteth griefs in halves."

2. Friendship is reproving. When David declared that Saul sought his life, Jonathan rebuked him, even saying directly, "It is not so." But this did not break their friendship. Real friends may reprove each other. "Faithful are the wounds of a friend," saith the wise man. And who can doubt it? He who doubts the reproof of a friend doubts his friendship, for a prerogative of friendship—real friendship—is the privilege of reproving for the good of his friend.

3. Friendship is helpful. Though Jonathan doubted David's fears, yet he said, "Whatsoever thy soul desireth I will even do it for thee." And he did what David desired him to do. Friends help each other in the hour of need. "A friend in need is a friend indeed."

4. Friendship is lasting. Jonathan was true to his friendship for David until the end of his life, and when Jonathan had passed away David cried in sorrow, "I am distressed for thee, my brother Jonathan!"

The friend of friends, the one above all others, the "friend that sticketh closer than a brother," is the Lord Jesus Christ. "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." This Christ has done for us. Human friendships are precious and desirable, but nothing else can replace the friendship of Christ.

One there is above all others
Well deserves the name of friend;
His is love beyond all others,
Costly, free and knows no end.

BIBLE READINGS.

I Sam. xviii, 1; II Sam. i, 17-27; Prov. xvii, 17; xviii, 24; xxvii, 6; x, 17; Luke xi, 1-10; xii, 4, 5; John xv, 12-15; Jas. ii, 23; III John 14.

"Baltimore, 1905."

Baltimore has been decided upon as the meeting place for the next international Christian Endeavor convention, to be held July 5 to 10, 1905. The new Fifth regiment armory, fronting on Hoffman street, between Linden and Park avenues, will serve as the convention hall. It was begun in 1901 and has just been completed at a cost of $425,000. It is of stone and one of the largest armories in the United States. Its external dimensions are 366 by 330 feet, and within it has a clear floor space of 60,000 square feet. It will easily seat 20,000 people, and the Endeavorers anticipate filling it to its utmost capacity.

The Way to God.

Do you know the way to God so well that you can show it to some one else and send him away rejoicing? Philip did. What else in life is so well worth while as showing a wanderer God's road?—M. D. Babcock.

Pen Points.

Don't do for the glory of doing, but for the glory of Christ.

Our Christian Endeavor work should not be performed in the spirit of the hireling. We must have the sense of responsibility that comes with shepherdship.

For you there can be no more important committee in the society than the one you are on.

Better not hold a committee meeting than to fail to open it with prayer.

The church world is too full of "followers." Its crying need is for leaders, and Christian Endeavor seeks to prove itself a school for their development.—John R. Clements in Christian Endeavor World.

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

A WOMAN FARMER.

She Has Cultivated Her Acres at Vineland Forty Years.

He would be called a crank in our time, the large brained, great hearted man, Charles K. Landis, founder of Vineland, N. J. Probably he and his pioneers in forming a model town were called cranks in 1861, but at any rate their queer notions resulted in the upbuilding of the most beautiful and industrially productive town in this country. Mr. Landis bought a tract forty-eight miles square and divided it into farm plots of from five to twenty-five acres. He let it be known that he would sell these plots to intelligent, moral people who wanted homes combining rural and urban advantages. He desired to draw to his model home town persons of clean lives who had ideals they desired to work out in peace and freedom, rendering account through honest labor for all they received.

Mr. Landis was fortunate in bringing to Vineland individuals of ideals like himself. Men and women, strong, noble souled, who saw through the humbug of common life and desired to escape it, came to him. Petty, pitiful, conforming common life held no resting place for them. It ridiculed them, persecuted them even. They gathered themselves together and fled to Vineland, the place of refuge for persons who thought for themselves.

In nearly every case those who loved freedom found there was something, there was much, in their ideals. The ideal of combined city-country existence wrought itself into manifestation in Vineland. Today it is a forty-eight mile square tract of blooming, fruitful orchard and garden, and in the whole farm city no intoxicating liquors are or ever have been sold.

Among the pioneer women of beautiful Vineland was Miss Susan Fowler. She was not strong in health, and the world of petty conventionality forced upon her much that she would fain be rid of. One of the things was long, heavy skirts. She yearned for the free use of her lower limbs, the lightness and freedom that release from petticoats gives. Miss Fowler sped to Vineland and clad herself in bloomers. None said her nay, none even ridiculed her. Were they not all in one way or another prisoned souls, searching for freedom? A crank may not ridicule another crank, may he?

Miss Fowler took a fruit and vegetable farm and began the productive tilling of it. She wore her knickers in peace and comfort, and does so still, and raised great quantities of Vineland's famous product—sweet potatoes. She planted a peach and apple orchard and in due time ate the fruit thereof and also marketed much of it. She did and does to this day with her own hands all the work, light and heavy, upon that patch of ground, and in the doing of it health, nature's royalest gift to living creatures, came back to her. In the eyes of the woman whose skirt is a street sweeper Miss Fowler's bloomers are not pretty. But beauty of attire is a matter of taste, and that dress is handsomest which is best adapted to the wearer's use. In her convenient bloomers Miss Fowler, forty years ago, became very handy at trimming fruit trees, digging potatoes, loading her fruits and vegetables in a wagon, mounting its seat and driving to market, independent as a boy.

Yet has the Vineland woman farmer not spent all her time in the grinding toil supposed to be the working agriculturist's lot. Vineland soil is fertile, and Miss Fowler has farmed it intelligently. She has had especial objection to having "a man around" even to work for her. It is said the one anxiety of her life, now at the age of eighty, is that she will decline physically so as to be unable to do all the farm work herself, and at the close of her long and independent career at last be obliged to "have a man around." If this would distress her let us hope she will be spared it.

Generous crops have rewarded Miss Fowler's up to date farming, and she has found time to read and think, also to write. She has published several books. Through the more than forty years of her lone farm life Miss Fowler has been very good company for herself. Removed from the poultry-like cackling and chatter of a world she left nearly half a century ago, Susan Fowler has experienced, like Swedenborg and the prophets, the noble joy of thinking out her world problems undisturbed. She is naturally deeply interested in woman questions. She says it is her mission to "sow thought seeds." Naturally, too, she finds that "the world thinks too much of dress and too little of the real life."

DORA BELLE DENISON.

TRAINS BLOCKED BY SNOW.

Erie Railroad Had to Dig Out Its Passenger Coaches.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 4.—The Lake Erie and Western, the Logansport division of the Vandalia, the Michigan division of the Big Four and other railroads in northern Indiana have for twenty-four hours been blockaded by deep snowdrifts in cuts, and passengers have had some trying experiences on stranded trains. On the Lake Erie and Western near Peru one train was snowbound for nine hours until fifty laborers and many of the passengers dug it out.

Five engines failed to break a blockade on the Vandalia near Cutler, and after the snowbound passenger train was released by section men two engines were required to take the train to Frankfort. Two other trains became stranded at the same point, two engines taking one of them north and three pulling the other train south.

Trains on the Michigan division of the Big Four from Indianapolis have not run farther north than Elkhart. Drifts as high as the coaches have been encountered at some points on this road.

Similar conditions prevail on the Michigan division of the Lake Shore road. Passengers have had to abandon some of the stranded trains on the northern roads and seek shelter and food at farmhouses or engage farmers to take them to nearby points with sleds. Many trains have been ten or twelve hours late.

Snow Blockade In Michigan.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 4.—With a renewal of the snow blockade, the question of fuel and provisions has grown more serious than ever in the Thumb district of Michigan, or the region lying between Saginaw bay and the lower end of Lake Huron. Harbor Beach has had only one train since Jan. 16. The Pere Marquette line between Saginaw and Port Huron was also blocked, the passenger train that left Saginaw at 5:50 p. m. having advanced no farther than Marlette at a late hour. The Michigan Central had to abandon two trains on its Bay City division, but is having less difficulty on its main lines. Trains from Chicago have arrived nearly on time, but from the east the Michigan Central trains are from half an hour to two hours late.

Train Snowbound All Night.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Feb. 4.—Lake Erie and Western passenger train No. 18, due here at 10:25 last night, arrived here over twelve hours late, having been snowbound near Sheldon, twelve miles north of here, all night. One hundred passengers aboard the train were compelled to spend the night in the cars. No trains have been running on the Lake Shore road between this city and Jackson, Mich., since noon Tuesday. High winds have drifted the snow badly throughout this section of the country.

GERMANS VICTORIOUS.

Garrison of Windhoek and Okahandja Relieved.

BERLIN, Feb. 4.—The following cablegram has been received from Swakopmund, German Southwest Africa, from the commander of the German gunboat Habicht:

"The garrisons at Windhoek and Okahandja have been relieved by Frankes' company, with two guns. The relief of Okahandja occurred on Emperor William's birthday and was without losses.

"The next day there occurred a terrific battle between the gallant little German force and the enemy, who numbered thousands. The engagement lasted for six hours and ended with the storming of the main camp of the enemy, situated on Kaiser Wilhelm mountain. Four Germans were wounded.

"After this defeat the enemy withdrew to the Otjisangati hills, but we succeeded in getting away all the stolen cattle. The enemy devastated all the farms and the railroad stations in the Windhoek and Okahandja districts, a portion of Karibib and the barracks of the mountain battery at Johann Albrecht's heights.

"The losses so far are known to be forty-four settlers, including women and children, killed, and in most cases the bodies were mutilated. The military losses amount to twenty-six, and there have been fifty other fatalities. It is probable that Gobadis has been besieged since Jan. 16. The force has marched to the relief of Omaruru. Colonel Leutwein, governor of German Southwest Africa, is expected here by steamer tomorrow. Lieutenant Winkler has arrived here with supports from the steamer Ernst Woermann."

The news of the victory has been circulated here in extra editions of the papers and causes universal rejoicing.

Troops Coming Home From Cuba.

HAVANA, Feb. 4. — The United States army transport Sumner has arrived here from Santiago with the Seventeenth and Nineteenth batteries of artillery on board. The artillerymen here embarked on the Sumner and sailed for home. Prior to their departure from their barracks at Cabana fortress the soldiers were visited by President Palma, who made them an address.

Gas Burned One Fatally.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 4.—Mark Grayson was so badly burned that he cannot recover and Alex Brady and John Greer were seriously burned about the face and body in a gas explosion at the Sterling Glass works.

Mrs. Groff Burned to Death.

AUBURN, N. Y., Feb. 4.—Mrs. Maurice Groff was burned to death in some unknown manner here in her home in West street during the absence of the rest of the family, who found her body on their return.

BRYAN IN KENTUCKY.

Memorial Services In Honor of Goebel at Frankfort.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 4.—William Jennings Bryan spoke here by invitation of the Kentucky legislature to a crowd that filled the Capital theater. Both bodies of the general assembly adjourned and held memorial services in honor of the late Governor William Goebel in the hall of the house of representatives. Mr. Bryan and several members of the legislature made eulogistic addresses, and an original poem was red. Religious services at the grave were conducted by Dr. Arnold.

Mr. Bryan was introduced by Governor Beckham, who in presenting him said that, though twice defeated, he was the best loved citizen in public life. Before Mr. Bryan began speaking the lights were turned out for an instant, and as they returned a life size picture of William Goebel came into view.

Referring to the late Governor Goebel, Mr. Bryan said his assassination was encompassed by corporate influences that had determined he should never be governor. He said the man who wrote to Goebel that he should never be governor is alive now, and his name is mentioned in connection with the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee.

Mr. Bryan devoted some time to Grover Cleveland, saying that he believed President McKinley's indictment of Mr. Cleveland, in which Mr. Cleveland was charged with making money the master of man, was correctly drawn.

Mr. Bryan said he did not want a reorganization of the Democratic party because he did not want the party to take the chance of falling into the hands of the money power. Commercialism in politics, he declared, was now the greatest menace to the country. He said he had heard of one precinct in Delaware where all the votes were bought, and one auctioned off brought $50.

He said the money question was no more dead now than it was in 1896 and discussed at length trusts and monopolies, which, he said, were being fostered under the Republican policy. He also criticised President Roosevelt's policy toward Cuba and on the Panama question.

WOOD CLAIM WON.

Poorlands, a Good Jumper, Won Free Hurdle Handicap.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 4.—A two-year-old race at a half mile was one of the features of Ascot. Griffin's Wood Claim, at even money, won handily from Peggy Mine, with Capitanza third. The time, 49 seconds, is fast for the track. Poorlands proved that he is one of the most consistent jumpers here by winning the free hurdle handicap at a mile and a quarter, with 168 pounds up, in 2:18. Results:

First Race—Carnival won, Flea second, Turtle third.

Second Race—Wood Claim won, Peggy Mine second, Capitanza third.

Third Race—Poorlands won, Martin Brady second, Phil Archibald third.

Fourth Race—Madam Bishop won, Hilary second, Geheimniss third.

Fifth Race—Paul Whaley won. Glen Nevis second C. B. Campbell third.

Sixth Race—Ultruda won, Pilot second, Schwarzwald third.

National Billiard Tourney.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—J. De Mun Smith of St. Louis surprised many of the local billiard players by his defeat of Edward W. Gardner of Passaic, N. J., in the fourth game of the national amateur billiard championship tournament, which was played at the Liederkranz club here, by a score of 300 to 282. The western player took the lead in the fifth inning and held it to the end, although Gardner pressed him closely toward the finish. When Smith had only two to make to win at the end of the forty-second inning, Gardner added a neat bunch of 15 to his score, and Smith could only make 1. Then Gardner settled down for a splendid run of 64, but slipped up on an easy shot, leaving the balls in perfect position for the St. Louis man to score the necessary shot to win.

DOWN THIRTY FEET

Intercolonial Express Plunged Into the Shubenacadie.

TWO DEAD, THIRTY-FIVE INJURED

Halifax Flier Derailed by Defect In Car Truck—One Coach Completely Ripped Open by Collision With a Tree.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 4.—One dead, three fatally and twenty-five seriously injured is the revised casualty list in the wreck of the Intercolonial express train, the five cars of which left the rails at Hunters Crossing, forty miles west of this city, and plunged down a thirty foot embankment into the Shubenacadie river. Every one of the thirty passengers suffered more or less serious injuries, as did the ten members of the train crew.

Dead: Mrs. John Glassey, Halifax.

Fatally injured: Conductor Robert Duncan, Halifax; Baggagemaster J. E. Blair, Halifax, and an Armenian peddler, name not known. Many others are most seriously injured.

The relief train, bearing the body of Mrs. Glassey and those most seriously injured, has reached here from the scene of the wreck, and the injured were removed to the hospital.

The train, consisting of a locomotive, postal car, baggage car, two day coaches and a Pullman car, was bound from this city for Montreal and Boston and traveling forty miles an hour when the accident occurred.

As the curve at Hunters Crossing was reached Engineer Ross felt a jolt and, looking back, saw the baggage car swerve from the rails, followed by the coaches and the mail car. The five cars went over the embankment and rolled down into the river, which skirts the roadbed at this point.

The Pullman turned over twice. One of the coaches struck a tree and was ripped open from end to end. The other cars landed bottom up in the water, which fortunately was less than two feet deep.

Mrs. Glassey was hurled across one of the day coaches and instantly killed, her skull being crushed. Conductor Duncan, who was in the baggage car, was buried under a pile of trunks. His head was crushed, his legs broken and his body cut and bruised. Baggagemaster Blair had his scalp torn off and is bleeding to death. The Armenian peddler, who was riding in one of the day coaches, had nearly every bone in his body broken. Car Inspector Hudd was pinned beneath the wreckage and only released with the aid of jackscrews an hour after the accident. Postal Clerk E. A. Hartling escaped with painful bruises. Of the others who are seriously injured many had broken limbs, but it is believed that none but the three mentioned as fatally injured will die.

The accident is supposed to have resulted from some defect in the wheels of the truck of the car which first left the track. A broken rail was at first thought to have wrecked the train, but investigation showed that this was not the case. The overturned cars carried down the telegraph wires, and communication between Hunters Crossing and this city was not re-established for several hours. Traffic on the road was resumed at a late hour.

Shelton Confessed Murder.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Feb. 4.—A special from Bakersville, N. C., says that Lee Shelton of Madison county, who has been jailed there on the charge of killing and robbing William Shell, has admitted his guilt. There was much excitement over the arrest, and it was feared that the prisoner would not reach jail alive, but no actual attempt at lynching was made. Shell, who had about $100 on his person, was seen last at Montezuma, N. C., in company with Shelton. A few days later his dead body was found with eight bullet holes in it. Shelton claims that he killed Shell because he was afraid of him. No money was found on the dead man's body.

Miners Will Not Submit.

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 4.—The central Pennsylvania coal miners have heard with apprehension the news of a disagreement at Indianapolis. At the joint convention of operators and miners of this district to be held here to fix the wage rate for the ensuing year the miners propose to resist every endeavor made to cut wages. They declare they will strike before submitting to any reduction. The operators, however, believe the scale can be settled without trouble.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

QUESTIONS OF THE DAY DISCUSSED BY THE PRESS.

Societies at Odds.

The Audubon Society of the State of New Jersey and the Plainfield Audubon Society are of two different opinions on the robin question, though the latter is supposed to be a local chapter of the former. The Plainfield society recently adopted a preamble and resolution to the effect that as fruit growers had suffered from the depredations of robins, therefore a bill allowing the killing of these birds in the act of eating cherries and other cultivated fruits would be acceptable. Just why any society bearing the name of Audubon should put itself on record in favor of any such a measure is a mystery. It has not only taken the State by surprise, but has also led to the incorrect impression that the State society favors the slaughter of these birds. So far from this being the case the Audubon Society of New Jersey has circulated remonstrances against any bill allowing the slaughter at any time of robins, catbirds, flickers and doves, and has received hundreds, if not thousands, of signatures thereto. These remonstances will be sent to the Legislature as an evidence of popular sentiment in this matter. The Plainfield chapter of the Audubon Society certainly did not consult the parent organization before it adopted the slaughter resolution.—Newark Evening News.

Everything will be finely illustrated, a great deal of it in colors. Next Sunday's World, magazine section.

IMPROVEMENTS ON TROLLEY PROMISED

Car Barn to be a Repair Shop and No Flat Wheel Cars to be Used in Service.

P. S. C. AGENT'S TALK

CONDUCTORS MUST STOP FOR PERSONS WAITING FOR A CAR.

No Bond Required of Conductor and No Photographs to be Taken—Starters to be Reinstated—The New Cars.

A representative of the Public Service Corporation was seen last night while he was in this city and to a Daily Press reporter he made a statementconcerning the change in the management of the local trolley system under the direction of Colonel Hine. The changes affect the employes of the local lines, the condition of the cars, the abolition of flat wheels and cleaner cars. The entire system will be operated on an entirely different plan.

Some of the unpopular rules governing the employment and the conduct of the employes will be abolished. No photographs will be taken of candidates for employment as conductors or motormen. No bond will be required of conductors. Inspectors and starters will be reinstated where it is found to be practicable and men will not be discharged indiscriminately. Preference will be given to Jersey residents in selecting new men.

Each car barn will be a repair shop and repository combined. This will be done so that any car becoming disabled on one of the city routes can be taken to a barn at once. Flat wheels will be barred by order of the company.

A definite schedule will be maintained. Passing persons waiting for a car on a corner will be punishable with a fine. Notices to this effect have been posted in the local car barns.

Of the 150 new cars which have been ordered fifty have been put in service in the Paterson-Newark line and others have been placed on other suburban lines. All the new cars are to be fitted with a system of hot water heating.

ABLE-BODIED MEN WANTED

THEY CAN WEAR BLUE COATS AND CARRY BILLIES IF THEY PASS.

Two intelligent, able-bodied men, who have an idea that they would like to enter the police business will find an excellent opening by applying to Chief Kiely. With Roundsman Mattox and Patrolman McCue on the sick list, the police force is short handed and its members working overtime. Most of them have been obliged to work extra hours for several weeks past, and "days off" have been a thing of dreams.

With the service of two extra men secured, it is hoped that it will be possible to carry into effect the decree of the Police Board that each member of the force shall have a regular day off. At present sixteen men are in active service and the arrangement with two more men working will be for each man to have a day off once in eighteen days.

The condition of Roundsman Mattox, who has been sick since November 29, is not greatly improved.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Democratic county commitee meeting appointed for Friday, February 5, will be postponed owing to the fact that February 12, Lincoln's birthday, is a holiday. It will be held the following Friday, February 19. It is not likely that the local city committee will meet until after the county committee meeting.

William B. Gourley has resigned as the chairman of the Democratic State Committee. John Moody, the chairman of the Union County Committee, is talked of as the successor to Democracy's rainbow artist, and it is asserted Mr. Moody is being put forward by the Bryan-Hearst element. The resignation of Mr. Gourley caused no surprise, and it is only probable that he forstalled a movement to force him out by voluntarily withdrawing. There is, however, much interest in the party throughout the State, in the matter of the selection of a new leader, for upon the choice of Mr. Gourley's successor probably depends the instruction of Jersey's delegates to the national convention at St. Louis next July.—Elizabeth Journal.

Jersey's Good Roads.

Four States, New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Connecticut, have in a little more than ten years spent about $10,000,000 for building good roads. Over $6,000,000 has been added to this sum by the counties and towns where the roads have been constructed. New Jersey leads in the number of miles of good roads built and contracted for, having to its credit 1,000 miles. New York is next, with 484 miles of roads, Massachusetts 480, and Connecticut 454.—Orange Journal.

To Sue P. S. C.

A man has been stationed for several days past at Walnut and Elm streets, in Westfield, making note of all trolley cars that did not come to a stop. It is given out that the town intends to bring suit for $30 for each violation of the ordinance. As four cars an hour pass the corner, and the cars seldom stop, they are piling up against the company a bill of about $60 per hour, and as the cars run eighteen out of the twenty-four hours, allowing for occasional stops, the anticipated income will amount to $1,000 per day.

Typos Elect Officers.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Plainfield Typographical Union, No. 339, last night, the following officers were elected: President, J. Kermode; vice president, J. Brennan; secretary-treasurer, L. W. Niles. The officers will be installed at the next regular meeting, March 2. The president and secretary-treasurer succeed themselves. One candidate was admitted to membership.

Four More Dwellings.

Tony Marcon is planning to build four houses on East Front street, corner of Farragut road. Alexander Kane will furnish the second-hand lumber for four three-room houses. Mr. Marcon was recently left a considerable sum of money by relatives who died in Italy. He is employed by Mr. Kane and has been engaged in buying property in Plainfield for Italians.

To Settle Netherwood Hotel Affairs.

The glassware, crockery, groceries and other property at the Hotel Netherwood will be sold at auction next Saturday, in execution of judgment in forty-seven attachment cases of employes of the hotel last summer. Judgment was given by Justice Huff against Thomas L. Brown, proprietor and manager of the hotel.

Mrs. Solomon Dead.

WESTFIELD'S VICTORY OVER CRANFORD CASINO

The Leaders Take All Three Games in a Daily Press Bowling League Series.

CRANFORD QUITE WEAK

WESTFIELD HAS WON TWENTY-FOUR GAMES TO DATE.

Winning Team Makes a 845 in Final Contest—Roselle Casino Still in Second Place and Cranford in Last Place.

The Westfield Club bowling team took the Cranford Casino team into camp at Westfield, last night, defeating the visitors in the entire series in The Daily Press Bowling League tournament. One thing that was responsible for the defeat of the Cranford team was the fact that they missed many spares and they were otherwise weak. While Westfield did not roll up to its standard for the season, the work was of sufficient strength to capture the series with comparative ease.

The first game Westfield took by a score of 799 to 630, the second by a score of 790 to 775 and the last game by a score of 845 to 730. This victory gives Westfield a substantial lead with twenty-four wins and only four games lost.

This is the detailed score of last night's games:

BOYS' DEPARTMENT FAIR OPENS AT Y. M. C. A.

Features of the Bazaar, Being Conducted by Women's Auxiliary of Association.

PRETTY DECORATIONS

PROCEEDS TO BE USED IN FURNISHING THE ROOMS.

Mrs. Joseph D. Phillips, Chairman of General Committee—The Fancy Table an Attraction—Many Patronize the Fish Pond.

To say that the fair for the benefit of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. was very much of a success yesterday afternoon and last night is to express but faintly the amount of pleasure it afforded the steady stream of visitors who kept the attendants at the booths busy from 3 until 10. Of the financial profit of the undertaking there was no doubt. There were ready purchasers for all the pretty things displayed and those at the refreshment tables had their hands full.

The fair was given by the committee on boys work of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., assisted by members of the boys' department. Its purpose was to buy games and fit up the rooms in the boys' department. Mrs. Joseph D. Phillips was chairman of the committee in charge and she had the following able helpers: Miss S. Lena Bass, Miss Ida Spicer, Miss Edith Clark, Mrs. John Valiant, Mrs. Anna Most, Miss Genevieve Daniel, Mrs. John B. Probasco, Mrs. W. H. Freeman, Miss Mabel Maxson, Mrs. Harold Tomlinson, Miss Elizabeth Cahoone, Mrs. E. Arthur Janke, Miss Florence Serrell, Mrs. Agnes Atwood.

The reception room, office hall and small hall on the second floor of the Y. M. C. A. building were prettily arranged for the day. The small hall was decorated with flags, and the tables were covered with cut flowers and greens. In the office hall was located the "fishing pond" with its mysteries carefully enclosed, and offering its charms at five and ten cents "a grab." In the reception room, the delights of the fancy table were sheltered beneath a yellow and white canopy, and the cake table, draped with a Swedish flag, looked especially attractive.

At the fancy table a big variety of pretty things was disposed of by Miss S. Lena Bass, Miss Edith Clark, Miss Ida Spicer, Miss Daniel and Miss Mabel Maxson. Cake was dispensed by Mrs. B. B. Probasco, Mrs. W. H. Freeman, Miss May Shreve, Mrs. H. Y. Flanders and Mrs. Harold Tomlinson. Mrs. John Valiant, Mrs. Anna Most and Miss Valiant found the candy at their table very much in demand, and Miss Elizabeth Cahoone and Miss Jessie Stevens were no less successful with the lemonade

At the fish pond, Miss Florence Serrell, Miss Frances W. Cahoone and Miss Katharine Berry were in charge, their number being augmented in the evening by Dr. Norman H. Probasco and J. D. Phillips, whose masterly presentation of attractiveness of their wares tempted many to purchase. At a corner of the fancy table was a smaller table devoted to masculine interests. This was presided over by Miss Genevieve Daniel. In charge of the sale of hot chocolate, ice cream and cake, was Mrs. E. A. Janke, assisted by Mrs. A. P. Tovell.

The waitresses were Miss Josephine Serrell, Miss Maysie Day, Miss Marguerite Serrell, Miss Gladys Burt, Miss Jean Douglass. The members of the boys' department who helped in decorating and making the arrangements were Weston Gavett, William Heath, Fred Smith, Herbert Grant and Russell Morris. Stuart Freeman took tickets.

Bachelors' Club.

The Bachelors' Club was entertained last night by Mr. and Mrs. George Mantz at their home in East Fifth street. The evening was spent in playing games, listening to music and in literary readings and recitations. Mr. Mantz was president of the club until his marriage. Among those present were Harry F. Kingsley, who succeeded Mr. Mantz as president; J. Henry Crane, Berthold Schreiner, Allen K. Beals, and guests from out of town.

PARK AND TROLLEY DISCUSSED BY BOARD

Mayor Smalley Explained His Ideas for Public Park Before Board of Trade.

TROLLEY IMPROVEMENT

LINE ON MADISON AVENUE CONNECTING FRONT ST. AND ARLINGTON AVE.

Former Mayor Gilbert's Offer to Make Up Deficiency From Dinner Declined—Facts About Plainfield in New Directory.

In favor of the proposed combined park for the city and borough, the Board of Trade expressed itself last night. Mayor Newton B. Smalley addressed the members on the subject and as a result of his request for action a committee of five was appointed on motion of Secretary Frank H. Smith to investigate the matter and if deemed advisable urged immediate action upon the City Common Council.

Mayor Smalley said that the park would improve the part of the borough at its Watchung avenue entrance most in need of improvement. In answer to a query he said that much of the land for the purpose might have to be taken by condemnation proceedings. He proposed the building of an island in the center of the lake to contain a band pavilion for the giving of band concerts for which city and borough should share expenses. Harry C. Runyon spoke of the necessity for quick action and said that the members of the committee appointed should learn the property values concerned in the proposition and ascertain the sentiments of tax-payers with regard to it.

President Woolston, of the Board, appointed W. A. Coddington, J. T. Vail, H. C. Runyon, of Plainfield, and Herman Schwed and N. B. Smalley, of the borough, as the members of the investigating committee.

In the course of his remarks on the park proposal, Mayor Smalley incidentally mentioned the fact that it was proposed to widen Somerset street this spring and provide it with storm sewers, the improvements to take place between Somerset street and Johnston's drive.

There were seventeen members of the Board present, an unusually large representation.

President Woolston brought up the subject of trolley troubles. He said that the local street railway should arrange to hold its cars at the Watchung avenue terminus in time enough to accommodate passengers on Jersey Central trains. He stated that the usual method of the company was to start its cars one or two minutes before the arrival of trains, by this means losing passengers for itself as adding another to its many sins of omission and commission in failing to accommodate. H. C. Runyon was appointed a committee of one to bring the matter before the trolley authorities.

Mr. Runyon reported that he had had several conferences already with Col. Hines, the trolley manager, who was himself a former Plainfielder and determined to bring good service to the city. Mr. Runyon mentioned the fact that through trolleys were now running from Elizabeth to Dunellen, as a result of the efforts of the Board of Trade. He said that the change was greatly appreciated by the people in the West End of the city.

It was further announced by Mr. Runyon that the advisability of combining the Netherwood and Arlington avenue lines had been considered by Col. Hines. The proposition was to have the cars run through the city in such a way as to help avoiding congestion at the Watchung avenue terminus, making something of a loop by running from Netherwood to Watchung avenue to Front street to Madison avenue and thence along the present Arlington avenue route. The plan had been considered by District Manager Collins.

Mr. Runyon announced that he had no report to make for the improved street pavement committee, though he announced that he was in communication with experts in the matter.

A communication was read from Maximilian P. E. Grotzman, who invited the attention of the Board to the fact that he had established a school for nervous children in the Mountain Park Inn building, bringing his establishment there from Washington Heights, New York City.

Secretary Smith reported that in

BURGLAR MAKES HAUL WHILE RECTOR IS AWAY

Rev. W. Montgomery Downey's Home is Entered and Many Valuables Taken.

ENTRANCE BY WINDOW

THE DEED SIMILAR TO ONE COMMITTED AT REV. DR. SCHENCK'S HOUSE.

Eighteenth Burglary in Borough in Short While—No Clue to Perpetrator—Negotiable Papers Are Also Stolen.

Rev. W. Montgomery Downey's residence, the rectory of the Church of the Holy Cross, on Washington avenue, was entered last night by a burglar and a considerable amount of money, jewelry, silverware and valuable papers taken. The burglary was committed while the rector and his wife were attending a supper served at the church between the hours of 6 and 8. The loss was discovered by Mr. Downey at 11 o'clock upon his return from the supper. The burglar is believed to be the same man who entered the home of Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, recently, and who has committed other offenses of the kind in this city and in the borough.

Entrance was secured through a dining room window which was pried up with a "jimmy." The burglar was careful not to leave any of his footprints in the snow. He walked up to the window on the porch and coping of the veranda. The man was evidently frightened away before he completed his task as is shown by a large amount of valuable silverware and money which he left behind. The bureau drawers upstairs and the drawers in the sideboard in the dining room were rifled. Mr. Downey's desk in his study was broken open and its contents scattered about on the floor. The valuable papers, most of which are negotiable, were taken from his desk. Payment has been stopped on all of these.

About twenty minutes before the rector and his wife returned home, Dr. J. H. Carman stepped up on the porch and left a large basket of silverware and other things in the vestibule. He saw a light within and he tried the door. When Mr. Downey returned home the front door was wide open and the front hall was strewn with burnt matches and some candles.

As soon as the loss was discovered Mr. Downey telephoned for Chief Marshal William Campbell. He told Mr. Downey that that made the eighteenth robbery in the borough since the first of the year. Mr. Downey has lost papers which, if they cannot be recovered, will mean that he is minus a large sum of money. The extent of the robber's thefts cannot be estimated at present.

VICTORY SCORED BY THE LIQUOR DEALERS

Plainfield's Influence on the State as Viewed by the Leading Paper of New Jersey.

FAVOR HIGH LICENSE

STATEMENT OF ORGANIZER OF LIQUOR DEALERS' PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.

"If That City, (Plainfield), Should Later Decide in Favor of the Increase the Brewers Would Feel That They Had Lost a Skirmish."

The projected increase of the liquor license fee in Plainfield from $750 to $1,000 has been defeated so far as this year is concerned, but that does not mean that the matter has been defeated for all time. The ordinance raising the rate, which had been passed by the Common Council on two readings, was defeated when it came up for final action by a tie vote, one of the friends and supporters of the higher license being absent. At the next session of the Council the licenses for the ensuing year will be granted under the old rate, but there is a possibility that the ordinance just defeated will be reintroduced and passed with the expectation that it will become effective next year.

The outcome of this movement in Plainfield is of interest in all parts of New Jersey. So important was the matter considered by the State Liquor Dealers' Protective Association that the general organizer of that body was sent to Plainfield to do everything in his power to prevent the increase in the license fee. After the defeat of the proposed ordinance, Organizer Buckridge declared in an interview that its passage would have meant a change in the rate in nearly every city in the State. This may have been an overstatement of the case, and probably was, but there are evidences that the movement in favor of higher license is growing in New Jersey, and that it will eventually prevail. Whether it will be given a setback by the outcome in Plainfield is problematical. But if that city should later decide in favor of the increase the brewers would certainly feel that they had lost an important skirmish.—Newark Evening News.

A MUSICALE AT ALL SOULS'

CLASSICAL SELECTIONS ENTERTAIN BIG CROWD.

A pleasing musicale was given at the All Souls' Unitarian church, last night, under the auspices of the Unity League of the church. The selections rendered were high class and the church was decorated tastefully for the event. Festoons of greens hung from points under the gallery of the church and the potted plants and ferns in the front of the church was one of the features of the evening. Selections were rendered by Miss Mary Lie; Mrs. Guy Bender and Miss Lucy Otterson, who rendered selections from the classics. The prorgamme closed with a production of Ave Maria founded on the Bach Second Prelude. The organ was presided over by Stephen Haff.

The chairman of the arrangements was composed of Miss Alice Thompson, Mrs. Guy Bender, Edward Cohen and Stephen Haff. The musicale was given for the benefit of the society and the proceeds were most gratifying to the committee.

AGRICULTURE SOCIETY AFFAIRS

MEETING OF UNION COUNTY BOARD AT ELIZABETH YESTERDAY.

The Union County Board of Agriculture met at the home of Mr. Beebe, of Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon, and considered the reports of delegates to the Horticultural Society. The question of forming a sub-grange was discussed. It was announced that at the next meeting means of spraying trees to destroy the San Jose scale, which has caused millions of dollars of damage to orchards, would be discussed. All farmers and orchard owners were urged to attend. William Gaunt, of Mullica Hill, the State Granger, will be communicated with and will probably attend. W. H. Rogers was present at yesterday's meeting.

—The Somerset County Board of Freeholders will meet in regular session at Somerville on Tuesday, Feb. 9.

REV. ALBERT E. FINN INSTALLED AS PASTOR

Recognition Services in the Park Avenue Baptist Church Were Largely Attended.

DR. CHAMBLISS' SERMON

SEVEN MINISTERS TOOK PART IN THE IMPRESSIVE EXERCISES.

Rev. T. E. Vassar, Presided at the Meeting and Rev. J. A. Cubberly Read Scripture—The Opening Prayer by Rev. Mr. Fletcher.

Rev. Albert E. Finn was publicly recognized as pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church at special services held there last night. There were many people present from this city and from out of town, including some from Mr. Finn's former charge in Hunterdon county. The edifice was tastefully decorated for the services. The platform was arranged with potted flowers and palms and the music rendered was exceptionally fine.

The presiding minister was Rev. T. E. Vassar, of Elizabeth. The scripture was read by Rev. J. A. Cubberley, of South Plainfield and the opening prayer was made by Rev. Frank Fletcher, of New Market. The recognition sermon was delivered by Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, of this city. The charge of the church was delivered by Rev. W. T. Dorward, of Stelton, and the charge to the pastor was made by Rev. G. M. Shott, pastor of the Baptist church at Scotch Plains, the oldest Baptist church in the State.

On behalf of the Plainfield Ministers' Association, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, this city, read the interdenominational welcome. The newly installed pastor in closing made a few remarks and ended the services with a benediction. Two anthems rendered by the choir were: "I will Extoll Thee," by W. T. Sudds and "The Sun Shall Shine with a New Light," by H. W. Woodward. Daniel E. Davis presided at the organ during the services.

In his sermon, Rev. Dr. Chambliss took for his text the passage of scripture found in Rev. xxi:21. "And the twelve gates were twelve pearls, and every several was a one pearl." He said that the twelve gates corresponded to the twelve points of a compass. He showed how it was possible for each nation and creed, who feared God and furthered all His works in righteousness would be profited by following the precepts of the Master. He spoke of the nature of a pearl and told how they are found in the rough but by great labor aond made to appear like a fine stone of great value. So it is, he said, with mankind. They who follow the law and precepts of God have at one time in their careers resembled the rough pearl but by close relationship to God would finally shine forth like a brilliant stone and be a power for much good in the world. In closing he referred to the fact of the church entering upon its new life by calling a new pastor. He said that for complete success in the church work it was necessary for the members to work unceasingly to aid the pastor. He referred to General Gordon, who, in one of his speeches in which he described an event in the Civil War, an old veteran stood up and said, excitedly, "I was with you in that battle." Dr. Chambliss said that he hoped it would be that way on the other shore. He hoped the members of that congregation could say "I was with you in the fight for Christ and His Church."

In closing Mr. Finn made a few remarks. He spoke of the quotations of Browning and Tennyson. Of the former he said that in his best moments the great poet said "I hope to leave this world better than I found it," and Tennyson said in his best moments "I desire most of all to have a clearer vision of God." Mr. Finn said that these two quotations are correlated. He said that no man could leave the world better than he found it unless he had a clear vision of God and no man having a clear vision of God could help leaving the world better than he found it. This, he said, applies to each member of the congregation and he hoped that this would permeate the atmosphere of his church. He pronounced the closing benediction.

In charge of the services were the members of the pulpit committee who has had the work in charge of select-

POLITICS IN THE BOROUGH

TERMS OF TWO COUNCILMEN, TAX COLLECTOR AND ASSESSOR EXPIRE.

The election in North Plainfield this year falls on Tuesday, March 8, and already the political zephyrs are circulating strange tales of who shall be candidates for the offices to be filled. With the exception of one councilman nearly all the candidates will be those who are at present in office.

The two retiring councilmen are James P. Northrup and Charles L. Nichols. Mr. Northrup has frequently declared that he would leave the council on account of the pressure of business. For this reason it is believed that he will not be a candidate again. It is said that Councilman Robert Clark, Jr., will serve out his term of office in spite of rumors to the effect that he still intends to resign. These rumors are vigorously denied by people who are conversant with the matter.

Tax Collector George Brown's term expires in March. When he was asked this morning if he would be a candidate for the office for another term he replied that he had not been officially asked. He could not give a statement for publication. It is believed, however, that he will run for the office again. His candidacy is looked upon with favor by the powers that be in the borough. The term of Assessor Elston M. French also expires this spring. It is probable he will receive a renomination. It is probable that Andrew M. Lutkins will be a candidate for re-election on the Board of Freeholders of Somerset County.

A PLAINFIELDER'S BEQUESTS

PROVISIONS OF ETHAN LANPHEAR'S WILL ENCOURAGING TO EDUCATION

Rev. L. E. Livermore, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, New Market, who is the executor of the estate of the late Ethan Lanphear, who was a resident of Plainfield for many years, is just now engaged closing up the various details of the business. Mr. Lanphear's estate was worth about $15,000 and aside from a few public bequests, the bulk of it was left to the heirs.

The public bequests included an equal sum of money left to the three colleges under the control and direction of the Seventh-Day Baptist denomination. Alfred University, at Alfred, N. Y.; Milton College, at Milton, Wis., and Salem College, at Salem, W. Va., will each receive about $2,000. These amounts come out the money left after all the heirs have been cared for. The only local bequest was one of $50 to Muhlenberg Hospital.

Mr. Lanphear was of the Seventh-Day Baptist persuasion and always manifested considerable interest in the work of that denomination. For years he was especially interested in educational matters, being the author of several books. This no doubt accounts for his especial interest in the educational institutions of the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

DRIVING WHILE BLINDFOLDED

BERGERON MAKES WAGER THAT HE CAN FIND CERTAIN OBJECTS.

Bergeron, called the man of mystery and the world's greatest entertainer in magic and hypnotism, has made a wager with two prominent citizens of Plainfield that he can find blindfolded and while driving a team of horses any article of whatever size, hidden in the city or surrounding towns. The wagers were of $50 and $100. The Plainfielders who made the bet wish their names withheld unless they win.

The agreement is that Bergeron shall drive his horses, with eyes covered, over the route selected by the preson who conceals the article. The horses will be selected by an appointed committee.

Bergeron will appear at the Central Theatre accompanied by Mlle. Cometa in her repertoire of vaudeville sketches. They will appear for three nights beginning Monday, with a matinee Wednesday. There will be a change in programme at every performance.

answer to a letter to the Atlantic City Board of Trade, he had been informed that that city had received no definite proposition for a new gas plant. He was referred in the matter to City Clerk Ireland, of Atlantic City, from whom he had received no answer to a communication. E. M. Laing said that he had heard from vague sources that cheaper and better gas for Plainfield would be an accomplished fact within a few months under the present regime.

A communication from Milwaukee, Wis., asked the Board to adopt resolutions in regard to discrimination in railroad rates as possible under the inter-State commerce act. The matter was referred to J. B. Coward and H. C. Runyon, to be brought up at the next meeting.

The Board was requested by Wand, the directory man, to arrange a page of information in regard to Plainfield for use in the directory. J. T. Vail was appointed to the task.

Secretary Smith, for the committee on the dinner, said that there was a deficiency of $75 and that former Mayor Gilbert had offered to meet the deficiency from his own pocket. Though appreciating Mr. Gilbert's generosity, the Board thought it best to meet the deficiency from its own reserved fund.

Votes of thanks were extended to the committee on the annual dinner for their services in making possible the most successful dinner in the history of the Board, and to the speakers at the dinner for completing its success.

OFFICIALS FOR MEET CHOSEN

SECRETARY OF Y. M. C. A. AMATEUR LEAGUE OF N. A. TO BE REFEREE.

All of the officials for the Y. M. C. A. athletic meet for the championship of Northern New Jersey, to be held here next Monday night, have been chosen with the exception of the timers and scorers. The number of officials will be sufficient to make it such that all records established will be incontestable.

As referee of the meet, George T. Hepburn, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Amateur League of North America, has been chosen and has announced that he will be able to officiate. The judges will be the physical directors of the four visiting teams, Leonard M. Smith, of Newark; A. M. Chesley, of Orange; J. E. Downey, of Jersey City, and F. C. Dixon, of Summit. For assistant judges and measurers there will be F. N. Barclay, W. E. Heinece, Percy Hand and W. E. Neal, of the local association.

Plainfield's entries in the meet have been increased by one, that of Raymond Smith. She will be represented by Walter McNaughton, O. H. Munger, Walter Osboone, A. L. Denton and Raymond Smith.

At the conclusion of the meet, the participants, including the officials will be tendered refreshments served by a committee from the Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., Mrs. L. M. French, chairman.

The records and question of proper registration of each entry in the meet have been investigated and proved satisfactory with two or three unimportant exceptions.

The election for township officers will be held in a few weeks. The present outlook is the Republicans will renominate John Robison for freeholder. For Township Committee, Theodore Bruckmann will no doubt receive a renomination from the Democrats. The Republicans have not found a man to put against him yet, as no one cares for the nomination, with the party out by factional fights as it has been for a number of years past.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark.
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

FUR NOVELTIES.

Some Striking Ones Despite Lateness of the Season.

"Is the season for novelties in furs over?" I recently asked a salesman in one of the largest fur houses in the country.

"Not by any means, ma'am," was the reply. "The artists are getting out new designs every hour, and the season will last, especially for neck pieces, way into April, possibly to May, if the weather stays cold, as it sometimes does, you know."

I did know, and so took particular notes on the fur question.

A stole cape collar is of pure ermine, cut so that it reaches up high in the back of the neck and rounds off in front. The stole ends have rich chenille tassels of pale gray with black dots. The ends are pointed, with a tassel. The particular effect of this is found in the arrangement of the tails of the ermine. Ermine tails are slim and white next the body with jet black tips. These tails are so placed that they form regular set figures on the pure white, and the effect is very pleasing. Two tassels are put on the front near the neck, fastening invisibly.

A wide stole shape has the upper portion of ermine and the rest of fine sable, the ends being pointed, but not otherwise ornamented. Another one has the cape high in the back of the neck, but open in front, and the tabs are rounded. There is an inset of ermine across the shoulders, and the rounded portion of the tabs is of ermine. The muff to carry with this is a rich affair, with the sable cut in notches on the upper part and the ermine below. There are fancy breloques at the top of the muff.

Chinchilla is used for many muffs and stole and other shaped collars. Cunning little four-in-hand collars made of this fur and also of seal and of lamb are worn by the smart set and are undeniably fetching. Deep stole collars of chinchilla sometimes have big balls covered with fur at the ends, while others are quite untrimmed. It is like painting the lily and burnishing the sunbeams to add anything to this exceedingly pretty fur. Most coats and jackets have storm collars and wide revers of some deeper fur, for it is only the close furs that are used to make the coats. But few of the neck pieces have storm collars at all. I did see one jet black fur cape which came to a point in front, and this had a flat ermine collar scalloped and with short tabs over it, and this was so arranged that the ermine portion could be raised to form such protection as desired. Many of these capes narrow in at the waist and spread widely above and below.

There are many less exclusive and less expensive small furs. They are almost a necessity to everyday requirements. The neat and pretty walking suits for this season of the year are made of cloth, cheviot, zibeline and no end of other woolens, besides the firm favorite, velutina. They need but the presence of a small fur neck piece to look quite warm and wintry enough even to go skating in.

A rich and heavy granite suiting costume in the very dark brown so liked just now has the skirt trimmed richly with black hercules braid and the short box coat done in the same way. Braid is now considered the best of all dress trimming. It is made in so many styles and materials that it is adapted to everything from batiste to velvet. Even some fur garments are trimmed with it.

So this suit is trimmed with the braid in the manner shown in the illustration, and a handsome suit it makes. With it a small flat fur piece is worn. It may be of any of the furs with a tinge of brown, but the handsomest for this purpose is the Alaska sable, which seems to lend itself to every color and fights with none. A small round muff is made to match this, but if you want to be right "in the swim" you should get your stoutest relative to sit on your muff all day. The flat ones are the latest, but not so large as those of the days of 1830, after which we seem now to be casting wistful eyes so far as fashion is concerned.

When one purchases a fur cape or stole or full set at any reputable fur house a piece of fur to match is given with the garments so that it may be added to the hat and thus carry out the general color scheme.

Fur is a really refined and an elegant addition to any winter hat. It is applied now simply in the shape of a band. I heard that mice skins are now used in place of moles, which are becoming very scarce.

UNDER JAIL PENALTY

Herr Conried Mulcted In "Parsifal" Litigation.

HE MUST PAY OR GO TO PRISON

Manager Metropolitan Opera House, New York, Loses Suit Brought by Wagner Heirs—Frau Wagner Fought From Ideal Motives.

MUNICH, Germany, Feb. 5.—The judgment of the court in the Wagner-Conried suit to restrain the production of "Parsifal" was against the defendant, Herr Conried, who was fined $40, as well as the amount necessary for the extensive publication of the court's finding for a period of twenty days, or twenty days in jail. All court costs and lawyers' fees were also entered against the defendant.

Commercial Councilor von Gross of Baireuth, representative of the Wagner heirs, testified that the Wagner family had not received a cent from the Baireuth performances. All the receipts were devoted to paying the expenses of the festival plays. Frau Cosima Wagner was fighting solely from ideal motives. She had repeatedly refused millions, particularly from the United States, for permission to produce "Parsifal." Attempts to give it there had failed for a long while because of the impossibility of securing an orchestra score except upon the personal pledge of the buyer. It was only after Herr Schott, a musical publisher of Mayence, had published a pocket edition, which, the witness said, Herr Conried reported he had bought in Berlin through an elevator boy, that the production in New York was rendered possible.

Herr von Possart, general manager of the Royal theater at Munich, testified that Herr Conried said last summer that if only five German managers could be found who would declare they would not produce "Parsifal" until after 1913, when the copyright in Germany expires, he would abandon his plan of giving it in New York. Herr von Possart defended Herr Conried, who, he said, had acted within the American laws and had only offended the sentiment of reverence toward Wagner. He also defended the German singers who took part in the New York production except those owing special obligations to Baireuth.

Sandford, the Prayer Medium.

AUBURN, Me., Feb. 5.—In the Sandford trial here Rev. N. H. Harriman, formerly associated with Sandford, testified as to the conditions under which the members of the Holy Ghost and Us society lived. He said that all were compelled to acknowledge Sandford as the supreme ruler and obtained their daily food only through supplication and prayer, Sandford being the medium through which their petitions were made. The witness said that when he joined the church his authority over his own children passed to Sandford. The defense called two witnesses in support of its contentions that medical aid was not refused the disciples and that Bartlett received proper care.

CUBA'S EVACUATION

President Palma Says Adieu to Last of American Troops.

CUBAN FLAG SALUTED AT HAVANA

American Commander and Troops Thanked For Great Work Done For Island's Independence and Happiness of Her People.

HAVANA, Feb. 5.—The last vestige of the American occupation of Cuba disappeared when the American flag was lowered from the Cabana barracks and the last battalion of American soldiers marched to the Triscornia pier and boarded the United States army transport Sumner for home.

Standing on the wind swept plain near Cabana fortress between a line of American and another line of Cuban troops and surrounded by a crowd of Americans and Cubans, President Palma feelingly voiced his appreciation of all that the Americans have done for Cuba.

President Palma and the members of his cabinet, General Rodriguez, commander of the Rural guards; United States Minister Squiers and the members of the legation staff took their places facing the center of the parade ground. The lines of troops consisted of the four American artillery companies, the men clad in blue; a company of Cuban artillery, a company of Rural guards on foot and a troop of Rural guards mounted. After the soldiers had presented arms the American flag was slowly lowered from the staff over the barracks, a salute of twenty-one guns being meanwhile fired from the fortress. The Cuban flag was then raised in its place and also saluted with twenty-one guns. President Palma addressed Mr. Squiers and Major Brown, commander of the American troops, in English as follows:

"On this momentous occasion the sincerity and depth of my feelings overcome me, and my heart must supply my deficiency of words. We are in the presence of the most extraordinary fact recorded in the annals of universal history — to see leave our shores the last troops the United States left in Cuba after helping us to secure our independence and the blessings of freedom. They could stay longer under any pretext whatever or they could impose upon us an unjust demand; but, on the contrary, the government of the United States, identified as it is with the liberal spirit and noble character of the American people, willingly proves its disinterestedness and the sincerity of the aid it rendered us by taking these men away and showing us at the same time that we have as an independent people the confidence of one of the most powerful nations on earth. This act of the United States in withdrawing its troops from Cuban territory reflects upon them everlasting glory and makes us proud of ourselves, for it means that nobody doubts our competence to govern ourselves or our ability to maintain peace and order and guarantee the rights of all the inhabitants of this island. This new consideration shown us, together with the services we have previously received at their hands, will bind the Cuban people to the American people forever in a strong tie of sincere gratitude."

Had Heavy Load of Silver.

ROANOKE, Va., Feb. 5.—Two men giving the names of William Raymond and James Donohue have been arrested here by W. G. Baldwin, president of the Railway Special Agents' association, charged with cracking the safe in the National Bank of Rocky Mount, Va., two weeks ago, when $4,000 in silver was taken. Eleven bags, containing $1,100 in silver, were found on the men. There is still $2,900 missing. The money was buried near Rocky Mount, and the men are alleged to have gone there from Roanoke to get it.

Joaquin Velez to Be President.

COLON, Feb. 5.—The Royal Mail steamer Trent has arrived here from Savanilla and Cartagena and brings reports of great excitement at both those places over the presidential election. It is understood that General Rafael Reyes will carry the department of Bolivar, but it is believed generally that the election to the presidency of Joaquin Velez is a positive certainty. There is still much war talk both at Savanilla and Cartagena, and it is asserted that Colombia will attack Panama shortly.

Death Followed Elopement.

ADRIAN, Mich., Feb. 5.—Frank Dunham, former superintendent of sewer construction here, shot the woman who had been taken as his wife. Later he shot himself through the head when brought to bay by a posse of citizens and died instantly. The bullet entered the woman's back and passed out of her mouth. She may die. The couple eloped from Sodus, N. Y., where Dunham induced the woman to desert her husband, William Dunn.

Posse After Murderer.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 5.—A special from Greenville, Miss., says a posse of over 500 men is scouring the country in search of Luther Holbert, who is accused of killing James Eastland. Bloodhounds from Greenville and Darchman, the state farm, are being used. The community is in a state of excitement, and lynching is feared.

PLAINFIELD SCHOOL SYSTEM IS EXCELLENT

Educational Advantages Unsurpassed in the Suburban District of New York.

LIBERALLY SUPPORTED

MERIT OF PUBLIC INSTITUTION HAS ATTRACTED WIDESPREAD ATTENTION,

Admittance Given to Many Colleges on Presentation of High School Certificate—Teachers the Best That Can be Procnred.

"Viewed from a parent's standpoint, no matter how desirable surburban life may otherwise be, its entire attractiveness is lost if it lacks educational advantages. For this reason many beautiful suburban places about New York have been seriously handicapped, the home-seeker turning away when he finds that the public and private schools are of a standard lower than those in New York. Plainfield, the queenly city of northern Jersey, has not suffered in this respect; but, on the contrary, real estate men there say that their most successful argument in attracting New Yorkers has been the excellence of the local school system. The liberality of the Common Council and the constant painstaking efforts of a thoroughly competent superintendent, Henry M. Maxson, have been the means of raising the standard of the Plainfield schools to such a position that it is cited by prominent educators throughout the East as a place with model schools. Ask the first educator you meet and he will corroborate this statement.

"In the January number of The World's Work high tribute to the efficiency, thoroughness and general standing of the Plainfield schools is paid by Miss Adele Marie Shaw, who contributes an article resulting from an investigation of "The Public Schools About New York." But such praise is nothing new, the novelty having worn off by the continued praise given to Plainfield in the leading educational magazines of the country. Superintendent Maxson says, probably as a result of his efforts, that "A strong high school is undoubtedly a good investment from an utilitarian standpoint," and this applies equally to the lower grades.

"From the primary to the high school grades, inclusive, the system of instruction is most thorough. In the primary grades there is a large amount of material intended to make the school work both natural and attractive. The slate and sponge have been discarded as unhygienic and the pencil has been introduced. All the desks are adjustable. A special effort has been made to improve the work in English branches, and the child is taught to think and give expression to his thought in a clear and forcible manner. When it becomes apparent that a child can do more work he is advanced at any time in the school year. There is no tendency to make the home work more than is absolutely required.

"In the grammar grades physical training is introduced. "A school is a sad travesty on education," says Mr. Maxson, "if it trains the mind and neglects the body." Plainfield was one of the first to engage, regularly, physicians to examine the pupils and inspect the buildings. These physicians examine the pupils in the matter of eyesight, hearing, vaccination and throat, and when not at the schools they are reached by telephone.

The school rooms are cheerful places. Casts and photographs, of no ordinary merit, are hung in the various class rooms and assembly halls. The buildings themselves are handsome architecturally and modely in sanitary arrangements. The Whittier, the Franklin, the Washington, the Bryant, the Lincoln and the Irving schools are ornate structures. In place of the Stillman High School building, a new structure, to cost $125,000, is to be used as soon as completed. These buildings are scattered about the city and each one is easily accessible by the local trolley lines.

"The happy, home-like spirit in the schools is particularly noticeable. There is great cordiality between teacher and pupil. The greatest pains are taken to study each pupil's health, and there is enthusiastic support on the part of the parents. It is a rule to have a small number of pupils for each teacher in order that more rapid advancement in work may be made. Superintendent Maxson and the Board of Education exercise the utmost care

COUNCILMAN CLARK TENDERS RESIGNATION

Action of Popular Borough Official a Complete Surprise to His Collegues.

NO REASON IS GIVEN

DUE TO UNPLEASANTNESS OVER FIRE DEPARTMENT CONTROVERSY.

Letter of Resignation Laid on Table—Councilman Northrop Suggests That His Collegues Urge Mr. Clark to Reconsider.

Councilman Robert Clark, Jr., resigned as a smember of the North Plainfield Council last night., Mr. Clark was not present. His resignation was read by Borough Clerk Frank Rowley. No reasons were given. The other members of the body were taken by surprise. It was plain that such action on the part of Mr. Clark was not anticipated. The only persons who did not seem to be the least surprised were the firemen who had assembled in large numbers to hear the death knell of the volunteer department sounded. The resignation was not accepted. Councilman James K. Arnold moved that the communication be tabled and Councilman Northrop seconded his motion. In doing so Mr. Northrop said it was with general regret that Mr. Clark has decided to take the action he has not only to the members of the Common Council but to the people at large. He said he was a most valuable man to the borough and he suggested that each member personally see Mr. Clark and endeavor to induce him to reconsider his action.

Mr. Clark's resignation was unaccompanied with any reason for taking such action. The cause dates back to the time when the Council first suggested moving into the new fire headquarters building. The Council, it is alleged, has overstepped Mr. Clark, who was chairman of the fire committee and his friends say he was practically forced to resign. He has been accused of catering to the firemen in the matter and although he has threatened to take the action he did last night it was generally believed that a truce had been patched up. Consequently the offering of his resignation last night produced great surprise among the councilmen. Rumors of such action have been rife among the firemen during the past few days but they could not be verified.

QUALITY OF GAS SAID TO BE GOOD

Local Manager of That Department of P. S. C. Here Makes An Explanation.

ADMITS SOME DEFECTS

NEW BURNER BEING USED TO PREVENT "BLOWING."

During Changes at Works Gas Was Ladened With Moisture—All Trouble Has Been Remedied Now it is Claimed.

The Public Service Corporation has been receiving condemnation from the people of Plainfield on account of the poor quality of gas. It is claimed that it is now necessary to burn two lights in order to receive the benefit formerly derived from one jet. Not only has the company received complaints from private residences but from churches and other places of public assemblage. The employes of the corporation who read the meters have replied to questions asked by consumers why the gas is so poor, that within a few more weeks the gas will be better.

A reporter for The Daily Press called at the office of the company on West Second street yesterday and secured an interview with W. R. Causbrook, manager of the gas department of the corporation in this city. He said: "The gas today is all right. It is absolutely pure and is of the same quality as that given in any other city in the State. The trouble lies in the fact that before the first of January the gas was of poor quality due to changes which have been going on at the gas works, among which was the installation of a new set of gas purifiers. These have been installed and are in operation and the gas is perfectly pure and should give a perfectyl clear light.

"During the changes at the work," he continued, "the gas was sent out through the mains ladened with more or less moisture. This moisture settled on the inside of the burners and clogged them up. Our men have been at work since the first of the year in putting new burners on and where this has been done the light has been giving perfect satisfaction. A new jet known as the Bray burner is being used, which saves the consumer much money because it prevents the gas light "blowing." A governor is in each jet and this regulates the flow of gas.

"I have heard of the trouble with the gas at the Park Avenue Baptist church," said he, "and our men will make an investigation and place new burners there. The Public Service Corporation in this city is not at all antagonistic to the people's interests. It desires to give the very best service possible at the lowest cost. With this end in view gas ranges are to be installed in houses where they are desired at cost and other improved gas arrangements will be carried in stock. It is our plan to repipe old buildings at cost and to bend every effort to make the service in this city the best in the company's power. If there are any complaints to be made regarding poor lighting in any private house, our men will replace the present burners with the new style ones at the shortest possible notice."

INDIVIDUAL COMMUNION CUPS

COMMITTEE OF CRESCENT AVENUE CHURCH SELECTING A DESIGN.

The latest congregation to adopt the individual communion cups is the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. The matter was decided some time ago. Dr. E. W. Hedges and F. H. Andrews have been appointed a committee to investigate the matter and report on what they consider the most suitable design. The committee is now seeking information on the subject and it is expected that within a short time the new order will be in effect. At present there are several Plainfield churches using the individual sets, including the Seventh-Day Baptist, First Baptist and Park Avenue Baptist churches and Warren chapel. Other churches have the matter under consideration.

ENDEAVORERS OBSERVE DAY

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE PARK AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH SOCIETY.

"Christian Endeavor Day" was observed by special exercises last night at the Park Avenue Baptist church, in celebration of the twenty-third anniversary of the inception of the Christian Endeavor movement throughout the world. The members of the Junior society joined with the seniors in presenting an appropriate and attractive programme.

Mrs. W. S. Lowry led the meetiong and explained the world-wide influence of the Endeavorers' work. She said that the centre of the Christian Endeavor Society is in the church; that it believes in and help home missions as well as foreign; that it also does mission work in the homes.

A letter of encouragement was read by Miss Cora R. Brokaw from "Father Endeavorer" Francis E. Clark. J. M. Hawkins spoke instructively of "The Increase Campaign: a World Movement." The pastor, Rev. A. E. Finn, gave a valuable talk on "Deciding for Christ."

A consecration service of the juniors with "Christ for the World; Christ for Me" as its topic was held, all of the children answering to their names, as called from the roll, with a verse of scripture. The services opened with the singing of the hymn, "Come Thou Almighty God," a silent prayer and responsive reading. A musical selection was given by a quartette composed of Miss Cora Brokaw, Miss Florence Hawkins, W. S. Lowry and Charles VanWinkle.

EXPLODING GAS ENGINE INJURED BANK PRESIDENT

A. J. Brunson is Frightfully Burned About Head, But Eyesight Will be Saved.

ACCIDENT AT FACTORY

REMOVED TO DR. ENDICOTT'S WHERE HE IS RECEIVING TREATMENT.

Condition Still Serious—The Factory a Mysterious Place—How the Accident Happened—Man Rendered Unconscious.

A. J. Brunson, president of the First National Bank, lies at the home of Dr. George Endicott in a serious condition as a result of injuries received by the explosion of a gas engine in his factory on Rock avenue, Thursday afternoon. He was frightfully burned about the face and eyes. Until this morning it was thought that he would be permanently blinded by the injury but Dr. Endicott said that he has hopes of saving the man's sight. All his hair was burned from his head and in some places the flesh was burned severely.

Mr. Brunson owns a factory on Rock avenue. No one knows what is manufactured there and there is a mystery about the whole place. Only one man is employed in the establishment and the utmost secrecy is observed in his duties. Each afternoon Mr. Brunson goes to the place to assist in the work of getting out the mysterious product. It was while thus at work about 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon that the accident occurred. In the factory is a large gas engine, which got out of order. While Mr. Brunson was bending over the machine he accidently touched the spark igniter and a terrific explosion followed.

The man who is regularly employed there was in another part of the building at the time and he rushed to the spot and found Mr. Brunson motionless on the hard concrete floor. He tried to revive him, but was unsuccessful. Dr. Endicott was sent for a once and soon brought Mr. Brunson back to consciousness. He was removed to Dr. Endicott's house on Park avenue and Seventh street, where he is at present.

The damage wrought by the explosion inside the factory is great. No information can be learned from the man in charge but it is believed that the side walls were damaged considerably and that the engine is a wreck. Mr. Brunson's condition is still serious and the effect the shock will have upon him cannot be determined at present.

PARK CLUB BOWLERS DEFEATED BY ROSELLE

North Plainfield Aggregation Only Succeed in Capturing One in Series of Three.

THE DETAILED SCORES

STANDING OF CLUBS IN DAILY PRESS BOWLING TOURNMENT.

Howe, of Winning Team, Made a 235 and a 221—Willis Made a 197, the Highest Rolled by the Park Club.

The Park Club bowling aggregation journeyed to Roselle last night and rolled a series of games with the Roselle Casino five, and although they made over 800 in every game, they were only able to win one of the series, the second, by a margin of two pins, the score being 834 to 832. The first game the Parks lost by a score of 896 to 882 and the last game by a score of 857 to 846.

Not a member of the Park team reached a score of 200, while Howe, of the home team, rolled 235 in the first and 221 in the second game. C. Smith was the next high man with a score of 190 in the first game. Ralph Willis, of the Parks, was hibg man for his team, he rolling 197 in the first game. The other scores rolled by the Parks were on the average very good and ordinarily would have resulted in victories. Luck has been against them, however, and their standing in the tournament is not as high as their friends would like.

By last night's results Roselle is placed a little nearer the lead, which is held by Westfield with twenty wins. Roselle has seventeen wins and has lost seven games. This is the detailed score of the series:

PRICE OF ICE TO BE LOWER

NO FANCY PRICES NEXT SUMMER, SO SAY THE DEALERS.

It is expected that within a few days the price of ice for the coming season will be fixed by the local ice dealers. There is every reason to expect that the retail price will be lower than last year. The supply this winter exceeds that of any winter for a number of years and it was stated yesterday that the dealers now have an amply supply for the coming summer.

All of the ice houses are filled with an excellent quality of frozen water of a thickness in most cases of between ten and fifteen inches. The dealers say that the ice is really too thick to be handled easily. According to the opinion of many dealers the price will will not go below forty cents a hundred. It was fifty cents last year.

To Attend Good Roads Meeting.

State Engineer R. A. Meeker, of West Front street, will attend the Good Roads' Association convention to be held at Hartford, Conn., three days next week.

Plan of Proposed Park for Plainfield and North Plainfield.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN DISBAND ON MARCH 15

North Plainfield Council to Make Appointments for Paid Department on Feb. 19.

HOSPITAL IS REFUSED

BOROUGH CAN GIVE NO AID TO THAT INSTITUTION.

Smalley Objected to Aiding Hospital—Councilman Lee Appointed to Fill Vacancy on Park Committee—Reports for Month.

The North Plainfield Volunteer Fire Department has passed into history and after March 15 it will be superceded by a paid fire department. The event was marked by the passage of the ordinance on its third reading at the North Plainfield Council meeting last night. The appointments will be made at a special meeting of the Council which will be held on Friday evening, February 19. In order to pay for the increased cost of a paid department in the borough Councilman Northrop made a motion to the effect that the liquor licenses across the brook be increased to $800 a year for wholesale and retail.

This is an increase of $350 a year for the retail dealers and $300 a year for wholesale dealers. Mr. Northrop's motion included a clause to the effect that the Court of Common Pleas of Somerset County be asked to make such charges in the future. It is understood that the liquor dealers "across the brook" will fight the scheme. In offering this resolution Mr. Northrop explained that the increase in license fees would help maintain the department although it would not carry the extra cost entirely. He said it would help keep down the tax rate, incidental to the change. The chamber was filled with firemen and after the meeting their remarks were anything but complimentary to the Council. A meeting was held afterwards in the Warren Engine Company headquarters.

A communication was read from the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital asking the Council to contribute $500 a year towards the support of the institution. Councilman Northrop said that there was no law which authorized the Council to grant the petition. He said that the institution deserved the support of all Plainfielders and North Plainfielders but he could not find any law which gave the Council permission to donate that amont. Mayor Smalley declared he would be opposed to donating such a sum to the hospital even if such permission was granted by law. He said that the majority of the people of North Plainfield trade in this city and that the support of the hospital by the trades people was practically the support of North Plainfield residents. It was moved to notify the Board of Governors of the action of the Council.

In view of the fact that Mr. Clark resigned, Councilman Lee, chairman of the police committee, was appointed one of the park committee with Councilmen Arnold and VanArsdale. The committee will confer with the Board of Trade park committee of this city and also with a committee to be appointed by the Common Council of this city. Mayor Smalley stated that the sentiment in both the borough and city was in favor of the proposed park.

Councilman Arnold offered a resolution authorizing the Corporation Counsel to proceed against the Public Service Corporation to collect $164.20 due on street repair work. Mr. Arnold said that he has repeatedly tried to have this claim settled but without avail. He said the Corporation had ignored the claims of the borough.

Mr. Arnold reported that the street expenditures for the month amounted to $81.50. Mr. Lee reported that there had been ten arrests and $74 collected in fines. Bills amounting to $5,700 were ordered paid. This includes $3,700, which is a balance on the 1903 school tax not yet received. A check for $1,500 was ordered paid to J. H. Snyder, on account of the new fire engine house.

Borough Tax Collector Brown's report was as follows: Taxes, $3,814.15; Board of Health, $42.36; special school tax, $1,800.30; recorder fines, $74; telephone franchise tax, $53.04; liquor licenses, $679.75; Public Service Corporation, $250; Chief Stahl, $24.50; balance on hand Jan. 1, $14,886.26; total receipts, $21,142.86; disbursements, $11,849.11; cash on hand, $9,293.25; borough fund, $8,144.67; engine house fund, $1,148.58.

in selecting teachers and the best graduates only of the normal schools and Eastern colleges are considered. The members of the present corps are particularly refined and of attractive presonality and manners, and these compose a strikingly bright and fine body when assembled in teachers' meeting.

"The general excellence of the work in the high school has secured for graduates special approbation and has given the institution special advantages in securing admission for the pupils. Pupils have been sent to twenty different colleges and also to West Point and Annapolis, and the record shows that no pupil of the Plainfield high school has been rejected in the last ten years. Within this period three pupils have taken prizes for college entrance examinations and during their undergraduate life a number have captured prizes and taken high honors, this year one winning the valedictory at Union.

"Admittance is given on the high school certificate to all colleges that use that plan for entrance. At present high school graduates are found in Harvard, Yale, Columbia and Princeton, and none entered with conditions. The government of the high schools is conducted on a plan of student-co-operation.

Home-seekers should learn something about Plainfield before taking any decided steps, and the only way to do so is to visit that attractive city.

All authorities on theatrical amusements in New York agree that Klaw & Erlanger's production of the latest Drury Lane spectacle, "Mother Goose," at the New Amsterdam Theatre, is the greatest and most gorgeously staged attraction ever seen in this country. Evening Newspapers Best.

The evening papers contain fully ninety per cent. of the current news, because events happen in the day time in about that ratio. The night happenings are generally discounted by evening announcements, and it is seldom that any event of importance is not covered by the evening papers. News gatherers for morning papers get their pointers from the afternoon papers, as everyone knows who has taken or given details from night city desks. The evening newspaper is the home paper. It is bought by men who are on their way home, and is delivered at the homes and left there. The morning paper is bought by men going away from home, and when delivered is often carried away from home. The evening paper is read by every member of a family. It goes to all clubs, libraries and reading rooms at a time when people are at leisure. A morning paper must have three or four times the circulation of an evening paper to secure as many actual readers, and even then it is not so thoroughly read. This fact is appreciated by those who wish to reach buyers as well as by the buyers and this, with the desire for prompt news, causes the increase in evening newspapers, which is such a marked feature of modern newspaper work.—Jersey City Journal.

JAPAN'S FIRST BLOW

Russian Fleet Blocked at Port Arthur.

JAP CIVILIANS FLY PANIC STRICKEN

Tokyo Dispatch Says 20,000 of the Czar's Troops Have Been Concentrated in Yalu Valley to Seize Northern Korea.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Japan's war fleet, consisting of sixty ships of all classes, has bottled up the big Russian fleet at Port Arthur, completely blockading the Russian stronghold and thus striking the first blow in the coming conflict.

While the Russians have been planning for action and rushing warships and troops to various points in the Liaotung district of Manchuria the Japs have quietly concentrated their main line of battleships off Weihaiwei, less than ninety miles from Port Arthur, thus holding the key to the situation.

News dispatches from Port Arthur say that the Russian fleet at that point under Admiral Stark, which sailed away at dawn on Feb. 3, has returned and taken up an anchorage outside the harbor.

The fleet ran into the Japanese warships on guard and quickly put back.

Now that the Russians are blockaded it is believed that Japan will carefully go over the czar's reply and unless the mikado's demands are granted, which is not believed here, will at once declare war.

A Vladivostok dispatch says: "The Japanese are flying panic stricken, and Japanese storekeepers are sacrificing all they possess in their haste to escape to Japan. Cases of oranges are selling for 5 cents, and furniture is being literally given away. They are practically ruining themselves in their hurry to get away before the outbreak of war."

More than a thousand Japanese girls have embarked for Japan, and three steamers are on the point of sailing for Japan with Japanese families, including many who have fled from the Nikolskoye and Ussuri regions.

A dispatch from Tokyo says that 20,000 Russian troops have been concentrated in the Yalu valley, with the probable intention of seizing north Korea.

A semiofficial dispatch received from Irkutsk says: "Urgent orders have been received here to forward immediately to Baikal a consignment of rails sufficient to lay thirty miles of track, with all necessary material for the construction work, across Lake Baikal between the stations of Baikal and Tanchoi. This order is to be executed at once."

Lake Baikal being frozen over from January to the first part of May, it is proposed to move passengers across the lake by means of a temporary railroad on the ice.

The Tientsin correspondent of the Standard reports that the railway authorities are still bringing all the rolling stock inside the Great wall, owing to the uncertainty of Russian movements, while the Russians have prohibited Japanese from traveling on the railway.

The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Tokyo says he hears that the Russian fleet at Vladivostok is preparing to sail.

"There Will Be No War."

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Lokal Anzeiger telegraphs that Admiral Skrydlov, commander of the Russian squadron in the Black sea, has been summoned to St. Petersburg for consultation on account of his knowledge of the far east. The dowager empress received the admiral and when he was leaving said to him, "There will be no war."

Will Protect Our People In Korea.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Mr. Allen, the American minister at Seoul, cables the state department that he is taking active steps to protect American citizens in the interior of Korea.

Gets Loan of $50,000,000.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—A syndicate of New York bankers has agreed to lend $50,000,000 for the purpose of improving the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg and also, it can be stated on the authority of a member of the lending syndicate, to provide funds for the purchase of the Western Maryland railroad by the Norfolk and Western as part of a plan for the settlement of the Gould-Pennsylvania differences. The Western Maryland is controlled by Gould interests, and its president, Joseph Ramsey, Jr., is president of the Wabash road.

Big Gun Explosion on the Iowa.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 6.—The battleship Iowa while testing her batteries on her way down the coast blew off the muzzles of both eight inch guns in her forward starboard turret. Flying fragments smashed one of the ship's whaleboats. Both guns are fractured between hoops E and F, and the barrels are badly swollen. None of the crew was injured, and no damage outside that given was sustained by the vessel. The Iowa is now in Hampton Roads. The accident will prevent her joining the squadron at Culebra.

Bristow Able to Sit Up.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Though slowly gaining in strength, Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow is still exceedingly weak from the sharp attack of the grip which prostrated him about three days ago. His temperature and pulse are normal, his appetite is returning very slowly, and he is now able to sit up in his room for a short time each day, though visitors are not allowed to see him.

HAS TYPHOID FEVER

Senator Hanna's Illness Will Reach Crisis In a Week.

PRESIDENT MADE PERSONAL INQUIRY

Physicians Report Outlook Hopeful For Recovery—Disease Diagnosed by Blood Test Made by Expert Behrond.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Senator Hanna is officially pronounced to have typhoid fever. The following bulletin was issued by his physicians immediately after a consultation:

"Senator Hanna has typhoid fever. The diagnosis is confirmed by the complete blood examination reported by Dr. Edward Behrond. The senator rested fairly well last night. His temperature is 100; pulse, 82."

Dr. Behrond is a microscopic expert. He made two tests. The first one showed the presence of typhoid bacillus. The second test was made to confirm the first one. In addition to Drs. Rixey and Magruder, Dr. Osler of Baltimore has been called in consultation. The doctors say the case of typhoid is irregular.

Mrs. Hanna, Mrs. Medill McCormick, a daughter, and Miss Phelps, a niece, are already here. Mr. McCormick is expected shortly. The members of the family not here are Mrs. Parsons of Cleveland, a daughter; Daniel Hanna of Cleveland, a son; L. G. Hanna and H. M. Hanna, both of Cleveland, brothers of the senator. The latter is spending the winter at Thomasville, Ga.

The senator is being closely guarded from visitors, and no one except his regular household is permitted to see him. His sole diet is milk, and no stimulants are being used at present. Mrs. Hanna insists on personally attending the patient.

The physicians say that the outlook is hopeful for recovery and that the crucial point in the illness should be passed in about a week. They say that the case is what is known as irregular typhoid and is less serious than most cases of that illness. It is somewhat like "walking typhoid," which accounts for the recent fluctuations in the fever and general condition of the patient. The family, it is said, instead of being alarmed at the diagnosis of typhoid, were relieved at the announcement, being fearful of the uncertainty.

They realize the seriousness of the situation, but feel that there might have been other developments that would have proved of much more gravity. The physicians are now making a test of the condition of the kidneys.

It is realized that the senator's advanced age and his rheumatic conditions make the case a more serious one than in a younger man, but the belief is expressed by his family that he will recover, though he will be confined to his bed for a considerable period. The present plan is to take him to Thomasville, Ga., as soon as he is able to be moved.

President Roosevelt called at the Arlington hotel to make a personal inquiry about Senator Hanna's condition. The president saw Dr. Rixey and Mr. Dover, and from them he learned the result of the latest consultation. With Mr. Dover the president left sincere expressions of sympathy and encouragement for Senator Hanna and requested that he be advised if an alarming change in the patient's condition occurs.

Dr. Rixey says Senator Hanna realizes that he is a very sick man, and he has placed himself entirely in the hands of his physicians and will subject himself to any course of treatment they think best.

Demented Man Killed His Brother.

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—Laboring under the delusion that he was being persecuted by witches because he would not join a secret society, Dennis O'Connor shot and killed his brother Jeremiah at their lodgings here. Dennis O'Connor surrendered to the police soon after the shooting and said that he had killed his brother because the latter insisted upon his becoming a member of an organization of witches and hypnotists. The police believe him insane. The body of Jeremiah O'Connor was found at the home with a bullet wound over the heart. The men were laborers.

Lamp Explosion Caused Death.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 6.—Mrs. Julia A. Coe, a widow, was burned to death in her house in West Cheshire. Neighbors discovered the house on fire, but the flames had such headway that they could only stand by and see the building consumed. Mrs. Coe's body was found in the ruins at the foot of the cellar stairs. It is supposed that a lamp exploded while she was descending the stairs and set fire to her dress.

Will Renew Modus Vivendi.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Feb. 6. — The colonial government has decided to renew the Anglo-French modus vivendi respecting the French shore fisheries for the current year. In order to accomplish this it will have to fill certain vacancies in the upper house, as the house last year only passed the bill renewing the agreement by the speaker casting his vote for it. A big political fight over the bill is expected.

No Attack on Montevideo.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. — Minister Finch has cabled the state department that there has been a change of sentiment in Montevideo and that there is now no fear of an attack on the city, which is being guarded by 10,000 well armed and officered men.

ANDERSON, Ind., Feb. 6.—Fire has partly destroyed the Indiana Brick works; loss, $50,000.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

R. G. Dun & Co. Report Trade Good Despite Effects of Storms.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Special telegrams from correspondents of the International Mercantile agency throughout the United States and Canada make it plain that while railway traffic west and northwest has been handicapped by heavy snowstorms and low temperatures wholesale orders for spring goods in leading lines have not been interfered with, and, at retail, general trade has been actually benefitted.

The toppling of the inverted pyramid of cotton speculation promises relief to the industry. Many mills in the south and abroad have shut down. New England advices say that mills have cotton supplies to last until July 1, some until Sept. 1. Demand for cotton goods has gained headway within ten days.

Most encouraging are special advices from steel and iron centers that production has further increased, that demand is better than on Jan. 1 and that independent sheetmakers have advanced prices $2.

War news and reaction in cotton and coffee speculation, with sensitiveness of wheat to rumors of hostilities in the east, have drawn interest from Wall street.

Secretary Shaw's call for $30,000,000 of government deposits from the banks, it is thought, may not result in sending gold abroad, a large quantity of foreign exchange being held for investment, unless war should result in Paris or London selling Americans.

In New England general trade is of larger volume than a year ago. Most significant is the word that the Pennsylvania railroad's tonnage from Pittsburg has begun to increase.

Northwestern states are in a prosperous condition. Winter wheat has been well protected from Pennsylvania to Colorado, and weather conditions northwest and southwest have not resulted in material losses in cattle.

"Dollar wheat" was realized at Chicago with the aid of a heavy milling demand and powerful speculative support. Coarse grain also received attention and rose sharply. Wheat receipts for the week were 3,401,271 bushels against 2,719,882 last year, and exports from the United States, flour included, of 2,591,691 bushels compared with 3,516,177 a year ago. Receipts of 4,193,875 bushels corn exceeded the 3,654,859 bushels last year.

REBELS FIRE ON OUR FLAG.

Engineer Johnston of the Cruiser Yankee Killed by Bullet.

SANTO DOMINGO, Feb. 6.—The insurgents besieging the city deliberately fired on the launch of the auxiliary cruiser Yankee while in the harbor here, killing J. C. Johnston, the engineer. The bullet entered his head above the eye.

United States Minister Powell has directed the captain of the Yankee to take drastic measures to avenge Johnston's death and this insult to the American flag.

Johnston will be buried on shore.

May Be Clew to Schaefer Murder.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 6.—A report was received by the police from the police at Louisville, Ky., stating that the dead body of W. H. Meade of St. Louis had been found in the Ohio river near Louisville and requesting to know who Meade was. The letter states that from letters on Meade's body it is evident he had important knowledge of the murder of Miss Schaefer at Bedford, Ind. It is further stated that a gold watch belonging to Meade bore the inscription, "Presented to William Henry Meade by members of the Iroquois Boating club, St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 1, 1901." The name of W. H. Meade does not appear in the city directory, nor is such an organization here as the Iroquois Boating club.

Street Cars and Human Health.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 6.—The board of health of the city of Cleveland has decided to investigate the sanitary effects of crowded street cars and will begin with a careful study of the results on the health of children at school. The city solicitor has given his opinion that the board of health has authority to regulate street car service as well as it has the right to regulate the manner in which live stock may be carried in freight cars.

Engine Rolled Down Mountain.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Feb. 6.—In a wreck on the Eaglesmere railroad Engineer G. T. Simmons and Charles Darling, the fireman, were killed. A mixed train bound for Eaglesmere was ascending the mountain when from some unaccountable reason the engine left the track about a mile above Sonestown, rolling down a thirty foot embankment and crushing to death the engineer and fireman. No passenger cars left the track.

First Train For Ten Days.

LEWISTON, Mont., Feb. 6.—Pushed by four locomotives, the great snowplow on the Montana railroad headed the first train that has reached this place in ten days. During that time three express trains have been tied up in the drifts between here and Helena, and, it being impossible to send aid to them, some of the passengers suffered for food. Two trains are still tied up. In some places the drifts were twenty feet deep.

Steamer Ethel Sank.

FITZ AND O'BRIEN.

Champion Says "Philadelphia Jack" Is Making Big Bluff.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 6.—Bob Fitzsimmons has just returned from a two days' trip out of the city. He was shown the report of how he was wanted by "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien to battle for the middleweight title and a side bet of $10,000.

A long pause followed the perusal of the article by the ancient one, while he ruminated.

"Well, you see, I don't like to get mixed up in this word painting affair," said Fitz. "I will say, however, that I lost about $700 one night just because I thought I might get O'Brien into a match.

"I was to show in Pittsburg, but O'Brien came around with a proposition to fight me and bet $5,000 on the side. I threw over the engagement and wired him that my money was posted at a newspaper office and I would come on at once as soon as he let me know that he had done likewise at a Philadelphia paper.

"I waited for a reply all that evening when I might have been earning money. The reply never came.

"Now he wants to fight me for $10,000 instead of $5,000. All I have to say is that this is probably twice as big a bluff as his former one."

Skating Champion Morris Woods.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 6.—The opening night of the indoor skating championship contests resulted as follows: One mile championship—Morris Woods of New York won, G. Bellefeuille of Winnipeg second, William Merritt of Verona Lake Athletic club third; time, 2 minutes 48 2-5 seconds. Two mile championship—Harry Taylor of Brooklyn won, Bellefeuille came in second, but was disqualified for fouling Woods; Merritt second; Guy Lyman of New York third; time, 5 minutes 47 4-5 seconds. Woods took the second heat of the mile championship in 2 minutes 41 1-5 seconds, beating Johnny Neilsson's record of 2 minutes 42 seconds.

Racing at Ingleside.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6. — Fine weather prevailed at Ingleside, but the track was very muddy. There were a number of close finishes, two horses winning by a nose. A six and a half furlongs handicap brought together some very clever sprinters. Kenilworth was a heavily played favorite, with John A. Scott next in demand. Redfern, who came up from Los Angeles to ride Eonic in the Burns handicap, had the mount on Princess Titania. John A. Scott set the pace, but stopped, and Princess Titania beat him easily.

Corbett-Britt Fight Off.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Jimmy Britt has taken it on himself to call off his fight with Young Corbett, which was scheduled for March 11. The Frisco lightweight is angry because Corbett signed articles to fight Dave Sullivan before the Yosemite Athletic club on Monday, Feb. 29. Britt asserts he agreed to meet the Denver lad with the understanding that neither would enter the ring prior to the date set for their encounter. This agreement, Britt says, Corbett has broken, and he now will have nothing more to do with him.

Courtney Heads Cornell Athletics.

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 6.—The trouble in the Cornell crew room has at last been settled. At a special meeting of the athletic council everything that had led to the misunderstanding was officially undone, and by resolution confidence was expressed in Coach Charles E. Courtney, and the concessions for which he has been standing out were granted to him. Courtney is now again the real head of aquatics at Cornell, and, everything being arranged to his satisfaction, crew work will at once be resumed.

Young Corbett and Sullivan Matched.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6. — The twenty round bout between Young Corbett and Dave Sullivan for the featherweight championship of the world has been definitely arranged. They will box at Mechanics' pavilion in San Francisco on Feb. 29 under the auspices of the Yosemite Athletic club, of which Jim Coffroth is the matchmaker. According to the articles of agreement, they will clash at 130 pounds, weigh in at 6 p. m. on the night of the fight.

Jackson Defeated Mike Donovan.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 6.—Young Peter Jackson, a colored welterweight boxer of this city, got the decision over Mike Donovan of Rochester, N. RELIEF TRAINS NEAR Provisions For Snowbound Towns Reach Bad Axe, Mich.

ONE TRAIN REACHES PORT HURON

Port Austin and Other Michigan Towns In State of Semistarvation Owing to Snowbound Supplies. Ontario Conditions Better.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 6.—Two Pere Marquette relief trains of twenty-seven cars, bearing fuel and provisions for the snowbound towns in the Thumb district of Michigan, have worked northward from Port Huron seventy miles, as far as Bad Axe. It is expected that the additional twenty miles to Port Austin will be covered today, as well as the branch line from Palms to Harbor Beach. A passenger train has been pushed through south from Bad Axe to Port Huron. The Port Huron-Saginaw division of the Pere Marquette has been reopened since the storm of the past three days, and on other lines of the Pere Marquette train service is resuming normal conditions, except between Grand Rapids and Chicago, where trains are still running from three to four hours late.

On the Grand Trunk railroad no eastbound freight has been forwarded, except a couple of trains of perishable goods, and only two trains have been received from the east. Grand Trunk passenger trains from the east are now arriving from one to two hours late, although during the day several trains arrived more than twenty-four hours behind time,

The storm in Ontario is reported to be over, however, and conditions are rapidly improving.

The Michigan Central road has not resumed freight service on its Bay City division and ran only two passenger trains on that division instead of the four that are scheduled. But conditions are greatly improved, and it is expected that today will witness a return to normal conditions. Michigan Central trains from the east are running nearly on time, and between here and Chicago the line is having little trouble.

At Grand Rapids it is reported that the Interurban line connecting Grand Rapids, Grand Haven, Muskegon and Holland is still out of business. A heavy rain which set in at Grand Rapids at 6 p. m. is expected to aid materially in ending the blockade.

At Niles also a heavy rain is reported. Considerable apprehension is felt there regarding the rapid rise of the St. Joseph river on account of the thaw. If the thaw continues, it is expected that the ice jam in the river will break loose and cause great damage to bridges and dams.

The thaw seems to be general throughout southern Michigan. A drizzling rain has set in at Detroit.

Odell on Home Rule For Cities.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 6.—The contemplated conference between Governor Odell and the legislative leaders upon the "home rule for cities" proposition will not be held until the week after next. "This proposition," said Governor Odell, "is a very important one. It is a matter which the people must think over. Nothing should be done hastily. My many engagements next week preclude the possibility of giving proper attention to such a conference as this subject will require. I do not think it will be necessary to refer this matter for investigation to the legislature nor do I think it necessary to amend the constitution to devise an adequate plan of home rule for the cities. I have certain definite views, which I shall discuss with the legislative leaders. I do not believe it will be necessary for me to present these views in a special message."

Mrs. Lorenz on the Stand.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—In the postal trial here Mrs. Martha J. Lorenz of Toledo denied all knowledge of any transaction in connection with the sale of Groff letter box fasteners. The four checks which she at different times gave her husband, who indorsed them over to Machen, she testified she signed solely because her husband requested her to do so and without inquiry into their purpose. She had absolute faith in him, she said. Mrs. Lorenz was perfectly cool on the stand and promptly answered the questions put to her by her counsel. During almost the whole day George E. Lorenz was under cross examination.

Two Killed by Train.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 6.—While crossing the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at Braddock Frederick Bacon, aged fifty-eight years, and Henry Mitchell, aged forty-eight years, were struck by an engine and instantly killed. The men were going in opposite directions, Bacon hurrying to catch the train that Mitchell had just left, and they collided in front of a rapidly moving freight engine running light.

Auditor Was Not Sharp.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Feb. 6.—City Auditor Fred L. Rowe has been removed from office by Mayor R. L. Wood because of alleged gross negligence or incompetency in failing to discover that $43,000 worth of bonds were missing from the sinking fund of the city prior to the arrest last month of City Treasurer Glines and his confession of the embezzlement.

Man and Wife Killed, $200 Missing.

RIVERTON, Neb., Feb. 6.—Dan Barker and his wife have been found murdered in their home near this place. Barker's brother Frank is under arrest for the crime. The dead couple had $200 in the house, and this was missing after the murder.

In another column will be found the proposed design for a city-borough public park. The plans have already been published in this paper.

Silas Dewey Drake has taken up the cudgels in behalf of his brother, General Drake, who claims to have the first American flag planted on Virginia soil during the Civil War. Read his communication in another column.

Before a United States Commissioner at Trenton this week a man named Orentes Alfantes charged Christ Papazianopwoolostchski and Andrew Likooplooloostes with unlawfully opening letters. According to their names the wisdom of omitting a few letters altogether might wiel have been urged.

The Philadelphia Record says: "Advertising in the magazines doubtless pays certain business establishments. As an adjunct of newspaper advertising it is profitable to concerns with unlimited capital. It is to be considered, however, that in this immediate neighborhood (or within the field covered by this newspaper here) are millions of purchasers of merchandise, and of these but a very small proportion take magazines, while nearly all are newspaper readers."

We suggest that the ministers of the various denominations tell their congregations their views on the increase liquor license fee agitation. That the proposition to raise the tax was defeated by a tie vote in the Common Council does not mean that the scheme is forever dead. The anti-liquor element of this city rejoiced over the position taken by the Plainfield Ministers' Association when the measure was introduced. There is no doubt that the ministers can produce a wholesome effect by urging the members of the congregations to be alive to the situation. We do not believe that the action of the Common Council on Monday night reflects the sentiment of this community. No reason has yet been advanced why the proposed ordinance was so suddenly killed. What was the reason?

Editor, The Daily Press:

Recently in one of your issues appeared an editorial squib in regard to the first flag being unfurled on Virginia soil by my brother, Gen. J. Madison Drake, and that he hire me as his substitute in the oratorical battle now being waged. I am at present and have been for many years a member of the Veteran Zouaves of Elizabeth, and have carried that same flag in parades throughout the country, particularly in New York, Newark and Trenton, and while I have seen thousands of old soldiers and others inspect that honored battle scarred relic, and bearing the statement made that it was the first regimental flag unfurled on Virginia soil, I have never heard any soldier or citizen dispute the claim Gen. Drake makes, and I am also a member of Aaron Wilkes Post, of Trenton, and at reunions held in their rooms in Trenton, I have carried Gen. Drake's flag there, and no member of that Post even disputed Gen. Drake's claim in my presence. As to any one being a substitute for Gen. Drake is not necessary, as he is a born leader of men, and what he lacks in oratorial powers he makes up with this pen, which is mightier than my tongue. I believe Gen. Drake will win out in the controversy, as he does in anything he attempts, and if no other good comes out of the wordy war it may revive in the breasts of those who knew all about the war of forty years ago many recollection, and perhaps enlighten the minds of the young generation grown up since the war. In case this matter cannot be settled to the satisfaction of those who unfurled the first flag on Virginia soil, I would suggest they do it all over again and see who gets there first, and with the facilities of modern journalism, photographs would be taken of the doings of the soldier boys every day and pictures would appear in the next day's morning papers, showing their parents and friends what the soldier boys did in getting in and out of old Virginia.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Just to relieve the Standard and Manager Denman's anxiety a little, it would be a good idea if Manager Hand or Johnston, would drop a postal card to Westfield, telling them something about the prospect for a baseball team in town the coming season. Scotch Plains was the one town that could question Westfield's prowess on the baseball diamond last season, and there is no question but what Manager Denman will hear from us again.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS DEFEATED

HASBROUCK INSTITUTE TEAM WON AT BASKET BALL.

The Plainfield High School boys lost last night to the strong Hasbrouck Institute team, of Jersey City, in basket ball. The score was 25 to 15. The game was played in Jersey City, the fact of a strange floor proving a handicap to Plainfield. Thompson and Guinn did most of the scoring for Plainfield. The line-up:

Plainfield High — Thompson and Long, forwards; Guinn, centre; Gavett and Fenno, guards. Hasbrouck Institute—Timpson and Stork, forwards; Appleton, centre; Pratt and Hunt, guards. Plainfield's scores were made as follows: Goals from the floor—Guinn, 3; Long, Thompson, 2. Goals from fouls — Thompson, 3. Twenty minute halves were played.

TO BREAK RECORDS.

Great Rivalry Expected at Inter-Association Athletic Meet Monday Night.

The high character of performances that will characterize the Northern New Jersey inter-Y. M. C. A. athletic meet with the local association Monday night is indicated by the fact that every record in the five events contested is expected to be broken. Jersey City, it is rumored, intends to exterminate the potato race record, Summit has designs on the three standing broad jump mark, Plainfield has an eye out for the shot put, and about every association entered expects to bury the present records in the high jump and high dive which will probably be the most fiercely contested and most interesting of any of the events. Every care will be taken by timers, judges and measurers to guard against mistakes concerning performances and every record made will be declared official. The names of the scorers have been announced: H. S. Brokaw in the three standing broad jumps; E. W. Poinier in the high jump; J. A. Steiner in the shot put; J. W. Gavett in the high dive; and John H. Doane in the potato race. A final scorer will be chosen to score total points. His name is not yet announced.

—The pupils and teachers of Plainfield Business College, are looking forward to a pleasant time at their reception tonight.

The new members of the board, Messrs. George B. Cladek and John J. Marsh, both of the city of Rahway, were then sworn in, and their oaths of office were filed in the office of the county clerk, as required by law.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark.
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

WOMEN'S CLUB HOMES

Boston's New Century

AFTER the club women of the smaller towns showed them how, ladies' organizations in the large cities began also to build homes for themselves. One of the handsomest and most completely appointed feminine clubhouses, one which might be a model for all such structures in suburban places, is to be that at Orange, N. J. Its estimated cost, when completed, is $50,000.

But in villages and small towns women may build clubhouses satisfactorily at much less cost than $50,000, keeping in view still the general idea of the Orange structure. Its plan comprises a two story and basement building. In the basement are the heating apparatus, the kitchen and its appurtenances. The first floor has a general assembly hall, holding 600 persons; also committee rooms and a library. On the second floor provision is made for social entertainments. Here is a large ballroom or dining room, with china cabinets, caterer's room and more committee rooms.

The Orange Women's club expects that when its house is finished it will be able to let its halls for occasional entertainments like concerts, lectures and social affairs, thus bringing a considerable annual sum in rentals. The demand for semiprivate halls, conducted under refined auspices, is greater every year with the rapidly growing intelligent and well to do class in America. In incurring debt for constructing a woman's clubhouse its promoters may safely take into account reasonable receipts from this source.

There are two chief ways of raising money to erect a clubhouse. One is to form a stock company and get the necessary funds through subscriptions. Another way is to borrow money outright and trust to the infinite ingenuity of the feminine brain to pay it. For nearly a thousand years women have been able to pay off church debts for men—it would be a pity if now they cannot raise cash for a woman's club home.

The Boston New Century club of women was aided in the construction of its splendid home by the generosity of Hon. Elijah S. Converse, a large brained, chivalrous man, who believed in women's clubs. The New Century club was composed from the beginning of that highest and noblest human blend—the progressive and the conservative. Julia Ward Howe was its first president. It numbers among its members many of the famous literary and intellectual women of New England.

The first step toward getting the clubhouse was to form the Women's Clubhouse corporation, of which Mrs. Isabella A. Potter was made president. She has just concluded her sixth term of service in this capacity. Mrs. Potter was indefatigable in her enthusiasm and her labors. To begin, she was a clear headed woman of exact mental habit, and she learned the business of building a clubhouse and raising the money to pay for it as she went along. More than all, she is of harmonious temperament and will have no squabbles, great or small, in her atmosphere. In one of her reports she puts the operations of herself and her sister directors of the corporation into words worthy of the thoughtful consideration of every clubwoman. Mrs. Potter writes:

Your directors have been a faithful, able, earnest, harmonious body of workers. Their purpose has been twofold—first, to develop the property, that clubs might be accommodated and find a congenial home here; second, to make a good business investment, that every stockholder may get 4 per cent on the money invested in the stock of this corporation.

The clubhouse was called the New Century building. It is worth $275,000, with a debt that can be paid without trouble. This is because through shrewd management the building began to pay dividends from rentals the day it was opened. That is what woman is able to do in a business way when she sets her head to it.

The structure itself is a substantial five story building in the club heart of Boston. Its various beautiful halls are named from prominent club members. There are the Julia Ward Howe hall, the Abba Gould Woolson hall, the Isabella A. Potter hall and others. The dedication of the New Century clubhome was a great occasion in New England feminine clubdom. That great friend of woman, Governor [illegible] Massachusetts, honored [illegible] the ladies by being present and making a speech. MARY E. [illegible].

MAGNO WAS SURPRISED.

Courted Neapolitan Girl by Proxy and Now Is Shocked at Brilliancy of Her Coiffure.

When he went to the Dominion line dock, at Boston, to claim the maiden who had come out from sunny Italy on the Cambroman to be his bride, the other day, Magno Castrucci had never seen her, nor had the girl ever set eyes on the man she expected to love, honor and obey. When they met the man experienced a shock from which it took him some minutes to recover. The girl was red-headed. It was not a dark, unobtrusive kind of red, which might be charitably styled auburn, but a bright fire color, which took the man's breath away as he looked at her, and made him repent for a moment his rashness in letting anybody else select a wife for him. In southern Italy a red-headed girl is as scarce as a negro in Siberia, and is looked on with little more favor. However, the prospective husband rallied nobly and decided to take her. He departed in search of a marriage license, and the girl awaited patiently in the detention room the reappearance of the bridegroom.

Vittoria Lostracco resided in a little village in a southern province in Italy and had attained the age of 24 without passing under the yoke of matrimony, an age which in Italy is dangerously near that of an old maid.

In this country Magno Castrucci had labored for 11 years, alone and friendless, and at last felt the need of a companion to share his joys and sorrows. He looked around him, but the Italian girls of his acquaintance were all provided with husbands or lovers, or were unwilling to mate with him. In this country there are not near enough Italian maidens to go around, and a girl can afford to be fastidious.

He wrote his troubles home to his parents in the old country, and they at once thought of Vittoria. They sang the praises of their son to her, and of the girl to the son, and in a short time the matter was arranged. Details were, of course, meager. None of the parties concerned were fluent with the pen, and it never occurred to them to exchange photographs. But as they both declare themselves satisfied with their bargain the story may be said to have a happy ending.

CONQUERED BY WASPS.

Mud-Daubers Force a Confirmed Old Bachelor to Seek Safety in Matrimony.

A curious tale is told of a young man from Grant's Pass, Ore., who was cured of the bachelor habit by "mud-dauber" wasps. The hero tells the story on himself of how he was working in a mine near his native town, and at the end of a hard day's work always tumbled into his bunk in an old cabin without taking the trouble to arrange his blankets. The cabin was infested with "mud-daubers," and one day several of these located themselves in the miner's bed. The young man retired without ceremony that evening, but he arose again very rapidly. According to his own statement, which may, perhaps, best be taken with a grain of caution, he flew clear to the roof and knocked off half a dozen or more shakes, came down, kicked over the table, and otherwise gave evidence of a worried man for several minutes. The wasps ended his bachelor career, for the miner went next day to Grant's Pass and secured a housekeeper in the person of a pretty bride.

Beauty Beats Intellect.

A club of young lady students in the Chicago university recently engaged in a very interesting debate. They decided, by a large majority, that beauty is better for a woman than intellect. This means that her proper sphere is the home.

MAN HAS PIG'S SKIN.

Virginia Surgeon Grafts Over Two Hundred Inches of Porker's Cuticle on Patient.

Dr. Hamilton Browning, teacher of clinical surgery in the University of Virginia hospital, has succeeded in grafting the skin of a two-months-old pig upon a large surface of one of the patients under his charge.

As a general rule, grafting is made by taking the skin from the body of the person upon whom the graft is to be made, or from the bodies of the generous persons who are not afraid of a little pain. Dr. Borwning, however, could use neither of these methods, as the surface to be grafted covered 225 square inches of area on the thigh of the young man patient, who had been injured in a railway accident.

Two weeks elapsed before the wound was ready for the operation. The treatment to which the pig was subjected was thorough, if no more. First the animal was shaved and washed with warm water and green soap. Then it was rewashed in the same way, and a thick coat of green soap was allowed to remain upon it for four hours. Next it was given another thorough scrubbing with green soap and alcohol. After this its body was inclosed with a strong bichloride of mercury poultice, which was left on for ten hours.

On the day the grafting began the pig was chloroformed and thin shavings of skin were taken from it and gently pressed upon the patient's wound by a nurse. The whole operation required several days, but the result was perfect. Within a few months the young man had a whole skin, had passed a rigid examination for life insurance, and had resumed his work.

MONKEY SCRUB LADY.

Animal in Philadelphia Park Becomes Proficient in Handling Soap and Brush.

"Monkeys, like men, should learn to work," says Keeper McCrossin, of the Philadelphia zoological gardens. He has taught one of his charges to overcome her distaste for soap and water and to wield a scrub brush with skill. Every day the monkey goes carefully over the inside of its cage, scrubbing floor and ceiling, back wall and iron bars, as carefully as it could be done with human hands.

McCrossin saw the monkey imitating him in his scrubbing operations. Tightly clutching a paper bag, she rubbed it over one railing after another, evincing great enjoyment. Then McCrossin gave her a big wash cloth and instructed her how to wet it in a pail of water.

It was long before she understood what soap was for, and even yet she occasionally takes a bite out of a cake, to make sure it is not something to eat.

"I intend to teach the other animals to scrub their cages, if possible," said McCrossin.

"All the monkeys in the cage take great interest in the scrubbing operations, but the trained animal will not allow them to touch the brush, soap or pail of water. At first she attempted to scrub one or two of her brothers, but it precipitated such a fight that she dared not repeat it."

Curious Eyes of Animals.

Many animals possess more than two eyes, which do not act together. A leech, for example, has ten eyes on the top of its head which do not work in concert, and a kind of marine worm has two eyes on the head and a row down each side of the body. Some lizards have an extra eye on the top of the head which does not act with the other two. A bee or wasp has two large compound eyes which possibly help each other, and are used for near vision, and also three little simple eyes on the top of the head which are employed for seeing things a long way off.

STAGE LOVE MAKING.

Marie Cahill Is Opposed to Enthusiastic Osculation.

Thinks It Detracts from Sacredness of the Fond Salutation and Believes That Kisses Should Mean Something.

Miss Marie Cahill, the star of "Nancy Brown," does not believe in ardent stage kissing. She has an individual viewpoint on footlight morality that is interesting and bars enthusiastic osculation. The clever comedienne contends that respectability is the first essential of true stage success and she does not believe that savage love-making is necessary before an American audience.

"There are only three men in the world," says Miss Cahill, in the Chicago Chronicle, "who have the right to really kiss a woman—her husband, her father and her brother. I think the stage wooing of some actors is entirely too ardent, and as kissing is one of the most sacred forms of salutation it is bad taste, from my viewpoint, at least, to degrade by overdoing it.

"I do not think the American people are a demonstrative race. It is more natural for us to feel our affection than to express it in an exaggerated way. By the same token I believe this strong habit of repressing our feelings is one of the grandest traits of the people of this country.

"From what I have heard Miss Anglin's portrayal of Camille made a deep impression on Americans, and they say her most effective scenes were distinguished by the very intensity of her repression. These terms may seem a bit paradoxical, but I mean that it is sometimes possible for an actress to greatly impress her audience more by what she feels than what she says. Pantomime is frequently stronger than oral expression.

"Why should a player indulge in osculatory madness before the type of audience which frequents the Garrick theater? The occupants of the house in all likelihood do not turn their domestic kissing into violent exercise, so it seems unnatural for a player to do so on the stage.

"There is no human virtue greater than self-control, and because they exercise this quality more than the men of any other country I think American men are the manliest in the world. The quietest men are usually the greatest heroes. The most determined men are usually the most courageous. It is not the fellow who is continually gesticulating and tearing his hair and declaiming in a loud manner who may be depended upon in a crisis, but the cool, calm, manly chap who has little to say and means a great deal more than he says.

MISS MARIE CAHILL.
(Noted Actress Who Is Opposed to Osculation on the Stage.)

"We have all met the boastful, strutting fellow, who is continually shouting to all the world the great things he intends to do. He usually does nothing. Now, because this quality is an inherent part of American character, I think it unnecessary to make passionate love before an American audience.

"They understand.

"One continually hears actors and managers decrying the intelligence of the general public. They say the people out front are thick. You must exaggerate. You must drive your words and your meaning into their skulls with a sledge hammer, and lots more of such arrant rot.

"I never held such an opinion. People do not come to a theater and pay their money to find fault. They come to be amused. They are not hypocritical and wish the player to do well. Whenever the audience does not seem amused by my work I know there is something the matter with me or the lines I am speaking and I try to discover wherein the trouble lies and how to correct it.

"It's all very well to delude one's self with the idea that the audience is not intelligent and cannot understand, but it is ordinarily the failure who resorts to such absurd self-satisfying arguments. Indeed, you will usually find it is the bad actor who has the bad audience. If he would only diagnose his own work from a viewpoint outside his own ego he would find that he is the stupid person.

"In my opinion the quiet school of acting is the thing—the calm, natural style of diction which is just as convincing as the gunpowder school of declamation. Passionate kissing is not at all necessary to accentuate a love scene before an American audience. There are more ways than by exaggerated osculation to express one's affection. It might be all very well in the demonstrative Latin countries, but Americans are not a kissing race."

What is most needed is more cars. We will cease instituting radical attempts at reform among our men for the present, and direct every effort to turning out new cars. Dangerous Rummage Sale.

The rummage sale is making its appearance in various towns throughout the State again. A few years ago these sales were condemned and stopped by the health authorities, and that influence should be set to work again. Cast off clothing and articles of every kind and description are gathered up and dumped into these sales, to be handled by hundreds of women and children, who may thus be brought into contact with disease germs. Such sales are a menace to the public health, especially at a time when small-pox, scarlet fever and diphtheria are epidemic in the community where they are held, as they are in this city. They are apt to do far more damage to a community than the few dollars they net the organization that promotes them can ever repay.—Trenton State Gazette.

CENTRAL ROAD'S PLAN FOR NEW FERRY HOUSE

Outline of Scheme for Building Structure at Foot of Twenty-Third St., N. Y.

A GREAT IMPROVEMENT

FOUR RAILROAD COMPANIES TO USE THE PROPOSED BUILDING.

Ferry House to be Double-Decked—New Station Will Bring Shopping District Within Convenient Reach of Road's Patrons.

Patrons of the Central Railroad of New Jersey are shortly to have the convenience of a ferry which will land them in the upper portion of New York. The location decided upon is at the foot of West Twenty-third street and a frontage of 100 feet has been secured upon the North River. Work has already been commenced and will be pushed with the greatest possible dispatch. The improvement ccontemplated is of such an extensive character that the date of its completion cannot be foretold accurately, but the time for which the contractors are striving is the latter part of this year.

This new station will bring the shopping district and the theatre section within easy reach of the road's patrons and at the same time it will be most convenient station for people residing in the upper section of the city or for the uptown hotel guests.

Four railroads and the city of New York will unite to make this an imposing and convenient entrance to the city. Ranged along the water front side by side will be the ferries of the Pennsylvania, Erie, Lackawanna and New Jersey Central systems, the last named being the furthest downtown. Instead of each road having a distinctive ferry house, arrangements have been made by which all the structures will harmonize in general proportions and architectural treatment, and to this end a single architect, Kenneth M. Murchison, Jr., has been engaged to make the plans for all the buildings.

The ferry house will be double-decked, with provision for loading and discharging passengers from both decks of the boats. There will be two waiting-rooms, one on the main floor, fifty by sixty feet, and one on the upper floor, forty by fifty feet. The lobby will be about forty by seventy feet, and there will be ample and commodious ticket and baggage accommodations, while on the second floor will be offices for some of the railroad company's employes.

It is the intention of the city to acquire the entire block bounded by Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets and Twelfth and Thirteenth avenues, and transform this into a fine approach or esplanade. By this means the ferry will open on a square of about 350 by 600 feet.

Another convenience which will be much appreciated by arriving passengers is an immense shed of iron and glass fifty feet wide, known as marquise, which will extend along the front of the ferry house and under which carriages or surface cars may be taken without entering the open. In inclement weather this will add much to the comfort of travelers.

The Metropolitan Street Railway Company is now making its plans to adapt its service to the new conditions, and it is probable that four or five lines of surface cars will converge here. From every point of view the proposed improvement means a great deal for the traveling public. Commuters from nearby places especially will welcome the new method of reaching the city. Many New York residents who have cast longing eyes at the charming points along the New Jersey Central, but have been deterred from making their homes there, because their interests centered in the upper portion of New York, will thus have the last objection removed.

Mrs. Sibbie Riely, known throughout the East and West as the "Gypsy Queen" of the Riley-Harrison-Cooper tribe of gypsies, died on Saturday in Philadelphia at the age of 80 years. For some time past she had been quite feeble and her death was not unexpected. She was the mother of a large number of children composing the members of this tribe of gypsies, many of them marrying.

The remains were brought to this city late Saturday night and placed in the receiving vault at Hillside, there to remain until spring, at which time all of the members of the tribe will gather in this city and hold funeral services in accordance with the rites peculiar to the tribe.

EVERY CHRISTIAN A PREACHER

SUBJECT OF DISCOURSE BY REV. A. E. FINN AT PARK AVENUE CHURCH.

Rev. A. E. Finn, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, preached to large congregations at both services at that church yesterday. In the morning his subjects was, "Every Christian a Preacher," and in the evening his theme was "Sounding an Alarm."

Every Christian is a preacher the minister maintained, because he has received the good news and is willing, and anxious to have his brother share the joys of Christianity. He said that there are five different kinds of preachers: the ordained minister of the Gospel, who talks from the pulpit; the lay preacher, who assists the minister in spreading the Holy Word, the church worker who makes the House of God a welcome place to all; the singer who delivers the divine message in sweet tones and the consistant believer who does personal work for the Master. The pastor told of instances where people have been led to the service of God by song, citing Moody as an example.

The text for the evening sermon was taken from Jeremiah XIII:16. The pastor said that the Holy Bible contains warnings to all people to repent of their sins and come into the fold before it is too late.

Mrs. Hedden was a Miss Annabelle Parker and was the daughter of Mrs. Lizzie Parker, who resided with her. She had been a resident of Plainfield for many years. She is survived by a husband and a daughter, Miss Olive Marguerite Hedden, a mother and a sister, Mrs. Hubbard, the latter of New York.

MINISTER'S HOT SHOT FIRED AT "MACHINE"

Rev. John McMurray Hits Those Who Defeated Ordinance to Increase License.

ATTACK ON POLITICIANS

STRONG WORDS OF MINISTER AT Y. M. C. A. MEN'S MEETING.

Are Plainfielders Living Under a Limited Monarchy, He Asked—Declared That Liquor Dealers Won a Victory in This City.

The Plainfield Common Council was raked fore and aft by a tremendous broadside of oratorical hot shot delivered by Rev. John McMurray, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, yesterday afternoon. Mr. McMurray was addressing the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, and was particularly outspoken in his attack. His remarks were the result of the action of the Council in refusing to raise the liquor license fees.

The speaker said that while the people of Plainfield hold up their hands in horror at the practises of Tammany and the leaders of "the ring" in Philadelphia, it is just possible that conditions quite as bad may exist here at home. Several times in the course of his remarks, he referred to the political leader of Plainfield who is able to mold the Council to his absolute will.

He spoke of the hopes that had been entertained by the good people of the city that something might be gained against the liquor traffic when the Common Council had its opportunity to raise the license, and said that these hopes had been dashed to earth by two "suave gentlemen," one representing the liquor interests of the State and the other Plainfield's boss.

Said the first suave gentleman to the second, "We don't want you to raise the license, because it would influence other cities in the State to follow your example and injure our business." And it was done as the suave gentlemen ordered. And the result is the same old license fee and an unlimited possibility for more saloons.

"I am sorry," said Mr. McMurray, "to have to stand here and say that the liquor dealers of the State can rightly claim that they won their great victory in Plainfield—a victory against the church and against the State. And it was because these two suave gentlemen were able to mold others to their will like putty." The result is there are seventeen applications for licenses.

Mr. McMurray regarded the liquor traffic as illegitimate, he said. He had nothing personally against Mr. Goff. But the conditions with reference to the saloon in the West End have reached a point where the wonder is whether there is anything to prevent their continual gaining ground.

Back of Mr. Goff, he said, is the Rising Sun Brewing Company of Elizabeth. Before a single brick was laid in his hotel, Mr. Goff was given assurances that he would receive his license. This assurance was given six months ago. And it has turned out that the man who gave the assurance knew well whereof he spoke. He knew his power as boss.

"Is it a limited monarchy that we are living in Plainfield? Is the city of Plainfield to be a government of the brewer, for the brewer and by the brewer?"

Mr. McMurray then referred to the effects of Goff's hotel upon surrounding property. Next to it, he said, lives a widow who can ill afford the loss of value that her property will suffer as a result of the saloon's proximity. "The neighbors don't want the saloon," he said, "but the saloon will be there nevertheless, because forsooth we are living under a Republican form of government. And next year there will be more saloons if the Rising Sun Brewing Company wants them."

I cannot help thinking, said Mr. McMurray, that the five men who voted for a higher license are more truly men than the five who voted against it.

He concluded by asking his hearers to "say to the suave sentleman who manipulates the affairs of the Common Council to tell the other save gentleman who represents the liquor traffic that the public sentiment of Plainfield will not permit the granting of more licenses."

MOTORMAN MEETS DEATH

Vincent Gulick, of the Borough, is Killed in Trolley Accident on W. Front St.

CAR CRASHES INTO TREE

Clarence R. Brokaw and M. A. Higgins Slightly Injured—Car Suddenly Leaves Track and Motorman is Powerless to Stop It.

Vincent Gulick, of 15 Park place, North Plainfield, motorman of Car No. 76 from Elizabeth bound for Dunellen, was instantly killed last evening, his car leaving the track on East Front street, crashing into a large tree in front of Roth & Company's butcher shop, and evidently throwing Gulick against the pane of glass in the vestibule and off the car. His neck was broken and his leg severely cut. No one else was seriously injured. The car left the Watchung avenue stand at 6:23 and the accident happened two or three minutes later.

Clarence R. Brokaw, of West Front street, was thrown from the back platform and badly bruised. His arm was twisted and it was at first thought that he had broken it, but examination by Dr. J. B. Probasco who had been summoned, showed that the injury was not serious. M. A. Higgins, of West Front street, was badly shaken up and taken to his home in a carriage. Other passengers were shaken up by the force of the impact of the car against the tree.

Ernest Jones, of 702 South avenue, suffered two broken fingers. He continued after the accident on his way to Dunellen, where he fainted and was taken home. He was considerably bruised.

Exactly what caused the car to leave the track is not known. Division Supreintendent Brown told a Daily Press reporter that the cause of the accident was a mystery to him. It might have been due to the fact that the frost in leaving the ground had caused a depression in the tracks. The conductor, Theodore Stansbury, could not explain the trouble.

The most likely theory advanced was that something was wrong with the car itself. A local trolleyman said this morning that he thought one of the wheels of the car had a broken flange. Passengers on the car had noticed that something was wrong. The car would "buck" when stopped or started.

It was said also that one of the chains that attaches to the king-bolt of the car may have been broken.

A fifteen-year-old boy named Gordon, of Millstone, says that he was standing in the front vestibule in making the trip from Westfield to this city and that Gulick sent him back into the car with he remark that something was wrong and might cause trouble.

The car was not going at a specially high speed according to reports. Conductor Stansbury told a Daily Press reporter that he would estimate the speed at three to five miles an hour. Reports of by-standers who witnessed the accident were conflicting. There were about twelve passengers on the car. The accident delayed traffic two hours although the company sent extra cars out and transferred passengers from one side of the derailed car to the other.

The fact that the car broke the tree in front of Roth's store off at the base is not necessarily an indication of high speed. The tree trunk was decayed. Its presence saved the front of Roth's store.

It is probable that Gulick's death was instantaneous. He was dead when Patrolman Vanderweg picked him up and carried him into the police station. The remains were viewed by County Physican Westcott and taken to Cole's city morgue.

The front of the car was not much damaged. One pane of glass was knocked out, Gulick's head striking against it.

Gulick was twenty-two years old. He was the son of John N. Gulick, of Park place, and was unmarried. He was at one time assistant janitor of the North Plainfield High School and was also formerly employed by J. H. Leggett, the druggist. He had been in the service of the trolley company since last June. He was a member of Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., and Knights of the Golden Eagle, both of which organizations will be represented at the funeral to be held Wednesday from the late home at 2 o'clock and from Warren chapel at 2:30. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, will be in charge.

It was reported that a woman named Edna Carmody was injured, but in what way could not be learned.

BUILDING INSPECTOR FINDS UNSAFE EDIFICE

Board of Trustees of First M. E. Church to Comply With Order for Some Changes.

THE IMPROVEMENTS

VESTIBULE STEPS AND STAIRCASE NEED TO BE REMODELED.

As Soon as Change is Made Congregation Can Get Out of Building Quickly in Case of Fire—To Commence Work at Once.

T. O. Doane, fire chief and building inspector, is continuing his campaign against unsafe public buildings in this city. About a week ago he requested J. W. Jackson, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the First M. E. church, to see to it that some different arrangement is made in the steps leading from the church and in the staircase leading from the church balcony. The Board has hastened to comply with the Chief's wishes and has instructed Oscar S. Teal, of Newark, an architect who formerly lived here, to draw up plans for necessary alterations.

Chief Doane said yesterday that the steps in the vestibule of the First M. E. church would certainly prove a death trap in case of a sudden rush of an audience following an panic. The steps are semi-circular in shape and it is difficult for one leaving the church to see them. It would be impossible for a number of people in a sudden rush for exit to clear the steps safely. Outside the vestibule doors, the steps leading to the sidewalk are as safe as possible.

The change that Chief Doane suggests is the building of a platform that will remove all steps in the vestibule, the steps outside to lead from it directly.

Another source of danger in the church, says the Chief, is the winding staircase that leads from the gallery and this "must be eliminated."

When these two alterations are made, said the Cheif, the church will be safe, as the exits are sufficient in number and breadth. At present, however, the conditions are "more than dangerous."

Chief Doane was asked if he knew of other churches in the city that required similar changes and replied in the negative.

Architect Teal visited the First M. E. church Saturday. He did not announce his plans. The Board of Trustees has done all in its power to expediate the alterations.

NEWARK TEAM WON THE GAME

PLAINFIELD Y. M. C. A. AGGREGATION DEFEATED AT BASKET BALL.

Lack of familiarity with the floor, poor luck in throwing baskets and generally inferior team work were responsible for Plainfield's defeat Saturday at the hands of Newark. The Y. M. C. A. fives of the two cities met on Newark's floor for their second game. The score was 28 to 9.

Newark's passing was excellent and her play much speedier than Plainfield's. Smith, of Plainfiled, dislocated the finger of his left hand before the end of the first half. Neal made a pretty long distance shot for a goal, but it was disallowed because of a foul made by one of his team mates.

The score: Newark — Stager and Long, forwards; Jones, centre; Pollard and Dalrymple, guards. Plainfield—Hand, Smith and Denton, forwards; Scull and Caboone centre; Heinecke, Neal and Scull, guards. Goals from the floor for Plainfield made by Hand, Scull and Smith. Goals from fouls, Heinecke, Denton. 2. Referee—C. B. Morse. Umpire—Myers, of Newark,. Timekeeper—Wilson. Scorer—Pittinger.

ALIS' BALL TEAM COMPLETED

OPENING GAME ON DIAMOND TO BE PLAYED MAY 23.

The baseball committee of the Alis Club has now completed its teams for the coming season, the only vacancy, that of a second baseman, having just been filled. P. J. Murphy, who plays second base for "Kid" Carsey's team in Brooklyn, has been secured to play that position for Alis. He has the reputation of being an exceptionally fast base runner and a strong batter.

The season will be opened on Saturday, May 23, and a schedule will soon be announced. Inquiries from the best teams in the State for games have been received and the management is endeavoring to arrange, among other games, a series of three with Orange A. C., Trenton Y. M. C. A., and the Roebling team of Trenton, all strong teams.

NO COURTESY TO WICKEDNESS

"MUSCULAR CHRISTIANITY," THEME OF TALK AT MEN'S MEETING.

The men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Hall yesterday afternoon was largely attended. The soloist was Miss Mildred Till, of the Rock Band Concert Company. George M. Rittenhouse presided. and E. C. Martin led the singing. Rev. John McMurray spoke on "Muscular Christianity—Its Principles and Practise." He spoke of man's liking for a fight and the necessity for his fighting the evil in himself and at his own door. He said that "courtesy towards wickedness is poltroonery."

One of his most significant utterances was that it is time to stop fighting—Methodist against Baptist and Protestant against Catholic. It is time to drop differences of creed and join each other in fighting the powers of evil. He said that politics reflect conditions and that if they are evil, we should do our best to better them. "The more diseased the body, the more need it has for treatment." No man is too good to keep out of politics.

Mr. McMurray then made a remarkable attack upon the Plainfield Common Council, a summary of which is printed in another column.

BURGLARS GOT BOOTY IN THE ROTTBERG STORE

Clothing and Jewelry Taken, Forcing Entrance Through the Rear Door.

LIST OF MISSING GOODS

BELIEVED THAT WORK WAS DONE BY PERSONS FAMILIAR WITH CITY.

Act Perpetrated Last Night—Supposition That Small Boy Was Accomplice—The Police Have Been Notified.

Burglars entered Rottberg Brothers' New York Bargain Store, on West Front street, last night and took a large amount of clothing and some jewelry. They were evidently two or more in number and forced their entrance through the rear door of the store, cutting a hole in the door with a small saw which they obtained from the room of the engineer of the building and a penknfie which they found inside the door. It is the opinion of the police and of the members of the firm that the burglary was effected by people well acquainted with the store and building.

A boy's hat, a pair of gloves, boy's overcoat, suit of boy's clothes, size fifteen to sixteen, several suits of men's clothes, four pair of shoes, two bottles of cologne, a number of stick pins and other articles were stolen.

The theory of the Messrs. Rottberg is that the theft was committed by some man who had a boy for his accomplisn. The entrance through the rear door could only have been effected by one of small stature. The burglary occurred some time between 10:30 o'clock last night and 8:30 this morning when the police were notified.

RUSHING TO BALTIMORE'S AID

TEN FIRE ENGINES HURRY FROM NEW YORK THROUGH THIS CITY.

Ten fire engines from the New York fire department, accompanied by a large delegation of firemen and many horses, passed through Plainfield at 7:15 o'clock this morning on the way to Baltimore to lend assistance in putting out the large conflagration which has been raging in that city since yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. The engines were placed on flat cars, two being on each car, while coaches attached for firemen and other cars for the occupancy of horses completed the train. One of the large type of B. and O. R. R. engines took the train to its destination. The trip was made in response to a call for help from Mayor McLean to Mayor McClellan. In addition to the ten engines sent from New York, there were also ten hose carriages, 100 horses and 150 firemen.

The finest carpenter work is done by practical men. That is why the work done by W. H. Kirch is of a satisfactory kind. He has moved from his offices on East Fifth street to his home on Deer street.

The patrons of TenEyck & Harris, the coal dealers, have had the greatest satisfaction with coal purchased of that firm. It is of the best quality, burns clear and free, gives the most heat and there is little waste.

The quality of the jewelry, silverware, watches and diamonds carried by Charles E. Vail, of Park avenue, is the best, representing standard manufacturers. Anything purchased at this store can be depended upon.

The immense quantity of groceries and meats sold by S. Scheuer & Co., of West Front street, speaks nothing but praise of the business done by this firm. There is but one quality, the best, and the price is the lowest to be found in the market.

It is just as easy to buy a hat that is handsomely and tastefully trimmed, up-to-date in shape, and built according to the most approved Paris models. All that is necessary to get a hat of this description is to order one from H. A. Bonn's, West Front street.

Neuman Brothers lead in teas and coffees. They import all their best brands and guarantee them to be unequalled. Trade there and secure the benefit of having your groceries fresh. Unequalled delivery system makes the service between store and house unexcelled in this city.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Girl From Kays" is the greatest musical show New York has ever had. It has set the big town crazy and is drawing packed houses to the Herald Square Theatre, where it is now approaching its 100th performance. This musical comedy provides the completest evening's entertainment one could desire. It delights all classes, and is making a record of triumph which succeeding musical comedies will find it very hard to equal. "The Girl from Kay's" is a great big medley of music, mirth and song with a dazzling back-ground of the prettiest young women the stage affords all wearing the most gorgeous and expensive gowns. The gown display alone is sufficient to attract and hold women theatre-goers. The fun of the piece begins at 8 o'clock and for over three hours it continues, a merry and melodious torrent broken at frequent intervals by the roars of laughter of the audience.

Billboard Nuisance Remedy.

"By what rule of assessment can an Assessor place a fictitious valuation on a sign painted on a farm barn roof or on a country smithy door?" is a conundrum propounded by the Morristown "Chronicle."

Nothing is easier. Enact a law taxing such signs by the square foot of surface disfigured. At a dollar or two a foot, the Township Assessors should find enough to pay pretty nearly all the taxes of a rural district. The Assessors would find the signs easily enough, and the farmers would gladly aid them in locating them.

Any firm whose advertisement is found on rocks or natural scenery should be charged $100 a square foot, with a term in State Prison for failure to pay the tax. The miles of framework built for sign boards should be taxed more lightly, say $1 a square foot, and a sign on a farm house or barn should be taxed not less than $2 a square foot.

At $1 a foot the signs between this city and Trenton would produce not less than $160,000 a year in taxes. As the signs are all in rural sections, where taxes are light, this sum distributed along sixty miles would practically wipe out the local taxes. This would appeal strongly to the farmers, for they just despise taxes.—Jersey City Evening Journal.

BALTIMORE ABLAZE

Worst Fire In History of Monumental City.

TWO HUNDRED MILLIONS LOSS

Fire Brigades Powerless to Check Running Conflagration.

EXPLOSIONS ADDED TO FIRE FEARS

Fire Broke Out In Heart of Business Section—Whole District In Ruins. Hundreds of Warehouses and Stores Destroyed—Banks, Hotels and Distilleries Gave Way Before the Flames.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 8.—The most destructive conflagration in the history of Baltimore has occurred here, raging practically unchecked during many hours, completely destroying scores of the largest business houses in the wholesale district, involving losses which cannot yet be estimated, as the fire was still burning fiercely when night fell. Owing to the wide extent of the calamity it will be a long time before even an approximate estimate can be made, though it is certain that it has already exceeded $200,000,000.

The fire broke out shortly before 11 o'clock in the morning in the wholesale dry goods store of John E. Hurst & Co., on Hopkins place, in the heart of the business district, with a series of loud explosions which were heard in remote parts of the city, and spread with fearful rapidity.

In a half hour there were a dozen big warehouses in the wholesale dry goods and notions district burning fiercely. The entire city fire department was called out, but was utterly powerless to check the spread of the flames, which were aided by high winds, and soon there were savage fires in at least thirty big warehouses, and the conflagration was steadily eating its way into blocks east, north, west and south.

Building after building fell a prey to the flames, and apparently there was no check to the onward sweep of destruction.

On Baltimore street the block between Liberty and Sharp was soon ablaze, then came the next block east to Hanover, and after that the block on the south side to Charles street broke out into flames, the Consolidated Gas company's building and Oehm's Acme hall burning fiercely.

Meanwhile there were stores north of Baltimore street being similarly consumed. Mullins' hotel caught and other buildings near it. West of Liberty street, on the south side of Baltimore, the block was doomed, and the big Baltimore Bargain House also caught.

Down in Hopkins place, where the conflagration started, Hurst's building and the other wholesale houses on both sides of the street crumbled and fell.

The big dry goods houses of Daniel Miller & Sons and R. M. Sutton & Co were soon aflame, and along German, east and west from the Hurst building, there were a dozen buildings burning and scores more threatened. The spectacle of ruin and destruction from any point in these doomed blocks was something appalling.

Mass & Kemper's big wholesale store on Baltimore street quickly succumbed to the flames, and the walls fell with a crash that was heard for squares. The Hurst building was utterly destroyed, not even a wall ten feet high being left standing and apparently the center of the caldron, from whence the flames radiated over the doomed neighborhood.

On Hopkins place the Hopkins Savings bank and the National Exchange bank were gutted by flames, the few streams of water that the firemen were able to turn on them proving utterly ineffectual to even halt the destruction. Here across the street were the ruins of John E. Hurst & Co., and next to it S. Hecht, Jr., & Sons' were in flames. Adjoining was the large building owned by the William Koch Importing company, which was also quickly destroyed.

Across the street the Stanley & Brown Drug Company building was quickly in ruins, while fronting on the Baltimore street side of this block were the Roxbury Rye Distilling company, the building occupied by Silberman & Todes, the house of Allen & Sons, which has hardly been completed, while next to it was the establishment of M. Moses & Co. On the corner was the building occupied by Messrs. Sugar & Shear and several other smaller concerns. All of these were swallowed up in flame, and, in fact, the whole block was nothing but a caldron of fire.

Mullins' hotel, a seven story structure at Liberty and Baltimore streets, was soon in flames from garret to cellar, and the great height and narrowness acted as a torch, which, as a sort of flue, converted the doomed building into a huge and dreadful torch. All the guests of the hotel had been ordered out of the building shortly after the fire broke out in John Hurst's place. There was no panic or confusion, and no one was injured.

Though every bit of fire fighting apparatus in the city was called into requisition, as the flames continued to spread the firemen realized that they had a task before them which was too great for them to combat. Telegrams for fire engines were sent to Washington and Philadelphia, and six engines arriving from Washington and four from Philadelphia joined in the battle with the flames.

Engines from stations in Baltimore, Howard, Anne Arundel and Hartford counties also arrived as soon as possible, some of the apparatus traveling a distance of thirty miles and more.

Water plugs in every section within a radius of half a mile from the fire were in use, and it is roughly estimated that there were 350 hose lines all playing at one time upon different parts of the conflagration.

Owing to the great congestion of fire apparatus, the crowds of people and the general confusion many of the engines from out of town were unable to find a place where they would be of any service.

All kinds of wires had to be cut to clear the way for the fire fighters. The block bounded by German, Liberty, Sharp and Baltimore streets was early found to be doomed, and the firemen turned their attention to saving the buildings on Baltimore street east of Sharp.

The fire was beyond their control, and the flames ran from one building to another in spite of the fact that the firemen had done their best to check the progress of the flames by soaking the structures with water.

A tremendous explosion of about 150 barrels of whisky stored in the upper floors of 24 Hanover street hurled tons of burning matter across the street on to the roofs of the buildings opposite which the firemen were drenching with water in a vain effort to make Hanover street the eastern boundary line of the conflagration. The flames quivered for a few moments under the water, but soon ate into the buildings on the east side.

Two truck wagons caught fire and were consumed, and an engine was buried by a falling wall, the firemen fleeing for their lives.

The whole city was notified of the conflagration by a terrific explosion. A sharp, splitting roar went up with reverberating thunder. This was followed by a peculiar whistling noise like that made by a shrill wind. The churches in the central section of the city were filled with worshipers, many of whom became frightened, and while no panics ensued hundreds of men and women left their seats and went outside to see what had happened. In a few moments the streets and pavements all over the city were crowded with excited people. Another deafening crash occurred, and dense columns of cinders and smoke shot up over the central section of the city and in a huge brown column moved rapidly toward the northeast.

The fire department was helpless with flames steadily traveling eastward on Baltimore and Fayette streets. The Union Trust building soon fell in. The Carrollton hotel then caught. The Herald and News buildings being apparently doomed, the occupants moved out. The Sun also was forced out of its office. Clouds of burning cinders cover the whole city.

The fire soon reached the Continental Trust building, a sixteen story structure, in which is located the main office of the Postal Telegraph company, and Manager B. H. Moore of the Postal company ordered the employees to leave the building.

The fire swept east on Fayette street, which is within a short distance of the courthouse, that occupies the block bounded by Fayette, St. Paul, Lexington and Calvert streets. Opposite is the postoffice, and adjoining this is the temporary custom house, and opposite to this is the city hall. The Calvert office building at Fayette and St. Paul took fire, and the Equitable building, which adjoins it, is threatened. The main office of the Western Union Telegraph company is located in the Equitable building, and the force had to leave for a branch office.

The roof of the building occupied by the Associated Press took fire, and the employees were compelled to vacate, though they had time to take away with them their telegraph instruments, typewriters and other valuable equipment. They found refuge in a branch office of the Western Union company on Gay street, from which this dispatch is being sent. This office was soon vacated, as the flames broke out west and east of it, and volumes of sparks and blazing cinders and splinters went flying in every direction.

For fifteen hours the fire was absolutely beyond control, and all the occupants of buildings in the center of the city rapidly removed their valuables.

At the City hospital, corner of Calvert and Pleasant streets, patients were removed to other hospitals as rapidly as possible. Seventeen injured were brought to this hospital, most of them firemen. They were suffering from burns, scalds and lacerations. Nearly every physician in the city is in the fire district.

Detachments of the Fourth and Fifth regiments have been called out and are patrolling the streets in the vicinity of the fire, guarding property and keeping order.

Fortunately the conflagration did not reach the residential portion of the city, but fires broke out in East Baltimore, and many of the residence streets were invaded.

Not a single morning newspaper was able to get out an issue this morning, with the exception of the Sun, which has an auxiliary plant. There are five morning papers here, three English and two German.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad office building has been destroyed and the Maryland Institute of Art building.

The temporary custom house adjoining the postoffice was destroyed. One hundred and fifty policemen from Philadelphia are assisting the Baltimore police and military detachments.

Many buildings were dynamited in an effort to stop the spread of the fire.

JAPAN'S DEFIANCE.

Tokyo, Tired of Russian Delay, Breaks Off Negotiations.

AMBASSADORS TO LEAVE CAPITALS

Czar Goes to Moscow to Submit His Cause to God at the Altar of Troitzko Monastery—War Cannot Now Be Averted.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 8.—It is officially announced that Count Lamsdorff, the Russian foreign minister, has informed Russian representatives abroad that Japan has decided to break off negotiations with Russia and to withdraw her minister and the entire legation staff from St. Petersburg and that upon the receipt of a note to this effect from the Japanese minister Russia had ordered her minister, Baron de Rosen, and the legation staff to leave Tokyo.

The czar is about to leave here for Moscow, as he goes to the ancient capital to submit his cause and fate to the Almighty before the altar of the Troitzko monastery, as his fathers had done in the past, before drawing the sword.

Although the fear was general here that the presentation of the Russian note to Japan might be followed by an act on the part of the Japanese government which would plunge the two countries into war, the startling action of Japan in severing diplomatic relations with Russia before the actual delivery of the Russian note came like a bolt from a clear sky.

It was believed that the receipt of the note might have unmasked an ultimatum, but that Japan should sever diplomatic relations, a step little short of a declaration of war, was almost like a blow in the face under the present circumstances, and it is resented accordingly. The authorities believe this action places Japan distinctly in the wrong before the world and moreover, after such a "piece of impudence," as it is denominated here, to make easy an appeal to the patriotism of the Russian people.

The news that at any moment Japan had drawn the sword and that the first clash had occurred would not be surprising. The events leading to Japan's abrupt action have marched with great rapidity. The Russian note was already in the hands of Baron de Rosen, Russian minister at Tokyo, for delivery to Baron Komura, the Japanese foreign minister, when M. Kurino, the Japanese minister here, presented himself at the foreign office and informed Foreign Minister Lamsdorff that his government, in view of the delays in connection with the Russian answer and the futility hitherto of the negotiations, considered it useless to continue diplomatic relations and would take such steps as it deemed proper for the protection of Japan's interests. In obedience to instructions, therefore, he asked for his passports.

Exactly what else passed at this interview is not known except that Count Lamsdorff expressed surprise and regret at this hasty resolve of the mikado's government. M. Kurino received his passports, and after consulting with Sir C. S. Scott, the British ambassador here, he returned to his legation, where the preparations for his departure had already commenced.

Another version of the situation at the time M. Kurino notified Count Lamsdorff of the course his government had elected to pursue is that the Russian reply was not in the possession of Baron de Rosen, but in the telegraph office here awaiting transmission and that it was withdrawn before being dispatched. Upon the disclosure of Japan's position the Russian authorities met the situation with great promptness. Instructions recalling Baron de Rosen were forthwith telegraphed, and he was directed to leave Tokyo immediately. Count Lamsdorff's official circular to the Russian representatives abroad, instructing them to inform the governments of the countries to which they are accredited of Japan's action, was then prepared.

With war imminent, orders have been given for a rigid censorship over all information relating to naval and military movements.

The Japanese legation is a scene of great confusion. As if by magic all the Japanese art treasures, bronzes and ivories had disappeared, and the spacious saloons were bare. Servants and attaches, who had been working all night, were still busily packing papers and archives. M. Kurino entered the saloon with his habitual quick and nervous step. His bloodshot eyes gave evidence that he had been a stranger to sleep, but he displayed the impassivity of his race and was without trace of excitement. There was an air of firm resolution about him, however, which was the only noticeable change in his demeanor.

United States Ambassador McCormick was one of M. Kurino's first callers, and later in the day many other diplomats, among whom the minister is popular, came to express to him their regrets at the turn affairs had taken. In the afternoon M. Kurino and his wife made a number of hurried farewell calls, including one at the American embassy.

Four cars are ready at the Warsaw station for the minister and the legation staff, and this train will leave at noon for Berlin. The current business of the Japanese legation will probably be turned over to the British embassy, although it was once thought possible, in view of the fact that Great Britain as Japan's ally might be drawn into the quarrel, that Mr. McCormick might take charge. Mr. McCormick, however, has received no instructions on this point. It is possible that the czar will personally undertake the protection of the Japanese in Russia as Nicholas I. did in the case of the English during the Crimean war.

The Official Messenger publishes the following circular telegram, dated Feb. 6, which has been sent by Count Lamsdorff, the Russian foreign minister, to Russian representatives abroad: "Acting under instructions from his government, the Japanese minister at the imperial court has presented a note which informs the imperial government of the decision of Japan to break off further negotiations and of the recall of her minister and the whole staff of the legation.

"In consequence of this his imperial majesty has been pleased to order that the Russian minister at Tokyo, with the whole staff of the imperial mission, shall leave the capital of Japan without delay.

"Such an attitude on the part of the Tokyo government, which has not even awaited the arrival of the answer of the imperial government which was sent during the last few days, throws the whole responsibility for the consequences which may arise from a rupture of diplomatic negotiations between the two empires on Japan."

A dispatch from Tokyo says a declaration of war is expected soon.

A dispatch says that Japan has forwarded to the powers a statement of the events that led to the breaking off of relations with Russia.

Baron de Rosen, Russian minister at Tokyo, is preparing to withdraw from the capital, but no time has been set for his departure.

There is no popular excitement at Tokyo.

Advices from Port Arthur say the Japanese consul at Chefu has sent a telegram to a Japanese elder at Port Arthur urging the departure of all Japanese from Port Arthur and Port Dalny.

The greatest excitement prevails there. No steamers are available, and the Japanese are trying to charter a sailing vessel. They are hastily selling off their property and winding up their business. Japan has been telegraphically cut off from this port for three days.

A detachment of Japanese troops stationed on the island of Zusima, forty miles from Masampho, Korea, has been ordered to be in readiness to land in Korea in the event of a rupture.

The Japanese commercial agent at Vladivostok has been ordered to leave there.

QUICK ACTION EXPECTED.

Japanese Were Tired of Russian Delays and Insincerity.

TOKYO, Feb. 8.—The severance of diplomatic relations between Russia and Japan appears to be only a step toward war, although when the ministers of Russia and Japan withdraw from their respective posts quick and decisive action is expected.

When Minister of Foreign Affairs Komura on Saturday notified Baron de Rosen, the Russian minister, of Japan's determination to sever diplomatic relations, he is reported to have declared to him that Japan is tired of Russia's delays, evasions and insincerity and has decided to take independent action for the conservation of Japan's oriental interests.

During the final negotiations Japan's repeated requests for an answer were treated in a most unsatisfactory manner. Japan waited until convinced that it was useless to wait longer and has now ended the discussion.

The indications are that there will be no formal declaration of war. Japan will publicly define her position and purposes, and the foreign office has prepared a new statement, which will probably be announced at once. Today Japan will unquestionably seize Korea, and, although Russia has previously intimated that it would not interfere in view of that country's present attitude, developments are eagerly awaited.

WHY JAPAN ACTED.

Russia Declined to Yield on Four Principal Points.

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—A report sent the foreign office here from Port Arthur says that a battle has already been fought and a Japanese fleet sunk. It is said that, while the Japanese government did not wait for the official presentation of the Russian response, the contents of it were communicated privately to M. Kurino, who telegraphed it to his government.

When Count Lamsdorff informed M. Kurino that the response had gone to Viceroy Alexeieff, he did not give him a copy of it, but it is understood that he made known in a general way the Russian position. Russia, while making concessions, declined to yield on the four following points:

First, Japan's right to ask for a treaty covering the sovereignty of Manchuria; second, she insisted upon mutual recognition of the independence of Korea; third, that there should be no fortification of southern Korea which might threaten Russian communications with Port Arthur and Vladivostok, and, fourth, she declined to meet Japan's wishes with regard to a neutral zone on both sides of the Yalu river.

France Will Remain Neutral.

PARIS, Feb. 8.—France will undoubtedly maintain strict neutrality, and she will endeavor in every way to keep from all possible entanglements which might draw her into hostilities. This is primarily due to the belief of French officials that France has no deep interest involved in the region in dispute. Her direct interests in Tonquin are too far from the scene of action to make war a matter of special concern to France.

British Troops Go to Chinwangtae.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 8.—The British regiment the Sherwood foresters has sailed on the steamer Kwang Ping to Chinwangtae, where the railroad from Tientsin to Kinchau passes the great wall.

WAR CANNOT BE AVERTED.

Washington Government Officially Notified by Count Cassini.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—It has been officially announced here at the Russian embassy that the Russian government has received a note from Japan announcing the discontinuance of the negotiations and the interruption of diplomatic relations.

Simultaneously with the receipt of this note it is stated that M. Kurino, the Japanese minister at St. Petersburg, was recalled by his government.

The Russian government then recalled Baron de Rosen, its minister at Tokyo.

The further statement is made that the receipt of Japan's note announcing the interruption of relations occurred before Baron de Rosen had delivered the full reply to Japan.

The Russian government resents what it declares to be an unwarranted interruption of negotiations which, it was hoped up to the last, might result in a peaceful settlement.

All hope of averting war now, it is frankly admitted, has been abandoned by the Russian government. Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, upon receipt of the cablegram from St. Petersburg called upon Acting Secretary of State Loomis and informed him of the interruption of relations.

LONDON CABINET MEETS.

Japan Does Not Expect an Immediate Outbreak of War.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The cabinet council today is in response to an urgent summons, and it will have a very grave situation to discuss because of the war crisis in the far east. There is also an almost equally grave crisis in the near east.

King Edward granted an audience at Buckingham palace to Lord Roberts, commander in chief of the army, and Lord Charles Beresford, commander of the channel fleet, with whom he undoubtedly discussed the far eastern crisis.

Statements of the Japanese case similar to the one issued in Paris have been made also in London, Berlin and other capitals.

As a result of the rupture of diplomatic relations Japan neither seeks nor expects an immediate outbreak of hostilities. She trusts the Chino-American treaty will maintain the open door and the status quo in Manchuria, and she has prepared herself to watch the attitude of Russia in northern Korea. She will not, however, land troops in Korea without a distinct violation of the Korean frontier, in which event she is prepared to act promptly.

HANNA IS DOING WELL.

Physicians Say Heart Action Is Good and No Complications.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—There is no radical change in the condition of Senator Hanna. His extreme weakness is more marked than heretofore, and his temperature is a little higher. Those attending him, however, insist there is nothing significant in these conditions and that there are no developments on which to change their expressed belief that the outlook is hopeful for the senator's recovery. There has been a consultation of Dr. Rixey and two out of town physicians, but the only important development that transpired as to the consultation was that it had been decided to omit the evening calls of the attending physician so as to give the patient rest.

Those who participated in the consultation besides Dr. Rixey, the surgeon general of the navy, who is the regular attending physician, were Dr. Osler, the expert diagnostician of Johns Hopkins university of Baltimore, and Dr. Brewer of New York.

OFFICIALS BURIED IN SNOW.

Vice President and Superintendent Shovel the Beautiful.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Feb. 8.—For twenty-four hours the special train on which high officials of the Great Northern railroad were making a tour of the line was buried in a snowdrift near Niles, N. D. It was regarded as a joke while fuel and provisions remained, but when both were giving out the railroad magnates realized the seriousness of the situation.

Louis W. Hill, second vice president; Frank E. Ward, general manager, and F. W. Blabon, third vice president, went to work with snow shovels. General Superintendent E. L. Brown, Superintendent of Motive Power George Emerson, Superintendent J. C. Howard and General Purchasing Agent Edward James floundered through the snowbanks in search of rail fences. When they returned with fuel, they were impressed into the service. They finally effected their escape and passed through here tired and with blistered hands, but happy.

ELIOT ON LABOR.

Harvard's President Speaks at Boston Trades Assembly.

COMBINATIONS OF MEN ON GREAT SCALE

Employers' and Workers' Conflicts Would Be Decreased if Employees Had a Direct Pecuniary Interest in the Profits.

BOSTON, Feb. 8.—Feneuil hall held one of the largest assemblages in its history when President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard university as the guest of the Boston Central Labor union defined his attitude on the labor question. The floor of the hall was filled with members of the union, while the public occupied the galleries. Many women were present. Among those on the stage were Major Henry L. Higginson, Charles Francis Adams and George McNeill, the labor leader.

President Eliot was introduced by Dennis D. Driscoll, the president of the Central Labor union. His speech was received with marked attention and respect. President Eliot said:

"The opening of the twentieth century has witnessed a remarkable change in the conflict between labor and capital, a change due to a very rapid increase in the effective power of large combinations of men. Democracy has made legal these combinations, whether of laborers or of employers, and applied science has made them possible on an immense scale and over great areas.

"The final outcome of the successful organization of a solid and complete employers' association in any trade or industry is the sucuring of a monopoly of the whole product of that trade or industry, and the final outcome of the successful organization and maintenance of a labor union is a monopoly of all the labor in the trade or industry which the union represents.

"Work out to perfection in practice the theory of the complete national employers' association in any trade and of federated unions all over the country, and we arrive at the successful establishment of two monopolies, one in the labor necessary for making the goods and the other in the goods themselves.

"Steadiness of employment is reasonably desired by both the workman and the employer. Labor is a commodity which should be salable for future delivery and not be merely delivered at a price for the passing day. On the other hand, the enormous investments of capital which many manufacturers now require make it of great consequence to the employer that he should be able to count for at least one year on the cost of his labor.

"Another common need for workmen and employers is that condition of labor which permits that laborer to have a settled place of abode. A nomad population can hardly be a civilized one. Only a firmly settled laboring population, which desires and expects to pass its life in one spot, can be really happy and contented and produce good citizens.

"In manufactures which require large and costly plants and numerous operatives the strife between labor and capital would be pacified in the most substantial and durable manner if means could be found of giving the workmen two things which they now obtain but rarely in a highly organized industry—first, a voice in the discipline of the works, including that very important part of discipline, the dealing with complaints; and, secondly, a direct pecuniary interest besides wages in the proceeds of the combined application of the capital and the labor to the steady production of salable goods.

"The establishment of mutual confidence between capital and labor, based on acquaintance with the methods and results of the business they combined to conduct, would be so precious an achievement that large sacrifices might reasonably be incurred to secure it. One of the results of this mutual confidence and co-operation would be that every workman would see it to be his own interest to improve in every imaginable way the methods of the industry and to impart to the management any idea of improvement which came into his head.

"Two other humane conditions of labor, if generally introduced, would render industrial conflicts less frequent and greatly mitigate their severity. These are the rising wage—rising, that is, with years and experience—and the pension, or retiring allowance, at disability. I see with great satisfaction that these two provisions, both of which prevail in my business, are spreading widely among industrial, financial and transportation companies in the United States."

Plainfield, N. J., Feb. 8, 1904.

The New York Supreme Court has declared a law unconstitutional which prohibits the use of the American flag for advertising purposes. The court that can not twist a constitution into forty different shapes is becoming even rarer than a sound law.

The editor of a Pennsylvania weekly devotes a column of brevier type in publishing the views of contemporaries on his high qualifications for a political office which is fairly itching for him. Editor William Randolph Hearst, the exalted prototype of Editor William Jennings Bryan, holds a patent on that game. However, we are anxiously awaiting his editorial views of his own candidacy.

The sincere advertiser may not produce matter that is flowery or even "catchy"—much abused word—but his announcements will have a ring and a vitality about them that will impress in the right way, and will do the work in the long run. Sincerity is a weapon offensive and defensive; it is the strongest force in the advertising world, and it is because of the ever-growing sincerity in the work that advertising is the greatest power of the day.—Fame.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS' EXHIBITION

WORK OF LOCAL LADS AT RAHWAY ASSOCIATION HIGHLY COMMENDED.

The boys of the local Y. M. C. A. have been warmly commended for their excellent work at Rahway Friday night in their exhibition in calesthenic, gymnastics and basket ball. The boys' departments of Rahway and Plainfield Y. M. C. A.'s. participated in the exercises.

The members of the Rahway boys' department opened the programme with an exhibition of calesthenics, dumbbell drill and apparatus work. Plainfield's boys then took the floor and gave a free hand and dumbbell drill and free floor moves. They marched on the floor forming foure with great precision, moving off in quarter circles with the same military effect.

Three sections were formed for apparatus work under the leadership of Norman Loughlin, Walter Caldwell and William Lambert. There were class and individual movements in all the exercises. The closing performance was on the "elephant," a "horse" covered with mats.

A contest was held in hustle half, Rahway winning two straight games. A chariot race was an exciting and amusing feature of the evening's entertainment. In this two boys from each association raced around the hall, each pair with arms over each other's shoulders. Plainfield's pair won the first match, Rahway's the second and the third was a tie, each team claiming victory.

A "human race" was another event that afforded excitement and laughter. The method in this race was for one boy to carry another on his back the length of the floor "swap" places with him and return. Rahway won two out of three of these contests.

Rahway was likewise victorious in basket ball, winning with a regular team against Plainfield's picked five, by a score of 14 to 2. Plainfield's line-up in the first half was Loughlin and Lambert, forwards; Alpaugh, centre; Caldwell and Stern, guards. In the second half, Vail, Martin and Freeman went in as substitutes.

AN EXHILERATING DRAG-HUNT

JOLLY SPORT ENJOYED BY A NUMBER OF PLAINFIELDERS.

There was a drag-hunt on Saturday afternoon which afforded good sport to those who took part in it. There was enough snow on the ground to make good footing for the horses and the hounds followed the scent well. The first part of the run was over G. P. Mellick's land and out to A. C. Beckstein's on Park avenue, where a check of about ten minutes was made. Then the hounds being laid on the scent again, there was a delightful spin across country through Col. Holly's property and on over the old golf course to Plainfield avenue.

Those riding were C. C. Marshall, W. B. deHaven, C. E. S. Bellows, Capt. and Mrs. Mason Patrick, of West Point; Miss Noe, Westfield; R. A. Shebbeare, New York; Dr M. O'M. Knott and Archibald Mair, whip. Mrs. M. O'M. Knott with Miss Palmer from New York, followed along the roads in a sleigh and saw a good deal of the run, the scent having been laid for some distance within sight of the road.

There will be another hunt Lincoln's birthday at 10 o'clock in the morning, the meet to be held on Watchung avenue opposite the Crescent Avenue church. It is hoped that more people will be tempted to join in the run.

New Pond in Borough.

Residents of Duer street and Park place were much inconvenienced and many wet feet resulted of water overflowing sidewalks at the corner of those two thoroughfares yesterday afternoon and last evening. The iron drain pipe across Park place had frozen, and as a consequence the north side of the street was like a small pond. Mayor Smalley was notified and workmen endeavored to open up the pipe last evening, but were unsuccessful and this morning the pond was still there. Before noon workmen succeeded in draining off a portion of the water by digging a trench across the street.

To Celebrate C. E. Anniversary.

The twenty-third anniversary of Christian Endeavor Day will be celebrated tonight at Trinity Reformed church at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. Rev. J. T. Sproul, president of the State Association, has been engaged to make an address.

A SERMON ON THE JAPANESE

REV. CHARLES E. HERRING DWELLS ON DEVELOPMENT OF THE RACE.

"The Evolution of the Japanese," was the subject of Rev. Charles E. Herring's sermon at the First Presbyterian church, last night. The subject was very appropriate considering the developments in the trouble existing between Japan and Russia, war having practically been declared.

Rev. Mr. Herring did not, however, refer in his discourse to this war. He dwelt more particularly on the Japanese as a race and the development of the nation. A native man is considered valuable only so far as he is of use to his country, said the minister. Another point referred to was that relative to the inequality existing between the Japanese man and woman. This the preacher deplored and he said he hoped the time would soon come when this difference would be removed and the country would be governed more along the lines of America.

To this end he spoke strong words in urging persons to go out as missionaries. He said that there is a large and useful field for missionaries in Japan and he thought the only salvation of this country would come through the united and determined efforts of missionaries.

LORD ALBERT DALMENY.

He Is the Oldest Son and Heir of the Earl of Rosebery and a Man of Wealth.

When the duke of Roxburghe disappointed "eligible" young women in London by choosing an American bride many a matchmaker on both sides of the Atlantic predicted that society's sea would not yield another such a catch in a hurry. There is a young English nobleman, however, who, if not of quite as high rank as Roxburghe's duke, is heir to a title that of late years has come to signify a good deal more. He attained his majority a few weeks ago, and nothing is more likely than that his glance should take the alluring direction of the United States.

This is Lord Rosebery's oldest son, Albert Edward Henry Meyer Archibald Primrose, Lord Dalmeny.

When Lord Dalmeny comes into his full inheritance as sixth earl of Rosebery he will have a title dating back to 1703, a social position of enviable prominence, and an estate comprising in all 32,500 acres. Nor will Lord Rosebery's heir run any risk of being described as a fortune hunter, should he woo an American girl, for his mother, as a daughter of the Rothschilds, brought to her husband a dowry of $12,500,000.

LORD ALBERT DALMENY.

Unlike his father, all Lord Dalmeny's early ambitions tended toward the army. While at Eton he passed his examinations for the service with excellent marks and as soon as the years of Oxford were over he took a lieutenant's commission in the Grenadier guards.

No one knows from whence this young man's marked athletic tastes come, for his father as a young man did not fancy sports which required personal exertion. Lord Dalmeny is a fine cricketer, an excellent football player, and possesses a record that goes back to his early days at Eaton. He also loves horses. He has lately decided to enter politics.

NEW EUROPEAN CANAL.

Its Construction Will Restore Ancient City of Corinth to Its Old-Time Importance.

Few enterprises which have been started in Europe within the last quarter of a century are of greater commercial importance than the new Corinthian canal, a picture of which accompanies this story.

When the project was first proposed many skeptics jeered at it, asserting that it would cost an enormous sum of money and that some of the difficulties in the way would prove practically insurmountable. A syndicate was nevertheless formed and the work was begun. The task of cutting a waterway

CANAL AT CORINTH.
(Engineering Enterprise of Far-Reaching Commercial Importance.)

proved much harder than was expected, but in time all obstacles were removed and the canal was constructed. To the merchants and traders of southern Europe the canal is bound to prove of immense service, since by passing through it their vessels can reach in a few hours points which it formerly took them several days to reach. All the maritime countries of Europe have cordially welcomed the canal and therefore there is every reason to believe that the money and labor spent on it will bear good fruit.

India's Immense Tea Crop.

The half million acres cultivated in tea in Indian produces 190,000,000 pounds, the investment being about $100 an acre. The labor required is 13 persons to the acre. One pound of Indian tea will produce seven and one-half gallons of tea of a given strength, while the tea of China will produce but five gallons.

Music Preserves the Hair.

Musicians, as a rule, have excellent heads of hair. In the prime of life the musician's hair flourishes most, and in every 100 music devotees only one hairless head is met with; while in other professions about 11 in every 100 are bald.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth. 7 Miles from Newark.
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

THE NEW WOMAN

She Stands Up For Her Own Sex

THE twentieth century is considerably more the woman's century than the nineteenth was. A sure proof of it is the ever increasing spirit of affection and helpfulness from woman to woman. I notice it in things small and great. Lately I entered an express train on the New York elevated road at the going home hour. There was one vacant seat. As I went toward it a six foot man, strong and rosy, shoved in and was about to take it, under my very nose. A woman sat next, with a little space each side of her on the long, benchlike row of seats. Instantly, before the man could deposit his large corporosity beside her, she shoved over and filled the space so he could not occupy it without sitting upon her lap, and he hardly ventured to do that. This left a place for me on the other side of the lady, and I was not long in filling that place. A broad smile flitted across the faces of the other passengers as the six foot man passed on and stood in the aisle of the car. It certainly served him right, as he attempted to possess himself of the seat although I had entered the car ahead of him. I fear that is a specimen of the average New York city man's treatment of women in public conveyances. But it pleased me more than I can tell you to see how woman thus stood up for her sister woman, even though she had never seen this sister before, probably never would see her again. I observe the like thing almost every day in the street cars, women crowding up, even inconveniencing themselves, so that another woman may not have to hang to a strap with her parcels under her arm. I notice, too, that when a woman with a child in her arms enters a car it is in nearly every case a woman who rises to offer her a seat before any man does so. There is ever growing the great secret sisterhood of woman, bound by no written laws, known only between woman heart and woman heart, the sisterhood whose motto is helpfulness to all the feminine half of the race.

Recently in the rush hours on the platform of an elevated railway station a crowd of New York city men knocked a woman down and trampled upon her.

I have had the pleasure of seeing a new church window just finished by Miss Mary Tillinghast, whom women are proud of as America's leading stained glass artist. The figures in this window are exquisite illustrations of form and color. There are three, representing respectively the recording angel, charity and the angel of the resurrection. Consciously or unconsciously Miss Tillinghast embodies in her angels the Swedenborgian teaching that the higher orders of spirits are neither male nor female, but beings blending the characteristics of both sexes.

The profound dicta of writing and preaching men moralists on the subject of women and matrimony remind one of the famous alleged saying of Socrates, "Whether you marry or don't marry, you will regret it."

Miss Carmelita Beckwith manages the "department of publicity" of one of the largest electric lighting and heating companies in America. Her headquarters are in New York. She also edits the company's monthly bulletin and is making it a very handsome and interesting magazine.

A noble and touching example of womanly resourcefulness has been afforded by some of the French nuns thrown out of employment through the disbanding of the schools they taught. There were hundreds of these sisters, and their means of earning a living was gone. They asked for no charity or even sympathy. These heroic women simply announced that they would do domestic work in French families provided they were allowed to wear still the habit of their order and were addressed as "sister" instead of by their first names.

Don't shoot off your mouth prematurely. It is more dangerous than the premature discharge of a cannon.

An association of ladies in London are establishing a new order in the world of domestic service. They have a central home or lodging house for women thoroughly trained in housework. Thence the women go out by the day, working a stated number of hours for a stated price, at the end of the time going home to their own lodging house. The plan is admirable and is slowly becoming popular. Under it a family gets rid of lodging the girls who do the housework, and the girls themselves have a home and can call their souls their own when they are off duty. This system will certainly be adopted in cities in the future.

It is a glorious augury for the twentieth century that in the first years of it the greatest scientific discovery in fifty years was made by a woman. Mme. Curie, who first separated radium from pitchblende. It is true her husband is entitled to part of the credit, for the two worked together, but the wife first made the actual discovery.

There is a disadvantage in being a queen. Everybody knows her age, and her birthday has to be celebrated every year.

SOME MIGHTY APES.

Valuable Collection Recently Presented to Philadelphia Academy of Natural Sciences.

The Darwinian theory of the descent of man may soon be studied at close range, owing to generosity of a prominent Philadelphian, Dr. Thomas Biddle, who has just returned from Europe with what is believed to be the most complete collection of anthropoid apes ever [illegible] by one person. The specimens [illegible] gathered from various sources and [illegible] by the German taxidermist, [illegible]. Among them is a fine specimen [illegible] that rarely secured animal, the [illegible]. On account of its immense [illegible] and ferocity when cornered it has been most difficult even to obtain a dead specimen of the gorilla family, it being necessary to risk life in order to track it to its lair in the interior of Africa. The specimen secured by Dr. Biddle was shot by a venturesome German, George Zenker, near the Yaunde station, Western Africa, a little to the north of the equator.

The New York Tribune says that the height of this gorilla is a little over five feet, and the strongest man would probably be a plaything in its hands. To some monkeys, despite their lack of good looks, the expression "cute" may apply, but it is not possible to so describe the gorilla. With his flat nose, enormous jaws and protruding teeth, the thick neck and bulging chest, this ape is far from the human ideal of a handsome animal.

AN AFRICAN GORILLA.
(Posed for the Camera by the Natives Who Killed Him.)

When he can, the gorilla will run from a man, and as no one has been particularly anxious to come to close quarters with him, it is not possible to speak with assurance of his mode of life. It is said that he travels for the most part on all fours, and only rises on his hind legs to resist attack. It is also said that he builds himself a home in the trees.

The collection contains three specimens of the chimpanzee. One is the ordinary chimpanzee, another the bald chimpanzee and the third a variety called the Koola Kamba.

The chimpanzees are more intelligent than the gorilla, and have been trained in captivity to do tricks. Naturalists have been long at odds as to the number of their species, as well as those of the orang-outang, of which a fine specimen is included in the collection presented to the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia by Dr. Biddle. The specimen presented by Dr. Biddle has a great lateral expansion of the cheeks.

Marquis Ito, Whose Death Is Alleged to Have Been Planned by a Tokio Assassin.

Marquis Ito, a plot against whose life has just been disclosed, is a statesman of great renown, and also an able naval and military officer. He commanded the fleet in 1894 when the Japanese ships, though considerably fewer in number, destroyed the Chinese navy.

THE MARQUIS ITO.
(Japan's Greatest Statesman and One of the World's Cleverest Diplomats.)

Ito has been prime minister on two or three occasions, and for 25 years has been the close adviser of the mikado. He has traveled extensively in Europe and America, has studied political science with the utmost care, and at times has been called by his admirers the Bismarck and the Gladstone of Japan.

Saved by Toss of Nickel.

The jury in a case of assault with intent to kill, which was tried in Lawrenceville, Ind., reached an agreement in a novel way. They had been out a long time and failed to agree. It was then decided that each juror should put a nickel in a hat, and after the coins were well shaken up, they were to be thrown out upon a table. If there were more heads up than tails, the verdict should be an acquittal. Heads won, and the prisoner, George L. Ryan, was declared innocent.

STANDARD TIME.

How the Change from Solar Time Was Effected in Baltimore Twenty Years Ago.

Previous to November 18, 1883, there had been as many different kinds of time in the United States as there were cities, towns and villages, and it was necessary for a traveler in those days to be moving his watch backward and forward as he progressed over the country. Railroads, in their attempt to use some special time throughout their systems, reached or left a town ahead or behind the scheduled time, according to the local standards.

The new system finally adopted was a simple one, and has proved most successful, says the Baltimore News. Previously each town or city based its local time upon mean sun time, but the new system abolished this, and, dividing the country into certain districts, parallel of longitude being the boundaries, adopted as standard time for all the territory within the prescribed boundaries the mean sun time for the central degree of longitude.

After this system had been worked out and approved by the United States government officials, it was decided to put it into operation on November 18, which was Sunday, and on the same day the railroads of the country put into effect new winter schedules. Plans for inauguration of the new system of time caused much excitement everywhere, as it meant that all watches and clocks would have to be changed, and that many people were going to lose several minutes out of their lives, while many more were going to gain several minutes.

In Baltimore the proposed change caused much interest, as local time here was six minutes and 28 seconds faster than the seventy-fifth meridian time, and all clocks and watches had to be set back that much. Lieut. Commander Thomas Perry, United States navy, who had figured out Baltimore time, found that the Washington monument here was situated at longitude 76 degrees 36 minutes and 59 seconds west of Greenwich, England, where the calculation of the world's longitude begins, and that sun time here was five hours six minutes and 28 seconds behind Greenwich time. With the corrections under the present system, Baltimore time is exactly five hours slower than Greenwich time.

It was arranged for the convenience of Baltimoreans that the new official time should be struck off at noon by "Big Sam," the bell in the city hall tower, and should also be sent out over the fire alarm telegraph and struck off by the bells on the engine houses throughout the city. As usual, the city hall clock was out of order, and "Big Sam" refused to work, so Mr. A. Lehman, to whom had been delegated the job, used a sledge hammer to make "Big Sam" toll the new time. He depended upon his watch, and started to work five seconds too soon.

Chief Charles J. McAleese received the accurate time by telegraph from Washington, and sent out over the fire alarm telegraph, and the bells all over the city notified the people that it was time to jump their watches and clocks six minutes and 28 seconds ahead. The new time was generally in use in homes on Sunday afternoon, and went into effect in business houses the next day. Railroads adopted it at noon.

For a few days the use of the new time created some confusion, a few people refusing to adopt it, but finally it came into general use, and in the years since Baltimoreans have entirely forgotten the day that was six minutes and 28 seconds short of 24 hours. In Washington, however, because of the attorney general's ruling that only congress could change the time, it was several weeks before the new time became standard.

One of the great disadvantages under the old system was the difference in time between near-by cities. Philadelphia time, for instance, was five minutes faster than Baltimore time, and New York time was nearly 10½ minutes faster

TEN YEARS IN CONGRESS.

Twenty-Five Veterans in House of Representatives Who Feel Like Having a Good Time.

There are 25 men who began their service in the house in the Fifty-third congress and who have served continuously since and are now entering upon their sixth term. For ten years they have been associated with each other, and the fact that so many beginning at that time should be reelected for five successive times has started some talk about the formation of a club, something like the Tantalus club, which should give a dinner once or twice during the winter. The difficulty with the Tantalus club is that it continues to grow on account of new members.

The Fifty-third Congress club cannot grow and is bound to decrease in numbers. Those who are eligible to the Fifty-third Congress club are Adams, of Pennsylvania; Babcock, of Wisconsin; Bartholdt, of Missouri; Cooper, of Wisconsin; Cooper, of Texas; Cousins, of Iowa; Curtis, of Kansas; Dinsmore, of Arkansas; Dovener, of West Virginia; Gardner, of New Jersey; Gillet, of New York; Gillett, of Massachusetts; Little, of Arkansas; Loudenslager, of New Jersey; McCall, of Massachusetts; McCleary, of Minnesota; Maddox, of Georgia; Mahon, of Pennsylvania; Parker, of New Jersey; Swanson, of Virginia; Tate, of Georgia; Tawney, of Minnesota; Van Voorhis, of Ohio; Wanger, of Pennsylvania, and Williams, of Mississippi.

These men, who were all cubs back in that congress which met first in the summer of 1893 to repeal the silver purchase act, have quite a fondness for one another. Naturally, as new members, they were thrown in each other's society. In that congress they had little to do save to sit back and watch the wheels go round. So engrossed with themselves and the business of the house were the older members that they paid little attention to these new men, who sort of flocked by themselves.

But they are no longer the men who were merely onlookers. One of them, Williams, is the minority leader; another, Tawney, is the republican "whip" and the speaker's right hand man. One, Babcock, has been chairman of the republican congressional campaign committee in five successive and successful campaigns; one, Cooper, of Wisconsin, is chairman of the insular committee. Dinsmore is the ranking minority member of foreign affairs. Nearly every one of them has taken a prominent place in the house.

BRITISH ROYAL MATCH.

Prince Alexander of Teck Soon to Be the Husband of Pretty Princess Alice of Albany.

London society is just now greatly interested in the forthcoming royal wedding. Princess Alice of Albany, the bride-to-be, is the daughter of the late duke of Albany, the sister of the reigning duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, the niece of King Edward VII., the cousin of the queen of Holland and the niece of the reigning prince of Waldeck-Pyrmont, and as the wife of Prince Alexander of Teck she will be the sister-in-law of the princess of Wales. She is already a cousin of the prince of Wales and was named after the late Queen Victoria's favorite daughter, who married the grand duke of Hesse. Princess Alice was born at Windsor castle February 25, 1883, is a lady of the Royal Order of Victoria and Albert and, like her mother, has been engaged in many good offices since her childhood. It is interesting to recall the fact that her fiancee, Prince Alexander of Teck, has Hungarian blood in his veins through his grandmother. The late duke of Teck's father was a prince of the house of Wurtemberg and married Countess Derhedy.

BURIAL CUSTOMS CHANGE.

The Gloom of Funerals Has Been Relieved to a Degree in Later Years.

"It used to be thought almost sacrilegious to attempt in any way to dispel the suggestion of death and gloom at a funeral, and every cortege, no matter what the social or financial condition of the people, had to have its sombre hearse, coal black horses and general atmosphere of crape and black bordered handkerchiefs," said an undertaker the other day, to a New York Tribune man.

"Fifteen years ago such a sight as a funeral party dressed in bright colors accompanying a body being borne to its last resting place in a blue and silver hearse, as was the case in London recently, would have horrified staid Americans," he continued. "To-day, although they frown upon such an open lack of respect to the dead, the people here are gradually working up to a condition where such sights will be viewed with perfect equanimity, and it can be said with truth that the old fashioned funeral is a thing of the past.

"The absence of that depressing atmosphere and general suggestion of the tomb is nowhere more noticeable than in the house of death itself. Formerly it was the undertaker's duty to repair to the house a few hours before the time set for the funeral and drape everything in the room where the body lay—mirrors, pictures, mantel, windows and the bier—with black crape. Daylight was almost wholly excluded, and the entire place wore such a doleful appearance that a person of any imagination and susceptibility could not remain in the house long without having a touch of the blues.

"To-day almost no crape is displayed at the better class of funerals. Even the old-time insignia of death at the front door is replaced in most cases with a wreath of flowers or ivy, while the interior of the house or church is made bright and attractive by the use of flowers, greens, etc. The immediate family of the dead may wear mourning at the funeral, but black or sombre colors are no more in evidence than on other occasions.

"The color of coffins, too, has undergone a change. Plumes are relegated to the country districts. Hearses now have several sets of hangings—black to go with black coffins, gray for coffins of that color, and white for small children. Very often black horses are used when the coffin is black, but gray horses are seen as often as black ones.

"To my mind the most important innovation is noticeable at the cemeteries. Formerly a funeral party had to stand about the grave, no matter how inclement the weather, unprotected from the elements, and often bareheaded. Now things are different. Recently tents have been introduced, and these are spread over the grave and a good size plot of ground surrounding it. Being enclosed on all four sides, those within are protected from the weather as well as from the eyes of the curious.

"Matting is spread on the ground and delicate women can alight from the carriages at the entrance to the tent and enter the vehicles again after the service is over without having touched their feet to the ground. Again, flowers and greens have been called into play, and now the grave itself, the earth that is thrown out and the masonry are covered with evergreens or flowers."

MISTAKE OF MANKIND.

It Lies in Doing Only as Well as We Know How, When We Should Do Better.

Doing as well as we know how is ordinarily considered a very creditable performance. One who can honestly say that he has done as well as he knows how is likely to take credit to himself for his doing; and, in passing judgment on another for his conduct, we are inclined to commend him if he, or if we can say that he has done as well as he knows how. Yet just here is a common mistake of mankind. All of us ought to do better than we know how. Doing only as well as we know how may be a lack and a failure on our part, says the Detroit Free Press.

Doing better than one knows how, doing better than one's best, is the duty and the practical attainment of every person who wants to fill his place in the world and help his fellows as he should. One who expects to be limited, in his work and in his endeavors, by the best that he has done, or by the best that others have done, or by what he can do, is practically without the noblest ambition, and certainly without the highest aspirations. To be stopped by the thought of the impossible is to be held within the bounds of the ordinary and the commonplace.

All substantial progress in this world is by doing better than one knows how. Every great explorer and discoverer and inventor and pioneer and master missionary, in all lands and on all seas, and in all ages, has secured to the world and to his fellows results and advantages of priceless value, and has proved himself a benefactor of his race, because he was not limited by precedents and possibilities, but was determined to do better than his best, better than he knew how.

HISTORIC BANNER PRESENTED TO STATE

Plainfielders Witnessed Ceremony at Trenton, Speeches Being Made in State House.

GEN. DRAKE'S REMARKS

GOVERNOR MURPHY AND SENATOR KEAN REPLY.

Story of the Old Flag—General's Party Entertained by Wilkes Post—About Two Hundred Were Present.

General J. Madison Drake, of Elizabeth, presented to the State last night the first American flag unfurled on secession soil during the Great Rebellion. The formal ceremony took place in the Governor's room, in the State House, at Trenton, in the presence of 200 persons, among whom were a number of Plainfielders including former City Judge W. R. Codington, Collector Frank H. Smith, former President of Common Council James F. Buckle Assemblyman Charles L. Moffett, Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer, of North Plainfield, and Wm. Newcorn, Esq.

Silas Dewey Drake, of Lincoln, a brother of General Drake, carried the old flag into the room and the speech of presentation was made by the Elizabeth editor. He said:

"Governor Murphy—A few survivors of the Third Regiment, New Jersey Volunteer Militia, called into the service of the United States by the first proclamation of the immortal Lincoln, accompany me tonight to entrust to your official keeping the staff and colors used by that command during the first campaign of the war for the Union.

"The colors, made by the dainty hands of patriotic women of Trenton in April, 1861, and originally intended for Company C, Wilkinson Guards, were formally presented by them to the Third Regiment the day previous to its departure for the defense of the National Capital. The ceremony took place in front of the residence of Mr. Frederick Wilkinson in East State street, and was witnessed by a large concourse of people.

"This sacred relic of troublous times, long since happily passed, has the distinction of being the only home-made flag used by a New Jersey regiment during the Civil War, and, while it did not wave in the forefront of battle during our brief but important term of service, owing to a lack of opportunity, it was the first Union regimental color unfurled on Virginia soil at the head of what soon after became the Army of the Potomac May 24, 1861.

"Lieutenant Franklin S. Mills, of Company D, Third Regiment, correspondent of the Trenton True American, after the advance of our troops into Virginia, makes this statement in his letter to that paper:

"'* * * The first American flag unfurled on secession ground was the flag carried by the Third Rgeiment, and Ensign Drake, who carried it, planted it.'

"Upon the muster out of the regiment, in Trenton, a few days after the Battle of Bull Run, I deposited the colors, which I had the honor to bear throughout the campaign, in the house of the America Hose Company, which organization I had commanded for several years.

"In 1875 the America company, en route to the eastern states on a pleasure excursion, stopped at Elizabeth, and in the presence of a vast crowd of people, Hon. William Barton, on behalf of the company, in eloquent words, presented me with the colors.

"Since that time the relic, although in my possession, has been proudly borne by worthy members of the Veteran Zouaves of Elizabeth in their triumphal pleasure tours including their trip across the American Continent to San Francisco in 1886.

"An ancient historian relates that the Romans erected monuments upon hills to celebrate the deeds of their heroes, and that the parents of Roman youth, in bidding them study the inscriptions carved in enduring marble, told that they, too, would have monuments erected to their memory, and the records of their lives carved upon them if they emulated the virtues and practiced the examples of those who have gone before.

"And so, Governor, we trust, will this old and tattered flag be an inspiration to those who come after us—an incentive for all to love our country and manfully defend its bene-

Mt. Mary's baseball team fair closed in the T. A. B. Hall on West Fourth street, last night, after a most successful week's run in which the committee reports that a sufficient amount was realized which will warrant erecting a suitable grandstand and an enclosed grounds next season besides adding a snug sum to add to the fund necessary in securing the pick of professional twirlers from Hoboken and Jersey City. A closing attraction was the popular songs sung last night by Raphael Troice, of New York.

THEY OBSERVED ENDEAVOR DAY

TRINITY REFORMED SOCIETY LISTENED TO MR. SPROUL'S ADDRESS.

"Endeavor Day" was appropriately observed by the Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church, last night, at which time there was a programme of more than ordinary interest. H. C. Crawford was the leader of the meeting and there was a cornet solo by Edmund Young, accompanied on the piano by Miss May Randolph.

The address of the evening was given by Rev. J. T. Sproul, of Arlington, president of the State Union, it being a spiritual and helpful talk. He said that there are now three and a half million Endeavorers composing 64,000 societies. He said that the responsibility on the part of the Endeavorers is now more than ever before, which means vital, living relations with Christ. The "quiet hour" was urgently recommended, stating that more intimacy with Jesus will give that power which is needed so much.

The speaker urged possession of the Holy Spirit and the positive need of personal work and his address throughout was in the nature of a personal heart to heart talk which was very impressive and aroused the Endeavorers to a feeling of greater responsibility.

The collection received at the close of the meeting will be given to the Endeavor church building fund.

Mr. Brunson Improving.

Augustus J. Brunson, who sustained severe injuries several days ago through a gasolene explosion, is reported is being much improved. The burns are now rapidly healing and the patient suffers less pain.

PYTHIANS' DANCE DREW A BIG CROWD

Jolly Time at the Casino Enjoyed by at Least Five Hundred Persons.

THE VISITING KNIGHTS

VAUDEVILLE PERFORMANCE A FEATURE OF THE AFFAIR.

Brig.-Gen. Hitchcock and Staff, of Newark, and Delegations From Dunellen, Somerville, Elizabeth and Others Places There.

Everybody enjoyed himself last night at the first annual military ball and entertainment given by Crescent Company, No. 13, U. R. K. P., at the Casino. There were five to six hundred people in attendance, among them many from Elizabeth, Somerville and Dunellen, as well as August Riebstein, of No. 5 Company, of New York, Brig. Gen. Hitchcock and staff, of Newark and delegations from companies in Jersey City, Brooklyn and New York.

There was amusement for everybody according to his taste. Those who preferred to listen to songs and witness vaudeville "stunts" had their wants anticipated. Those who were fond of eating were amply provided for with an elaborate luncheon by Thomas Timbo. Those who wished could dance their fill to the excellent music of Eugene O'Reilley's orchestra.

The vaudeville programme was provided by a combination of local and professional talent. W. N. Runyon was pianist and general accompanist. The Euterpean quartette, composed of Elmer D. Cutting, E. Maxwell Honeyman, Sydney E. Titsworth and Isaac Allen, sang several selections. Mr. Cutting, with Clifford Braider as accompanist, sang three illustrated songs, "Louisiana Home," "Down on the Farm," and the "City of Sighs and Tears." The lantern slides were operated by Charles Vail. This part of the entertainment closed with selections by Malcolm Shackleford and Charles Simerson, professional vocalists and banjoists.

Dancing was continued until early morning.

The committee in charge consisted of Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., Phillip Jahn and Elmer D. Cutting. The floor was in charge of William Feiring. John H. Cose, Harry Kean and William Baker contributed valuable services as assistants.

AMATEUR ACTORS AT CASINO

WILLARD DRAMATIC CLUB TO PRESENT "WHO IS WHO."

The members of the Willard Dramatic Club are rehearsing for a presentation of a two-act comedy, "Who is Who," at the Casino on Washington's birthday in connection with an entertainment to be given by Manager Maze Edwards, of the Casino. The play is of the "roaring farce" variety, and the parts are capably cast. Members of the club who have made special successes in other plays given by the club this year will appear in the five parts.

Walter Emmons will appear as a model young bachelor and Mortimer Slater will be a valet, both parts presenting exceptionally good opportunities for humorous character work. A. E. Willard will have a good field for his varied talents in the role of a country gentleman. To show that the two women's parts in the play will be excellently acted, it is necessary only to mention the names of the performers, Mrs. A. E. Willard and Miss Ethel Reynolds.

The club is continuing its rehearsals of "Faust," which will be put on the boards later in the year. An unusually spirited rehearsal of the two plays was held last night.

New members of the club are Miss Ising, of Dunellen, a pianist of talent, and Frank Mailn, a violinist of professional calibre.

Surprised John Manley.

In honor of his forty-first birthday, the members of a Grove street organization tendered a surprise party to John Manley on Park avenue last night. There were about thirty people present and a most enjoyable evening was spent. Music, games and singing were the principal features of the evening's programme. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

BIRD WILL CASE SETTLED

AMICABLE ARRANGEMENT ON BASIS OF WILL DRAWN BY MR. MOY.

The contest over the probate of the wills of William Bird, father of Major Harrison K. Bird, military secretary to Gov. Odell, has been settled out of court. Three wills, each purporting to be the last drawn by Mr. Bird, were produced by different relatives, and the proceedings before the New York Surrogate developed the fact that there had been a bitter quarrel in the Bird family.

Though three wills were filed, it was stated that Mr. Bird had executed as many as six. He died at the home of his brother Howard, at Dunellen, on Dec. 20 last. The will offered for probate at New Brunswick, was executed about three weeks before he died. Two prior wills, one executed on April 4, 1903, and the other in 1902, were filed for probate here. The will of April, 1903, made Major Bird sole legatee, and left out his brothers and sisters. The contest was instituted in behalf of Howard Bird and Annie E. Marlow, a sister, and Constant M. and Ada Bird, children of Joseph Bird, president of the Manhattan Savings Institution, another brother of the testator.

The compromise, it is understood, provides that the bulk of the fortune shall go to Major Bird, and that Mrs. Annie E. Marlow and Howard Bird shall receive $10,000 each. The nephew and niece are also provided for. The last will was drawn by George W. V. Moy, Esq., of this city on Dec. 1, 1903 and in it bequests of $10,000 each were made to Howard Bird and Miss A. E. Marslow.

PEDESTRIANS ANNOYED BY "TUMBLER" CROWD

B. T. VanBuskirk, Among Others, Has Complained That the Loiterers Annoy Him.

USE INSULTING WORDS

LETTER TO THE DAILY PRESS RELATING TO THE NUISANCE.

"Catcalls" of the Loungers—Women, It is Said, Have Been Subjected to the Annoyance—Meet at North Ave. and Richmond St.

Persons have complained a number of times recently about a crowd of young men who loiter about North avenue above Richmond street. Women have been insulted by them, it is alleged, at times and some men who are obliged to pass through that thoroughfare on their way back and forth between their homes and shop are subject to cutting remarks. The members of this crowd, which is known as the "Tumblers," are young men who are not regularly employed, it is said.

It has been reported that the trouble in that locality originated in some labor troubles but this is denied by some of those who are molested. They claim that it is merely personal spite and a spirit of mischief.

One man who has been molested more than many of the others is B. T. VanBuskirk, who lives in that vicinity. He declares that when he goes to and from the workshop he is greeted by "cat calls" and offensive names.

This letter has been received at this office in reference to the matter:

"Editor, The Daily Press:

"With regret, I am sorry to say that in the vicinity of North avenue above Richmond street, that your city has some unprincipled persons who cannot, it seems, allow a quiet citizen to pass on the street unmolested. The writer has no idea that your efficient police department is aware of the actions of these persons. It seems to me that young men of education and ability at this era of the century should know better than to molest inoffensive persons on the street, passing quietly to their homes and in no way interfering with any one. Your writer has taken this method of trying to break up this nuisance. Hoping you will give this a space in your highly esteemed paper, I am sir,"

"Yours, etc,
A Citizen."

BERGERON'S WORK.

Hypnotist Affords Amusement to a Big Crowd by Making His "Subjects" Perform Antics.

The performance of Bergeron, the hypnotist, at the Central Theatre last night, was high-class in every particular. The strange antics through which he put a dozen "subjects" caused much amusement. Tonight he will place a woman in a hypnotic trance in which she will remain until 9 o'clock tomorrow night. During the day she will be exhibited in a window on Front street, and she will be revived at Wednesday night's performance. She will disclose strange things, so the hypnotist avers, and tell fortunes free of charge at tonight's performance.

INSTRUCTIVE TALKS HEARD BY MEN'S CLUB

Beneficial Form of Entertainment Given by Congregational Church Organization.

A LECTURE TONIGHT

ALEXANDER MILLER, SECRETARY, OF UNION PACIFIC ROAD TO SPEAK.

To Tell the Story of the First Trans-Continental Road—Lectures Already Given by Joseph E. Morse and Others.

Alexander Miller, of Madison avenue, secretary of the Union Pacific Railroad, will give a talk before the Men's Club of the Congregational church tonight, on the story of the first trans-continental railroad. Owing to his extensive knowledge of railroad work the address should be of peculiar interest. Mr. Miller is an entertaining speaker.

This club, although small in membership, has been very active and a noteworthy fact is that of the recent talks given at the meetings all have been by members of the club who hold important positions in the business world. The first talk was given by Joseph E. Morse, of Franklin place, an organizer of the club. He is chief engineer of the Tidewater Oil Company, and he gave valuable information concerning petroleum. William B. Wadsworth, of West Eighth street, a broker and operator in Wall street, was the second one to give an address, his subject being "Wall Street." He told some of the inside history of that important trade centre.

William McIntosh, superintendent of motive power on the New Jersey Central, was the third speaker. He dwelt on the motive power of a great railroad and gave those present a clear insight into the multifarious duties connected with this department. Tonight Mr. Miller will continue the series by telling of the first trans-continental railroad. More than usual interest has been aroused by these talks which is shown by the large attendance of members and friends.

Plainfield won the meet, which was held in its own gymnasium, and besides capturing four of the five events, established records for the Eastern section of State Y. M. C. A.s in three events.

Raymond M. Smith established a record of 1 minute, 43 3-5 seconds in the potato race. Walter McNaughton destroyed all Eastern records in the high dive and came close to breaking the national record, and O. H. Munger shattered the best previous eastern mark in the three standing broad jumps.

Plainfield's total points, calculated according to the Y. M. C. A. system, were 462½; Newark was second with 415 points; Summit was third with 380½ points; Orange fourth with 268 points; and Jersey City fifth and last with 206.

In the running high dive, Walter McNaughton, of Plainfield, won at five feet, eleven, the eastern record. He tried for the National record at six feet, ¼ inch, and on one attempt cleared it, but struck the stick with his knee in coming down. He was roundly applauded for his good work. John Allen, of Newark, gave him a close rub but had to fall out at five feet, ten inches. A. Poeller, Jr., of Orange, and Albion Buckley, of Summit, were tied for third position at five feet, eight. The national record of six feet in this event is held by Buffalo.

O. S. Munger's record mark in the three standing broad jumps was 29 feet, ½ inch. Otto Kollmar, of Newark, was second, with 29 feet; and A. Poeller, Jr., of Orange, third, with 27 feet, 10½ inches.

H. Todd, of Newark, established a new State record in the running high jmup. He cleared five feet, six inches; Charles Dean, of Summit, negotiated five feet, four; and Walter McNaughton, of Plainfield, scored a third place at five feet, two inches.

The twelve-pound shot put was another "pipe" for O. H. Munger, of Plainfield, who hurled the spheroid 39 feet, 4½ inches. Second prizes went to H. Shonher, of Newark, with a put of 53 feet, 6¼ inches, and third medal was won by Charles Dean, of Summit, with 35 feet, ¾ inch.

In the potato race, George Curtin, of Newark, was second to Smith, of Plainfield. Curtin's time was 1 min., 43 3-5 sec.; and the time of Willard Halsey, of Summit, third prize winner, was 1.46 3-5.

Newark was a close competitor of Plainfield in all the events and the local team was not sure of victory until the final event had been run. A large crowd witnessed the games and was enthusiastic in cheering on Plainfield's three place winners, McNaughton, Munger and Smith. A splendid exhibition of club swinging was given by Fred Metz, the national champion.

Credit for the successful management of the meet goes to Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood, who had general charge of the entire affair. The officials were: Referee, George T. Hepbron, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Amateur League of North America; final scorer, John Valiant; assistants, H. S. Brokaw in the three standing broad jumps; E. W. Poinier, in the running high jump, John Steiner, in the shot put, J. W. Gavett, in the running high dive, and John Doane, in the potato race. The judges were the four physical directors, A. M. Chesley, of Orange, in the shot put; F. W. Dixon, of Summit, in the high jump; Leonard M. Smith, of Newark, in the high dive; James E. Downey, of Jersey City, in the three broad jumps. John Steiner judged the potato race. The timers were Messrs. Chesley, Smith, Downey and Poinier. Other officials were Walter L. Long, judge; William Heinecke, W. E. Neal, Percy Hand and F. Marclay, measurers.

LEGISLATIVE MANUAL.

Issue for 1904 Filled With Information About New Jersey, Its Officials and Election Figures.

Fitzgerald's Legislative Maunal, which has come to be regarded as indispensable by persons who wish to be informed upon the affairs of this State, has made its appearance for 1904. This little volume is a veritable multum in parvo and grows better each year. Almost anything one wants to know concerning the State government can be found on its pages. There is a brief history of New Jersey from its discovery by old Hendric Hudson down to the present day. It tells who are the officials of the State, something about their careers, what their salaries are and when their terms expire. The election figures of each voting district in the State are given in detail, together with other statistics of value.

A portrait of Governor Murphy is given, besides illustrations of the State house and new Senate chamber and maps showing the counties of the State and the boundaries of the new Congressional districts.

S. S. SWACKHAMER'S SPEECH

HIS RESPONSE TO A TOAST AT HUDSON COUNTY BAR'S BANQUET.

Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer's address before the Hudson County Bar Association has attracted much attention. The speech was delivered before a number of judges and vice chancellors from all parts of the State in the Hudson County Clubhouse in Jersey City last week. His subject was "Obiter Dicta." He told how important it is to have dignified and authoritative judges on the bench. The speaker was introduced by President Griffith of the Bar Association.

He said in part: "The law is of supreme dignity and authority. Of the three great departments of government the Judiciary is controlling. It lays down the dead line before the Legislature and limits the perogative of the Executive. It is the final arbiter of all questions of public justice, controlling the function of 'Sovereign Law that with collective will on crowns and globes elate, its empress, crowning good and repressing ill.' It is the sheet anchor of Government; for reason and experience dictate that no political system can long endure without a Judicial Tribunal in the last resort in all cases to determine its powers and limitations.

"There was a time in England when the Supreme power in the State was vested in the King—when a Monach held in his single hand the lives and fortunes of the subjects; but the King could not be trusted and the power was divided with the barons; but the barons could not be trusted and the power was divided with Parliament of the people, but the Parliament could not be trusted and the founders of the American Republic with experience of the centuries behind them determined that the supreme power of the American commonwealth should be lodged in a court whose fiat should be final.

"During the trial of Aaron Burr on a charge of treason, Chief Justice Marshall issued a subpoena duces tecum to Thomas Jefferson, President of the United States, commanding him to appear in Court and produce a letter received by him to General Wilkinson; and though the President was indignant and resisted, he was compelled to obey the mandate of the court. The judiciary is the guardian of the Constitution which is the expressed will of the sovereign people, and the judges have proved worthy of the confidence reposed in them. The Courts of New Jersey are distinguished for the learning and authority of their decisions being quoted in every State in the Union and 'Jersey Justice' is proverbial."

Mr. Swackhamer received a rousing reception and was greeted as Jersey's "Abe Lincoln."

AMUSEMENTS.

Nothing more extensive or more magnificent has been seen this season, it is said, than the production of "The Pit," a dramatization of Frank Morris' famous novel, in which William A. Brady will present Wilton Lackaye and a company of six hundred players for a run at the Lyric Theatre, New York, beginning tomorrow. The play created a sensation in Chicago, and scored triumphant success wherever it has been seen. "The Pit" is unquestionably one of the most important productions of the current theatrical season. Its theme—the handling of the wheat crop—brings into high relief the commercialism that is the dominant note in American life of today, and as an important corrolory the attendant speculative fever which is the curse of the nation.

From all indications, Mr. Springer made an excellent selection when he chose "A Chinese Honeymoon," for the pre-Lenten attraction at the Grand Opera House. The advance bookings for seats and places has been unusually heavy and the fact that the quaint musical comedy ran on Broadway for a year, has stimulated interest in the forthcoming presentation. "A Chinese Honeymoon" will hold the boards for two weeks and should provide excellent entertainment during its stay. It is a gem of an opera, brilliantly presented, capably sung and free from the silly conventionalities of the usual musical offering. During the past month the Shuberts have materially strengthened the already excellent cast, and the organization is even superior to the Casino Company. Three big matinees are announced for next week, one on popular prices on Wednesday, one on Lincoln's Birthday and one on Saturday.

Frank Denklau, formerly a clerk in E. S. F. Randolph's drug store, has taken a position with the Public Service Corporation at its office on West Second street.

AMERICA CALLED ON

Austrian Peace Society Asks Roosevelt to Intervene.

TO AVERT WAR BY HAGUE TRIBUNAL

Japanese Fleet, Sailing Toward Chemulpo, Said to Have Seized Russian Steamers—Troops Landed In Korea From Transports.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—A dispatch from Vienna from the Austrian Peace society has, been received by President Roosevelt requesting him to intervene in the Russo-Japanese conflict under the provisions of the international arbitration tribunal at The Hague.

State department officials deny that any agreement has been made to the effect that the United States and Great Britain would intervene after Russia has crushed Japan and insist that Manchuria remain part of China. Ever since the Turko-Russian war it has been customary for the great neutral powers to hold some sort of conference at the conclusion of the war to assure the vanquished nation in the struggle against undue exactions and punishments.

This was notably the case in the Turko-Russian war, and attention is called to the fact that, although Japan was the victor in her last war with China, the neutral powers, especially Russia and England, brought pressure to bear upon Japan to prevent her from pursuing her advantage beyond reasonable limits. Incidentally it also was pointed out that the two nations named profited themselves by the acquisition of most important strategical points which had been the object of Japan's operations.

Therefore it is said to be within the probabilities that some kind of conference will follow a Russo-Japanese war. The United States has always held aloof from combination in such cases; but, as in the case of the negotiations which terminated the Boxer troubles, the policy has been to work on parallel lines when such a cause is for the common good.

A rumor has reached here that some Russian merchant ships have been captured by a Japanese squadron now on its way to Chemulpo. The report is discredited at the legation here, and it lacks confirmation.

A dispatch from Peking says a detachment of Russian troops have arrived there bringing the legation guard of Russia up to its full strength.

In response to a memorial from Yuan Shai Kai, commander in chief of the army and navy, informing the government that a war between Russia and Japan had virtually begun, renewed orders were sent to the provincial authorities enjoining them to exercise the most strict measures to prevent lawlessness.

Preparations for the dispatch of troops to guard the frontier of Chili province continue.

Advices from Paris say steps toward peaceful intervention seemed to be barred, as at the Japanese legation it is stated that Japan cannot accept any intervention, no matter what nation it may be tendered by.

The British embassy says it is ignorant of any action in the direction of mediation by its government, but it is regarded as strongly probable there that views are being exchanged by several nations in order to make stronger any such representations.

The Chinese legation reiterates that China will maintain an attitude of strict neutrality and is confident that whoever is the victor Manchuria will remain Chinese in consequence of the treaties by which ports were opened to the commerce of all nations.

A cable from Rome says:

"In an interview Signor Tittoni said the conflict, if limited to the far east, would be of secondary importance in the matter of its consequences in Europe and added: 'Italy, being interested in the maintenance of peace, made, with France, an effort in that direction. This she cannot repeat, however, insomuch as Russia and Japan have correctly but clearly intimated their wishes to settle the affair among themselves.'"

Secretary Moody has received a cablegram from Lieutenant Commander Marsh, the American naval attache at Tokyo, announcing the departure of a naval division from Japanese waters for Chemulpo, Korea.

A dispatch from Tientsin says a Russian force is reported at Kalgan, in Pechili province, 110 miles northwest of Peking and near the great wall, and that preparations are being made for the flight of the Chinese court and the removal of the imperial treasure, as it is feared that Russia will descend upon Peking.

That Japan has fully determined on war is evident from a cablegram received at the navy department from Lieutenant Marsh, saying that a Japanese naval division had left for Chemulpo, the port of the Korean capital. The seizure of Seoul, the general naval board believes, will be Japan's first act of war.

Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, called by appointment on Secretary Hay, and the two were in conference for nearly an hour. The ambassador was again assured that this government could be depended on to maintain the strictest and most complete neutrality in the event of war. Count Cassini gave Mr. Hay a brief summary of the negotiations. He informed the secretary that Russia was convinced that Japan had all along been anxious for war and that her breaking off of diplomatic relations at the moment when Russia was putting forth her utmost efforts to make concessions that would preserve peace was an evidence of bad faith.

In Russian circles it is not expected that Japan will formally declare war, but that she will attempt to catch Russia unawares. It is declared that the Russian army and fleet will be found ready and waiting, that Russia will not assume the offensive until she has been attacked, but that after that there will be no delay.

A London cable says that Russia deliberately precipitated the crisis by secretly dispatching a few days ago from Port Arthur transports loaded with a full division of troops, escorted by a fleet, and landing them near the Yalu river, thus occupying northern Korea.

A Chefu dispatch says sixty Japanese transports are landing troops at various ports in Korea, from Masampho and Fusan on the south to Kunsau, Mokpho and Chemulpo on the west.

Seoul is to be occupied, and the landing is being covered by the torpedo division. The main body of the Japanese fleet will sail in the direction of Port Arthur.

A dispatch from Port Arthur says Japanese troops have landed at Masampho, that the Russian warships at Port Arthur frequently put to sea and that the inhabitants of Seoul are uneasily expecting the arrival of the Japanese troops.

A dispatch from Nagasaki says:

"The Russian fleet will fight. The Russians long ago decided upon war, and their delay was due to lack of preparation and uncertainty whether certain powers would intervene or not."

A report from Brussels says:

"Russia is negotiating with a syndicate of French, Belgian and Dutch bankers for a war loan of $200,000,000."

Menace to Prestige of France.

PARIS, Feb. 9.—The president of the chamber of deputies, M. Brisson, acknowledged the receipt of the interpellation of the Nationalist group of deputies, headed by M. Ferrette, regarding American control of the Panama canal route. It refers to the "incident which occurred at Panama and the acts of the New Panama Canal company, which, thanks to the complaisance or feebleness of the French government, has been able in negotiating the sale of the canal concession to the United States to menace with ruin the holders of the bonds of the original company and to injure the prestige of France."

General Reyes Goes to Paris.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—General Reyes, the newly elected president of Colombia, has sailed for Paris on the Kraiser Wilhelm der Grosse. Before leaving General Reyes said: "I feel it my duty to be present in Paris when the question of the sale of the rights of the Panama Canal company to the United States comes before the proper French tribunal. To me the matter is very clear. The Panama Canal company cannot transfer its rights to the United States without the consent of Colombia."

COMFORTING WORDS.

Many a Plainfield Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Plainfield readers.

Mrs. L. L. Homes, of 442 West Second street, says: "I used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and derived more benefit from them than anything else. Before I tried this remedy I was bothered almost constantly with a severe pain across the small of my back, so bad at times that I thought I must give up. If I sat down and got up or was lying down and attempted to rise quickly or retained one position for any length of time, sharp acute pain always followed. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such troubles and went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They helped me from the first and I improved right along under the treatment."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

O. W. Schmidt.

Bowling, the great winter indoor sport which has made such marvelous strides in popularity during the past five years, is more than holding its own. Heretofore the work of the tenpin fraternity has been chiefly centered in promoting an interest in the game, but now that it has been thoroughly demonstrated that bowling has come to stay and is established from the Atlantic to the Pacific, its leading admirers have been directing their attention to the legislative features, with an idea of perfecting organizations and eliminating all injurious features which have been brought to light during the last 12 months. Since the introduction of the regulation game it has not experienced a year so notable for innovations and changes in rules and general government of the players. Early in the year the American bowling congress, the national governing body, set the pace by altering its constitution and by-laws. Godfred Langhenry, of Chicago, author of the new plans, saw the necessity of some practical changes two years ago, but it was not until the Indianapolis convention that the delegates approval of his schemes. Langhenry's plans provided for city associations which deal exclusively with clubs, and as there is an annual fee for each club, one-third of which goes to the national organization, it has been the means of putting the congress on a sound financial basis. In addition to those features the local associations control the conduct of the players, and have the power to impose penalties for infractions of the rules. When everything is summed up bowlers and bowling have had a successful year, and prospects are even brighter for the next 12 months. Oscar W. Schmidt, who was recently elected president of the Chicago Bowling association, is a representative of the type of bowler that has done much to put the game on a substantial basis. He bowls because he is fond of the sport and takes sufficient interest in it to devote some of his time to legislation. He is vice president of the Illinois Bowling association and president of the South Side Interclub league and a prominent member of the Drug Trade Bowling league. On the alleys he is an accomplished performer.

"A bird's-eye view of the college athletic world during 1903 reveals the forces of evolution active in track athletics, baseball and football, and quiescent in golf and tennis." writes Horace Butterworth, former director of athletics at Northwestern university, in reviewing the work of the past year. "Games of golf between the universities were confined to matches between the University of Chicago and the University of Michigan as inaugurated last year. This indicates either a lack of interest on the part of the students in the game or a disinclination on the part of the athletic associations to help the sport financially. The interest in tennis was about as usual, the absence of any bright and particular stars denuding the annual tournament of that feature of the spectacular which appeals most to the imagination in this era of chronic excitement. An interesting and successful experiment was made in baseball by the formation of a league, comprising Illinois, Michigan, Chicago, Northwestern and Wisconsin.

H. Butterworth.

The year 1903 has been noteworthy from the viewpoint of the football rooter by reason of the advances which have been made in the standard of excellence set by the big teams in the matter of both individual and team play and in deceptive work by the backs, by the unusual number of tie games, by the kaleidoscopic changes of form displayed by some teams which have not heretofore been known as in-and-outers, by the failure of the quarterback run to make any marked difference in the style of game. The intercollegiate conference committee found little more than routine business confronting it at its last meeting, its strenuous efforts of the past years having borne fruit in what is considered to be the most satisfactory condition of intercollegiate athletics that has ever obtained in this section. With no cloud in the sky and with a record of "well done" marking every sport, the intercollegiate year of 1903 is ready to be placed in its proper niche in the hall of fame."

Jacob Schaefer, the American billiardist, now in Paris, has published a letter challenging any billiard player in the world for two matches—one at 18-inch balk line, two shots in, 3,000 points, the other match at cushion caroms, 1,800 points.

D. W. King, Jr., president of the Colorado State Rifle association, has taken a world's shooting record. In the presence of the requisite number of witnesses and under the conditions prescribed to make the record official, he made a total of 917 points in 100 consecutive shots with the rifle. The shooting was strictly offhand, without mechanical aids of any kind, at a standard American target. The previous record was 908 points, made by Col. H. Pope, and had stood a long time.

The London Chess club has decided to accept March 25 and 26 as the dates for the annual cable match with the Brooklyn Chess club. The match will be for possession of the Sir George Newnes trophy, now in possession of Brooklyn.

A model street is promised as one of the attractions of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. Somehow or other New Brunswick has been overlooked in selecting a pattern for such a thoroughfare.

The Legislative Manual has become an almost indispensible fixture of a newspaper office. The volume for 1904 is better than ever, so we are told. We expect some member of the Assembly representing Union county to send us a copy—before the next campaign for State legislators arrives.

It is encouraging to note the stand taken by Princeton University athletic authorities in refusing to allow any student to play baseball who make money by participating in games during the summer vacation. Such players are really professional and there's no room for such a type in college athletics.

MINISTER'S TALK ON MOB LAW

PAPER READ BY REV. DR. SNODGRASS BEFORE PLAINFIELD ASSOCIATION.

"Mob Law" was the subject of an interesting paper read before the members of the Plainfield Ministers' Association on Crescent avenue yesterday afternoon, by Rev. Dr. W. O. Snodgrass, pastor of the First M. E. church. The paper was followed by a discussion which lasted quite an hour.

In his paper, Dr. Snodgrass said he does not favor the "lynch law," not only because it gives the law into the hands of a frenzied mob of citizens, but because it is demoralizing. From being resorted to in extreme cases, it has been so generally countenanced in the South that it is used sometimes for ordinary crimes. This has awakened a sentiment throughout the country against the practice.

Dr. Snodgrass did not defend the lynching of negroes or whites even in extreme cases. He believed that it should be discouraged and stamped out by bringing the leaders of mob rule to justice of the most severe sort. He holds that if mob rule and violence is to be encouraged, courts in the South and even in the North where the lynching has crept from the southern states; may as well be abandoned.

To cite the fact that public opinion against the practice, has tended to decrease lynching in this country, the pastor said that in 1892 there were 241 lynchings in the United States while ten years later there were but a few over 100.

The meeting was held at the home of the Misses Peck and nine ministers were present. Arrangements have been made to secure Rev. Dr. Thomas Hall as the next speaker.

The Lincoln fire department responded to an alarm at 9:30, but could make no headway against the flames as there was no available water supply about the place. AGITATION OVER THE ROBIN

SWACKHAMER TO ATTEMPT TO HAVE BILL DEFEATED IN LEGISLATURE.

Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer has received many encouraging letters from farmers throughout the State, commending him highly on his attitude on the robin bill. As has been told in the columns of this paper the Assemblyman from Somerset County has taken this stand because he believes that the best interest of New Jersey will be served. He holds that the robin is not an evil but a blessing.

The State librarian has arranged to give Mr. Swackhamer the latest statistics on the subject of whether or not robins destroy crops. In this State, so the farmers say, the robin does more good than harm. Tiny insects which injure fruit crops and destroy vegetables are devoured by the red breasted visitor from the South. The Audubon Society of this city is backing Mr. Swackhamer in his fight for the defeat of the bill and other lovers of the feathered tribe are holding up his hands.

Somerset County farmers do not seek to exterminate the robins but are looking out for their interests. They believe that if a flock of robins lights in a raspberry patch and devour the fruit, they have the right of protection and should be permitted to shoot them in protection of their crops. They are opposed to the bill of the Senator from Salem County who wants an open season for the bird. They do not want an open season, but rather permission to keep their crops from being destroyed.

One of the representative farmers of Somerset County was interviewed by a reporter for The Daily Press yesterday afternoon. He said that next to the sparrow, the robin was the most useless bird to the farmer. "One crow is worth one hundred robins," he said.

"The only way I can see for the farmer to secure protection," said he, "is to adopt the plan they have in New York State against damage by deer. I think the farmer should be compensated for damage to his crops by appraising his damage and have the State settle for it, if the right of a farmer is denied him, in protecting his own property."

Ferdinand Smith, of Elmwood place, and J. C. Storm, of Liberty street, are at Baltimore today, viewing the ruins of the great fire.

"Having concluded that this color, to which I have been so much attached for nearly forty-three years, should repose with those of other New Jersey regiments in our Capitol, where it can best be preserved and exhibited as a patriotic object lesson, I take great pleasure my comrade, in transferring it to your custody."

Governor Murphy responded, accepting the gift on behalf of the State, and he was followed by United States Senator John Kean, who had come on from Washington. Aaron Wilkes Post, of Trenton, entertained the General and his party.

UP AND DOWN THE STATE

Licensing architects is something comparatively new to New Jersey. It was begun less than two years ago, a bill having been got though the Legislature after years of persistent effort. The State now has a commission made up of architects whose business it is to issue licenses to architects.

John Amerman, aged eighty-one, the only director who was left of those who organized the First National Bank in Somerville in 1864 and who was until the meeting of the stockholders last month its vice president, died Saturday, from general debility. He was also vice president of the Somerville Dime Savings Bank.

Prof. W. E. D. Scott, of Princeton University, where he occupies the chair of ornithology, declares that the robin is of more benefit than harm to fruit-growers, and says that the robin eats about 60 per cent. of insectivorous food and only 40 per cent. of vegetable food, consisting of small fruits, mostly wild. He declares that it has been found by experience in other countries that the extermination of insect-eating birds has in the long run proved a detriment to fruit-growers, as the insects soon become so thick that they destroy the trees.

There will be introduced during the week's session of the Legislature in Trenton a bill providing for an increase in the salaries of District Court judges and clerks. The District Court practice and the volume to which the business of those tribunals has grown during the last few years was fully discussed, and it was ordered that a bill of such a nature as to make the proposed changes be drawn at once. At present the salary of a District Court judge is $3,000 per year, and that of a clerk in the same court is $1,500. It is proposed to ask the Legislature to raise them to $4,000 and $2,000, respectively, as lawyers generally have agreed that those figures are none too high for the amount of work and character of the service demanded by the office.

The famous Yorktown Battalion Cup, awarded the New Jersey troops at the centennial of the surrender of Yorktown, has at last been put on public exhibition. It has been properly mounted and placed in the executive chamber at the State House. The vase was made by Tiffany & Co., of New York, and is valued at $1,000. It was awarded to the New Jersey battalion for best drilling and general appearance on parade, also the excellent style in which the battalion camp was kept. The awarding of the vase was prized very greatly and considered a remarkable victory, because the New Jersey battalion had as competitors such banner regiments as the Brooklyn Thirteenth, the Fifth Maryland and the Ninth Massachusetts. General E. Burd Grubb commanded the battalion. Below the cap of the vase is engraved the heads of Washington, Morris Steuben, Rochambeau and DeGrasse. The front of the vase represents the representatives of Washington and Cornwallis surrendering the sword. On the opposite side of the vase represents soldiers in the act of firing a cannon. Besides the latter is engraved the Yorktown monument. Beneath the monument is the head of Garfield. Just above the vase are the figures 1781 1881. On the base is engraved Yorktown Centennial Celebration.

Another New Building.

Work was started this morning by the contractor, C. M. Wilson, tearing down the old structures on North avenue occupied by a shoemaker and a bootblack. In its place will be erected a more modern building to be occupied by Marcus Hoyt and Charles Woolston as a tailor shop.

The Damages for Frederick.

A Jersey Central Railroad official says that the settlement of the claim of Wilson Frederick, of Dunellen, against the Central road, was made on October 28, 1903 and that the injured man received less than $10,000.

New Arrival.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hall, of Watchung avenue, announce the arrival of a daughter.

PLAINFIELDER'S LOSS.

Dealer in Railroad Supplies Suffers Damage in Baltimore Fire.

Samuel Wallace, of Grove street, of the firm of Wallace & Gale, dealers in railroad and ship supplies, is one of the heavy losers as a result of the Baltimore fire. Mr. Wallace's personal loss will be about $10,000, while that of the firm will be an equal sum. The firm's place of business was along the water front and was among the last of the various properties to be destroyed. The firm succeeded in saving its insurance papers and books.

HOTEL THIEVES.

Have Many a Sharp Trick By Which They Get Ahead of Unwary Proprietors.

"Is Mr. Morgan in?" queried a young man, as he strode to the desk at one of the down-town hotels, according to the Chicago Chronicle.

"Which Mr. Morgan?" inquired the clerk.

"Why, there is but one Mr. Morgan," answered the young man, in a tone that was grieved. "J. Pierpont Morgan, of course."

"Not in," said the man behind the counter.

"Well, that's queer. He promised to meet me here to-day. Had a letter from him last week. Guess I'll register and stay until he arrives."

The man behind the counter looked at the visitor. He saw that he was far from well dressed. "Any baggage?" he inquired.

"Well, you see, there was some mistake, and my baggage did not come on with me. I—" He would have said more, but he was interrupted by the clerk.

"Then you will have to pay in advance."

"Sir! I'd like you to know I'm an honest man. I have more money than you ever saw. I—" But the clerk stopped him.

"I know; but it's one of the rules of the house."

The man turned and left.

"It's an old scheme, and don't you ever get caught at it. He never saw J. Pierpont Morgan in his life. But he figured that if we believed he had an appointment with Mr. Morgan we would take him to be a man worth trusting. He would have run up a bill on us, and then left.

"And there are others who are pretty clever. Here is one you want to watch: A man comes in and registers. As he turns to go a letter drops from his pocket. You attempt to call his attention to the missive, but he is gone. And then you notice that it isn't sealed. Well, if you are curious you will read it. That is a part of his game. It will be a letter of introduction from one of the biggest men in the country to one of the biggest men in the city. The chances are that it will be the most complimentary letter you ever read. It's that man's only asset, and on the strength of it he will run a bill that would set back a national bank. Watch them close, my boy, for there are many tricks in the trade."

VOYAGE AROUND THE WORLD.

The Good Ship John Wade Did It in Eleven Months Fifty Years Ago.

The John Wade, a Medford-built ship, was an average Yankee vessel of the early fifties, not in the same class with such extreme clippers as the Flying Cloud, Comet, Sovereign of the Seas, Shooting Star, Flying Fish, and some others, but "good' for 12 knots an hour when the wind was favorable—a little forward of the beam and in plenty, says the Boston Transcript.

Of about 800 tons measurement, she had "taunt" (lofty) masts, "square" (large and long) yards, and great spread of canvas, stun'n' sails on main and fore up to the royals, an immense spanker, five head-sails—inner, outer and flying jibs—fore and foretopmast staysails, a crew of 18 in the forecastle, carpenter, cook and steward.

Our complete voyage around the world was just 11 months, sailing from Boston, September 5, 1851, arriving in New York August 5, 1852; or, more in detail, 130 days to San Francisco around Cape Horn; thence in ballast to Hong-Kong and Whampoa (Canton), 45 days; thence to New York, via Straits of Sunda and Cape of Good Hope, 115 days; balance of time in port, and not a rope was "parted," sail split or spar "carried away" during the entire voyage.

Four different crews were on board, as the men shipped in Boston ran away in San Francisco, and the next were only "for the run" to Hong-Kong, whence we had a crew entirely of Chinese to Whampoa, and then the sailors of a "limejuicer," an English vessel, "encouraged" by an English sailor of our crew from San Francisco, took French leave in the night, when the Wade was ready for sea, and came on board for the passage to New York, and a fine lot of men they proved to be.

The English sailor, "Tom" Bakewell, also came home with us, and, sailing soon after for Liverpool, was lost overboard from the jibboom in a heavy head wind and sea.

It will appear strange to people of the present to learn that we carried onions to California as a part of our miscellaneous cargo. A house the size of the main hatch, and six feet high, was made fast over the hatch, after the other cargo was stowed, and filled with onions through a scuttle in the top. They did not all reach San Francisco, as many decayed, and not a few were a welcome addition to the fare in the forecastle, which, however, was the best of its kind, as Boston ships always furnished.

Reclassified.

"I understand you have lost your valet?"

"Yes, Jim is married. Married Lily Smith."

"I knew her. A regular little apple blossom."

"She's a Lily of the valet now."—Houston Post.

Had It Read to Him.

"Do you believe that some men are able to read their wives' minds?"

"Sure."

"Can you?"

"I don't need to."—Houston Post.

Cotton in British Guiana.

An organized effort is being made in British Guiana to reestablish the cotton industry, which flourished in the colony during the days of slave labor.

Why Lots in these Cemetaries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

MEN THAT GIRLS LOVE

The Seven Ages of Love

"I AM going to write a little sketch and call it 'The Seven Ages of Love,'" remarked the worldly wise girl.

"Er—er—what!" exclaimed the bachelor, rousing himself from his reverie in front of the open fire.

"The first age," replied the worldly wise girl softly, "we will call 'the little boy next door.' He spun his top in front of her house and she watched him with admiring eyes from the upper window. And he knew she was watching him. Then one day he handed her a red apple through the railings of the fence, and still another time his nurse met her nurse, and while they hobnobbed and related the gossip of the different households he and she made—oh, delightful occupation!—mud pies together."

"Now, let me go on to the second age. We will call that the dancing school age. In all the glories of crisp muslin and pink ribbons she attended it twice a week, from 4 to 6, and no ball, no great reception, in after life seemed half so grand, for did not 'young gentlemen' take the place of boys, and was she not called respectfully Miss Jones? And there she met 'him,' the tall high school boy who appeared such a perfect Lord Chesterfield to her as he piloted her through the intricacies of the reverse in the waltz or favored her, to the envy of the other girls, during the german. And that lasted until he was eclipsed by the third age—the age of the football hero. She saw his picture once in the room of a friend, and then she saw him at a game, and she lost her heart completely. By great good luck she managed to be introduced to the great man. Then she heard that he was engaged to her dearest friend, and after two sleepless nights she made up her mind that she would never love again. And this lasted until one day she went to a play and saw her ideal man. He was a tall, well set up young fellow and played the hero's part. What fascinated her was the man-of-the-world air he had. She worshiped him, but fortunately the company left town suddenly, and she was whisked off for the summer by her watchful mother. And that summer, having left behind the football hero and matinee idol age, she entered upon the fourth age—the man in uniform. He was a West Point graduate, of course, and it goes without saying that he knew how to flirt. She thought she knew how, too, but she learned a good deal from him that she had not dreamed of. It wasn't such a pleasant experience, after all, for it left a sting and the memories of moonlight strolls and the music of taps over the hillside and the way his eyes used to look into hers.

"THE MAN IN UNIFORM."

"And then for a whole year she didn't love any one until she met the reverse of the soldier—the poet. She admired his genius, and he wrote her verses and said she was his inspiration until she became tired of his long hair and his erratic ways and found out, too, that, owing to his artistic temperament, she was not the only one who was his inspiration, and then"—

"And then?"

—"she entered upon the sixth stage, the sensible age, and she made up her mind to marry the man her mother chose for her, a rather oldish man, a little stout, too, and fond of good living, but with an excellent income and good social standing. She used to go out to dinner with him and with her mother and out to ride in his automobile, to the envy of the neighbors, and then suddenly one day she rebelled, right in the midst of the trousseau, and made up her mind she would live all her days and die an old maid rather than marry a man she didn't care for merely in order to get a home. And then she entered upon the seventh age, the age of true love. I suppose she married a plain man, not at all like the others, and was happy ever after," she concluded lamely.

The bachelor leaned forward with a curious look in his eyes and took her hand in his. "Your story sounds very well, Marjorie," he commented, "all but the last, and you don't seem quite sure of that. Don't you think, dear, that you made a mistake; that there were not seven ages, after all, but only six, and that she merely came back in the end to the first age—the little boy next door?"

FIRE CONQUERED.

Firemen Victorious Over Baltimore Conflagration.

CHECKED AT JONES' FALLS.

Two Firemen Lost Their Lives Under Falling Walls.

LOSS ON BUILDINGS $150,000,000

Dynamite Explosions Were Constant and Its Use Very Effective—City Under Martial Law and Constantly Patrolled by Force of a Thousand Troops—Never Such Disaster With So Little Loss of Life.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 9.—Baltimore is staggering under an unparalleled fire loss which no one has the temerity to put in figures. The important commercial district is blackened ruins, laid bare by a conflagration which raged without even a momentary check for about a day and a half. Last night the city officials again breathed easily, as it was then agreed that the flames were under control. They had raged nearly thirty-eight hours in spite of almost superhuman efforts put forth by the best fighting forces which more than half a dozen cities were able to muster.

The city is overcast with gloom. The only lights in the burned district are those from the smoldering ruins. The only lights in that section which escaped destruction are from corner gas lamps. The stores are closed in nearly every street. The darkened avenues are full of jostling people talking of one subject. Apparently there is but one cause for gladness, and that is that there are no homeless. The residence section of the city escaped. This phase of the situation relieved the officials from any thought other than the saving of property.

Jacob Iginfritz of the Laurel fire company of York, Pa., was killed at the corner of Baltimore and Frederick streets. This was the second casualty. The dead body of another fireman had been found earlier. Iginfritz came to Baltimore with his company and was at work on the Schuler clothing establishment when the wall of the building fell. He was caught under the wall and was dead when found.

A press bulletin has been sent out saying the flames were held in check at the Union docks and prevented from leaping Jones' falls and placing the entire city east of there in jeopardy. A score of times insidious flames of fire were found lapping the sides of lumber piles on the east bank of the falls. In some instances the lumber was tossed into the falls, and this, with similar heroic measures, stayed the onsweep of fire.

Throughout the terrible contest which firemen and fire waged for supremacy humanity was handicapped by a gale which carried burning brands far over the heads of the workers and beyond the reach of the hundreds of streams of water poured into the raging furnaces. But for the work of volunteers in seeking out and extinguishing these embers it is almost certain the burned area would have been twice greater. As it is, about seventy-five squares, or 140 acres, are gone, extending from Lexington street on the north to Pratt street on the south and from Liberty street on the west to Jones' falls on the east. Insurance companies have opened temporary offices in the Lexington hotel, but their representatives decline to estimate the loss. The answer of one is typical of all: "It's too big. We have no figures to describe it. Make it above $100,000,000. That's the best we can do."

The same indecision was true in regard to estimates concerning insurance held on the damaged property.

The city was early placed under martial law, and thus all danger of looting in the doomed district was eliminated. Word was received that General Corbin of New York had been given command of the federal troops. The presence of two regiments of militia as an adjunct to the police, which were augmented by details from Philadelphia and Washington, resulted in the maintenance of the best of order.

No one dares to guess what would have happened if the flames had jumped Jones' falls. The struggle has been with the one end of confining the fire to the west side of the muddy little stream. That this effort was successful is merely the result of the fire burning itself out and coming in contact in front with the concentrated labors of nearly a hundred fire companies, aided by the powerful fire tug, the Cataract. Again and again the terrible heat, driven from the burning district across Jones' falls, ignited buildings and lumber piles. Furious hand to hand fights occurred, which, fortunately for the residents of East Baltimore, were won by the firemen.

For several hours in the lumber district of the east side volunteers watched every ember. Bucket brigades were formed to prevent the destructive leap of the flames across the narrow stream. Had the fire gained a foothold in the east side lumber yards it is conceded nothing could have stopped the onslaught, and the departments would have been powerless to prevent damage as great if not greater than that of the Chicago fire.

Dynamite explosions have been constant during the fire. The programme adopted of blowing up buildings in an attempt to stay the progress of the flames was continued until the fire was under control. Then the dynamiters turned their attention to razing tottering walls, which threatened to collapse. The result was almost constant cannonading, and the detonating was heard in all parts of the city.

With the fire under control, the blackened waste which lies in the wake of the sea of flames presents a view terrible in its pyrotechnic grandeur. It can be likened best to oceans of great coke ovens, each shooting out its thousand tongues of flame from pyramids of brick, stone and cement. Where the fire has died out nothing remains but waste, from which rise hundreds of towering, insecure shafts of the same color. These are all that is left of what were once handsome office buildings, storage, wholesale and business houses of all kinds.

At the northern limits of the fire, at the head of Eastern avenue, half a dozen fire companies were fighting from the rear, while other companies were flanking on the Jones' falls and the Liberty street borders. Sandwiches and coffee were served from drays, and coal was fed to the engines from vehicles no larger. Many of the men were almost famished from their long and dangerous detail, and the hot food was a godsend.

Every bridge over Jones' falls held a score of firemen, and not infrequently they were compelled to turn their attention from the towering pyres to put out flames on the floor between them and deep water. Both banks of Jones' falls were lined with lumber yards, and the piles on one side were blazing constantly and on the other throwing off clouds of steam caused by the water turned on wood heated almost to the point of ignition.

The President street station of the P., W. and B. railroad is used as barracks for the militia, which is enforcing martial law. The building caught fire a number of times, and whenever the door was opened a shower of sparks was carried inside. In front the lumber piles furnished tinder for the flames which were ever creeping forward, yet the men who had been pacing the streets all night lay in the sleep only brought by exhaustion.

The loss will not be accurately estimated for weeks. Business men prosperous yesterday are poor today. Expressions heard among these men as they peer into their collapsed properties reveal an astounding number who were not protected by insurance at all.

When the advance of flames had been checked the fire companies started back over the course of the disaster, attempting to diminish the flaming ruins and prevent another outbreak.

Residents and business men of the east side are not yet fully assured of their safety, and through every window may be seen anxious, affrighted faces. Moving vans, push carts and vehicles of all kinds fill the streets, carting household effects and valuables to safe sections for shelter.

Colonel J. Frank Supplee, a competent authority on factory statistics, estimates that the number of persons thrown out of employment will reach 50,000. Others have estimated the enforced idleness at greatly more.

Inspector of Buildings Preston, after making a careful study of the burned district, placed the building loss alone at $150,000,000.

It is feared that aid must come from adjacent cities or a partial famine will be an added phase of the situation. Restaurants are entirely without food, and the destruction of the commission houses along the wharfs has shut off the means of supply. Hotels are but little better off, and, though they say they will be able to feed their guests, it is admitted the variety will be lessened at once. Preparations are being made to rush supplies from New York in order to avert suffering in homes.

The cheering news that the conflagration had been checked spread rapidly over the city, and the great crowds that all day had surged against the tautly drawn fire lines began to turn homeward. Unless the wind, which now blows briskly from the northwest, should change it is felt that there is no further danger. But the tired firemen are taking no chances. All over the burned district they are fighting the fierce blazes that still live in large piles of ruins. These fires are not menacing, however, for they have nothing to feed upon outside their present limits.

The wall of flame has persistently eaten its way in a southerly and westerly direction toward the water. Sporadic fires sprang into existence and caused the withdrawal of apparatus and men from the line of battle. Buildings old and new, large and small; stores, shops—every imaginable class of business—vanished as the fire swept onward.

There was a decided check to the forefront of the fire as it neared Jones' falls, a small stream that trends north and south and divides Baltimore from that portion of the city known as East Baltimore. This little stream was the last barrier.

If the conflagration leaped it, if by flying embers or a rush of flame the fire could cross and gain a foothold, its extent could not be foretold. Tremendous efforts were made to block it. Dynamite was used freely. The fire apparatus was centered and all the skill of the fire fighters called into play to defeat the element that had eaten up millions of dollars. And human skill and pluck and grit and unfaltering courage won. The fire was checked. But behind it lay a great gutted waste of more than 140 acres in extent.

Every street that led to the fire area was crowded with awestruck spectators. Down the narrow gulch, like sheets, the black smoke hung densely split now and then by a red glare of flame. The crash of falling buildings was lost in the roar of exploding dynamite as it was used to demolish structures as yet untouched by fire.

The city is under the strictest of military control. All around the burned area was stretched a cordon of soldiers, who held up all comers at the point of the bayonet. Police brought from the neighboring cities patrolled the district, and on every street near the limits of the fire area paced armed sentinels, and the streets fairly teemed with police.

In the early hours the army of fire fighters contended against the overwhelming odds, and when dawn broke the flames were raging fiercely along the wharfs and focused about the great power houses of the United Railways company, which furnishes the power for all the street railways of the city. Then the flames ate their way with undiminished force southward, following the lines of Jones' falls, and were finally checked near the water's edge at West Falls avenue, in the southeast section of the city. There the flames continued, but only in spots and with diminishing fierceness. A dark gloom served to assist the watching thousands of spectators held behind the lines many squares away to locate the flames.

The burned area is a scene of complete devastation. Numberless buildings that were the pride of Baltimore, costly and stately and occupied for divers purposes, were gutted, and only smoldering debris or walls or remnants of walls remain to mark their sites. The Baltimore American building, one of the first, is now but smoldering debris save for remnants and front and side walls. Across South street, where stood the Baltimore Sun building, only the pillars that marked the front remain. Entire blocks just below there are wiped out without in some cases a wall left standing. From Fayette street down Holliday street as far as German street there is no building left save the Corn and Flour Exchange, at the corner of German street. That building, whose walls tower above the crumbling debris of what were adjoining structures, was gutted, and the standing walls formed a caldron whose flames burst at times through the windows, but could cause no further damage. In numerous other wrecked buildings the flames played about the debris and threatened to weaken the foundations of even what few walls were left.

Like a grim tower in the ruins stand the walls of the fifteen storied Continental Trust company's building. The walls of the Baltimore and Ohio building are also standing, but the Pennsylvania railroad building, directly across Calvert street, is razed. Only the walls remain of the once stately Equitable building. At the corner of Baltimore and Holliday streets only remnants of one wall are left of what was the National hotel. No buildings are left standing as far as the eye can see down Baltimore street from this point. All along South Gay street is the same picture of complete destruction. Here a broken sign and a tottering front wall is all that is left of the Maryland W. C. T. U. building. Adjoining this was the building occupied by the Iron Ship company and by the British consulate, whose building is a complete loss. The building used by the German consulate on this square is also in ruins.

While there were no casualties to speak of, the great army of fire fighters performed many daring feats in their desperate efforts to stay the flames. Many times they were driven out of close and hot places just as walls came toppling down. The last large building to fall a prey to the flames down along Jones' falls nearly caught five men. They were on the roof and directing their efforts to an adjoining structure when a warning shout was sent up that the interior of the building on which they were standing was a mass of flames. They found their way to a tin gutter, where, one by one, they hung on, stretched out their arms and grasped a telegraph pole which was planted close to the structure. They slid down and had not reached the ground when the roof fell in with a roar. This was only one instance. Columns could be written of hairbreadth escapes made during the twenty-seven hours' battle with the flames.

All the out of town fire companies, because of the utter exhaustion of the local men, were given a free hand. More than a score of companies were here from New York, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Washington and small towns within a radius of fifty miles of Baltimore. Their duty was to check the flames in their onward march southward. This was a rather difficult task, as both sides of Jones' falls are lined with lumber yards and old buildings, which proved to be no better than tinder boxes. At every street the stream is spanned by a small bridge, and on each bridge two and sometimes three engines were standing taking water from the creek. Stationed at various points in the lumber yards were other steamers, also taking water from the stream. In this manner the traveling fire fighters stood side by side and strove to check the flames. The lumber yards on the eastern side of the creek were saved by the companies stationed in them throwing great quantities of water on the great piles of lumber, while the companies on the west side of the narrow creek poured water into the burning buildings. The engines on the bridges also rendered valuable aid.

The New York firemen, who were the last to arrive, owing to the long distance they traveled, were the last to stand the brunt of the flames, and when the fire began to burn itself out in the coal yard of the American Ice company seven of their steamers were backed up against a bulkhead of the Patapsco river.

Five fresh companies of New York firemen and a hundred members of the Atlantic City volunteer department have arrived and relieved the most exhausted of the earlier detachments. The wind is falling, and the temperature is falling also. The city is absolutely orderly.

The fire now is entirely under control and confined to the blazing heaps of the ruins. The firemen are steadily forcing their way inward from the outer limits of the burned area, making use of tugs along the water front.

The theaters have made no attempt to open. While there was more than the ordinary number of persons on the streets, no one thought of amusements. It has not been determined whether engagements will be played later in the week. The dramatic companies which arrived in the city went to their hotels, and no rehearsals were conducted.

Mayor McLane received the following telegram from President Roosevelt:

"I share the horror of our people at the appalling catastrophe which has befallen Baltimore. If there is anything the federal government can do, pray call on me."

A bill has been introduced in congress by Representative Emrich of Illinois appropriating $1,000,000 for the relief of sufferers from the Baltimore fire.

General Corbin Will Take Command.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Major General H. C. Corbin, commanding the eastern army division, has gone to Baltimore by special train to take command of all the federal troops in the fire stricken city. He is accompanied by five officers of his staff and will have a force of about a thousand men under his command. Today three additional battalions of federal troops will be sent to Baltimore.

SPORTING NEWS.

GOLF.

There seems to be increasing interest in the affairs of the Park Golf Club and the prospects of a successful season are bright. The schedule will be as strong if not stronger than last season.

Recently there has been a feeling among the older members of the various golf clubs throughout the east and west that the junior golfer should be restricted and not allowed to interfere with regular events, as is the case at present. Some clubs have even gone so far as to take active measures to bring about such an order of things. On the other hand the junior member has his friends, who argue that he is the natural "feeder" for the golf club and that by encouraging him in the play of the game the best talent is eventually developed. It is also argued that money should not be an obstacle for the junior member. It has often been the case that the junior has been suddenly called to take the place of a senior in a team match, and in this way he is valuable.

The present champion, Frank O. Reinhart," says the Newark News, "is a striking example of the type of college golfer. He brought the individual championship to Princeton last season. Reinhart is the only junior who enjoys the distinction of having twice defeated W. J. Travis. His first victory was in the open tournament held over the Morris County Golf Club links and his second in the open tournament of the Garden City Golf Club last year. At Ekwanok Reinhart won from F. S. Douglas, and subsequently was a semi-finalist in the National amateur championship of 1902 at Glenview. Last year he also earned his way into the semi-finals in the National championship, and was only defeated by Travis. It is to golfers like Reinhart that the younger element in golf may point with pride. He represents the 'older' juniors."

Patent office reports show that more than 150 applications have been granted for golf ball inventions alone, while 60 patents on golf clubs have been issued. In the matter of tees there is the device of a teeing stand, comprising a frame having standards sharpened to adapt them to be forced into the ground; a water bucket pivotally supported on the frame, and a sand box secured upon the frame below the bucket. As an improvement on the hand molding of tees, a patent was granted in 1902 for a mold for forming the little cones of sand. A ready-made "tee" is shown comprising a tapering base of wood adapted to be driven into the ground and a tubular rubber head fitted over the upper end of the base and cemented thereto. A paper 'tee" has been patented which consists of a coiled strip of paper capable of being distended and contracted, to vary the height and diameter of the ball seat.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The board of governors of the Westfield club have made a rule closing the clubhouse at midnight Saturdays.

The monthly meeting of the Alls Club was held at the clubhouse, last night, at which time the proposed changes in the by-laws were adopted on final reading. These changes are all of a minor nature. There was considerable enthusiasm manifested concerning the club's baseball team selected for the coming season, all being more than pleased with the line-up. The work of preparing a schedule will be started at once.

DIAMOND DUST.

There is a possibility that "Smiling Jimmie" Montross may be engaged to pitch regularly this season for the East Millstone baseball team. He occupied the box in several games for that team at the close of last season and made a favorable impression. Frank Remsen, manager for the team, is now busy.

CROWDED SCHOOLS.

Crying Need of More Accommodations in the Borough.

Many people in the borough have expressed indignation at the crowded condition of the Somerset street school. The kindergarten classes are not the only ones which are effected by the cramped conditions today. Since the semi-annual promotions at the first of the year the high school department has been cramped. The accommodations in the high school classes consists of 128 desks. There are 144 high school pupils compelled to use double seats.

In order to make room some of those who have been promoted from the grammar grades have been sent back to their former classes for seating accommodations, and they pursue their high school department studies there.

The case in which Susanna Olach brings suit for $5,000 damages against Joseph Manhattan, for libel and slander, has been discontinued in the District Court and summons issued in the Supreme Court. William Newcorn, Esq., represents the plaintiff, and Reed & Coddington, the defendant.

Suing John H. Kitchen.

TO DRILL WITH THE REGULARS

WAR DEPARTMENT SCHEME TO IMPROVE THE NATIONAL GUARD.

The War Department, at Washington, has plans in which every National guardsman is interested. The general scheme for annual manoeuvres, in which the regular army and the militia will participate, contemplates something on a grander scale than anything of the kind that has yet taken place.

One half of the State militia will participate in the manoeuvres at the government's expense each year. The Atlantic and Pacific divisions will manoeuvre during the present year, and the two interior divisions (the Northern and Southern), in the fall of 1905. In this way it is expected the benefits of the manoeuvres will be regularly and fairly distributed among the troops, both regular and militia, in all parts of the country. The cost will be reduced to a minimum, since the points of concentration are carefully chosen with reference to an economical assemblage of the troops (particularly of the militia), in the four corresponding groups of States and territories which comprise the four divisions.

As, under normal conditions, each State's troops will thus participate in the manoeuvres in alternate years only, it will be necessary for the States to keep up their own camp of instruction in the intervening years, which they might be tempted to refrain from doing in case their troops could camp at the expense of the federal government. This is deemed an important consideration.

The programme for the New Jersey regiments this fall will be to go into camp with the government troops and the militia from the New England States, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, the District of Columbia, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi. It is within the range of probability that these manoeuvres will take place in New Jersey, provided the owners of the New Jersey land War Department is negotiating for do not hold the Government up for an exorbitant price. It is realized by the officials of the War Department that the transportation facilities, markets and climate of New Jersey make the State, particularly that portion facing the Atlantic Ocean, better adapted than any other section. The benefits to be derived by the tradespeople and others adjacent to this proposed military community will be very great.

Not a Sign of Progress.

Someone has been looking up the records, and has discovered that in 1875, the last year in which special, private and local laws were passed by the Legislature, the officers of the house of assembly numbered 11, besides half a dozen pages. Last year there were 31 officers, 10 pages and a lot of extra assistants that ran the number up to 58. The Legislature of 1875 passed 439 laws; that of 1903, but 273. It seems to require more help nowadays to pass a law than it did 30 years ago—three times the help to do one-half the work. Surely that is not a sign of progress.—Trenton Times

A BOY THIEF CAPTURED

FRED TAYLOR, 15 YEARS OLD, ARRESTED FOR BURGLARY AT ROTTBERG'S.

Fred Taylor, the boy who was responsible for the robbery of Rottberg Brothers' clothing store on West Front street Saturday night, was arrested this morning by Patrolman McCarthy. He was found at Cranford, where he had hired a room. The boy gave the police the clue that led to his capture in the shape of his hat which he left behind him in Rottberg's store. He is from fifteen to sixteen years old and his home is at 142 West Front street. In addition to breaking into Rottberg's store, according to Chief Kiely, he stole several boxes of candy from one of the tenants of the Martine building on West Front street. He will be arraigned before Justice Huff tomorrow afternoon.

—The plans for the magnificent Memorial Continental Hall, to be erected in Washington by the National Daughters of the America Revolution, were exhibited for the first time at a meeting of the hall fund committee, held in Washington last week. The hall, which will be constructed of marble, will cost about $400,000.

Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson, of this city, who have been the guests of friends in New York, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Olmstead, of Watchung avenue, who have been spending the winter at Atlantic City, have returned home.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Democratic County Chairman John Moody, of Cranford, has denied newspaper articles which have stated that he has proclaimed himself in favor of William Randolph Hearst as a presidential candidate.

The McKinley Club, of Elizabeth, has started a series of entertainments to be held monthly for the enjoyment of the members of the club. The first entertainment of the series was held last week. Leading lights of the vaudeville stage appeared on the programme.

State Treasurer Frank O. Briggs is being prominently urged by the Republican leaders of the State for the chairmanship of the State Republican committee. This committee has been without a regularly elected head since the election of Governor Murphy to the executive chair, ex-Senator E. C. Stokes, the vice chairman, having served as its head in the interim. As a preliminar step to conferring this honor upon him, it is said that Mr. Briggs will likely be selected as one of the New Jersey delegates-at-large to the Republican national convention.

Robert D. Foote, of Morristown, banker and millionaire, will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, on one condition. The National Democratic platform and the candidate nominated at St. Louis for President must be such as to inspire Democrats with some hope of victory. Foote has for years been active in Democratic politics in Morris County. He is about 45 years old. He has held but one elective office, that of Alderman, winning by a decisive majority in a strongly Republican district. This was when he was a very young man.

The managers of the various charitable and penal institutions throughout the State are up in arms against the bill that was introduced in the Legislature last week by Assemblyman Duffield, of Essex, providing for the appointment by the Governor of a board of seven persons to have a general supervision and power of inspection of all the charitable and correctional institutions of the State receiving public money. The bill, it is said, was introduced at the instance of Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, of Elizabeth, and the State Charities Aid Association.

Miss Mamie Cahley, of Paterson, who has been visiting friends in this city for the past week, has returned home.

Miss Eva Brown, a student at Wellesley College, has been spending a few days at the home of her mother, Mrs. Josiah Brown, of Watchung avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hallock, of the borough, have returned home from a sojourn of several weeks on the Pacific Coast. While in San Francsico they were registered at the Palace Hotel.

—Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., will hold a regular meeting tonight and consider matters of importance to all the members.

TRINITY CHURCH MEN FORM AN ASSOCIATION

Meetings to be Held Monthly for Purpose of Promoting Good Fellowship.

THE OFFICERS SELECTED

STARTS WITH AN ENROLLMENT OF FORTY-THREE.

Any Man Sixteen Years of Age is Eligible to Membership—Next Meeting February 26—The Constitution Voted Upon.

The men of the congregation of Trinity Reformed church organized last night an association planned for their own pleasure and profit, the aiding of the pastor in his work of the church, and the benefitting of church organizations and church work generally. The "Men's Association of Trinity Reformed Church" was chosen as the name of the organization. The idea is to hold monthly meetings on the last Thursday of each month, the aim of the meetings to be the promotion of social good fellowship, and the providing of lectures and similar events for the entertainment and instruction of members.

Last night's meeting was presided over by E. F. Sheppard, who was chosen temporary chairman and F. E. Smith, temporary secretary. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of the church, outlined briefly the purpose and methods of work of a men's organization. The constitution was then read by Secretary Smith, and discussed and voted upon by sections. The committee that drew up the constitution consisted of F. E. Smith, E. F. Sheppard and A. K. Willett.

The names of forty-three men were then enrolled as charter members of the club. All joining the association within the next three months will also be enrolled as charter members. Any man above sixteen years of age in any way affiliated with Trinity Reformed church is eligible to membership, provided he is approved by a two-thirds vote of members.

The club will endeavor to extend the influence of its meetings so far as possible and members will be allowed to invite friends to attend the lectures and social entertainments.

As officers, H. W. Marshall was elected president; O. E. Ball, vice president; Frank Storr, secretary; and M. F. Gano, treasurer.

A meeting will be held February 26 and committees will probably be appointed at that time and other preliminary business transacted.

SOMERSET FREEHOLDERS MEET

YOUNG FOGARTY ASKS FOR THE REWARD OFFERED FOR HORSE THIEF.

All the members were present at the regular meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders yesterday in Somerville, excepting E. B. Hoagland. The clerk announced the death of Jacob M. Vreeland and the selection of his son, Walter M. Vreeland, to fill the vacancy.

Messrs. T. E. Gibson, R. W. Hoagland, Andrew Lutkins and A. P. Sutphen were appointed to submit a set of resolutions on the death of Mr. Vreeland.

A petition for the improvement of the Millstone road, under the State aid act, was filed; also the petition for the road from Peapack to Pattersville.

Application was made for the reward of $200 for the detection of Charles Brown for stealing a horse of C. N. Apgar last fall, by Edward Fagerty, of Westfield. Nothing will be done in this matter until Brown is convicted.

The finance committee recommended the following apportionment of the appropriations, which was adopted: Courts, $13,000; county jail, $3,900; buildings and grounds, $4,500; lunacy, $10,300; coroners, $600; stationery, $600; printing, $1,000; miscellaneous and incidentals, $2,900; soldiers' burial, $500; county superintendent and school examiners, $280; per diem and salary, $7,000; interest, $8,000; elections, $8,000; armory, $320; bridges, $30,100; roads, $30,000. Total, $120,000.

Mr. Demler reported that the Dover Boiler Works is progressing with the Giraud avenue bridge as well as can be expected, owing to the severe weather.

Willard Martin, of Somerville, was a recent guest of relatives in this city.

MRS. HEDDEN BURIED.

Funeral Services Conducted by Rev. Charles L. Goodrich at Her Late Home.

The funeral services of Mrs. Frank Hedden were held yesterday afternoon at the home, 402 Central avenue, where a large number of relatives and friends had gathered. Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, conducted the services, and made a few remarks.

During the services two favorite hymns, "The Homeland," and "Lead, Kindly Light," were sung. There were a number of floral tributes from relatives and friends.

The interment was in Evergreen cemetery, Plainfield avenue, and these persons were bearers: Louis McIntosh, Jacob Blimm, Robert Crosson and Edward Pope.

LIQUOR LICENSE FEE FIXED

NO CHANGE CAN BE MADE FOR THIS YEAR SAYS A COUNCILMAN.

There have been some rumors to the effect that the Common Council intends to again consider the ordinance relative to increasing the liquor license fee in this city. However true this may be, it is a fact that no action that the Council may take at this time can affect the license fee for the coming year. It will remain the same as last year. This is settled by the ordinances and laws governing such matters.

If there are a sufficient number of Councilmen who desire to make a change for 1905, action making such a change can be taken this year to become operative then. The members who voted in favor of increasing the license fee still hold that their position was perfectly justifiable in voting to adopt the ordinance on its final passage after voting in the affirmative on the first two readings. A negative vote in the last instance, they claim, shows poor principle and would indicate that there was "something doing" between the time the ordinance was introduced and when it came up for final action.

One member of the Council in speaking of the address made by Rev. John McMurray at the Y. M. C. A. last Sunday, said, "the reverened gentleman was not well posted or he would never have made such bold statements." As to J. J. Goff being promised six months ago a license if he erected a building on West Front street, the Councilman said it was foolish to make such a statement. He added that it would be absurd for any member of the Council or any political leader to make such a promise and personally, he did not believe that any such promise had been made.

When the Councilman was asked his opinion as to whether Mr. Goff would get a license, the official said that he could not make any predictions, as he could not tell what might happen between now and the March meeting. The member speaking on the subject is one of those who favors a high license with the present number of licensed drinking places, believing that it is the best way to regulate the liquor traffic.

TEA IN MRS. PATRICK'S HONOR

AFFAIR GIVEN BY MRS. MARTIN I. COOLEY, OF ROCKVIEW AVENUE.

The second and last of a series of teas given by Mrs. Martin I. Cooley for her daughter, Mrs. Patrick, wife of Captain Mason Matthew Patrick, of West Point, at her home in Rockview avenue, yesterday, attracted a large number of society folks and like the first affair a week ago, was a charming one. The same color scheme, pink, prevailed and in the reception and dining rooms pink flowers were used in profusion.

Assisting Mrs. Cooley and her daughter in receiving were Mrs. Morris K. Belknap, of Louisville, Ky., Mrs. Andrew Seltér, Mrs. John Harmon, Mrs. M. O'M. Knott, Mrs. Edward J. Waring, Mrs. Maybury B. Mellor and Mrs. James R. Joy. In the dining room were these young women: Mrs. William McCutchen, Miss Elsie Martin, Miss Maude VanBoskerck and Miss Margaret Yates.

—Mrs. Westcott's dancing class, which recently completed a successful quarter, will recommence next Tuesday night. The dances will be held at the Casino.

—White Label goods are superior because they are better than other brands. The white label on the outside is symbolic of the purity of the goods inside. These cans are sealed scientifically. There is no danger in the use of these goods.

A TRANS-CONTINENTAL RAILROAD'S HISTORY

Alexander Millar, of the Union Pacific, Delivered an Instructive Address.

BEFORE A MEN'S CLUB

TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS IN CARRYING OUT A GREAT UNDERTAKING.

Union Pacific First to Cross the Continent—Celebration When the Road Was Completed—How Jay Gould Came to Its Aid.

"The Romance of Railroading," or the first trans-continental railroad, was the subject of an exceptionally interesting talk given by Alexander Millar, of Madison avenue, at the regular meeting of the Men's Club, of the Congregational church, last night. Mr. Millar is secretary of the Union Pacific Railroad, it being the first road to make its way across the continent. The speaker began his talk with the first attempts to build such a line and followed closely the successes and reverses met in the gigantic enterprise. He referred to the early days of railroading, remarking that in 1835 there were but eight hundred miles of tracks in this country. He mentioned the persistent effort of Asa Whitney, who for ten years endeavored to get a railroad across the continent. He sought Congress in an attempt to secure land grants for the purpose, and it was in this way that the first idea of obtaining the necessary lands was conceived and afterward worked successfully, although the United States profited generously by the deal as was shown by results.

Although, as Mr. Millar stated, the Union Pacific liquidated its entire indebtedness and was the first road to reach the Pacific Coast, there are now about six railroads traversing the territory between the east and west. He referred to the great celebration when the road was completed by the joining of the rails at Ogden. Three spikes, one gold, one silver and the third copper, were driven in the rails and by an electrical device the simple act was telegraphed to all the important cities in the country.

In his talk Mr. Millar related many amusing incidents in connection with the work of construction and mentioned the names of a number of prominent men who were more or less identified with the enterprise, including that of Jay Gould, who proved a great benefactor in that he secured money for the road at 6 per cent. when the company had been paying 14½.

Mr. Millar ventured the assertion that it was James G. Blaine's transaction with Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad bonds that defeated him for the Presidency, and that it was James A. Garfield's connection with Union Pacific that almost resulted in his political downfall.

In connection with the talk Mr. Millar exhibited a number of large-sized photographs showing various scenes along the Union Pacific road, all of which were interesting.

At the close of the talk a vote of thanks was given to the speaker. The remainder of the evening was spent in a social manner, during which refreshments were served.

AGAINST EXEMPTION.

Opinion on Tax Act Received and Signboard Bill Considered by Legislature.

The measure to render the panorama of New Jersey along the railroads more sightly was introduced by Assemblyman Colby in the House yesterday.

This administration measure provides that municipalities in which billboards are erected must license the owners for a fee of $5 a square foot per annum. Failure to do this subjects owners or municipalities to a fine of $250, to be collected by a lawsuit, half of the amount to be given to the informer.

Attorney General McCarter handed an opinion to the House on a resolution of Assemblyman Miller, of Cumberland, asking a decision as to the constitutionality of the fireman's tax exemption, in the general act, which went into effect December 23 last. The Attorney General declared the section giving volunteer firemen $500 exemption was unconstitutional, and was so declared by the Court of Errors and Appeals last fall.

Miss Fanny Mills, of West Front street, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Fulton, of Brooklyn.

BOROUGH FIREMEN TO FORM ASSOCIATION

Members of Present Volunteer Department Plan to Organize an Exempts' Club.

AFTER HEADQUARTERS

COMMITTEES REPRESENTING THE TWO COMPANIES APPOINTED.

Scheme for Organization to be Arranged by J. J. Stahl, David Bodine, George H. Fairchild and William G. Debele.

The first step towards the formation of an Exempt Firemen's Association in North Plainfield was taken last night at a joint meeting of the Warren Engine Company and the West End Hose Company, held in the former's headquarters on Somerset street. There was an unusually large attendance, every fireman in the borough with the exception of four being present. The volunteer department will be disbanded March 15.

David Bodine, George H. Fairchild, William G. Debele and Chief Julius J. Stahl is the committee appointed by the two companies to select suitable rooms and make arrangements for a permanent organization. During the meeting Lewis Clark was elected an honorary member. He is the last man who will be enrolled on the books of the volunteer fire department of North Plainfield. Other matters were discussed, what disposition will be made of the uniforms and other individual property of the members being considered.

RUSSIA BEING HARD HIT

HACKMEN IN CITY COURT

ALL BECAUSE THE JEHUES DID NOT PIN BADGES TO THEIR COATS.

Because they had their badges strapped instead of pinned to their coats, four hackmen were arrested yesterday afternoon and haled before City Judge Runyon this morning. The arrests were made under instructions from Chief Kiely who had received strict orders from the City Council in regard to the enforcement of the hack ordinances. Judge Runyon explained that a literal interpretation of the ordinance was necessary to carry out the Council's wishes as expressed in resolutions adopted at its last meeting. The men were told that they must obey the ordinance and that, if its working seemed unjust they would be obliged to seek regular methods for redress. William L. Callahan, Edward Karmen and Robert Evans were the hackmen who appeared in court this morning. William H. Callahan was also arrested but was excused from appearing. William G. DeMeza, Esq., represented the hackmen.

GERMAN SOCIETY MOVES.

Gesang and Turn Verein to Occupy quarters in Marsh Building Temporarily.

The German and Turn Verein has decided to move from the borough to this city. Temporary headquarters have been secured in the Marsh building on Park avenue, corner of Second street. This was decided upon at a special meeting held in the Boice building on Somerset street last night.

The meeting was called for the purpose of talking over maters pertaining to the erection of a new hall as soon as the insurance on the damaged Saengerbund Hall has been settled. It is planned to put up another structure, but whether it will be on the old site or not has not been decided. The majority of members are in favor of rebuilding on the same site. This is probably what will be done.

Since the fire the Gesang and Turn Verein has made its headquarters in the old Democratic headquarters on Somerset street. These quarters have been found to be too small.

Up to the present time 190 bills has been introduced into the State Legislature.

MARTINE ELOQUENT AT ELIZABETH'S AFFAIR

The Farmer Orator Answered to Toast "Our Country" at Board of Trade's Banquet.

BERGEN DEFENDS P. S. C.

A PROPOSITION TO SUBSCRIBE FOR STRICKEN CITY CAUSED TROUBLE.

Episcopal Clergyman's Defense of Capital—W. G. Besler and C. M. Burt Among Those Present—General Good Time.

A question of whether to subscribe money, to relieve Baltimore's sufferings from fire, destroyed for a time the harmony of the banquet of the Elizabeth Board of Trade last night and created an excited discussion that made the banquet hall a scene almost of pandemonium. The discussion followed a motion for the adoption of resolutions of sympathy to the people of Baltimore in their great losses from fire. General approval was expressed of the resolutions which were drawn up by Former Corporation Attorney James Connolly, but when one of the members proposed that an immediate subscription should be taken up among those present, a bitter controversy arose as to the timeliness of the action. The banquet hall was not considered the opportune time and proper occasion for such action. The matter was finally dropped and quiet restored.

Among the speakers, James E. Martine, of this city, had "Our Country" for his subject. He received an ovation when he arose but modestly attributed the warmth of his reception to his patriotic theme. He described the glories of the U. S. "in extenso" stating incidentally that the duty of America to its territory acquired by conquest or purchase was to protect it and in every way advance its interests. He spoke of the benefits that would follow the building of the Panama canal.

Frank Bergen, Esq., of Newark, defended the trolley system of the P. S. C. He said that the problem of transportation is still in its infancy and perfection of system is not to be expected. He explained many of the troubles of the P. S. C. by the fact that the rolling stock that accompanied the sale of the property of local companies where they were combined into one concern was in wretched condition and a tremendous handicap to good service. Time would enable the corporation to remedy most of the trouble.

An instructive defense of capital was made by Rev. Otis A. Glazebrook. Guests present included a representative of the government of Mexico who is in Elizabeth in connection with the construction in the Crescent shipyards of a warship for Mexico; and W. G. Besler and C. M. Burt, of this city, officials of the Central Railroad.

SECOND COTILLION AT CASINO

SOCIETY TURNS OUT IN FORCE TO ATTEND ENJOYABLE FUNCTION.

The second of society's most prominent events of the season, a subscription cotillion, was held last night and in the early hours of this morning at the Casino. The cotillion was equally as brilliant as the masque ball, the first of the series, last December. There were fifty couples of Plainfield's society folk on the floor.

The hall was handsomely decorated, red and green being the prevailing colors. Dancing began at about 10 o'clock with music by Austen's orchestra, of ten pieces, of Brooklyn. The cotillion was formed a couple of hours later and led by Thomas Van Boskerck and Lewis G. Timpson. An elaborate collation was served by Mrs. Hallstrom. The favors were beautiful affairs, different ones being provided for the men and women participating.

The committee that arranged the cotillion and made possible its shining success consisted of L. G. Timpson, Elliot T. Barrows, Thomas VanBoskerck and Lewis Waring.

The third and final event in the series will take place Easter Monday.

Mocks Fined $5.

Robert Mocks, colored, and William Robinson answered to a charge of fighting this morning in the city court. Mocks was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $5 or spend twenty days in jail. The arrest was made by Patrolman Kelly.

GARBAGE COLLECTION.

Joint-Committee Investigating Subject to Make a Report at the March Meeting of the Council.

The joint committee from the Board of Health and the Common Council, which has been investigating various systems of municipal garbage disposal, has collected much valuable material on the subject and it is understood that a report will be presented at the March meeting of the Council. While it is not definitely known, it is generally believed that a system of municipal collection of garbage will be recommended with a view to its ultimate adoption. It is said that many Councilmen favor the scheme, despite the Mayor's disapproval of it and it would not be surprising if Plainfield should be given some desirable system.

PLAINFIELDERS SAW THE RUINS IN THE MONUMENT CITY.

F. O. Smith, J. C. Storm and Sidney Frasee, the last named being the driver of the chemical engine at fire headquarters went to Baltimore on Monday to see the great fire which laid the greater part of the Monument City in a dreary waste of ruins. They told the story of their experiences to a reporter for The Daily Press on their return. They say the desolation in the handsomest southern city is terrible to contemplate. Whole business blocks have been reduced to ashes and the fury of the great wave of fire was something terrible to behold. A cordon of police and soldiers kept every body away from the immediate neighborhood of the conflagration and everywhere people were hurrying hither and thither with books, and other business records. Even wheelbarrows were called into use.

They arrived in Baltimore shortly after noon. Long before they got there the great clouds of smoke could been sene hanging like a pall over the city. Cinders filled the air and breathing was difficult. Great excitement prevailed throughout the place and with the deep roar of the dynamite explosions and the bellowing sound of the flames, the people were terror striken. An awful sight was the destruction of buildings supposed to be fire proof. They toppled and seemed to melt into piles of charred wreckage before the fiery blast. The firemen were helpless to combat the flames. They were driven back from their positions—the water poured into the fire turning to steam before it hardly left the nozzle.

Mr. Frazee pays a high tribute to the New York firemen. He arrived in Baltimore at about the same time they did and he says that their work was superior in every way to all other companies. They worked intelligently and he says it was largely due to their work that the east side of the town was saved from destruction. At their own request they were placed in the heat of the battle and did valiant work.

A MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY GLEE, BANJO AND MANDOLIN CLUBS AT GRACE M.E.

One of the best entertainments ever given at the Grace M. E. church was that produced by the New York University Glee, Banjo and Mandolin Clubs last night. "The Violet," a musical selection arranged by Willis F. Johnson and Frank Smith, was the opening number on the programme. "Lucky Duck," a semi-humorous rendition was played by the banjo club followed by a side splitting song, by the quartette, composed of Messrs. Rainy, Condit, Werrenrath and Surpless. All the eight numbers on the first part of the programme were well rendered and gave the audience a fair sample of what was to follow in the second part.

The song, "Anona," written and composed by Miss Mabel McKinley, a niece of the dead President, opened part second.

"Hungaria's Hussars," was the seventh and last number of this part of the programme. All the selections were exceptionally well rendered.

The church was well filled and there will be a comfortable profit from the sale of tickets. The committee which has had charge of the entertainments given in this series was composed of the pastor, Rev. Edwin L. Earp, chairman; Richard Winckler, Dr. H. K. Carroll, W. M. Warrin and John Valiant.

Miss Estella Boss, of West Front street, entertained a number of friends Saturday night in honor of visiting relatives from Washington, D. C.

FIFTEEN YEARS WORK OF ENDEAVOR SOCIETY

Park Avenue Baptist Organization Has Accomplished Much During Its Existence.

GOOD AID TO MISSIONS

CONTRIBUTIONS TO FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC FIELDS.

Society Organized Nov. 23, 1888—Total Membership Forty-Five—$1,876.87 Raised—Work of the Junior Department.

A report of the work of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Park Avenue Baptist church during its fifteen years of existence was read by the corresponding secretary of the society, E. C. Runyon, at the anniversary celebration last Friday night. It indicated a steady progress of the society and rapid growth in its capacity for effective mission work.

The society begins this year with an active membership of twenty-six, nine on its absent list, and ten honorary members, a total of forty-five. The largest number on the roll at any time has been fifty-four.

The society was organized November 23, 1888, by about twelve of the young people of the church. Its work has been divided among committees, of which there are six, prayer meeting, look-out, missionary, social, flower and music.

In the missionary field, the Endeavorers have been aided in their work by talks of missionaries among the American Indians, Chinese, Armenians, Hindoos and other people. Efforts have been made to circulate missionary literature by means of a missionary library.

The foreign missionary collections together with money raised by the Fulton two-cents-a-week mission plan have enabled the members to support a native boy in a mission school in India. After the boy left the school, the money was devoted to the support of a native teacher. For this purpose $270 was sent to India in the past nine years. In addition, aid has been given Armenians, and in time of famine to the people of India and Cuba. The helping hand has also been extended teh denominational mission board.

The home missionary money has been devoted to different charities in New York city, Plainfield and the chapel cars of the West. Among the local charities assisted has been Miss Curry's day nursery. During the last seven years, $158 has been used for providing summer outings for New York's poor children. Clothing has been sent to the needy, delicacies to the sick, comfort bags to sailors, etc.

Under the direction of the flower committee in the past decade, bouquets of flowers have been sent to the Judson Memorial church and Mariners' Temple, of New York.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the church was organized ten years ago with Mrs. W. S. Lowry as superintendent, in which position she has continued, with the exception of one or two years, up to the present time. The average number of junior members during the ten years has been twenty-five.

The penny collections contributed by the juniors have amounted to $200 in the decade, all of the amount going to aid in missionary and church work.

Financially the funds of the senior Endeavorers have been turned into three channels, general, home and foreign mission. The total amount raised for all purposes by the society since its inception is $1,876.67. From the general fund, $575 has been given to the church. There is now a balance of $24.54 in the treasury.

BRAVO! BALTIMORE

Governor, Mayor and Officials Face the Situation.

WILL ASK FOR NO OUTSIDE HELP

City Will Rely on Own Resources and Those of State—Feeling of Confidence and Hopefulness Prevails—Vault Treasures Safe.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 10.—With nearly a square mile of ruins still hot and smoking Baltimore has begun its resurrection.

With the dawn of a clear winter day whose brightness was in itself an inspiration apathy gave way to the energy of aroused effort, and from the governor of the state to the least private citizen the people of this distressed city pulled themselves together to meet the appalling conditions that confront them.

It was a day of conferences. The governor, the mayor and various municipal officials met and thrashed out the problems that are theirs by virtue of public office. From this conference came a decision that Baltimore for the present needs no outside help, but will endeavor with her own resources and those of the state to meet the emergency. At this conference also was developed the machinery for an advisory legislative commission to act in conjunction with the legislature.

The military officials also had unusual problems to decide and solved them in a military manner, for every pass that has been issued giving entrance to the fire lines was revoked. No civilian may pass the cordon of citizen soldiery which after forty-eight hours of continuous duty stretches around the fire swept desert where lie safes and vaults containing untold treasure. These were the chief events of a governmental character.

With equal promptness the chamber of commerce held a general meeting and issued a formal announcement that reflected the prevailing hopefulness, declaring "there are already such evidences of recuperation that encourage all in the hope of the early restoration of every branch of trade."

The Stock Exchange members, keyed to the same pitch of energy, met and decided to rebuild as soon as possible. The same story can be told of practically every commercial body, while on every hand is evidence of private effort toward rehabilitation.

Old buildings long unused, private residences near the business section—in fact, every available structure—bear crudely lettered signs on board or cloth announcing that within is the temporary office of a firm. The names on some of these signs are those that rank high in the financial and commercial circles of the world, and in these temporary offices men who for years have known only mahogany desks work on deal tables and plain boards.

Labor is in demand, and the newspapers already contain display advertisements for men to begin the work of clearing the ruins.

All things considered, the public stock taking that engrossed the business world of Baltimore was satisfactory. But this does not mean that the great fire was a lesser calamity than has been pictured in these dispatches. The words that have hurried over telegraph wires, restored by almost superhuman energy to meet a waiting world's demand for news, have given but an inadequate conception of this catastrophe of a century. The bold fact is that 140 acres of business buildings, representing property to the approximate value of $125,000,000, was destroyed within the journey of a clock's hand. History is marked by few calamities so vast and so costly in actual values, but with the passing of the first great shock and prostration the brighter side is coming uppermost, and a realization of what Baltimore escaped is dawning.

A great cloud was lifted when it was discovered that practically all of the vaults and strong rooms and safes of the financial concerns whose buildings were destroyed are unhurt. A tremendous loss in securities had been anticipated here, and when vault after vault yielded up its treasures unharmed the joy of the guardians was boundless.

From one trust company's safes alone papers to the amount of more than $200,000,000 were recovered. The news cheered the whole city and encouraged immediate and thorough investigation. Merchants and their assistants, smoke soiled and begrimed and hollow eyed from anxiety and loss of sleep, worked like laborers in the smoking ruins to uncover their safes, and in nearly every instance they were rewarded by intact contents. Another surprise was the discovery that three financial concerns whose homes were directly in the fiercest sweep of the flames were practically unharmed. These were the Continental Trust company, Brown Bros.' bank and the Mercantile Trust company. No one ventures to offer an explanation of the remarkable escape of these buildings in the center of a heat so intense that metal trimmings of the skylights melted and dripped through on to the desks. In the Mechanics' bank the time locks on the vaults were still running.

As yet no figures on loss and insurance that can be regarded as official are obtainable. A careful canvass of insurance experts, builders and business men placed the loss in round figures at $125,000,000 and the insurance at from $80,000,000 to $90,000,000. It is probable that these estimates will stand with slight change when the final figures are written. Much valuable property that lay in Monday's fire path was saved by the prompt efforts of merchants, and in that section the stock losses will be lighter than elsewhere.

In declining aid proffered the city officials have taken pains to define their position. The blow that has befallen Baltimore has aroused an intense civic pride in an effort to fight out its salvation; but, as Mayor McLane expressed it, the city will not hesitate three minutes to ask assistance if it becomes necessary.

A careful investigation as to the origin of the great fire, which started in the Hurst building, has been made. It was at first reported that the blaze started from the explosion of a gasoline engine in the cellar, but this is now given an emphatic denial.

Henry S. Hurst of the firm of John E. Hurst & Co. said that there was no gasoline in the building and that the fire did not have its origin in an explosion of this liquid in the Hurst building. This statement was subsequently corroborated by a signed statement issued by S. W. T. Hopper & Sons, insurance agents and brokers, who said that after careful inspections by deputies of their firm and of the Fire Underwriters' association they were satisfied that there was no gasoline in the building.

Mr. Hurst said that he and Charles George, a trusted employee, were the last persons to leave the building at 5:30 p. m. Saturday and that all the electric lights were turned off by a switch. It is not denied that the fire originated in the Hurst building, but how it started is yet to be learned.

One of the most remarkable freaks of the fire was the escape of the big government buildings. The flames wrought destruction on all sides of this group of structures except on the north. These buildings are the city hall, the United States courthouse, used as the temporary headquarters of the subtreasury pending the erection of the new building and by the customs office, the postoffice buildings, which also contained the United States marshal's office, and the office of the collector of internal revenue. All to the south of this entire group is complete destruction, but these buildings escaped without a scratch.

The military grip on the ruins has been tightened to the limit, and for the present it is impossible for any one to pass the line of soldiers around the burned territory unless on a pass personally issued by Brigadier General Riggs for official business. This was decided upon at a conference held at which were present the governor, General Riggs and Mayor McLane. It was found that so many persons had secured possession of passes or otherwise gained admission that it was thought advisable to prohibit everybody. In the safes and vaults buried under the ruins are hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of securities, negotiable paper and cash, which the authorities feel they cannot leave exposed to even those who were granted passes. The burned area, it will be remembered, includes the whole financial district of the city, the entire wholesale territory and many office buildings.

All the military and police passes heretofore issued were revoked, and soon after that troops were sent into the desolated territory to clear it of every one found. So rigidly was the "no pass" order enforced that a physician who has two patients just within the roped off section on the eastern side of the area was refused a pass, but was accompanied by an officer to the homes of the sick persons.

A revival of the fire last night in the lumber yard of William D. Gill & Son, at the extreme southeastern limit of the burned territory, caused a new alarm to be sent in. Four companies and a fire boat, the Cataract, responded, and late at night the blaze was under control.

POSTAL FRAUD TRIALS.

August W. Machen Testifies In His Own Behalf.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The central figure in the postal trial, August W. Machen, former superintendent of the rural free delivery division, took the stand in his own behalf and said he assumed responsibility for the acts of Miss Leibhardt, his chief clerk, who had initialed and signed letters from his division. He rehearsed the oil transaction which has figured so conspicuously in the trial and said that the $25,000 received from Lorenz in payment of the Machen interest in the oil property was a bona fide sale.

The Groff fastener, he said, had been called to the attention of the department before he received his appointment. He denied emphatically that up to the time Mr. Lorenz in August of 1895 spoke of his having an interest in the device he had any supicion of the fact and was equally emphatic in saying that neither Mr. Lorenz nor the Groffs ever influenced his action either in placing the first order for the fasteners or in any subsequent orders.

BRYAN UPHELD.

Court Sustains His Contentions In Regard to Bennett Will.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 10.—In two decisions just handed down Judge Thayer in the superior court sustains counsel for William J. Bryan in certain contentions growing out of the refusal of the probate court to admit to probate as a part of the will of the late P. S. Bennett the sealed letter giving $50,000 to Mr. Bryan.

One decision sustains a demurrer entered by counsel for Mr. Bryan to a plea in abatement filed in behalf of Mrs. Bennett, widow of the testator, from Mr. Bryan's appeal from the probate court's decision.

The other decision overrules a motion by counsel for Mrs. Bennett and other heirs to expunge certain portions of the answer of Mr. Bryan to the appeal brought by Mrs. Bennett.

CONTROVERSY ENDS.

Shipbuilding Suits Practically Settled at Newark.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 10.—The United States Shipbuilding company's case came up before Judge Kirkpatrick in the United States circuit court, when orders which are considered practically to settle the controversy were drawn up, agreed upon, embodied in a decree and signed by the court. They consist of four motions made at a previous hearing before the insolvency of the company was admitted by the defendants. These motions were made by Mr. Untermyer in behalf of the complainants in the suit. They were:

That the Shipbuilding company be declared insolvent, that a permanent receiver be appointed, that Charles M. Schwab be made a party defendant and that the cause be tried in open court.

ICE GORGE FLOODS

Susquehanna Rising Causes Immense Damage.

PEOPLE FLEE TO THE MOUNTAINS

The Pennsylvania and Lackawanna Roads Are Blocked by High Water—Mill Hands Rescued—Ice Jammed For Thirty Miles.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 10.—The flood along the Susquehanna grows worse every hour, and despite the cold weather the water is still rising. Much of the rise is due to the water backing up from the immense gorge which bottles up the river below Bloomsburg and which grows stronger instead of breaking.

Communication with the west side of the river has been cut off, and the water is over the farm lands opposite this city. Nanticoke is surrounded by high water from both the river and the creek. Plymouth is flooded along the shore front, and street car traffic is suspended. At Espry the streets are under water, and the river is rising at the rate of eight inches an hour. People are hurriedly leaving their homes and fleeing to the mountains. Four feet of water covers the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western tracks at Ruper, and there no trains have gone through on the Pennsylvania railroad.

The rapidly rising river has driven 300 people out of their homes at Plymouth, and a number at Nanticoke have also been forced to leave. So rapidly did the flood rise that a hundred silk mill girls at Plymouth were caught before they could escape and had to be taken out of the second story windows in boats. At Firwood, in the southern part of this city, many families had to leave their homes as the waters advanced, and others who remained in the hope of its receding were taken out in boats. Westmoreland and the flats opposite this city are flooded, and the people there are cut off from this city.

The towns of Bloomsburg and Catawissa, on the north branch of the Susquehanna, are under sixteen feet of water, with a flood coming down the river upon them which threatens to annihilate them.

A monster ice jam thirty miles long, formed two weeks ago, is backing the water up on all sides and gives no evidence of breaking.

Twenty miles above the towns, at Shickshinny, is another big jam. In case this should break untold damage will result for miles below.

People have moved from their homes and are praying for relief.

In many cases the channel of the river has been changed, and it is now flowing over farm lands and through villages.

Employees Jumped to Escape Fire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—More than a dozen employees, among them several women, were compelled to jump from the second story windows by a sudden outbreak of fire in the Brooklyn Chair company's factory in Waverly avenue. Several were overtaken by the flames and severely burned before they could make their escape, and it is feared that two will die. The factory was entirely destroyed, involving a loss of about $100,000. The building was formerly the Central Baptist church. John Sembler, one of those who jumped from a window, is dead. Two other employees are missing, and it is feared that they have perished.

Wealthiest Negro In St. Louis Shot.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 10.—During a gambling quarrel Jim Ray, one of the best known fighters in the local sporting world, a leading negro politician and reputed to have been the wealthiest negro in St. Louis, was shot and killed in a pistol battle in which thirty shots were fired at the Falstaff club, a saloon. His partner, John Arthur, is dying from wounds received in the fight. Edward Grimes, twenty-eight years old, proprietor of the Falstaff, is under arrest. He was not wounded.

Coffee and Tobacco Used, Died at 102.

DAYTON, O., Feb. 10.—Philip Kelfer, a wealthy retired manufacturer, who celebrated the one hundred and second anniversary of his birth a few months ago, is dead here. He came to Dayton from Maryland in 1832. He drank six cups of coffee daily all his life and was an inveterate user of tobacco.

Bandits Crack a Safe.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Feb. 10.—A special from Commerce, Tex., says that bandits have cracked the safe of a bank at Ravia, I. T., and secured $1,700. The citizens, aroused by the noise of the explosions, attacked the robbers. Firing ensued, but no one was hurt. The robbers escaped.

Leishman Leaves Constantinople.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 10.—United States Minister Leishman, who has left Constantinople on leave of absence, dined with the sultan at the Yildiz palace. Subsequent to leaving he bade the Turkish ruler farewell.

Dodge Rearrested.

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 10.—Charles F. Dodge has been rearrested on a charge of being a fugitive from justice. Attorneys for Dodge sued out a writ of habeas corpus, which is being heard before Judge Kittrell.

Slavery In the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The house committee on insular affairs took up the bill to prohibit slavery in the Philippines, but postponed action, as it was desired to hear Secretary Taft on the subject.

Plainfield, N. J., Feb. 10, 1904.

For a whole week nothing has happened to disturb the tranquility in North Plainfield politics. This is rather alarming.

The Hearst boomers threaten to bring Bryan into this State to kill Cleveland's chances of getting a solid delegation. Such news as this should make the friends of the sage of Princeton more hopeful.

On Monday night the local Y. M. C. A. athletes were awarded the medals won in North Jersey inter-association meet. On Thursday night, Feb. 24, Company K will receive the trophies and medals won in the Second Regiment contests on the Sea Girt range last summer. Championship honors are becoming commonplace here.

Some party organs are elated over the fact that New Jersey's representation in the electoral college has been increased from ten to twelve. Pennsylvania has many more electors and yet they speak for one man. The numerical strength of a delegation is of little consequence. It is vital that they reflect the sentiment of the victors of the campaign.

Some people seem to think that the Board of Education is somewhat dilatory in not hurrying up to build the proposed $125,000 high school building. For their benefit it may be well to explain that there is a lot of red tape about the issuing of the necessary bonds and that the Board is serving the best interests of the public in moving slowly in the matter.

It is announced that in connection with Jersey's exhibit at the St. Louis fair, a practical demonstration is to be made of a method of killing mosquitoes. Too bad that we have to go that far away from home to see one of those "practical" demonstrations. If the State Entomologist worked as hard as he talks possibly there would be no need of having the mosquito featured at the exhibition.

I don't believe that a man buys a newspaper in the morning to find out where he can buy a suit of clothes, underwear, shoes, or a new hat, the next day, at the lowest possible price. But if a man casually looks over the advertisements of a newspaper, happens to need any article of wear, and reads the advertisement of a store with an established good reputation, he is bound to bear that store in mind when making his purchases. The basis of all good advertising is the possession of the proper merchandise—merchandise that is really meritorious.—W. W. Seeley.

I. C. T. Club Dance.

The second annual masquerade ball of the I. C. T. club will take place tomorrow night in the club rooms on North avenue. February, two years ago today, the club was organized. The rooms have been handsomely decorated in the club colors, red, orange and blue, and draped with flags. The grand march will take place at 10 o'clock. It is expected that there will be some guests from out of town.

—Children's Home, 146 Jackson avenue, corner Westervelt. Mrs. Sarah A. Hendrickson, matron. Take Somerset street car to Jackson avenue and walk east two blocks. tf —Physicians say that there is an unusually large number of cases of grip in both the city and borough at present. There have been many absencies in the North Plainfield schools from this cause.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING TOMORROW

F. H. ANDREWS TO RESPOND TO ADDRESS OF WELCOME AT CONVENTION.

J. H. Manning, secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., will be among a host of Christian men from all parts of New Jersey which will gather at Trenton tomorrow as delegates from the Young Men's Christian Associations of the State, and at 5:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the association building, the thirty-third State convention will open with a reception to the visitors. Following this supper will be served in the banquet room.

At the conclusion of the supper, the address of welcome will be given by Mayor Katzenbach, of Trenton, to which Frederick H. Andrews, of this city, president of the last convention, will respond.

The Thursday evening session will begin at 7:45 o'clock in Association Hall. After the formal organization an address will be given by the Rev. Cornelius Woelfkin, of Brooklyn, on "The Christian Life and Its Maintenance."

During the day sessions topic of vital interest to the associations will be considered, while addresses from prominent speakers will mark all the evening sessions.

Sunday afternoon special meetings for men and boys will be held, and the convention will adjourn Sunday evening with a farewell service in Taylor Opera House.

The fact that Friday, Lincoln's birthday, is a legal holiday will, it is hoped, make possible a particularly large attendance of business men. Plainfield's delegation at the convention will include Frederick H. Andrews, Stephen Caboone, George M. Rittenhouse, A. C. LaBoyteaux, William D. Murray, Philip VanArsdale, C. E. A. Heywood, Robert Love, Herbert S. Brokaw, Ralph Bullman and others.

TO SHORTEN THE CAMPAIGNS

BILL SUBMITTED PROVIDES FOR PRIMARIES ON THE THIRD DAY.

The House list of bills has been increased in the Legislature by forty-four new measures. The first eight were introduced by Mr. Birkholz, of Essex, seven of which relate to the practice act. Of these, one makes it a misdemeanor for a husband or father to wilfully desert or neglect his family, while another provides a penalty of a year's imprisonment for a violation of the child labor law. Two by Mr. Hillery, of Morris, amend the Cloby school law bill relating to the consolidation of school districts, and the other to the custody of the school funds.

Assemblyman Layden, of Passaic, wants to shorten the political campaigns, and with that object in view introduced an amendment to the primary law, which provides that the primaries shall be held on the third day of registration, instead of the first.

The Passaic man sent up another measure, authorizing cities to pension all police officers who shall become incapacitated from work by reason of illness or injuries received in the actual performance of their duty.

Mr. Hulse, of Mercer, has introduced a bill to settle a fight of a councilman elected last fall to take his seat. It provides that elected members of common councils, who have not yet taken the oath of office, may do so at once and assume the duties of the office.

Mr. Wilson, of Essex, put in a bill authorizing boards of health in cities and boroughs to appoint five-man examining boards to license plumbers.

A bill by Assemblyman Pennington, of Newark, authorizes the Governor to appoint a board of five undertakers to examine and license all persons desiring to engage in the practice of embalming, burying and disposing of dead human bodies.

PERSONAL.

Warren Squier, of Astor place, is detained at home by illness.

The young child of John Carrigan, of West Third street, is seriously sick.

F. A. Weber, of Liberty street, is entertaining guests from out of town.

Mrs. Henry McGee, of the borough, sailed recently to join her husband in Egypt.

Mrs. William Sampson is confined to her home on East Fifth street by illness.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The officers-elect of the Retail Clerks' Mutual Aid Association were not installed at the meeting held Monday night owing to the absence of some of the members. The installation will be held Monday night, Feb. 22.

—Employes of the Public Service Corporation have just completed the work of locating another signal box on the West Front street trolley line. It is located at the corner of West Front street and West End avenue and will be of great benefit notifying motormen as to the location of cars on the single track part of the line.

—While at work typewriting some letters in the office of George W. Bird, on Monday, Miss Hattie McLaughlin, of Somerset street, had a narrow escape from asphyxiation. In some manner the key on the gas fixture became open and a strong stream of gas filled the room. Intent upon her work, Miss McLaughlin did not notice it until Mr. Bird entered the office.

—If you want to spend a couple of pleasant and instructive hours next Sunday, read the remarkable story of John D. Rockefeller's rise to power and of the happier fate of his cousin and schoolmate, William Miller, now a Brooklyn newspaper distributor; the tale of a Philadelphia's girl's heroism and a man's pluck in a strange emergency, the romance of Germany's Crown Prince and his American girl acquaintances, remarkable scientific discoveries of the influence of color on human beings—these are a few of the interesting features in next Sunday's New York World.

Invasion or Property Rights.

The mosquito has made its appearance in the Legislature in the shape of a bill by Assemblyman Duffield to empower local boards of health to fill in any pools of stagnant water which may become breeding places for the insects. Many property owners in places where war has been waged against mosquitoes upon campaign lines of State Entomologist Smith have refused permission to the authorities to enter upon their lands, and it is to overcome such opposition that this bill has been drawn up. Should the measure by any possibility slip through it cannot remain long upon the statute books, however, for such an invasion of the rights of property owners merely to carry out a hobby is not likely for a moment to be tolerated by the courts.—Hoboken Observer.

A THREE-CENT TROLLEY FARE

BILL INTRODUCED TO ALLOW MUNICIPALITIES TO OWN TROLLEY LINES.

In the bill which is to be presented in the Legislature this week, Assemblyman Hamill, of Hoboken, will ask for municipal ownership of trolley roads there, and promises a three-cent fare.

The bill, which has been prepared by Corporation Attorney Minturn, of Jersey City, provides "it shall be lawful for any city in this State by resolution of its Common Council, Board of Aldermen or other governing body duly approved by its Mayor to purchase any existing street railway and its equipment in such city now operated and running between two points or terminal located in such city."

The bill provides that the purchase shall be by agreement, if possible, between the city and the trolley company, but if an agreement cannot be reached the Council may petition the Circuit Court to appoint a commission of three men to condemn the property and fix valuations.

Provision is made that the trolley company, "if dissatisfied with the award," may appeal to the courts for a higher award.

The road is to be managed by two commissioners "who will not be residents of the city," and who shall serve for terms of five years each. They shall be bonded for $25,000 each for the faithful performance of their duties, must have had "at least ten years' experience in such business, and shall operate the said railroad under the rules and regulations prescribed for that purpose by the mayor and governing body of such city."

Three cents is the amount fixed as a fare for rides within the city limits of all cities acting under this act.

THE PRICE OF LAND

It Is Going Up in the Business District of Chicago.

THE EFFECT OF THE ADVANCE

Forcing the Construction of Sky-Scrapers and Proving a Boon for the Neighborhood Merchant —The Idle Rich.

Chicago.—That fireproof construction is a practical possibility was proven a few days ago when a fire occurred in the Masonic temple. The only thing that burned was the furniture in the suite of rooms in which the blaze started, and despite the fact that it was so high up that it was impossible for the fire department to reach it, it did but a trifling damage to property, and burned itself out within a few minutes for lack of material on which to feed.

Three Hundred Feet Above the Street.

The Masonic temple is the tallest strictly office building in the city. There are within its walls 20 stories of offices and a few lodge rooms, though the masonic fraternity are abandoning it to a large extent. On top of these 20 floors of offices is a roof garden and vaudeville theater, and above this a roof observatory.

The Masonic Temple roof garden has been one of the popular places of amusement during the summer months for several years, and its seating capacity of 2,000 has often been taxed to the limit. The new theater ordinance placed a ban on this place of amusement, as it did on all play houses that were more than 12 feet above the sidewalks, but since the recent fire experience shows the building to be really fireproof, the management are hoping to induce the authorities to issue a license again.

What would happen should a fire break out in the building during a performance in the theater is hard to imagine. The great central corridor would carry the smoke upward to the pleasure seekers 300 feet above the street, and even though the danger might be trifling, it would be almost certain to produce a panic, and probably cause a loss of life before the 14 elevators could convey the audience to the street.

Necessity of Fireproof Construction.

Absolute fireproof construction is becoming more of a necessity every day in Chicago. Real estate conditions, and advance in real estate prices is making this so. The main business section of the city refuses to expand very far beyond a certain narrow limit of not over one square mile. The demand for offices in this little section has forced rentals to an abnormal price, though, of course, not so high as they are in certain sections of New York. This raise in rent values has brought a corresponding raise in land values, until it is no longer profitable to erect a comparatively small building in this section.

Caused by Rise in Land Values.

The First national bank is spending $3,000,000 in constructing a 16-story building on the land it owns at Dearborn and Monroe streets, and refused to improve the property or to add to the holdings it had there until the city council would remove the building limit which prevented the erection of anything higher than 14 stories. As soon as that limitation was removed, the construction of the building was begun, and is being pushed to rapid completion. The Daily Tribune, which had constructed its new building under the old ordinance, promptly added new floors when the new law made such a course possible.

With modern elevators and fireproof construction of steel and brick and stone only, the sixteenth floor becomes as valuable for offices as is the second or third floors. The First national bank considered those two additional floors to mean the difference between a profit or no profit on the investment. The new building is costing some $3,000,000 to construct, and aside from the Masonic temple, which cost $3,500,000, and the new post office, which is costing $4,000,000, is the most expensive building in the city.

Boon for the Small Merchant.

There is another effect this crowding of the downtown district is having. It is building up the patronage of the neighborhood store at the expense of the big department emporiums of the city. It has been the fashion to run to the big department stores for everything wanted. The housewife who wished a yard of ribbon, or the man who wanted a new shirt seldom thought of buying it outside of the business district of the city. They passed by the small stores near at home to go downtown for every small purchase.

Room of the Small Store.

The congestion of interests into so small a space has resulted not only in crowding the streets there with people, but it has also crowded the transportation lines leading in and out of this district, and the buying public, to avoid these conditions, have turned to the smaller stores nearer home.

State street, Cottage Grove avenue, Milwaukee avenue, Blue Island avenue, Madison street and a large number of other thoroughfares in every part of the city are devoted to retail business interests. They pay cheaper rents than the department store competitors, and the new patrons are finding that, though the stocks are not so large, they can buy as cheaply as they can downtown, besides saving street car fare and the discomforts of a trip to the department stores.

As an instance of this, I know a dealer in men's furnishing goods on Cottage Grove avenue who has struggled along for some years in an effort to make small merchandising pay.

He saw his neighbors pass by his store on their way to the department stores downtown. In no way could he attract their trade. He offered bargains that were genuine, but they didn't attract trade. Then the tide began to turn his way. The people, friends and strangers alike, became his patrons. To-day he is riding on the top of the prosperity wave, and all because of the congested conditions in the small section known as the business district of Chicago.

Are Babies Wanted?

It is hardly probable that Bishop Francis, of Indiana, based his recent statement that children are not wanted in the homes of the rich on any investigations he made in Chicago. I say it is hardly probable for the reason that Chicago would not have furnished a good field for such investigations.

Babies Are Not Wanted.

The majority of the really rich families of Chicago have grown in wealth with the growth of the city. The Armours, the Pullmans, the Leiters, the Palmers and many others who are now rated well up in the millions were parents long before they were millionaires. But few of these families, that is the older generation, are typical society people to-day. The late Phil Armour's sons grew to manhood while their father was accumulating the fortune he left them. The elder Leiter, who made much of his wealth by the advance in the price of Chicago real estate, was the father of the present Lady Curzon before he was a millionaire. George M. Pullman was raising Chicago out of the mud, and dreaming of palace cars only when his children were born.

In part, the sons of these pioneer fathers have gone the way of the idle rich—pleasure seeking. But the majority are home lovers, to whom the prattle of childish voices is as sweet as it was to their pioneer fathers.

In the generally accepted sense of the word Chicago has no society at the present time. There are no idle rich to make it. The really wealthy men are busy accumulating greater wealth, and their wives are occupied with the various forms of "new movements" for women. Chicago does not yet need a Freddy Gebhard, a Harry Lehr or a Ward McAllister. There is neither a "400" to organize or to amuse.

An Exception.

I have just said that in the generally accepted sense of the word Chicago has no society. In the light of recent occurrences that statement would seem to need a correction. It is broadly hinted, not only in the public press, but in the city courts, that the city is becoming a field for the operations of a class of servants who find their opportunities among the idle rich. The Chicago public was not specially interested in the trial of Tilbury on the charge of carrying concealed weapons, or of extorting money, but the public was interested in the flavor of scandal that lay back of the charges.

A Villain in Disguise.

Now it is said that an organized band of men servants exists in the city, whose purpose it is to blackmail their mistresses by threatening to cannect their names with a scandal. Such an organization would find a poor field for operations except among a class of idle women. The woman who is genuinely busy with the important duties of life has not time to place herself in compromising positions, even though she do so innocently. The busy woman has no time to go automobile touring with a schemeing chauffeur.

If the coachmen and chauffeurs of the city have organized for the purpose of blackmailing their employers they will, except in exceptional cases, find Chicago a poor field for their operations, for the city is not a center for the idle rich.

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark.

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICES, upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR EVENING AND DAY WEAR

Brocade Petticoats—The Full Skirt Is Here to Stay.

Some pretty simple evening gowns for debutantes are of spotted net and even of very fine cloth gathered into a waistband of soft silk.

Evening petticoats are particularly gorgeous. White cambric has given way to beautiful brocades trimmed with ruchings of taffeta and entredeux of lace of heavy makes with inner frills of accordion plaited taffeta.

Nowadays the petticoat is an important consideration, as so many of the fuller dress skirts are unlined.

Brocades are also used for petticoats for day wear, but these are of much darker shade, and they are economical, for brocade wears far better than taffeta.

The full skirt has come to stay, and it is trimmed in many elaborate fashions with ruchings, flounces of lace, etc.

An ultra fashionable evening gown seen recently was of heavy yellow lace, the skirt made with five ruffles and the decollette bodice having a deep bertha. Each ruffle was ornamented with a row of little ermine tails.

Flower sprays are used to brighten evening gowns that are otherwise little trimmed. They consist of violets, orchids or roses, with long trailing vines or maidenhair fern.

The picture represents a girl's frock of white veiling and narrow lace. The belt is of white glace silk.

ADVANCE SPRING FASHIONS.

Gray and Heliotrope Combinations. Lace Hats For Future Wear.

Ribbons are being used more and more for trimming, especially velvet and taffeta ribbons. The former are shirred and the latter laid on flat in bands which grow wider as they reach the bottom of the skirt.

It is rumored that a new soft shade of green will make its appearance

GRAY EVENING GOWN.

among the spring novelties. Combined with touches of black and with yellow lace, it will be very smart.

The smartest color combination is gray and heliotrope, and this will become more and more popular as spring approaches, for it adapts itself to all sorts of spring millinery flowers, pansies, violets, etc.

Lace is being worn even more than ever as a dress trimming, and it not only decorates the waist, but appears in bands on the skirt. All lace to look its best should have chiffon beneath it unless it is point de venise or duchess lace on black velvet. A bertha of fine lace makes a delightful finish to a plain satin gown.

Hats of lace, both plain and shirred, are now being made by the leading milliners. They serve a double purpose, as they can be worn during the evening in winter and on the street for dressy occasions during the summer.

The picture shows an evening gown of gray silk mull trimmed with gray sequins and yellow lace.

aged. Official confirmation of the report is unobtainable. The Russian cruisers Koriets and Varyag were lying at Chemulpo, and it is possible that they were the vessels engaged.

The Russian embassy here has refused offers of enlistment from Frenchmen numbering about 150.

The Echo de Paris says the embassy has also refused the offer of an American shipowner whose name is not given to place his ships at the disposal of Russia to act as privateers.

REPORT TO THE CZAR.

Viceroy Alexeieff's Official Report of the Engagement.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 10.—The following official bulletin has just been issued by Viceroy Alexeieff's chief of staff:

"I beg to report that a Japanese squadron consisting of about fifteen battleships and cruisers approached Port Arthur and opened fire. The enemy was received with a cannonade from the shore batteries and the guns of our squadron, which also participated in the engagement.

"The Japanese squadron shortly after ceased its fire and left, proceeding south.

"Our losses in the fleet were two officers wounded, nine men killed and forty-one men wounded. On the shore batteries one man was killed and three wounded. The battleship Poltava and the cruiser Novik each had a hole knocked in her side below the water line. The forts were slightly damaged."

NEW YORK CHASED OUT.

Lighters, With Ammunition For Jiminez, Shelled by Gunboat.

MONTE CRISTI, Santo Domingo, Feb. 10.—The Clyde line steamer New York, from New York, arrived here early in the morning, followed by the Dominican gunboat Presidente. Lighters were sent alongside the New York to bring ashore some ammunition which formed part of her cargo. When the lighters had nearly reached the steamer, the gunboat fired on them, and the revolutionists on shore replied with cannon and Mausers.

The New York, being in danger, thereupon left Monte Cristi for Puerto Plata. The firing continued for half an hour, after which the gunboat sailed for Puerto Plata. She was hit twice by round shot and apparently by hundreds of bullets, for she stopped and lowered boats, evidently to plug the holes made in her hull.

The failure to land the ammunition is a serious blow to General Jiminez, for whom it was intended, and may cause him to lose the ground he has already gained. An attack on Santiago de los Caballeros had been fixed for Sunday.

The German steamer Altenburg called here, but the revolutionists did not permit her to discharge her cargo.

NINE KILLED.

Bad Smashup on Canadian Pacific Near Sand Point.

OTTAWA, Feb. 10.—Nine persons were killed and over a score injured in a collision between two passenger trains on the Canadian Pacific west of Sand Point. The trains in collision were the eastbound and westbound "Soo" specials. Both trains were under orders to stop at Sand Point and pass there.

The crew of the westbound train is blamed for the accident. The Canadian Pacific Railroad company places the responsibility for the wreck upon the crew of the westbound train. Conductor Nidd of that train admitted that his engineer had orders to stop at Sand Point. The conductor also said that he (Nidd) ought to have stopped him.

Bank Wreckers Got $500.

CHICORA, Pa., Feb. 10.—Burglars wrecked the interior of the Millerstown Deposit bank in an effort to loot the safe. They got $500 in mutilated currency, which was in the outer safe, but it will not be known until an expert arrives from Pittsburg whether they succeeded in getting into the interior of the large safe, as the inner doors were jammed shut by the explosion.

Cuban War Loan.

HAVANA, Feb. 10.—Bidders for the proposed Cuban loan of $35,000,000 to pay off war claims and for public works will submit proposals today. In view of the financial uncertainties caused by the war in the far east it is not expected, however, that these proposals will be absolutely definite.

Erastus Wiman Dead.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Erastus Wiman, who at one time was prominent in the development of Staten Island and later sustained financial reverses, is dead at his home in St. George, N. Y. He suffered a stroke of paralysis three years ago.

LOBSTER AND EAGLE.

Strange Encounter in Which the Proud Bird Came Off Second Best.

As an excuse for dragging a lobster story in I can at least claim that much of the contention between the French and the English over the French shore difficulty in Newfoundland hinges upon the point as to whether or not a lobster is a fish, since the French fishermen claim the right to build lobster factories on the treaty coast in virtue of the clause of the treaty authorizing them to erect buildings for drying their fish.

The fisherman in this case was one of the white-headed eagles popularly known in Newfoundland as a grip. The story is told by Col. Haggard, with whom I visited Newfoundland a few years ago in search of salmon, says a writer in Forest and Stream. "John Stroud, one of our guides, and I," says the colonel, "were sitting on the rocks by the seashore watching the grip soaring around in circles, when suddenly we saw him dash into a pool of water close by us on the beach and reappear holding an enormous lobster in his talons. He was an old lobster, with a huge claw, white with barnacles, shining white in the sunlight. Only for a second, though. The ripples on the recently disturbed pool had not yet died away, the large drops of water had not ceased to fall upon its surface from the soaring eagle's feathers and the captive lobster alike, when the latter suddenly awoke to the seriousness of the situation, and to think with that apparently helpless creature was to act, for he was a lobster of action. Up came the great white barnacled claw and seized the eagle around the neck. The grip had got the grip now with a vengeance. There was a furious fluttering and beating of his wings, a melancholy squawk from his choking throat and then, tumbling and rolling head over heels in the air in a confused mass, down came eagle and lobster again splash into the pool. We rushed forward, thinking that we could, perhaps, in some way, secure both combatants, as the splashing of the conflict continued in the shallow water. But we had hardly time to pick up a rock apiece to heave at the eagle, before the lobster, feeling himself at home again, let go his hold. Now, with his neck all torn and devoid of feathers, away flew the bedraggled eagle to a neighboring cliff, while, still brandishing his enormous claw in defiance, the lobster remained smiling at the bottom of the pool. But the grip will doubtless tell you, if you meet him, that the lobster fishing in Newfoundland is very poor at present, and that he is going to give it up, as the game is hardly worth the candle."

ERRORS IN ILLUSTRATIONS.

They Are Very Easily Made, and in Newspaper Work Almost Unavoidable.

"Perfection of detail," said the cartoonist, according to the Philadelphia Record, "is very rare in the making of pictures, whether they be painted on canvas by the great masters or drawn in line by the men who illustrate the daily newspapers. It is the general effect that tells. There are few newspaper pictures—and I don't exclude my own—in which you can't pick some flaw from the standpoint of realism. In the hurried effort of the newspaper artist who counts the minutes by the clock, there may be some excuse for this, but when we see a man carving a turkey left-handed on the cover of a magazine we must agree that the artist has either been careless or else has employed a left-handed model to pose for him, and the latter solution is scarcely probable. A fisherman landing a trout on a light rod with never a finger on the reel is quite a common mistake among magazine illustrations, and in the matter of costumes of various periods the illustrators are woefully lacking in information.

"To illustrate how apt we are to make mistakes," continued the cartoonist, "several years ago I drew a figure representing Cuba, emaciated, starving, a thing of skin and bones. The figure was half naked, and I tried to bring out all the horrible detail—the shrunken limbs, the gaunt face, the ribs protruding through the skin, and, above all, the hollow cavity where the stomach should have been. A friend of mine, a doctor, took me to task about it. 'Persons who are starving to death,' he said, 'may be abnormally emaciated in every other part of the body except the stomach. The abdomen in the advanced stages is expanded with gases until it puffs up like a balloon, giving the victim a grotesque appearance.' To substantiate this statement he showed me some photographs taken in India during a famine, and I was forced to admit that he was right."

Lighter Than Cork.

In spite of the formidable rivalry of the feather, the cork has hitherto held the foremost place among the pseudonyms for lack of weight. This supremacy is now seriously imperiled by the discovery of marea wood, as reported to have been made by Capt. Truffert in the Bahr-el-Ghazel and the neighborhood of Tchad. It belongs to the same species as the mimosa, and as observed growing on the shores of Lake Tchad, reaches a height of from 12 to 15 feet. It throws off shoots near the ground, and its branches bear thorns and yellow flowers. The wood is lighter than cork.

Strategy.

"There comes our car. Let's go over to the corner."

"Don't walk so fast. If the motorman sees we are not in a hurry he is more likely to stop for us."—Kansas City Journal.

SHELL PORT ARTHUR

Japanese Fleet Sinks Three Russian War Vessels.

FIRST BLOOD SHED IN WAR RUSSIAN

Torpedo Boats Did Great Damage. Viceroy's Official Dispatch to the Czar Tells of Injuries to His Ships and Crew.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—The following official dispatch has just been received here from Port Arthur:

"A Japanese fleet composed of fifteen armored ships has bombarded Port Arthur since early morning, and the forts have returned the fire. The entire Russian fleet then went out, and a combat was soon in progress.

"Two Russian battleships were disabled, the Poltava and the Cesarevitch. The disabled armored cruiser Boyarin and the grounded battleships block the entrance to the harbor, preventing gunboats from getting out and battleships and cruisers from going in and getting coal. Besides this Japan has the Russian cruisers Variag and Koratz caught at Chemulpo. They were bound for Vladivostok.

"The Japanese fleet was under the command of Vice Admiral Tego and consisted of four fast cruisers, Chitose, Kasagi, Tagafago and Yoshino, which circled outside, drawing the fire of the Russians. They then joined the main fleet, and all went in to attack the armored cruisers. In the Japanese fleet, which consisted of two divisions, were the Mikasa, the flagship; the first class battleships Asahi, Fuji, Onashima, Shikishima and Hatsuse and the dispatch boat Tatsuma. The second division of the fleet was under command of Admiral Kamimura on the flagship Idsumo and consisted of the armored cruisers Yakuma, Asama and Iwatz."

The Russians had one cruiser outside to watch for the Japanese ships. The cruiser was fired upon by the Japanese, and the other Russian vessels took up their anchors and cruised around the roadstead. The Japanese fleet came up within three miles, and a battle commenced. The Japanese fired on the ships and forts, which replied. Two Russian ships were struck by shells, but were only slightly damaged. The Russian fire fell short. The Columbia steamed away while the battle was in progress, but later saw the Japanese fleet leave. One Japanese cruiser, with torpedo boats, is reported north of Chefu.

The report given out later of the sinking of eleven Japanese warships has traveled over Russia and Europe, and St. Petersburg was besieged by telegrams asking for confirmation.

A member of the crew of the Columbia tells this story of the naval battle at Port Arthur:

"The Columbia was lying in the roadstead, surrounded by fourteen Russian battleships and cruisers. A severe shock was felt on board the Columbia. The Russians immediately commenced to operate their searchlights and opened fire toward the sea. The firing lasted only a short time. Then more shocks were felt, and the Russians again commenced firing.

"The Japanese did not return the fire. Two Russian battleships went in and were beached across the entrance of the harbor. They were soon followed by a Russian cruiser, which also was beached. None of the vessels was damaged above the water line. More shocks from torpedoes were felt during the early morning, and then all was quiet.

"At daylight three Japanese cruisers passed Port Arthur in sight of the Russian fleet. The whole Russian fleet immediately weighed anchor and went after them, but returned without having fired a shot."

Official advices received from Tokyo say that four battalions of Japanese infantry have landed in Korea near Seoul.

A dispatch from Tientsin says that the Russian cruisers Variag and Korietz hauled down their flags without firing a shot and that 8,000 Japanese immediately landed at Chemulpo, and the march to Seoul commenced.

Japanese troops have also landed at all the chief points of southern and western Korea. One division of the Japanese guards holds Fusan and Chemulpo, and altogether three divisions of the Japanese guards, each of 12,000 men, have been mobilized.

The greatest activity prevails, and immense quantities of ammunition have been served out.

In consequence of Korea's neutrality it is assumed that Japan will be obliged to withdraw her infantry and artillery from Seoul.

Much uneasiness is reported at Seoul owing to the arrival there of Japanese soldiers, who intend to build barracks.

The Korean noblemen who have been residing in Japan have received permission to return home.

The Russians are endeavoring by pumps and collision mats to stop the holes in their battleships in order to take them inside at high water.

A dispatch from Tokyo says it is reported that the Japanese fleet engaged and defeated two Russian warships whose names have not yet been learned at Chemulpo yesterday. The engagement began at 11 a. m. and continued until 3 p. m. The smaller Russian vessel is reported to have been sunk and the larger one fired and hopelessly disabled.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF PLANS FOR NEWARK CONFERENCE

Forty-Seventh Annual Session to be Held in St. Luke's Church, Newark.

COMMENCING MARCH 23

ARRANGEMENTS FOR ANNIVERSARY MEETINGS OF ORGANIZATIONS.

Congressman John J. Gardner to Speak—Rev. Dr. Hurlbut Mentioned as Presiding Elder of Jersey City District.

Under the direction of various committees, preparations are in progress for the forty-seventh annual session of the Newark Methodist Episcopal Conference, to be held in St. Luke's church, Newark, and the pastors of the First and Monroe Avenue M. E. churches of this city, and of Grace M. E. church, North Plainfield, will participate in the deliberations, beginning Wednesday, March 23. A few weeks later the general conference, which meets quadrennially, will open at Los Angeles, Cal., and in view of that fact the coming gathering in Newark will be of greater importance than usual, for, besides the election of delegates to the supreme body of the denomination, the Newark Conference will undoubtedly express its attitude toward some of the vital questions to come up for legislation at the meeting on the Pacific Coast.

The programme has been marked out and will be ready for the printer as soon as the list of speakers is made up and a few other details arranged. Following the custom of former years, there will be a reception on the night preceding the opening day, and one of the speakers will be Congressman John J. Gardner. The business sessions will mostly be held in the morning, beginning at 9 o'clock, leaving the afternoons and evenings for the holding of the anniversaries of the various conference societies. On each morning at 8:30 o'clock a prayer service and series of expositions on Bible topics will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Henry A. Buttz, president of Drew Theological Seminary.

Of the anniversary meetings, the first will take place Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, to be followed at night by that of the Centenary Fund and Preachers' Aid Society. Thursday afternoon the Woman's Home Missionary Society will meet. The same day the prohibition and church extension anniversaries will take place, the latter in St. Paul's church at Broad and Marshall streets. Friday will be the busiest day of the conference, which will open with an executive session lasting until 11:30 a. m., when the lay electoral conference, made up of one layman from every church, will be received. This last mentioned body meets once in four years. In the afternoon there will be another business session, at which the bishop will deliver his charge to the class of candidates for orders, as well as his conference missionary sermon. At night there will be the anniversaries of the Sunday-school Union and education societies in St. Luke's church and the Freedman's Aid and Southern Education Society in the Franklin Street church.

Saturday night the Epworth League exercises, evangelistic in character, will be conducted.

In connection with the speculation concerning the probable successor of Dr. Wright, the presiding elder of the Jersey City district, the name of Rev. Dr. Jesse Lyman Hurlbut, pastor of the Morristown church, has been brought prominently forward. The belief that he will be the successful one has been strengthened by the fact that the Morristown church has asked that Rev. Ralph B. Urmy, now residing at Mendham and until recently pastor of the Park Avenue church, East Orange, be made its pastor.

Rev. A. E. Finn.

PARK AVE. BAPTIST'S PASTOR

SKETCH OF REV. A. E. FINN, RECENTLY CALLED TO A LOCAL CHARGE.

Rev. Alfred E. Finn, the new pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, is already engaged in doing a good work at this church. Although in his present pastorate since January 1 he has won a host of friends not only among the members of his church and congregation, but throughout the city.

Mr. Finn is a comparatively young man, being about thirty-five years of age. He was graduated from Buckнell University and later completed a course in Crozier Theological Seminary. His first charge was in a small New Jersey town where he remained but a short time, when he entered upon the pastorate of the Baptist church at Cherryville, Hunterdon County. He remained six years. His work at this church was a most successful one, many members being added to the membership. It was in the midst of a revival service at the church that he received and accepted a call to the Park Avenue Baptist church. There are several strong characteristics about the new pastor. He is an earnest worker and a thorough organizer, and at the same time a forceful and impressive preacher, combining those qualities so necessary to a minister.

MOTORMAN'S FUNERAL DREW MANY FRIENDS

Vincent Gulick, Killed in Trolley Accident, Buried in Hillside Cemetery.

TRIBUTES OF RESPECT

MEMBERS OF FRATERNAL ORDERS PAID THEIR LAST RESPECTS.

Rev. J. O. McKelvey and Rev. Dr. E. L. Earp Officiated—Brethern of K. G. E. and Jr. O. U. A. M. at the Obsequies—The Pallbearers.

Representatives from Freedon Castle, No. 42, K. G. E., Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., and employes of the Public Service Corporation, together with a very large number of relatives and friends gathered at the funeral services of Vincent Gulick, the young man who lost his life Sunday night while running a trolley car on East Front street. The services were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late home in Park place and at 2:30 o'clock from Warren chapel. At each place the attendance was large, showing the high esteem in which the dead young man was held.

His popularity was also shown by the beautiful flowers contributed, the most noteworthy being a complete trolley car design made of flowers. It displayed everything pertaining to a car including the fender, vestibule, and the number of the car of which Mr. Gulick was in charge was shown. This tribute came from the motormen and conductors on the trolley line. Other flowers included a wreath form the Knights of the Golden Eagles, a pillow from Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M, and a pillow from the family bearing the words "Our Vincent." There were also many smaller contributions in flowers.

Rev. J. O. McKelver, pastor of Warren chapel, and Rev. E. L. Earp, pastor of Grace M. E. church, were in charge of the brief services at the house. At the chapel the Scriptures were read by Dr. Earp, while Mr. McKelvey made a few remarks and offered prayer. Following the services an opportunity was given to view the remains.

The interment took place in Hillside cemetery, the various organizations, together with relatives and friends accompanying the remains to their last resting place. For this purpose several trolley cars were placed at the disposal of the organizations. The pall-bearers were Louis Kelley and Charles Delebunt, motormen from the trolley company; John Staats and Fred Windham, from Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., and Percy Banghart and A. R. Vail, from Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle.

SECOND DECISION.

William H. Rogers Corporation to Carry Suit Against It to Highest Court in the State.

In the case of International Silver Company against William H. Rogers Corporation, Vice Chancellor Frederick W. Stevens has just filed a long opinion in which he holds that the methods adopted to prevent confusion of the corporation's goods with those of the complainant while sufficient as to jobbers and perhaps retail dealers are not sufficient, as to retail purchasers who may not see labels and etc., and that the use of "Wm." or other abbreviation of William, in connection with the word "Rogers" by the defendant, ought to be enjoined, but that the defendants should not be enjoined from using the name "Rogers" its president, if made distinctive whenever used, by the addition "W. Henry" and "Plainfield, N. J." in connection with its trade-mark.

This is the second decision in the case. In the first, on motion for preliminary injunction, the decision was in favor of the defendant. The defendant is not satisfied with the present decision and will at once take the case on appeal to he highest court in the State. The counsel in the case were Edward A. Day, of Newark; Hiram O. Mills, of Hartford, Conn., and John P. Bartlett, of New York, for complainant, and Craig A. Marsh for defendant.

WHY CHILDREN ARE DEBARRED

Y. M. C. A. CONCERTS INTENDED FOR THOSE WHO CAN APPRECIATE THEM.

Adults only are admitted to the free concerts given by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra, and the action of the orchestra in thus forbidding the admission of children has caused considerable talk, most of which has been commendatory. Last Monday night the members of the orchestra voted unanimously to debar the attendance of children.

In explanation, it was stated yesterday by a prominent member of the orchestra that the concerts were not planned as entertainments for children. The intention is to provide good music for men and women capable of appreciating it. If the rule of attendance is not established and enforced, past experience has shown that whole rows of seats will be occupied by boys whose chief occupation is in converse among themselves and in distracting the attention of others.

As a result of this monopoly of seats by the boys, older people have been turned away and the contribution box for the silver offering has suffered. The demand for tickets to the concerts is large, the expenses are not light, and consequently the need for limiting the distribution of tickets to adults who will appreciate their worth seems apparent.

Ample provision has been made for the entertainment of the boys in their special entertainment course and in other events planned for this amusement by the boys' department.

The orchestra is backed in its stand by the association in general and by the public at large.

The men's prize was won by James Howard, of New Brunwsick, and Oscar Wagner, of Milltown. Mr. Morgan is an employe of the Jersey City Gas Light Company. He was married eighteen years ago in New Brunswick by Rev. Dr. Stafford, pastor of a Methodist church there.

He was sternly admonished not to continue the practise. His attorney was S. S. Swackhamer, Esq. Former City Judge W. A. Coddington represented Barrett.

BOROUGHITES TO VOTE ON THE SCHOOL PLAN

Public Meeting Set for Feb. 23, by the North Plainfield Board of Education.

A SITE IS RECOMMENDED

THE ENTIRE EXPENSE IS ESTIMATED AT $35,000.

Proposition to Locate Building on Grove Street Between Rockview Avenue and Greenbrook Road —Purchase of a Lot.

A public meeting of voters will be held in North Plainfield Tuesday night, February 23, for the purpose of taking action on the propositions of the Board of Education's regarding the site and expense for the erection of the much needed additional school building in the borough. This date was decided upon by the members of the Board at last night's session. The voters will also be asked to allow bonds to be issued.

The propositions are to purchase a lot, with a frontage of 200 feet, on the west side of Grove street between Rockview avenue and Greenbrook road; to authorize the erection of an eight room structure on that lot and to issue bonds to the amount of $35,000.

It is believed by the members of the Board that this site is the most desirable. It is in a part of the borough which is rapidly growing. As far as the sanitary condition of the location is concerned, it cannot be excelled.

There are a number of people, however, who believe that the new building should be located in the eastern part of the city, where the school census taken in the borough, showed that there was the greatest number of small children of school age in the location bounded by Somerset street, Fairview avenue, Westervelt avenue and East Front street. There is a division of the Board in the selection of the site.

He has been disappointed in all previous attempts to hear the performance. Tickets for the concert, free to adults, may be obtained at drug stores.

BAD BOY SENT TO JAIL.

Culprit, Who Confesses Thefts, to Await Action of Grand Jury.

Fred Taylor, the boy burglar who has confessed to his misdeeds, was taken to Elizabeth yesterday to the county jail where he will be held to await the action of the Grand Jury, in default of $500 bail. He was given a hearing yesterday afternoon before Justice Huff.

The boy formerly roomed above W. W. Warnock's store on West Front street, and has admitted that he helped himself to a considerable portion of Mr. Warnock's property. A valuable Knight Templar badge worn by Mr. Warnock as a watch charm the boy said he stole and hid under Scheuer's barn on West Front street. The barn has since been torn down and search for the badge has been unsuccessful. The watch stolen by Taylor was recovered, though in a damaged condition.

Among other mysterious thefts recently are a rug from H. A. Bond, of West Front street, and of a bicycle from one of Warnock's employes.

Local Republicans Loyal.

Smith, of Plainfield, said at a meeting of the Republican County Executive Committee Tuesday night that in behalf of his city he took great pleasure in assuring Hamilton Kean that the Plainfield members would be happy to see him continue as chairman next year, and in behalf of his associates he pledged him the support of the Plainfield committee members.

Boniface's Goods Sold.

The final sale of Netherwood Hotel goods owned by Thomas Brown, to satisfy attachments issued, for the hotel employes, from Justice Huff's court took place this morning in Fred. Hand's auction rooms on West Front street. The goods disposed of consisted principally of wines, liquors and crockery, which brought fair prices.

—A ten-pound girl has been born to Mr. and Mrs. George Bedford, of East Second street.

—Mr. Randolph, 143 West Front street, says "Electricura" is sure to cure Neuralgia. A 50c. bottle will cure a whole family. It's great for Neuralgia.

CHURCH MEMBERS SEE GYMNASTIC EXHIBITION

Indoor Athletics by Y. M. C. A. Members Interest the Seventh-Day Baptists.

BASKET BALL CONTEST

A DUMB-BELL DRILL BY THE BUSINESS MENS' CLASS.

Apparatus Work a Feature—Performance on Parallel Bars and High and Low Bars—Amusing Tug-of-War.

An exhibition of gymnastics, calesthenics and basket ball was given last night in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium in the interests of the members of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. There was an attendance of about 150 people who came to get an insight into the work in gymnastics and athletics at the Y. M. C. A.

The business men's class of the Y. M. C. A., composed largely of members of the Seventh-Day church, opened the exhibition with a dumbbell drill led by Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood. This was followed by apparatus work in which Arthur Spicer and Mr. Heywood led the divisions. Performances were given on the parallel bars, high and low bars, and the horse. A tug of war between improvised teams was an amusing and exciting feature.

The exhibition closed with a game of basket ball between teams captained by Dr. Frank Clawson and Dr. Marcus Clawson. Dr. Frank Clawson's team won after a hard fight by the margin of a goal from foul, 9 to 8. The teams lined up as follows: Dr. F. Clawson's team—Dr. Whitford, left forward; Dr. Shaw, right forward; Lott, centre; Dr. F. Clawson, right guard; F. Titsworth, left guard. Dr. M. Clawson's team—A. Randolph, left guard; P. Whitford, left guard; Dr. M. Clawson, centre; Clark, right forward; Spicer, left forward.

Goals from the field, Dr. Whitford, Lott 3, P. Whitford, Dr. M. Clawson, Spicer, Clark. Goal from foul, Lott.

ESTIMATED BALTIMORE'S LOSS

HERBERT BUXTON, OF THIS CITY, CONFERRED WITH INSURANCE ADJUSTERS.

Herbert Buxton, of Madison avenue, who is an insurance broker, has returned from Baltimore, where, with representatives of all insurance companies affected by the great fire in that city, conferences have been held with a view to adjust losses. Mr. Buxton says that the lowest figure at which the insurance men are able to place the gross loss is $135,000,000 and the insurance companies will lose about $100,000,000.

Mr. Buxton has a loss of $350,000 to adjust as a broker. He says that every insurance company in Baltimore, excepting the German, of that city, has been forced to the wall. He tells some interesting incidents in connecting with the losses sustained by the insurance companies. The representative of a British insurance company cabled the company as to facts and received in reply a cabelegram stating "Glad we are one of the heaviest losers in the fire. Cable us for any amount necessary."

PROTESTS AGAINST TAX.

New Yorker Appeals to State Board Against Assessment on Farm Near This City.

William C. Arnold, a lawyer of New York, has appealed to the State Board of Taxation for a reduction in the assessment levied on his property on the road leading from this city to Metuchen. The papers were served on William A. Spencer, counsel for the township, yesterday. The property is a farm of about 50 acres and was assessed for $4,000. He has also been assessed for $500 personal property, half of which was taken off by the commissioners of appeals when the case was brought before them for consideration. The place was assessed for but $2,000 until last year. Before that time Mr. Arnold began to make improvements to the house and property and has fitted it up as a summer residence.

GUNN FAVORS SWAYZE'S BILL

HE ADVOCATES THE REORGANIZATION OF THE STATE LABOR BUREAU.

Union County will aid in the reorganization of the State labor bureau, according to Assemblyman Joseph H. Gunn, of Springfield. He says in this morning's New York World:

"I am in favor of the proposition to reorganize the department that is now vested with the enforcement of the child-labor and factory laws. I have no hesitancy in saying that as I understand the bill drawn by Mr. Swayze and introduced by Senator Bacheller I will support it. I am in sympathy with the purpose of that bill, and I am in a position to know that public sentiment in Union County is strongly in favor of any movement that promises to increase the efficiency of the Department of Labor by enabling it to properly enforce the child-labor law.

"I am satisfied my colleagues from Union County feel as I do about this bill. We are assured there is nothing of a political character about it, and we expect that it will pass.

"It has been made apparent that the Department of Factory Inspection has been unable to perform the service it was created to perform or to enforce the laws that come within its jurisdiction. The only sensible thing to do, in my judgment, is to abolish the department, clean out the deadwood, and begin anew by reorganization, with sufficient competent assistance and ample power, to correct the abuses that have been premitted to thrive contrary to law, and generally, make of the department in institution that will be serviceable to the State."

CLIMBED THE CITY FLAG POLE

CLARENCE MUNDY'S PERILOUS ASCENT WATCHED BY CROWD ON STREET.

The sight of a man perched on the top of the city flag pole opposite Park avenue on Front street yesterday attracted much attention. The man was Clarence Mundy, a painter in the employ of Woolston & Buckle, and his presence at such a perilous height was explained by the fact that the ropes on the flag pole needed to be replaced. The pulleys on the pole have failed to work of late and have prevented the raising of the flag.

The contract for doing the "job" was given by the city to George Bilyeu, and Mundy was persuaded to make the ascent. He was hoisted to the cross-bar half way to the top by means of pulleys, and the rest of the distance he climbed by the method commonly called "shinning." The pole swayed in the wind as he climbed, a few feet at a time, stopping now and then to rest. The entire ascent occupied probably ten minutes, with a couple of minutes not included spent at the top, more than 100 feet above the ground.

RAISING BOROUGH'S LICENSE

QUEER IDEA OF THE NEWARK NEWS CONCERNING SOMERSET POLITICS.

The North Plainefld Borough Council has passed a resolution requesting the Court of Common Pleas of Somerset County to raise the license fees of saloons in the borough from $350 to $600 per annum. One thing is certain. In case Judge Schenck refuses to grant the request, there will be no charge made that he was prevented from doing so by a political boss, and if he decides to make the raise in rates no organizer of the State Liquor Dealers' Protective Association can prevent him from carrying out the plan by threatening him with vengeance. The liquor license fee in the city of Plainfield is now $750 per annum, and as the borough is practically a part of the city except for an imaginary boundary line, there is no reason why the saloons in the two municipalities should not pay at least approximately the same fee. If Judge Schenck should consider it proper to thus equalize the burden on the saloon-keepers, and should further raise the rate throughout Somerset County, the State Liquor Dealers' Protective Association would not perhaps continue to boast of the great victory won in Plainfield.—Newark News.

Firemen's Parade.

It is planned to have between twenty and thirty companies in line.

ROUTINE BUSINESS OF BOROUGH BOARD

School Authorities Consider Scheme to Send High School Pupils to City's Institution.

MATTER IN ABEYANCE

AN EFFORT BEING MADE TO GET BACK SCHOOL TAXES.

Mr. Valiant Explains Position of Board and Council—Seats in School Rooms Unsatisfactory—Routine Business.

The plan suggested by the North Plainfield Board of Education to send some of the High School pupils of the borough to the High School in this city may be accepted by the Plainfield Board of Education at the proper time. Samuel Townsend, who has had this matter in charge, stated at a meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Education in the Somerset street school last night that he has received a communication from Superintendent Maxson, of the city schools, in which the latter states that the majority of the members of the city Board of Education favor the scheme. It is not likely that any action will be taken until the proposed new high school building here is ready for occupancy. An opinion on the legality of the plan is necessary. Mr. Townsend stated that Deputy State Superintendent Betts had told him there was little probability of any legal complications and that as far as he knew the plan could easily be put in operation.

John Valiant reported having consulted Borough Tax Collector George F. Brown and Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed regarding the collection of back school taxes. Both said that the Board was entitled to the money and that it would be collected and placed to the credit of the Board of Education. Mr. Valiant declared that some citizens have been given the impression that the Board is at loggerheads with the Council in regard to this matter. There has been no trouble whatever in this respect, said Mr. Valiant.

The seats ordered recently were reported to be in an unsatisfactory condition. The castings are weak and the Board ordered payment on the bill stopped until the defects are remedied. Mr Wightman reported that the half time and ungraded classes were working in a satisfactory manner.

IN HONOR OF PREST. LINCOLN

EXERCISES COMMEMORATING HIS BIRTH HELD IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church, made the address at the High School this morning on the occasion of exercises in observance of Lincoln's birthday. Patriotic songs were sung and a selection was rendered by the girls of the Glee Club. There will be no session at the school tomorrow on account of the holiday.

An informal talk on "Lincoln" was given to the pupils of the Washington School this morning by Miss Humpston, the principal. At the Irving School, Charles E. Lewis, the instructor in music in the city schools, led the singing. An essay on the "Life of Lincoln" was read by Miss May Stafford. The programme at the Bryant School opened with songs sung by the children, followed by the salutation to the flag; reading, "The Life of Lincoln," by Miss Newman; a composition on "Lincoln," by Miss Eleanor Guillburg and the singing of patriotic songs.

THE PARIS CAB HORSE.

After Three Years' Service in the City the Animal Is Thoroughly Worn Out.

About 45,000 horses pull the cabs of Paris. The average life is a little less than three years. They come up from the country—three-year-olds—from the meadows of Calvados and the fields of Normandy, from Limousin and Finisterre and the Gironde. Chained and strapped into the thills of breakers' carts they are broken to city sights and sounds—to the horrible steam-tram, with its discordant clamor; to the electric tram, that leaves behind it a trail of electric sparks; to passing regiments and processions and, notably, to the policeman with the white wand, says a writer in Outing. Then, being bit-broke, whip-broke, city-broke and heart-broke, he is ready for the fiacre. He goes on until he breaks his knees—and longer, even—until he has worked out his average of three years. All of which tends to make for melancholy.

Cocotte has long been a favorite topic for sentimentalists. Childless women, and men who do not smoke have spent, doubtless, too much ink and tears over the Paris cab horse. My interest is on the human side of things. As for Cocotte her end is useful but ignoble. Last year Paris ate 14,840 horses—just about the annual number of horses used up in the fiacres. (In addition the good Parisians ate 257 asses and 40 mules, but that has nothing to do with the case.) I used to wish that I were an honest fellow of four shins, but not in Paris—not in Paris!

Not Mercenary.

BATTLE NEAR YALU

Japanese and Russians Fight at Pingyang, Korea.

TWO THOUSAND RUSSIANS CAPTURED

Ten Russian Ships Now Placed Hors de Combat—More Than a Hundred of Their Crew Perished at Chemulpo—Seoul Now Aimed At.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Dispatches received from London announce news of a tremendous land battle between the Japanese and Russian forces in Korea between Pingyang and the Yalu river is expected hourly.

The Russian forces were concentrated at the Yalu river and have been hurried across into Korean territory. It is believed that the first land battle was fought north of Pingyang, which was the scene of the first land fight between China and Japan.

The dowager empress of China has fled from Peking to Kaifengfu, in the province of Honan. General Ma of the Chinese army has been sent to Shanhaikwan, evacuated by the Russians on Monday, to hold it against reoccupation. The commander in chief of the Chinese army is drilling 30,000 new men.

Dispatches from St. Petersburg say that a land battle has been fought at the Yalu and the Japanese routed. From the same source comes the report that three Japanese warships and four torpedo boats were sunk in the attack on Port Arthur. One of these battleships was said to be the Shikishima.

Viceroy Alexeieff is mobilizing all the army reserves in eastern Asia.

The publication of extra editions of the newspapers at St. Petersburg of the reported injuries to Japanese ships during the Port Arthur engagement and the sinking of the Japanese battleship Shikishima led to a demand upon the editors for the source of their information. They replied, "It came from the British embassy."

These reports were received everywhere with manifestations of joy, but nothing confirming them has come from Viceroy Alexeieff.

The only additional intelligence the viceroy has sent is the names of the wounded officers, among whom were Lieutenant Colonel Zaientchkovsky of the artillery corps, who was on board the transport Angara, and a midshipman on board the battleship Sevastopol.

M. Kurino, the retiring Japanese minister to Russia, and his staff have left for Berlin. There was a large crowd of people at the station platform when the party boarded the train. Police and gendarmes kept a space clear for the travelers, and there was no hostile demonstration.

M. Kurina walked slowly to the train, holding in his hand a bouquet of roses which had been presented to Mme. Kurino by Mrs. McCormick, wife of the United States ambassador.

As the train drew out of the station there were a few cheers and cries of "Long live Nicholas."

A Tokyo dispatch says two Russian transports, with 2,000 troops on board, were captured on their way to Asan in an attempt to make a landing there and interrupt communication by telegraph and railway between Fusan and Seoul.

Ten Russian warships have already been wrecked or disabled by Japanese fighting vessels, the sinking of the cruiser Variag and the blowing up of the torpedo gunboat Korietz having been accomplished at Chemulpo.

More than a hundred Russians were killed in this engagement. Officers and marines who escaped to the shore were made prisoners by the Japanese patrol.

This is the fourth naval battle which Japan has forced within the first twenty-four hours of fighting. A special cable dispatch from Port Arthur tells of a third attack on the Russian stronghold by the Japanese fleet.

The occupation of Seoul, the capital of Korea, is one of Japan's great objectives at the present moment. Fully 70,000 Japanese troops have landed on Korean soil. Landings were made at Chemulpo and Chenanpo. Forty thousand Japanese troops, with six batteries of artillery, are at Pingyang and have marched northward to the Yalu river.

Dispatches from Tokyo and Nagasaki report the arrival at Sasebo, Japan, of two large Russian steamers. One is the Volunteer Floot association transport Ekaterinoslav which recently landed troops and arms at Port Arthur, and the other is the steamer Argun, belonging to the Chinese Eastern Railways company. Both were captured by the Japanese cruisers Sai Yen and Hei Yen in the neighborhood of Fusan, Korea. The Ekaterinoslav is of 10,000 tons displacement and had been fitted up as an auxiliary cruiser. She had thirty rifles on board and was on her way from Vladivostok. The Argun was going to Vladivostok from Nagasaki.

The Russian whalers Glarige, Nicolai, Alexander and Michael, captured by the Japanese, have also arrived at Sasebo.

A cable from Shanghai says an important bridge on the Manchurian railroad has been blown up, and thirty Russians have been killed.

Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister here, has received advices from the Japanese foreign office regarding the naval engagement off Chemulpo. Mr. Takahira thinks it is especially important to note that, according to these advices, the final overt act of hostilities was committed by the Russian gunboat Korietz, which fired on the Japanese torpedo boats Monday evening.

The Tientsin correspondent of the Standard sends in a report that the Russians have massacred a hundred Chinese at Liaoyang, in consequence of which the officials at Shanhaikwan are greatly alarmed and are appealing to Peking for protection.

The president has issued a proclamation of neutrality. The proclamation simply recites and deplores the existence of hostilities between Japan and Russia and enjoins upon citizens of the United States a strict regard and observance of the neutrality laws.

Special dispatches from Tokyo say the mikado is personally superintending affairs, and the cabinet holds daily sessions. The government has issued orders for the protection of all Russian subjects residing in Japan.

Baron Kanako and Baron Sukematsu have been sent to the United States and Great Britain to explain Japan's position and attitude in the present conflict.

A formal declaration of war is expected. The proclamation has been prepared and approved by the cabinet. Foreign Minister Komura has gone to the palace to secure the emperor's approval.

The Japanese have seized Masampho and placed a heavy force there. Japan has commenced to fortify the port and will establish a naval and military base there.

It is an exceedingly important point, as it controls the Korean channel and is an excellent base for future operations.

CZAR'S MANIFESTO.

Nicholas Accepts the Challenge and Trusts In God For Aid.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 11.—The czar has issued a manifesto making an official declaration of war:

"To All My Dear Subjects—I declare that we were anxious to preserve peace, so dear to all hearts, and made the utmost efforts to preserve peace in the far east. We expressed our willingness to revise the existing treaty between the two empires regarding Korean affairs. The negotiations, however, were not carried to a conclusion, for Japan, without awaiting the receipt of our last reply and the proposals which we had forwarded to Tokyo, informed us of her intention to discontinue the negotiations and to break off diplomatic relations with us without considering that such rupture means the commencement of war. After the receipt of a report from our governor of the attack on Port Arthur we immediately ordered him to reply to the Japanese challenge with our arms, and we hereby make known our decision."

The czar's manifesto concludes with an expression of trust in the help of the Almighty and a prayer for success in the conflict.

IN CONGRESS.

Mr. Connell Was Declared Elected by Vote of 159 to 148.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The house has disposed of the Connell-Howell contested election case from the Tenth Pennsylvania district in favor of Mr. Connell, the vote showing 159 to 148. The Republicans, with the exception of Messrs. Lanning (N. J.), Shiras (Pa.) and Parker (N. J.), supported the resolution unseating Mr. Howell and giving the seat to the contestant.

The Democrats solidly supported Mr. Howell. Mr. Shiras and Mr. Lanning spoke in opposition to the unseating of Mr. Howell. Mr. Connell was promptly sworn in and took his seat.

The house then resumed consideration of the senate amendment proposing a loan of $4,600,000 to the Louisiana Purchase exposition.

The celebration will be held this year at Sewall's Point and is preliminary to the celebration of the tercentenary of the founding of Jamestown, which is to take the form of a great exposition.

War Will Bar Imperial Band.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 11.—Mr. George W. Stewart, manager of the bureau of music of the world's fair, has received a cablegram from Serge W. Alexandrovsky, Russia's commissioner general to the world's fair, stating that owing to the war between Russia and Japan the band of the Imperial guard would not be sent to St. Louis. The band of the Imperial guard is the czar's favorite organization, composed of the elite of the Russian army.

BALTIMORE ARISES

Citizens Will Meet In Practical Way Awful Exigency.

FEDERAL SOLDIERS TO ACT AS GUARDS

Many Resume Business In Temporary Quarters—Governor's Words, "Baltimore Will Rise Gloriously From Her Ashes."

BALTIMORE, Feb. 11.—The situation in stricken Baltimore began to visibly clear after a conference at the Belvidere hotel between Mayor McLane, a special joint committee of the legislature and a formidable delegation of representative business men.

This conference was arranged with a view of meeting in a practical way the awful exigency which this afflicted community now faces. At this meeting besides the mayor there were present influential members of the state lawmaking body, the board of public works, including State Treasurer Vandiver, a dozen bank presidents, former Governor Smith, United States Senator Elect Isidor Rayner and several of the leading citizens.

The supreme question to be decided was that of calling upon the national government for soldiers to take the places of the two state militia regiments now doing police duty in the burned district, the constitution of Maryland requiring that no such request can be made of the president except by authority of the state legislature. The legislative committee was present to hear the views of the mayor and officers of the city on that point.

It required only a brief discussion to arrive at the fact that every one present was of the opinion and conviction that this is not a time for sentiment as to the ability of the state to take care of itself and that the United States soldiers were needed and needed at once. On this score it was shown that the militiamen were already much exhausted by their long continued sentry duties, that they should be relieved in order that they might return to their several vocations and that the militia on active duty is costing the state $50,000 a day.

Mayor McLane was particularly insistent that the efficient guards of the hundreds of millions of treasure that lie buried beneath the smoldering ruins called for the strong arm of the federal soldiers. The announcement of the legislative committee that it would recommend at once the immediate passage of the necessary resolution was received with great pleasure by the officers and business men present, and now that the legislature has formally acted there is every assurance that a national cordon around the devastated region will inspire a feeling of hopeful confidence in the future. The people are expressing immense gratification over the prospect of seeing Uncle Sam's men in blue doing police duty over the debris of Baltimore's fallen splendor.

There is no doubt that Baltimore has taken fresh courage. On all the streets abutting upon the desolated districts signs have appeared on windows and over doorways announcing the temporary resumption of business in various lines. The best citizens have taken hold of the herculean task of resurrection with a will that betokens complete success. The pervading sentiment was well portrayed by Governor Warfield, who said, "Baltimore will rise gloriously from her ashes."

Missouri's Shot Went Fifteen Miles.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—One of the officers of the battleship Missouri, which has been engaged in target practice off the Chesapeake capes, came to the navy department with a remarkable statement. He said that one of the twelve inch guns, being elevated seven degrees, let fly a shell which the strongest glass could not follow to the end of its flight. Later a passing steamer reported that the shot had struck the sea within 300 yards of her. The steamer was distant from the Missouri just fifteen miles.

Oswego Starch Plant Burns.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Feb. 11.—A fire which started in the chemical room of the Corn Products company's starch factory threatened the destruction of the whole establishment. Aid was requested from Fulton and Syracuse, and three engines arrived from the latter city to fight the flames. The plant is the largest starch factory in the world. The loss will be not less than $500,000.

General Plaza Knows Better.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Feb. 11.—The announcement from Panama that Julio Plaza, the Liberal Colombian general, is busy in Esmeraldas, 100 miles from Quito, recruiting troops with the intention of attacking Panama is incorrect. General Plaza is still here.

Glover Charge Dismissed.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Feb. 11.—The case against John M. Glover, formerly congressman from Missouri, for having shot at Sergeant Smith was dismissed in the district court here on the ground that the accused could not be tried twice for the same offense.

Messmer Made Archbishop.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 11.—The Most Rev. Sebastian G. Messmer was formally proclaimed archbishop of Milwaukee at St. John's cathedral last night. The ceremonies were most impressive.

Major General Young Ill.

HAVANA, Feb. 11.—Major General S. M. B. Young, U. S. A., is confined at the home of MajorRuncie here, suffering from liver trouble. The attending physician says his condition is not serious.

Plainfield, N. J., Feb. 11, 1904.

Togo did it!

The citizens of Plainfield extend their sympathy to Governor Franklin Murphy in his bereavement.

Tomorrow's edition of The Daily Press will be issued at 1 o'clock, Friday, February 12, being a legal holiday.

Baltimore does not want any aid she declares. She's got the pride of the Southerner and she'll not become an object of charity.

Leader Charles Murphy, of Tammany Hall, is opposed to the boom for Alton B. Parker and is shouting for Grover Cleveland. The echo of his voice sounds like the name of George B. McClellan.

There is no mistaking the partiality of the American people for the plucky little Jap in his war with the Russians. All you have to do is to look at the faces of people as they read the bulletins from the far East.

Complaints are being made regarding alleged insolance on the part of the trolley conductors. Not all of the conductors are accused of being guilty of this offense, but those who are should be made to answer for their conduct by the Public Service Corporation.

Good advertising, plus good management, plus a good proposition to start with, brings results. And results are the final tribunal before which the advertising man must bring his work to be judged. Results being forthcoming, no advertising, however crude, raw, or opposed to accepted canons, can be adjudged bad.—Printers' Ink.

The Passaic Daily News says that Mayor McClellan is making himself popular with the advocates of women's rights by omitting the word "obey" in the marriage ceremony. Considering the fact that women's rights in New York do not include suffrage, Mayor McClellan is seeking a brand of popularity that possibly will not pay when he is again a candidate for office.

The joint committee entrusted with the task of investigating the various plans for municipal collection and disposal of garbage is pursuing its work in a manner that calls for praiseworthy mention. Evidently the joint committee proposes to lose no time in concluding its work for it is stated that a report of the results of the investigations will be presented to the Common Council at the next meeting.

John Hay is a statesman. His message to the powers regarding a border line for the action between Japan and Russia has brought favorable responses from England and Germany, the two leading nations of Europe. Already some papers are giving Roosevelt credit for this stroke of diplomacy, but it is ten to one that the idea was conceived in the brain of the Secretary of State. Would that there were more men of Hay's type in American politics.

Expressions of sympathy are freely given, but as a rule their extent does not reach the pocketbook. An instance is shown in a little incident of the Elisabeth Board of Trade banquet the other night. The representative men of the county seat appeared so deeply interested in their afflicted brethren of Baltimore that they went to the pains of passing resolutions of sympathy, but when someone suggested that subscriptions be made on the spot there was a general howl of disapproval. That's the way of the world.

LETTERS FROM MISSIONS.

Trinity Reformed Church Sunday-School Receives Thanks for Its Deeds.

As an evidence of the genuine appreciation felt among those located in faraway mission fields when they receive remembrances from churches and Sunday-schools in the East, two letters recently received by the missionary committee of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school, one from the Sunday-school at Cloud Chief, Oklahoma, and the other from the Sunday-school at Cordell, Oklahoma, give much encouragement. These letters, which were read at Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school last Sunday, are as follows:

Cloud Chief, Okla.,
Jan. 10, 1904.

"As a representative of the Cloud Chief Sunday-school, I wish to thank the Plainfield Sunday-school for the generous Christmas box so kindly sent us.

"To say that the children were delighted is expressing it very mildly. In addition to supplying all of our Sunday-school children with candy and presents, many needy families in the neighborhood, who otherwise would have had a very meager Christmas, were made happy with some of the useful and pretty articles which the box contained. The committee was very careful to see that every child in the neighborhood received something.

"The cloaks were given to ladies who had no outer wraps, one of them a young lady in our Sunday-school, and were highly appreciated.

"Again thanking you for making so many of our little ones happy, I remain, Yours in the work,"

Mrs. R. L. Knie, Sec.,
By vote of Cloud Chief Sunday-school.

Cordell, Okla., Jan. 4, 1904.

"The Lone Tree Sunday-school received the Christmas box sent by your Sunday-school for which please accept our heartfelt thanks. We were highly pleased with its contents and a goodly number of the children would not have received any Christmas presents had it not been for your generous gifts. If you could have seen the joy pictured on the faces of the children you would have felt repaid for your trouble many times. There was just enough presents to go around. May God bless you all in your noble work. Although we may not meet on earth, may we all meet in Heaven, is the prayer of your brother in Christ."

W. D. Phillips,
Sunday-school Supt.,
Cordell, Okla.

AMUSEMENTS.

Souvenir night at the Majestic Theatre, New York, will be February 15, the occasion of the one hundred and fiftieth performance of "Babes in Toyland." The silver jewel boxes have arrived at the Majestic Theatre store rooms and on that night every woman in the audience will be presented with one. Physical culture classes have been formed among the Babes and John L Sullivan, the ex-champion prizefighter of the world, has been engaged as instructor. Each morning of the week sessions are held at Dr. Savage's gymnasium where the great fighter puts the young women through Swedish and other physical culture movements calculated to harden their muscles to enable them to bear up against the excessive strain of the dancing in the extravaganza.

Klaw & Erlanger's production of "Mother Goose" is in its last weeks at the New Amsterdam Theatre. Its engagements there will end Saturday night, the 27th inst., and the following Monday it will begin a three weeks run at the Chestnut Street Opera House in Philadelphia. It will be followed at the New Amsterdam Theatre Monday, the 29th inst., by Mr. Richard Mansfeld in a repertoire of his successes, which will include his latest production, "Ivan, the Terrible." But two more weeks remain in which "Mother Goose" can be seen at the New Amsterdam Theatre. An extra matinee performance will take place Washington's birthday. Seats are now on sale for all remaining performances.

ADOPTS A WHITE BOY

Chief Medicine Crow Secures a Son by Adoption.

Richest Indian at Crows Agency, Mont., Trades Ten Fleet Ponies, a Plow and a Harvester for Johnny Parsons.

When the mighty chief, Medicine Crow, dies and journeys to the happy hunting grounds the vast area of grazing lands and the numerous herds and the bank account, which the wealthiest redskin in the northwest has accumulated, to the envy of the Crows, will not revert to the tribe. Medicine Crow has taken good care to prevent. He has found a son and heir.

The Crow Indians, who have become accustomed to look on the possessions of the childless old chief as already theirs, will find it hard to become reconciled to the new arrangement, because the child who will eventually succeed to Medicine Crow's estate is not of the tribe, but a little white boy. Medicine Crow took a fancy to the little fellow and bought him.

Because trafficking in human beings is not exactly lawful, and not a few of the copperskins are jealous of the interloper, it may be that trouble will come of old Medicine Crow's bargain. But the dissatisfied Crows dare not grumble and most people are immensely pleased at the purchase.

Medicine Crow traded ten fleet ponies, a new plow and a second-hand harvester for his adopted son. Johnny is the youngster's name and he is six years old. His father, John Parsons, Sr., is blacksmith at the agency. Instead of being loathe to part with his son, as many fathers would be, he was delighted to have Medicine Crow take the boy, knowing that little Johnny will some day be a wealthy man as a result of the change of parents, while his prospects were slender, indeed, while he remained at home.

The Crow Indians are accounted the most peaceful and least troublesome of the redskin tribes. They are given to agriculture and amassing wealth. Medicine Crow excels the others in these qualities, just as he does in rank. He was thrifty and shrewd. When a hard-pressed Crow came to him for a loan he was invariably accommodated. Medicine Crow made much in interest and more by foreclosing mortgages on stock and land. His fortune is estimated at $100,000. Being chief, he always wears ermine robes and his dwelling place is a typical palace of the plains.

Medicine Crow's sorrow has been that he and his wife are papooseless. Nearly every day Squaw Medicine Crow went to the agency stores and in passing the smithy was attracted by the terra cotta-topped youngster who played in the doorway. The boy liked the mother squaw, too, because she took him into the shops and bought sweetmeats for him. It was Squaw Medicine Crow who persuaded the old chief that in their childless state the thing to do was adopt the little red-haired son of the smith.

Medicine Crow is thought to have driven his shrewdest bargain when he bought the boy for the ponies and the farm implements. The lad is smart and good-looking. His father is ambitious for him, and it is stipulated little Johnny is to attend the Indian schools and wear American clothes.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 21—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Some good ways of using the Sabbath.—Mark i, 21-34.

For many generations the stress laid upon the Sabbath has been from a negative rather than an affirmative standpoint. The emphasis has been placed upon what we should not do rather than upon what we should do. And it may be that if more time and thought had been given to the things to be done less would have needed to be said upon the subject of what we should not do. The best way to overcome evil is by the substitution of good. "Cease to do evil, learn to do well," says the prophet Isaiah, but the best way in all the world to cease to do evil is to learn to do well. He who does well will have neither time nor inclination to do ill. So he that keeps the Sabbath day will have no time to break it. He that fills every hour of this day with things that are permissible will have no time to engage in those things that are prohibited by the laws of God and of man.

What, then, are some good ways of using the Sabbath? The incident selected for our study is that of Christ at Capernaum on a certain Sabbath day. There He entered into the synagogue, taught and healed a man possessed of an evil spirit, and in these events we may learn how we may make a good use of the Sabbath.

1. On the Sabbath day we should worship God in the public place of worship. The public worship of God has always been exacted of His people. It is not enough to have private devotions in the home, nor will the admiration of God in the works of nature suffice; we must not "forsake the assembling of ourselves together." The soul needs to worship God, and this public worship would protect us from many temptations to break the Sabbath. The office or business place could not be visited, the morning could not be spent in reading the Sunday newspapers, all day visits could not be made to friends, keeping them from their duties to God, if we regularly worshiped God in His house on the Sabbath.

2. On the Sabbath day we could be engaged in teaching. Christ "entered into the synagogue and taught." Teachers are needed in the church, in the home and in various other places on the Sabbath day. Children in the homes need to be taught the Bible and Christian duties. With few exceptions our Sabbath schools need faithful and efficient teachers, and outside of these there are non-Christian homes where the teaching of the word of God would be welcomed, and public charitable institutions where the same would be true. Teaching God's word is a good work, and many could do it who are now spending the Sabbath in idleness.

3. On the Sabbath day we should do good to others. Christ did good upon the Sabbath. So may and should we upon the same day. Many about us need our sympathy, encouragement and help. If we would give it as literally as the Master did we would not want for good uses to make of the Sabbath day.

BIBLE READINGS.

Gen. ii, 1, 2; Ex. xvi, 11-30; xx, 8-11; Deut. v, 12-14; Neh. x, 31; Jer. xvii, 21-27; Mark ii, 23-28; iii, 1-5; Luke iv, 16; Heb. x, 23-25.

"What Christian Endeavor Has Done For Me."

Rev. B. Q. Denham, vice president of the New York State union, is pastor of the Church of Disciples of Christ, New York city. His society recently considered the above topic, and some of the thoughts brought out were so suggestive as to be worthy of being given this wide publicity. Here are some of the points made: "Trained me to testify. Tied me to my church through my work in the Christian Endeavor society. Made me a 'comrade of the quiet hour' for Bible study and meditation. Taught me to search the Bible, whereas I formerly read it mechanically. Trained my zeal. Has given me the vision of a cleaner life. Taught me the right spirit in which to pray. Taught me to seek, not to read merely, but to understand what the Bible says. Has given me some of the best friends this old world ever saw. Led me to give my life to the ministry of the gospel of Jesus Christ. Led me to keep all the Lord's day for God's work. Has helped me to a closer communion with God. Cheers my life. Has taught me to do the little things of service. Made me feel the importance of doing any little good deed. Causes me to realize the closeness of Christ. Has taught me how Christ loves me. Has kept me young in heart and spirit."

Can any one after reading these "leaves from lives" question the value of Christian Endeavor? Is not a movement based upon such positive helpfulness of necessity permanent? Christian Endeavor is not "waning."

Evangelistic Conferences.

A very successful series of conferences in the interest of evangelistic work has just been held under the auspices of the New York State union. The speakers have included Mr. William Phillips Hall, Rev. Dr. John F. Carson, Rev. F. H. Jacobs, Rev. Dr. George B. Stewart and State President Rev. Dr. Edwin Forrest Hallenbeck. The points touched were Troy, Albany, Syracuse, Rochester and Lockport. In Albany the conference was made the beginning of an evangelistic campaign of two weeks, led by the local union.

Our Work For Christ.

Sometimes we show a wrong conception of Christian Endeavor by striving to work up to Christ instead of out from Him. We need more consecrated purpose, more holy endeavor, in our work for Christ.—Rev. Edwin Forrest Hallenbeck, D. D.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Feb. 14: "Real Friendship."—I Sam. xx, 1-23.

Jonathan and David—how long these names have stood for manly friendship! How simple and touching is the story of their regard for each other, and what a help it has been for ages to young men who have formed their companionships on its model!

Who can help liking that manly young prince? If it were possible, he is the more attractive figure of the two. Is he the elder? It would seem so, since he was a soldier of valor before David came to the camp. It was Jonathan who began the battle with the Philistine garrison at Michmash and single handed overcame so many that the whole army fled. Perhaps it was this very element of soldierly courage which attracted the two young men to each other. David's defeat of Goliath would appeal to Jonathan's admiration and test his manliness. It would show him at once the strong claims David would have on popular favor and awaken in him feelings of jealousy as he saw his own merits overshadowed, or it would arouse deep sentiments of friendliness and personal attachment to the young champion.

Jonathan was of noble mold. He had all the valorous instincts of his father, Saul, but none of his moroseness and morbid jealousy of superior ability.

Even when Jonathan saw clearly that David's advancement meant his own retirement and would also involve the succession to the kingly dignity he never swerved in the least from the straight path of generous fraternity. It could not be that he despised the kingship. He was too much a patriot for that and too true a worshiper of Jehovah not to prize most highly the opportunity such position would give to serve his God and brethren. No; it was not lack of appreciation of the place, but it was a nature too large to be capable of coveting for himself a place which he knew another could fill more ably. This is one of the severest trials of friendship. How rare is it to find a nature so generous that it can and does prefer others to itself when honors and advantages are to be distributed! Rivalry is fatal to fellowship, and the only antidote to the spirit of jealousy is a generous subordination of self and pressing the merits of another. "In honor preferring one another" is an injunction of the Apostle Paul. No more genuine example of it can be found than the young Hebrew prince, Jonathan.

But friendship needs two of a kind. David is worthy of Jonathan. Both had an element of real godliness and felt true reliance upon Jehovah. Both were filled with a zeal for the liberation of their land from Philistine rulership and believed that Jehovah would accomplish the deliverance of their people. Both were inured to hardship and enjoyed the manly sports of the times, as is shown by David's use of the sling and Jonathan's use of weapons. One was a skilled musician with native talent for the melodies of shepherd life and possibly for the heroic tales of tribal warfare, but surely with skill in religious music. Most influential of all, David had a broad, generous nature, capable of receiving honors and not being spoiled by them. Arrogance is the danger in unusual prominence. Egotism and selfishness trip many feet which tread pathways of unusual height. David kept the simplicity of the shepherd boy's heart in camp and court. He was trustable.

Whoever would find real friendship must first make himself such as he desires another to be. It is deeply doubtful if the true development is possible to any one except as there is first an element of fidelity to God cultivated.

With Mary In the Garden.

Let the Christian, seeking a fresh realization of the Lord in His holy intercourse with the individual soul, often walk in thought to Joseph's garden and listen to that colloquy by the empty cavern, while the morning sun shines upon Mary at the Master's feet. What He was then He is now. He knows the individual name which belongs to the individual heart. He can reveal to the solitary disciple now as then His glory and His grace. He can send us also away, sure at least of this, that we have seen the Lord, and He hath spoken to us all alone.—Bishop H. C. G. Moule.

A Christian Marksman.

He who would do the greatest execution as a Christian marksman must pour into the soul the hottest shot of divine truth at the nearest range.—Presbyterian.

By and By.

The clouds will all have passed away,
By and by,
And there will dawn a brighter day,
By and by.
The earth rolls forward out of night,
A radiant future comes in sight,
Wrong yet shall yield the throne to right,
And truth shall flood the world with light,
By and by—yes, by and by.

The signs that fail shall all come true,
By and by;
The King of kings "make all things new,"
By and by.
Faith long delayed is not in vain,
There shall be sunshine after rain,
The buried seed yield golden grain,
And flowers that fade revive again,
By and by—yes, by and by.

Earth will feel a balmy breath,
By and by;
Life burst through the gates of death,
By and by.
Love will make all life more sweet;
Brotherhood will be complete;
Rich and poor together meet
At our common Master's feet,
By and by—yes, by and by.

Truth shall spring forth from the ground,
By and by;
Righteousness and peace abound,
By and by.
Men shall then no more oppress,
Hands be lifted but to bless;
Make another's burden less,
Help and heal the world's distress,
By and by—yes, by and by.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

SHADED EFFECTS.

They Are Seen In Chiffon and In Feathers—Shot Silks.

Shaded effects are very much the fashion just now. They are seen in ribbon and in accordion plaited chiffon. Gray in all the shades, ranging from deep gun metal to almost white and from the deepest church violet to pale lavender, is the favorite tint. In feathers there is a long plume shaded from the faintest pink to a deep flame color.

Some beautiful shot effects are also to be seen, such as mauve showing through blue, with a suggestion of scarlet beneath it, and purples combined with pinks and silver grays.

A new weave of satin is called satin messaline. It is a soft, lustrous weave which falls into exquisite folds. A pink satin gown seen recently had a key pattern around the neck worked in silver embroidery, and this was duplicated on the edge of the hem of the skirt. The girdle was of silver.

Fringes of all kinds, including gold, silver and jet, are used. The gold and silver are used with fine cloth in the pastel shades. Silver fringe is particularly pleasing used with pale green cloth.

Elderly women are wearing beautifully embroidered cloth gowns, the embroidery designs being taken in many cases from antique patterns.

Moleskin gray is a shade which exactly matches the fur. It is very popular for walking costumes and general utility wear. When relieved by touches of pale blue cloth, it is even dressy.

The cut shows a gown of black veiling trimmed with velvet and applications of silk guipure.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

NOVELTIES OF DRESS.

Short Boleros—Silver and Gold Braid. Lace Trimmings.

Boleros are quite short and show a good deal of the wide waistband. They are made of every conceivable material, including lace.

Silver and gold braids appear both on hats and on tailor mades. Toques are narrow and elongated, but picture hats are very large.

For evening wear mousseline de soie and crepe de chine are mixed with coarse Irish lace and guipure. On the other hand, thick cloths are enriched with the most delicate embroidery.

The velvet bolero and the skirt of cloth banded with velvet are a smart fashion, and a great deal of velvet is used to decorate skirts and blouses. Sometimes this is cut out in figures—lozenges, diamonds and squares—and it is fastened down with fancy stitching.

Velvet will be worn late in the season. Amethyst, violet and Lincoln or sage green are smart colors, and fine silk braid and heavy laces are used as trimming.

Those who are forced to be economical will welcome the sets of mixed materials—velvet, lace and fur—which replace the too expensive fur stole and muff. Better a thousand times such novelties than the muff and stole made of cheap fur.

The illustration shows a white taffeta waist trimmed with white silk beading run through with narrow black ribbon.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—A mile and a sixteenth handicap was the main attraction at Ingleside and was won from a field of six by Stuyve, the heavily played favorite. Fierce Fight at Matanzas.

MATANZAS, Cuba, Feb. 11.—A dozen Cuban stevedores and a Norwegian sailor from the British steamer Dorisbrook are in a hospital here as the result of a fierce fight on board the steamer, which occurred when she reached this port. The fighting arose from the mutual calling of insulting names. The Cubans and the sailors came together, and clubs, knives and fists were freely used. The stevedores were so badly beaten that some jumped overboard from the Dorisbrook to escape the sailors and swam ashore. Twenty men of the steamer's crew and over thirty stevedores participated in the fight. The Norwegian and British consuls are investigating the matter.

COMFORTING WORDS.

Many a Plainfield Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Plainfield readers.

Mrs. L. L. Homes, of 442 West Second street, says: "I used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and derived more benefit from them than anything else. Before I tried this remedy I was bothered almost constantly with a severe pain across the small of my back, so bad at times that I thought I must give up. If I sat down and got up or was lying down and attempted to rise quickly or retained one position for any length of time, sharp acute pain always followed. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such troubles and went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They helped me from the first and I improved right along under the treatment."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

INTEGRITY OF CHINA

Secretary Hay's Proposition Placed Before Europe.

WILL GREATLY NARROW WAR ARENA

France Will Not Take Present Action, as It Might Embarrass Russia to Make China a Neutral Ground During the War.

PARIS, Feb. 11.—The overtures of the United States government to the powers for preserving the neutrality and integrity of China during and after the hostilities between Russia and Japan are attracting widespread attention. United States Ambassador Porter has conferred at length with Foreign Minister Delcasse. The results have not been made public, but the general situation is as follows:

It does not appear probable that an accord of the powers can be reached at the present time owing to differences of views and the concentration of attention upon the actual events of the war. It is practically certain that France will not take any action which could possibly be construed as embarrassing Russia or as seeking to coerce her concerning the integrity of China. The French authorities appear to be quite willing and even anxious to have China declare her neutrality.

Advices from St. Petersburg say the statement that Secretary Hay issued a note to the powers asking them to join in insisting upon the recognition of the integrity of China and Korea during and after hostilities created much comment in diplomatic circles here, where any action taken with the view of localizing the theater of war is welcomed. There seemed to be great doubt, however, of the propriety of adhering to the latter clauses of Mr. Hay's note pending more definite advices.

At the foreign office, where there is some disposition to distrust the purposes of the United States, authoritative expression is not obtainable yet.

Foreign Minister Lamsdorff, talking to the diplomats at his reception, spoke feelingly of Japan's action and declared the czar had done all in his power to avoid a conflict, but that the events of the past few days had proved Japan to be bent upon war and that no concessions Russia could have offered would have restrained her.

Hanna's Condition Unchanged.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Senator Hanna's condition remains practically unchanged. The restlessness which fatigued him has been followed by periods of comparative quiet and sleep during the day, and the irritability of the stomach has again partially yielded to treatment. The physicians say that no complications have developed. It is this feature of the case that the physicians are guarding zealously against, as they realize that if any complications develop in the senator's distressingly weak condition the result might be fatal quickly. The doctors are not yet able to predict with any certainty when the crisis in the case will occur.

Convict Had Carriage in Waiting.

BOSTON, Feb. 11.—Edward Waters, a burglar convict whose former home was in New York, has made a sensational escape from the state prison at Charlestown. Waters was aided by one or more confederates. He obtained access to the dress

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

It is stated on good authority that the owner of the property in which Hope Common is located will not allow baseball to be played there this summer. Complaints have been received by nearby residents and for this reason the owner has refused applications from baseball enthusiasts who want to use the field.

As soon as the baseball management of the Scotch Plains team decides about the lineup for the coming season, a conference will be held with the Alis Club management for a series of games. These games last season aroused great interest between the two towns and renewed interest should result this year.

Robert Eick, of East Third street, has received a copy of the San Juan News under date of Sunday, January 31. The paper presents a bright and clean appearance and is well madeup. Of local interest is an account of baseball played on Saturday, January 30 between teams known as Hardie Brothers and the Interiors. "Red" Waller pitched for the Interiors and according to the account "Waller, the Interior pitcher, fell off and was replaced by Capt. Jett, whom, however, Scholl hit as regularly as he hit Waller. Scholl for the Hardies went to the bat four times, made four hits and succeeded in making four runs of the team's score. As usual, when he plays at short stop, he made a double play." The final score was 7 to 2 in favor of the Hardies.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

Plainfield's total points won in Monday night's Northern New Jersey Y. M. C. A. athletic meet were 426½ instead of 462½, the error being one in type-setting. Similar errors were responsible for the statement that H. Shenher, of Newark, put the shot 53 feet, 6¼ inches instead of 35 feet 6¼, and that Austin's time in the potato race was 1 minute 45 3-5 seconds as should have been stated.

BASKET BALL.

The Business Men's team of the Y. M. C. A. is endeavoring to arrange a basket ball game with the Rahway Y. M. C. A.

The Plainfield High School basket ball team will line up against Orange High at Orange Saturday. The probable line-up is: Long and Thompson, forwards; Freeman or Guinn, centre; Fenno and Gavett, guards.

Star Course Entertainment.

The next event in the Y. M. C. A. Star entertainment course will take place on the night of Washington's birthday. The Edison Projectoscope Company will be the entertainers. They include Marie Pierson, soprano soloist; Helen Gomes, with humorous readings; D. W. Robertson, sleigh bell soloist. Moving pictures and illustrated songs will be a part of the programme.

BOOK NEWS.

It is planned to issue on Thursday of each week items of library news. This will frequently take the form of book lists, such as lists of books recently added, lists on special subjects and like topics. Frequently the lists will be annotated, the aim being to make these annotations of real service to the reader, by giving him the opinion of a trustworthy critic as to the value of the books or a few words as to their scope. UNDERGROUND BANQUET.

Tunnel Company Entertains Press. Menu Ordered by Telephone.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—A feast laid on a table three blocks long and forty feet under the streets was a feature of a novel banquet participated in here by 600 people, the guests for the most part being members of the Chicago Press club and their ladies.

The banquet was given to the Press club by Albert G. Wheeler and General Manager George W. Jackson of the Illinois Tunnel company. The banquet was held in that portion of the company's underground workings lying on Jackson boulevard between Franklin and Clark streets. In the twenty miles of tunnels now nearing completion the company proposes to handle much of Chicago's freight traffic as well as to operate a telephone system. A ride through three miles of the tunnel was given the guests before the banquet, the cars, running by electricity, making an average speed of twenty miles an hour.

The "banquet room" had an orchestra at both ends—one at Clark street and the other at Franklin. At Franklin street also was the culinary department. This was some distance from President Carr of the Press club, who dined at the Clark street end; but, as the table was equipped with a private telephone system, he, like others along the route, was able to make known his wants at the kitchen without delay. Speeches were made by Mr. Wheeler, Mr. Jackson and Mr. Carr during the banquet.

Schaefer Suspect's Story.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Feb. 11.—James McDonald made the following statement to the officers at the reformatory in regard to the Schaefer murder: "My right name is William Parsons, although I am known by the name of McDonald. So far as the crime with which I am charged is concerned I am as innocent as a man could be. I got into this through my own foolishness. I made false statements before the court of inquiry. I can't explain why I did it, but I suppose it was because I wanted to make people think I knew something about the murder. I know absolutely nothing about the crime. The nearest I was to the place where Miss Schaefer was murdered was over half a block away at the doctor's office. I did not see her that night, never did see her and did not know there was such a woman living."

Plucky Bank Cashier Dead.

NEWCASTLE, Del., Feb. 11.—Richard G. Cooper, a distinguished Delaware lawyer, is dead here, aged sixty-eight years. He served two terms as prothonotary of the superior court and for years was cashier of the Newcastle branch of the Farmers' Bank of Delaware. Burglars visited the bank one night in 1889. One of them confronted Cashier Cooper and, thrusting a revolver in his face, commanded him to throw up his hands. The cashier responded by raising his own revolver and sending a ball crashing through the burglar's mouth. The intruder and his associates fled, leaving a trail of blood. The fate of the wounded burglar is still a mystery, but the finding months later of a skeleton along the river led to the belief that he died from his wound.

Ice Gorge Broken.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Feb. 11.—The ice gorge in the Delaware river has broken at the Delaware Water Gap, and warnings have been sent to residents along the river. The jam is about eight miles in length, extending from the gap to above Shawnee. At some points the jam is eight feet high.

REV. MR. M'MURRAY ASKS SOME QUESTIONS

Letter From Minister Who Publicly Arraigned the Councilmen.

SEEKING INFORMATION

SUSPICIOUS IF GOFF'S APPLICATION IS GRANTED.

Why Did Councilmen Change Their Votes on Third Reading After Supporting Proposed Ordinance, One of His Questions.

Editor, The Daily Press:

My attention has been called to an article in Wednesday night's Daily Press under the caption "Liquor License Fee Fixed." In this article you quote a councilman—whose name is not given—to the effect that in my address at the Y. M. C. A. on last Sunday afternoon "the reverend gentleman was not well posted or he would never have made such bold statements, etc."

I seldom concern myself much about this kind of criticism. I have too many other duties that demand my attention. But just at this time such criticism has a tendency to weaken the force of what I may have said on the occasion mentioned or what I may have to say from time to time on the subject under consideration.

I am not always free to give my authorities for information received. Then the criticism of the Councilman quoted may be true. I may be "posted" but perhaps not "well posted."

But if my statements—which of course the Councilman heard me make—are incorrect and I am not well informed, in company with a large number of others, I should like to inquire of the unnamed member of the City Council where we may obtain the correct information concerning the action of the City Council in this affair.

Why was the Mayor's suggestion with reference to an increased license fee and a limited number of saloons acted upon, an ordinance proposed and passed through two readings and then defeated on the third reading when there seemed no reason for its defeat and none was assigned beyond the rumor that it was the wish of the saloon keepers and the liquor interests that it should be defeated?

Does it not appear as if "there was something doing between the time when the ordinance was introduced and when it came up for final action?"

I take it that the members of the City Council are there to represent the people who elect them and that the City Council is not a close corporation with "star chamber proceedings" and the people who elect them have a right to know why certain things are done or not done. Some of the people would like to know what was "doing."

What came up to cause certain councilmen to change their votes? The five men who voted in favor of the ordinance on the third reading have no need to explain their way of voting. It was consistent action. But what about the other five?

I was present in the Council Chamber when the vote was taken but there was not a word of discussion on the subject and not a word of explanation offered for the change of front.

Nothing beyond considerable low talking together on the part of those who afterwards voted against the measure. One could secure no enlightenment from anything that was done or said in the Council meeting. Nothing has appeared in the public press in the way of justification of the action in defeating the measure.

Are people to be blamed for drawing certain inferences, especially when the ability to draw inferences is strengthened by certain persistent rumors about the actions of certain political leaders and the representatives of the liquor and brewing interests.

I am not indulging in personalities and so mention no names.

Concerning the Goff matter it may be "too early to predict what the Council will do with the application for a license to sell intoxicating liquors in the new building on West Front street near Clinton avenue, but still there are many who do predict that Mr. Goff will secure his license.

Should this license be granted in the face of the protests from the manufacturing concerns situated there and in opposition to the expressed wishes

MAY BUILD BREWERY WITHIN CITY LIMITS

Westerner Secures Options on Two Tracts of Ground on Rock Avenue.

NEGOTIATIONS PENDING

JOSEPH BAUMGARTNER, OF SIOUX CITY, IS THE MAN.

Anticipates Little Opposition—Believes Plainfield a Desirable Location for Such a Plant—Refuses to Divulge Agents' Names.

Joseph Baumgartner, of Sioux City, Ia., has been stopping at the Hotel Kensington since Monday, the object of his visit to this city being to secure a site, if possible, for the location of a brewery. He is the owner and manager of the largest brewery in Sioux City, Ia., and has options on two propreties on Rock avenue near the Central Railroad tracks.

The Iowa man says that he believes a brewery located in this city could be made to pay. A friend of his, who is also one of the superintendents of the Souix City brewery, was in this city a month ago and secured the prices of two locations on Rock avenue and one near Leland avenue in the East End of the city. Mr. Baumgartner said he has visited New Brunswick and Trenton but he said that in those places he has found that the field is covered. He thinks he sees a good opening in this city, surrounded as it is by small towns.

A reporter for The Daily Press told him that there is likely to be opposition to such an enterprise in this city, whereupon Mr. Baumgartner said that when he applied for a permit to open a brewery in Sioux City there was opposition, too, but in spite of this he has today a plant there which is the pride of the town. He anticipates no trouble here.

Mr. Baumgartner formerly lived in Newark and was an employe of the Balentine brewery. He went West ten years ago and located the brewery there at that time. He says that the real estate agents with whom he is negotiating for the property will not allow him to divulge their names. One lives in Newark and the other is in this city.

PLANS FOR HOPE'S TEAM

CHAPEL BOYS ARRANGE TO HAVE A PURELY AMATEUR NINE ON DIAMOND.

A conference of the Hope Chapel Young Men's Association was held last night and the subject of baseball for the coming season was discussed. The association will have on the diamond a strictly local list of players the coming season. The probable players have been selected and if all serve, the Hope Chapel team will be strong enough to meet many of the semi-professionals in this vicinity.

There has been some discussion as to whether or not to have the team made up with semi-professional talent or have a straight amateur nine. Believing that the majority of Plainfielders desire to see a purely local team on the diamond, the managers decided to take his course and confine the field of talent to Plainfield. All games will be played on Hope Common.

An effort is to be made to secure John Cove as manager. Who the other officers will be is now merely conjecture. George Cose will probably be selected as captain of the team. The outlook for a favorable season is godo, say the members, and they are confident of making a decided hit on the diamond next season. The baseball committee is composed of John Cose William N. Runyon and George E. Firstbrook.

Sign of the Hard Winter.

Some idea of the strength of winter's hold was obtained by Chief T. O. Doane yesterday by measuring the depth of the frost on Central avenue where the street has been dug up. He found the ground frozen to a depth of three and a half feet.

BOROUGH BOWLERS DEFEAT A CITY TEAM

Plainfield Aggregation Loses to Park Club in Three Consecutive Games.

ON CASINO'S ALLEYS

WILLIAM BARLOW, OF PARK CLUB, MADE A 201.

Park Club Wants a Return Game—Final Game Won by 170 Pins—The Make-Up of the Two Teams—The Totals.

An ante-holiday event of unusual interest to the city and borough was the bowling game at the Casino, last night, between a team of ten men of this city and a like number from the Park Club. The series went to the Parks, the first game by a margin of 24 pins, the second by 50 pins and the third by 170 pins. The home team was not in the best condition and was easily defeated. On the other hand the Parks not being accustomed to the Casino alleys had some difficulty in rolling high scores. William Barlow, a junior member from the Parks, made high score, 201. His bowling attracted considerable attention.

While of course the Plainfield team was anxious to win the series, and was disappointed in not gesting at least one game, the social features amply repaid them for their defeat. The Parks seemed to enjoy the meeting exceedingly and hope to be able to secure a return game soon.

The two teams lined up as follows:

Parks—F. O. Ball, R. T. Willis, William Barlow, Frank Rogers, Morgan Townsend, Dr. Thiers, William Faber, Walter Long, Morris J. Dumont and F. H. Ball.

Casino—G. F. Earle, W. C. Kinney, Howard Fleming, C. C. Burke, Sr., R. A. Beebe, Howard Beebe, J. E. Erickson, Irving Brown, George Cathcart and Stuart Patterson.

Brown was present and addressed the children on the subject of "Loyalty."

TROLLEY HITS TRUCK; NEWARK MEN INJURED

Accident on West Front Street, Last Night, Two Victims, Now in Hospital.

BOTH ARE BADLY HURT.

WILLIAM STACKSOR AND J. COHEN HURLED FROM THE TRUCK.

Carried Into House on West Front Street and Later Removed to Muhlenberg—Passed a Comfortable Night.

By a collision between a heavy truck and a trolley car, both west bound on West Front street, corner of Albert, at 9 o'clock last night, three men were injured and both truck and trolley car were damaged. J. Cohn, of 1009 Magnolia avenue, Newark, and William Staksor, of 202 Court street, Newark, were severely bruised about the chest and body, but their injuries are not regarded at the hospital as serious. John Barton, motorman of the car, was badly shaken up.

Cohn, who was driving the truck, evidently attempted to get away from the tracks and possibly turned his horses in the wrong direction. The truck was twisted completely around, both Cohn and Staksor were thrown from their seat and a large ice box on the truck was hurled to the ground. The front of the car was damaged. The car was No. 508, in charge of Conductor Joseph Harting.

The injured men were carried into the house of James Trimmer, of 1039 West Front street and medical help summoned. Cohn and Staksor were taken to the hospital and treated by Drs. Lufborrow, Jenkins and Zeglio. They passed a fairly comfortable night.

Barton, the injured motorman, states that the truck was turned directly in the path of the car, that he reversed the power and stopped his car almost within fifteen feet. Barton, according to all testimony, stuck to his post gamely and worked like a hero at the brakes even after the shock of collision came. His escape from more serious injury was almost miraculous.

A CITIZENS' UNION PARTY

BOROUGH DEMOCRATS TAKE STEPS TO FORM NON-PARTY POLITICAL BODY.

A few North Plainfield Democrats met in Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer's office last night and debated the advisability of joining with the Citizens' Union in making a non-partisan ticket for the approaching borough election. A committee was appointed to confer with the members of the Citizens' Union.

Assemblyman Swackhamer was called to Jersey City and Morristown suddenly on business yesterday afternoon and could not be present at the conference. It was said this morning that the move of the borough Democrats in North Plainfield was in no way connected with the firemen's controversy.

PLAINFIELDER SLATED FOR REGISTRAR OF DEEDS

Tax Collector Frank H. Smith Said to be Picked as First Incumbent of a Snug Office.

BILL IN LEGISLATURE

MEASURE CREATING OFFICE INTRODUCED BY SENATOR CROSS.

Passed Upper House—Many Republicans Want the Job—Lucrative Position—Rumors in Political Circles.

Tax Collector Frank H. Smith is slated for the office of registrar of deeds of Union County according to rumors emanating from reliable political sources. It is reported that County Chairman Hamilton F. Kean has agreed that the Plainfield Republican fill the berth as soon as the bill which is now in the House becomes a law and goes into effect.

The measure was introduced in the Senate by Senator Joseph Cross, of this county, in compliance with the Republican platform of this county. The bill passed the Senate and was sent over to the House where it will come up for consideration in the early part of next week. There appears to be no opposition to the plan and it is believed that the Governor will append his signature to it.

The office will be a lucrative one and naturally there are many Republicans throughout the county who have their eyes on it. Mr. Smith's salary as tax collector is $2,200 a year. On Tuesday night he made a significant speech at a meeting of the Union County Republican executive committee, asking Chairman Kean to accept his present office again next year and pledging Plainfield's loyalty.

WOMAN THRASHED CONSTABLE

W. PANGBORN MET WITH ROUGH TREATMENT WHEN SERVING LEGAL PAPER.

Constable William Pangborn, of North Plainfield, is convinced that the term "weaker sex" is a misnomer. This opinion is the result of his experiences yesterday at the home of a man whose household effects were to have been sold at auction to satisfy a chattel mortgage. He reports today that Mrs. Frank Schaeffer, of Duer street, is the strongest woman he knows.

The constable says he received notice that the sale had been postponed and accordingly he served notice on Schaeffer in the Somerville jail, where he is serving a term for wife beating. According to law the notice of postponement must be served on the persons interested and it was that errand which took Pangborn to the Duer street home yesterday afternoon. A little girl responded to his knock and following her was Mrs. Schaeffer. As Pangborn handed her the paper, Mrs. Schaeffer, he says, struck at him. He stepped aside and the woman fell. Enraged, it is alleged, she picked herself up and, cornering the constable, she scratched his face and pulled his hair and, he declares, kicked him strenuously until he was obliged to beg for mercy. She gave him a parting kick and scratch before he could leave the house. He says he will make a formal complaint against the woman and have her arrested for assault.

Who will serve the notice of postponement on Mrs. Schaeffer is interesting Mr. Pangborn at present. He declares he will not under any circumstances go near that house again and unless Chief Marshal William Campbell does so, the notice will go unserved.

The chattel mortgage is held by William Conway on household effects. The sale has been postponed a number of times.

RECEPTION IN HONOR OF REV. A. E. FINN

Park Avenue Baptists Gather to Extend Welcome to Their New Pastor.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE

REV. CHARLES L. GOODRICH AND REV. A. C. NICKERSON PRESENT.

Held Under Auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society—Enjoyable Programme Rendered—Those in Charge of the Affair.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church, a reception was tendered to the pastor, Rev. A. E. Finn, and his wife in the parlors of the church, last night. There was a large attendance of members of the church and congregation and all united in giving the new pastor and his wife a most cordial welcome. The rooms were appropriately decorated for the occasion with palms, ferns, flowers, the prevailing colors being green and white. Banquet lamps placed about the rooms added to the general attractiveness.

Mr. and Mrs. Finn were assisted in receiving by Mr. Finn's mother, Deacon and Mrs. Theodore I. Runyon and Mrs. Thomas H. Cuming. After everyone had had an opportunity of meeting the pastor and his wife, a short informal programme was presented. This consisted of piano selections by Mrs. Harry Johnson and vocal selections by Charles L. Lewis, each being encored several times.

The rest of the evening was devoted to sociability and the serving of refreshments. Mrs. F. T. Ostrom, as president of the Ladies' Aid Society, was the general chairman of the affair. Those presiding at the tables were Mrs. W. S. Lowry, Mrs. Charles VanWinkle, Mrs. Charles Steiner and Mrs. James S. Pray. Assisting as waitresses were Miss Cora Brokaw, Miss Violet VanWinkle, Miss Elizabeth VaWinnkle, Miss Helen Cuming, Miss Essie Thompson, Miss Adelia Runyon and Mrs. Arthur Krom.

CHURCH SUPPER GUESTS

ORGANIZATION OF HOLY CROSS ENTERTAINS THE CHURCH CHOIR.

Under the auspices of the entertainment committee with Mrs. J. O. Stevens as chairman, assisted by the members of the altar committee, a supper was given to the choristers of the Church of the Holy Cross last night in the parish house. Showing in a way the appreciation of the congregation for the work that they are doing.

The spacious room as one entered it looked most attractive. At the end was an oblong table decorated in green prepared for the rector, Mrs. Downey, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Stevens and the members of the musical committee. On either side to the door were square tables with red shades to the candles giving a bright effect to the entire scene. The supper was prepared by Mrs. Johnson an efficient English woman and the menu included all that could be desired. Large handsome mottoes were given as favors and the variety of caps lent considerable fun to all.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Skiff, with the members of the choir, rendered enjoyable music and only expressions of pleasure came from all of the delightful evening they had spent.

W. R. HEARST BOOM FORMALLY ORGANIZED

Frank Shattle, Recently Secretary of Democatic City Committee, Made President.

MORE MEMBERS ADDED

VOTE OF THANKS GIVEN WM. RANDOLPH HEARST FOR HIS PICTURE.

Committee Appointed to Draw Up By-laws—Members of Plainfield Democratic Club Join Forces With the Hearst Boomers.

In spite of the alleged opposition to the Hearst boom in this city on the part of members of the Democratic Club the members of the W. R. Hearst Association met for organization last night at the barber shop of James Jiovino, at 430 Watchung avenue, and fifteen new candidates, most of whom are connected prominently with the Democratic organization here were added to the membership. It is said that among those whose names were entered upon the membership roll of the new organization last night were some of the older club's staunchest supporters of the newspaper owner.

These officers were elected: President, Frank J. Shattle; vice president, James Jiovino; recording secretary, John D. McAleer; financial secretary, William Mills; treasurer, Paul Meissner; sergeant at arms, Abraham B. Cantor. A committee was appointed to draw up a set of by-laws. The next meeting will be held on Wednseday night, February 24. Meetings will be held once each month.

A resolution of thanks was drafted to be sent to Mr. Hearst, thanking him for a large framed picture of himself, which was received here together with a letter several weeks ago.

The attack made upon the club by the Plainfield Democratic organization was informally discussed at last night's meeting but as no definite accusations were made against the president of the club, no official notice is to be taken of it at present.

WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS

Demand Votes For Colonial Sisters.

TO ENJOY SAME RIGHTS AS MEN

Woman's Convention at Washington Protests Against Women of the United States Losing Their Nationality.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—At the woman suffragists' convention here the "bill of rights," which was adopted, demands that the ballot shall be extended to the women of our foreign possessions on the same terms as to the men and that the women of the United States no longer shall suffer the degradation of being held not so competent to exercise the suffrage as a Filipino, a Hawaiian or a Porto Rican man. It is demanded also that the territorial constitutions shall secure to women precisely the same rights as to men. Protest is made against the recent court decision requiring the wife also to accept for herself the citizenship preferred by a husband, thus compelling a woman born in the United States to lose her nationality if her husband chooses to declare allegiance to a foreign country. In brief it is demanded that all constitutional and legal barriers shall be removed which deny to women an individual right or personal freedom which they grant to men.

Greetings were received from Mrs. Fenwick Miller, president of a suffrage organization in Great Britain, and a letter was read from President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, pledging his hearty support to the suffrage movement from a labor standpoint.

The chief feature of the night session was the annual address of Carrie Chapman Catt of New York, the president of the association. She declared that a reactionary spirit is certainly creeping into popular opinion in America and that the conviction is growing that the suffrage has been extended too freely and that problems of the most serious character have followed this cheapness of the ballot. That the presence of more than 2,000,000 illiterate voters has proved a telling factor in producing the reactionary spirit few, she said, will doubt. The negro vote also had proved a powerful factor in producing the reactionary spirit. Mrs. Catt asked if qualified women citizens shall wait in patience until influences now unseen shall sweep away the difficulties and restore the lost enthusiasm for democracy or shall attempt to determine causes, apply remedies and clear the way for their own enfranchisement. Personally, she said, she preferred to do her part, small as it must be, in the great task of the removal of the obstructions which were closing the wheels of the onward movement of popular government. She proposed that all organizations which stand for reform, education or nonpartisan politics be invited to co-operate in the formation of a national committee by the appointment of one member. The first duty of such a committee should be the appointment of subcommittees to investigate causes and methods of political corruption. When once the investigations are complete, the national committee should wage a campaign in which each organization auxiliary to it should be a working factor for the establishment of conditions which will eliminate the evil.

Ex-President Had Bad Memory.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—On the ground that it might incriminate him James S. Watson, formerly president of the Porter Bros.' Fruit company, when put on the witness stand before Referee In Bankruptcy Wean refused to answer questions as to how he came in possession of more than $1,000,000, which he is said to have deposited in various banks to his personal account. Mr. Watson refused to testify as to what became of the money and could not be drawn into testifying to anything which has not already come to light. In one instance Mr. Watson replied that he could not remember an account of $700,000 which he is said to have had with a Chicago bank.

Warner Will Coach Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Glenn S. Warner, Cornell, '94, the present coach of the Carlisle football team, will be the next coach of the Cornell team. Some time ago Warner signified the conditions under which he would come to Ithaca, and the council has agreed to Warner's terms.

National Baseball Commission.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—After a stormy executive session which lasted for five hours the national baseball commission adjourned its session for the day without reaching any decision on the question of the New York American league club's playing Sunday baseball in Ridgewood park, on Long Island, next season.

Exposition Loan Passed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The house by a vote of 172 to 103 concurred in the senate amendment to the urgent deficiency bill authorizing a loan of $4,600,000 by the government to the Louisiana Purchase exposition after amending it with respect to the manner in which the money shall be paid.

UNION MEN BLAMED

Bridge Over Naugatuck at Ansonia, Conn., Dynamited.

EXPLOSION WAS FELT FOR MILES

Believed It Was Intended to Wreck the "Owl" Express, Due Fifteen Minutes After the Outrage Was Perpetrated.

ANSONIA, Conn., Feb. 12.—An attempt has been made to blow up the bridge over the Naugatuck river here. The bridge was built by nonunion workmen, and threats against it have been freely made by union workmen.

The force of the explosion shook buildings for a mile, and windows were broken half a mile away. Dynamite was applied at the base of the new big bridge, and its foundations were slightly weakened.

It is strange that the bridge was not blown to pieces. The explosion took place about fifteen minutes before the "Owl" train from Bridgeport to Waterbury passed over it and is believed to have been planned so that the heavily loaded train would be wrecked.

Watchman E. E. Bacon heard the explosion and rushed to the bridge. He saw two men disappearing in the darkness, but was not near enough to identify them. He was unarmed and was unable to do anything, although he saw that an attempt to dynamite the bridge had been made.

Whether the explosion is a sequel to the labor union war here of the past year or whether it is one of the attempts of the dynamiters who demanded a ransom of $5,000 from the Consolidated railroad under threats of dynamiting one of their trains over the Berkshire division of the Consolidated railroad cannot be learned. This is the division which the train dynamiters said some time ago that they would attack in case their demands for a ransom were not heeded. A week afterward a stick of dynamite was found about two miles from the scene of the present outrage.

KAISER HONORS TOWER.

American Ambassador Dines the German Ruler In Berlin.

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—Emperor William dined with United States Ambassador and Mrs. Tower last night at the American embassy. It is the first dinner the kaiser has ever taken at a foreign consulate. Among the guests were George von L. Meyer, United States ambassador to Italy, and Mrs. Meyer; Melville F. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Reilly, Miss Snyder, Dean B. Mason, United States vice consul general in Berlin; Albert Ballin, general director of the Hamburg-American line; Henry Wiegand, general director of the North German Lloyd line; Herr Rathenau, director of the General Electrical company of Berlin; General von Plessen, Count von Moltke, Count Schmetow, Captain von Grumme, Admiral Hallmann and the members of the staff of the American embassy here and their wives.

Emperor William remained in conversation with the company for two hours after leaving the table.

The diplomatic corps here regards his majesty's presence at this dinner as a compliment to the United States and that it is intended by his majesty to be an unusual indication of the high position Mr. Tower has attained as ambassador to Germany.

Count Held In Custody.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—The proprietor of a prominent hotel here is prosecuting a Venezuelan who is said at one time to have been minister of his country at Washington in connection with certain drafts amounting to $2,200 made by the Venezuelan and which were not honored. A magistrate has decided that the Venezuelan, whose name is given as Count O—— de M——, be held in custody pending an investigation.

Plainfield, N. J., Feb. 12, 1904.

Attorney General McCarter has transmitted an opinion to the Legislature in which he holds that the exemption of volunteer firemen from $500 of taxation is unconstitutional. Lucky for Robert H. that he is not a candidate for office at present.

A judge in the district court at Perth Amboy has made a ruling that the testimony of an athiest should be accepted when he believes himself bound by the usual oath. That judge is in training to occupy the job of declaring Jersey laws unconstitutional.

The Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Oratorical Union, composed of the leading colleges of that State, has decided to debar women students from participating in the debates. If a woman who goes to college is prohibited from talking, co-education will prove a failure.

REV. MR. M'MURRAY ASKS SOME QUESTIONS

of the property holders and citizens living in the community where it is proposed to locate this saloon when there is no demand for it and no good reason why it should be placed there, is it not fair to assume that after all the widely circulated statement that a license was promised months ago is not a foolish statement but a correct one?

In other words, if under all the present well known circumstances, Mr. Goff should secure his fully expected license, would it not, to say the least, appear a little bit suspicious?

The Councilman quoted and myself agree on the main points of the contention. He says that he favors higher license and a limited number of saloons for this city. We may assume that he will oppose the granting of any new licenses.

Yours truly,
John McMurray.

NUPTIAL KNOT TIED BUT NO FEE REQUIRED

Young Women Who Take Advantage of Leap Year Will be Married Free.

PRESENTS FOR BRIDES

JUSTICE HEZEKIAH HAND'S LIBERAL INDUCEMENT TO LOVELORN GIRLS.

Generous Squire Says He is Making No Attempt to Corner Matrimonial Market, But is Acting Merely for the Benefit of Humanity.

If the ranks of the marriageable are not rapidly depleted this year, it will not be the fault of Justice of the Peace Hezekiah Hand. If the harvest time for willing maids with bashful suitors has not arrived, no one can blame the Judge. If the leap year prerogative of marriage proposals is not employed to good purpose and eligible masculinity ensnared by ambitious spinsters, no one can say that it was because that same esteemed magistrate did not do his utmost.

Marriages performed at cut rates, with special inducements for such as are the result of the bride's proposal, is the Judge's liberal offer. He has given notice that he will perform the marriage ceremony free of charge in the case of all couples who come to him with a statement that they are contemplating entering holy wedlock and that the bride was the one who made the proposal according to her leap year privilege. The Judge will go further than that. He will pay even the fee for the marriage certificate from his own pocket.

To this handsome offer, Judge Hand adds other inducements to those contemplating a marital venture. He announces that all persons coming to him to get married within sixty days from date (February 12) will be given a special present, the exact nature of which he has not yet divulged. This offer holds only in the case of non-leap-year marriages. Judge Hand himself denies that he will give trading stamps.

In an interview with a reporter for The Daily Press yesterday, the Justice characterized as untrue a report that he was attempting to corner the matrimonial market. He said he was acting merely for the benefit of humanity in general and aspiring spinsters in particular. He also authorized a denial of the statement that he was connected with a marriage trust for the entrapping of unwary bachelors.

It is reported that Chief Kiely will order out a special squadron of police to guard the Judge's office on Front street against the immense throngs who are expected to take advantage of his unparalled inducements for "committing matrimony."

CHARGES HIM WITH SLANDER

ROW BETWEEN POLANDERS RESULTS IN A SUIT FOR HEAVY DAMAGES.

For swearing in Polish at Mrs. Susanna Olach, Joseph Manhattan, of this city, is facing a heavy damage suit for slander. Both parties to the suit are Poles.

According to the plaintiff, the action of the defendant was wholly unwarranted. Mrs. Olach's story is that she was seated on the front porch of her residence on East Second street on December 24, when Manhattan approached and, without provocation, called her several unpleasant names in Polish including an epithet which translated means something like "small rubbish that none but the lowest will associate with."

Because of this and other complaints of a like nature, Mrs. Olach retained William Newcorn, Esq., as her counsel, and started suit in the District Court for $300 for slander. The day before the suit was begun, Manhattan again made his presence felt by going to police headquarters and lodging a complaint there that Mrs. Olach was conducting a disorderly house. An officer was sent to investigate the matter and discovered, after breaking into the house late at night, that there was no truth in the charges.

After this second outbreak of Manhattan's, the case in the District Court was discontinued and a new suit for $5,000 for libel and slander started in the Supreme Court.

Manhattan's right name is Machetti, which it is said he discarded for the sake of euphony.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

It is a "New England Supper" that the Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church will give at the church on Tuesday night, February 23.

Mrs. F. S. Irwin, who for some time past has been engaged in mission work among the freedmen of the South, attended the prayer meeting at the First Presbyterian church, Wednesday night, giving an entertaining and interesting talk concerning her work. She told of the encouraging and discouraging features of the work among this class of people and in her opinion a good substantial work is being accomplished. Many of the people are being won for Christ and then in turn are helping others to lead better lives. Mrs. Irwin is employed by the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions and she has been successful since taking up this work in the home field.

JONES AT BELLEVUE.

Warning Against Pride That Comes from New York.

Different Luck of Two Hospital Patients—One Had a Pull Which Was Utilized by a Hobo Who Knew a Good Thing.

It was the third time that Jones had been "ill" this winter, and the patience of his friends had been almost exhausted. At all events, they decided that the same financial outlay would not be necessary in this instance, as in the others.

Jones needed hospital treatment, says the New York Sun, and it was decided that he had better go to Bellevue. There was greater comfort in the private hospitals; but there was also greater expense. So he went to Bellevue for the three days it usually took to bring him around.

There were other excellent reasons why this institution should be selected. One of the youthful physicians on the staff was his friend, and might be expected to look out for Jones.

So Jones found himself in a ward along with some fellow sufferers who could all attribute their troubles to the same cause. After he had lain in some discomfort on his narrow bed, an orderly came up to him.

"Is your name Jones?" he inquired, with the lack of sympathy usually shown to invalids of this class. "H. C. Jones?"

The patient shuddered until the iron cot rattled on its unsteady pins.

"Is it possible," he thought in terror, "that I am known to be in this place?"

Then he answered:

"No," he said. "My name is Brown."

The orderly moved to the next bed.

"Is your name Jones?" he asked of its frowsy occupant.

The answer was in the affirmative and the effect was magical. The tone of the orderly changed immediately. It grew gentle and obsequious.

More marked was his changed treatment of the patient. All that sympathetic solicitude could suggest was done for him.

The first Jones seemed to suffer in exact ratio to the attentions bestowed on the other man. Once he tried to make himself more comfortable by changing his position.

"IS YOUR NAME JONES?"

"Lay still there!" came from the orderly, who was handing an orange to his pampered patient while the other's lips were parching with thirst. "Lay still, I tell you."

Ice tinkled coolingly in the mineral water frequently served to the astonished hobo who went through the list of luxuries he liked best. He was loath to leave such a paradise and lingered until the other Jones had recovered his health and departed. He was allowed to remain only through the same influence that had so thoughtfully contributed to his comfort.

"Well, the doc treated you all right, didn't he?" asked his best friend when the real Jones had left the hospital behind him.

"Did nothing at all for me," was the answer, "but showered attentions on a fellow in the next bed, and he was a hum at that. Gave him everything he wanted and wouldn't even let me sit up."

"Did he know who you were?"

"Of course not," was the answer; "although the orderly found out my real name in one way or another and asked me if I was Jones. I denied it, of course."

Then for the first time he understood how all the kindness and favors withheld for him had gone to the other Jones.

Salem's Old Witch House.

The Witch house, an ancient building, which is still regarded with great interest and awe at Salem, Mass., is supposed to be the oldest building in that part of the country. The reputed date of its construction being 1631. Modern additions from time to time have almost changed its identity. The Witch house is where people suspected of practicing the black art were tried. The original building had peaked gables and was of a very ancient style of architecture. The present structure is hardly more than a reminiscence.

Has Hundreds of Rings.

Queen Christina of Spain has very pretty hands, and she is aware of their beauty. Among various other articles of her jewelry are about 200 rings. To display her nice hands she makes a point of wearing all her rings in turn, changing them every time she changes her dress, which she does as frequently as four or five times a day.

Where Sailing Is Dangerous.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark.
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

SEEN HERE AND THERE.

Elaborate Black Gowns—The Season of the Taffeta Hat.

Black cloth street gowns are made up with much fringe and applications of dyed lace over white satin foundations. They are also trimmed with ruchings of bias chiffon velvet and fagotings of heavy black silk showing the white foundation.

Black chiffon gowns lined with net are trimmed with applications of silver embroidery and bunches of silk poppies in black and palest green.

A TAFFETA HAT.

The skirts of these chiffon evening gowns are made very full, with many narrow rufflings, and the short sleeves are also made of the same small rufflings.

A gown recently seen was of black chantilly having a shirred skirt and a waist trimmed with tiny black silk rosebuds and their leaves and a wide belt and applications of dull green chiffon velvet.

Taffeta hats are now being worn, and they will continue the vogue until straw takes their place. They are mostly shirred in bands held together by coarse lace or chiffon gaugings.

The picture shows a plain taffeta hat trimmed with a twist of tulle and a long black ostrich feather.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

WHAT IS WORN.

Plumed Hats Are Good Investments. Entire Gowns Made of Lace.

A plumed hat is about the best millinery investment any woman can make.

Elbow sleeves continue to be most popular for evening wear, but they are of a most fancy description, trimmed with many ruffles and ruchings and even decorated with tabs and ends of narrow velvet or flowered ribbon.

Entire gowns of ecru lace never go out of fashion, and they are always easy to remodel in a dozen different ways.

Spangled tulle over pale colored satin makes a delightfully dainty evening gown, although it is decidedly perishable.

There is also a revival of pale colored brocades, but these are more suitable for middle aged women than for younger matrons. A stiff silk is never, of course, suitable for a young girl.

Washable shirt waist costumes of white serge will be worn a great deal this summer, and wise women are making them up at present. To be practical they should be unlined, of course, with neatly bound seams. A blouse waist is the best, and it can be worn with a wide kid belt, either white or colored, to match the necktie.

Persian lawn and the soft finished lawns which look so much like chiffon, as well as the all over English embroidery, are commanding great attention for blouses. The backs are trimmed as well as the fronts, although perhaps not quite as elaborately, the cuffs being of lace or embroidery to match the rest of the trimming. A great variety of shapes are to be seen in these cuffs, some extending almost to the elbow and others being deeper on the outside of the arm than on the inside. Deep lace berthas of valenciennes or renaissance lace are a novelty for trimming the finer blouses.

The cut shows a costume of mole skin gray cloth trimmed with touches of light gray silk and white lace medallions.

JAPS BEATEN BACK

Attempt at Landing Near Port Arthur Repulsed.

SEVEN RUSSIAN WARSHIPS SUNK

Second Naval Battle Reported to Have Ended Adversely to Czar's Squadron—Captain of Variag Blew Up His Vessel.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company cables that the naval headquarters staff there announces that in the fight at Port Arthur six Japanese ships were slightly damaged, and 50 Japanese were killed and 150 wounded.

Dispatches received here say that in an engagement off Port Arthur the Russian fleet was destroyed, four battleships and three cruisers being sunk. Two Japanese warships were damaged. The Japanese are said to have got between the Russians and the harbor entrance.

It is presumed that this naval engagement followed the unsuccessful attempt made by the Japanese to land troops in the bays adjacent to Port Arthur. It was reported that the Japs were driven off immediately, with heavy loss.

One of the most thrilling incidents of the war so far is told in a dispatch to London. It is of the captain of the Russian warship Variag, who remained on board his ship and blew her up after the crew escaped.

The landing of troops was undertaken with the object of cutting off Port Arthur from assistance by land, then attacking the Russian fleet from the fort and compelling it to go out and give battle to the Japanese ships.

The Paris Temps has received confirmation from official sources that the Japanese attempted to make a landing at the bay of Port Arthur and were immediately repulsed.

The St. James Gazette's correspondent at Chefu confirms this report and says that the Russians, in anticipation of a renewal of the attack, are strengthening the fortifications.

Germany has been notified that the Russian fleet in the Baltic, consisting of fifteen warships, wishes permission to pass through the Kaiser Wilhelm canal on its way to the far east. England has also been asked for permission to allow the Black sea fleet to go through the Dardanelles.

There is some doubt in naval circles generally whether the Baltic fleet will be able to get through the ice or procure enough coal to take it to the scene of hostilities.

The foreign office has received a dispatch reporting that 5,000 Japanese troops are encamped near Seoul, Korea, some of whom have entered the town.

A dispatch from Yokohama says the greater number of the Russian warships at Port Arthur have already been disabled and that several Japanese warships have been sent home for repairs.

The representatives of several of the powers at Peking have informed their governments of China's intention to send 200,000 Boxers to Manchuria.

A Tokyo cablegram says the Japanese cruisers Nisshin and Kasuga are expected to reach the scene of war on Sunday and that they will disembark their Anglo-Italian crews and substitute Japanese.

Tokyo has just witnessed a smaller Mafeking celebration. Thousands of students paraded the streets, accompanied by many bands of music and carrying torches, flags, colored lanterns and transparencies emblazoned with war pictures. National airs were sung, and cheers were continually given. The various processions surrounded the palace wall and visited the government offices.

The Russian legation overlooks a square where thousands of people had assembled to witness the celebration of the Japanese victory, but the windows of the legation were darkened. The crowds are orderly and sober. The British residents of Tokyo were cheered wherever they appeared.

A cable from Copenhagen says that the Russian Baltic squadron of fifteen warships has passed through Danish waters en route for the far east around Cape Skagen, but as a fierce storm was raging in the North sea the Russian admiral ordered the squadron through the Kaiser Wilhelm canal.

A late dispatch from St. Petersburg says the czar has received a telegram from Viceroy Alexeieff describing the damage done to the Russian warships during the bombardment by the Japanese fleet at Port Arthur. It says:

"The Cesarevitch and Pallada have been brought into the harbor. The Retvisan is making temporary repairs to a hole. Repairs to the battleships are so complicated that it is difficult to say when they will be ready. The Pallada and Novik will be docked in turn, and I expect them to be ready in a fortnight. All the other vessels injured in the fight are now repairing and coaling in the harbor. I expect them to be ready in three days.

"The wounded officers, Lieutenant Colonel Zaiontchkovsky of the artillery corps and Lieutenant Petrof, are doing well. Four of the wounded have died. A majority of the injured belonged to the cruiser Pallada, and their injuries are due to gases from the explosion of a melinite torpedo. A careful search by cruisers and torpedo boats day and night has not revealed the presence of the enemy."

The Tientsin correspondent of the Standard cables it is rumored that five Russian cruisers from Vladivostok have bombarded Hakodate, Japan.

A dispatch from Nagasaki says:

"There has been a renewed attack on Port Arthur. The Japanese captured seven Russian ships and chased others.

"There have been disturbances at Port Arthur in which a number of Japanese civilians were killed or imprisoned.

"A Chinese mob has destroyed the telegraph line around Newchwang."

St. Petersburg advices say Secretary Hay's note to the powers has attracted much attention in diplomatic circles there. Any movement having for its purpose the limiting of the scene of hostilities is received with sympathy, but in certain quarters the practicability of the action suggested is questioned. A prominent diplomat expressed surprise that the preservation of Korea was not included in the note.

The wishes of the United States have been communicated to the Russian government and presumably also to Japan. At the foreign office it has been learned that no response to the note had been made, and it was considered extremely doubtful whether Russia felt herself in a position to make any declaration now which might hamper her military operations. The question was said to be one for the military authorities to decide, and the representations of the United States, which are understood to be couched in the most courteous terms, probably will be referred to Viceroy Alexeieff.

Newspapers here do not fully understand the purport of the note and regard it as an attempt at mediation, the bare suggestion of which, while the country is smarting under the sting of defeat, creates irritation.

The Vedomosti points out that the United States should have initiated a joint action a fortnight ago to restrain Japan and that it is now too late. Furthermore, Russia, after her experience at Berlin, has had enough of international congresses.

The prompt declaration of the neutrality of the United States, although expected as a matter of course, has made a good impression here.

The bitterness against Great Britain, already great during the negotiations between Russia and Japan, is assuming almost alarming proportions. The supposition that Great Britain evacuated Weihaiwei to give Japan a base whence to attack has called out the deepest indignation, which has been still further inflamed by the publication in Great Britain of a blue book on Tibet, containing statements of Lord Lansdowne's offensive to Russia. Even in less stirring times this would have caused a public sensation.

Dealing with Secretary Hay's note, Baron Hayashi said:

"The neutrality of China was first suggested by my government, and we received assurances that Chinese neutrality would be observed. Japan will certainly agree most heartily to Secretary Hay's proposition, which appears chiefly to be due to the suspicion that Russia might find a pretext for military action against China. If, however, the United States and other powers contemplate the neutrality of Manchuria the case becomes very complicated. So long as there are Russian troops in Manchuria Japan cannot regard it as neutral territory. I scarcely think the United States, Great Britain or any other power would be willing to drive the Russians out of Manchuria, however much they might insist that Manchuria is part of neutral China. So, while we are anxious to assist in assuring the neutrality of China proper, we have every intention of waging an aggressive land campaign in Manchuria itself. Having resorted to arms, we shall probably go further than our modest demands made during the negotiations."

A Washington dispatch says: "Regarding the criticism of Baron Hayashi on Secretary Hay's note to the powers it can be stated that the word Manchuria is not used in the note nor has the state department authorized any interpretation of the note so as to specifically include that province, though the state department will not be led into a discussion of details at this stage of the negotiations. By a high official it was said that the powers agreed to preserve the integrity of China in 1900 and that it was not specified how much of China was included in the general term."

The existence of a state of war with Russia has been formally announced by an imperial proclamation at Tokyo.

Following is the text of the imperial rescript:

"We, by the grace of heaven, emperor of Japan, seated on the throne occupied by the same dynasty since time immemorial, hereby make proclamation to all our loyal and brave subjects as follows:

"We hereby declaire war against Russia, and we command our army and navy to carry on hostilities against her in obedience to their duty with all their strength, and we also command all our competent authorities to make every effort in pursuance of their duties to attain the national aim with all the means within the limits of the law of nations.

"We do not in the least admit Russia had from the first any serious or genuine desire for peace. She rejected the proposals of our government. The safety of Korea was in danger, and the interests of our empire were menaced. The guarantees for the future which we failed to secure by peaceful negotiations can now only be obtained by an appeal to arms.

"It is our earnest wish that by the loyalty and valor of our faithful subjects peace may soon be permanently restored and the glory of our empire preserved."

ALLEN'S REPORT.

American Minister Confirms Occupation of Seoul.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Two dispatches have been received by the state department from Minister Allen at Seoul, in the second of which he reports that 2,500 Japanese troops are in Seoul.

The minister in his first dispatch reports the arrival of twenty-one Japanese naval vessels at Chemulpo on the afternoon of the 9th. Two Russian naval vessels, the Variag and Korietz, were in Chemulpo harbor and attempted to prevent the landing of Japanese forces, but with no success. The foreign naval vessels, the minister says, were generally leaving the harbor. There was a report that the Japanese naval vessels had captured Russian transports off Makpo on the 9th.

The second dispatch says: "A running naval engagement took place in Chemulpo harbor, beginning about noon. The Variag and the Korietz again attempted to escape, but failed. The Variag was injured. On their return the Japanese naval vessels announced officially that they would attack the place at 4 o'clock p. m. At the latter hour the Korietz blew up and sank. She was a slow vessel, which made it difficult for her to escape. The Japanese naval vessels attacked the Variag from the outside harbor until she sank. Twenty-five hundred Japanese troops are in Seoul."

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

Army Payment Loan May Be Taken Up by American Syndicate.

HAVANA, Feb. 12.—On account of a question regarding the date upon which the increased customs duties should take effect American importers here have joined other importers in petitioning the government to remit certain portions of the duties paid.

It is said that at the final conference between President Palma and the representatives here of the American syndicates desiring to take up the Cuban loan of $35,000,000 the representatives of Speyer Bros. offered to make a bid provided the president would announce his acceptance or rejection thereof forthwith. President Palma would not consent to act without further consideration and consultation, so no bid was made.

The National City bank of New York and the Kuhn-Loeb syndicate having decided they were not ready to submit bids at present, Frank A. Vanderlip, vice president of the National City bank, has left here for New York, and Mr. Kuhn of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. will also go to New York. The Speyer party will remain at Havana until the arrival of Mr. Coolidge's yacht, when they will cruise in Cuban waters.

Susquehanna Rising; Hundreds Fled.

PORT DEPOSIT, Md., Feb. 12.—The Susquehanna river is ten feet out of its banks, and hundreds of families have fled from their inundated homes. A large number of business houses, mills, lumber yards, etc., are under water. The rushing ice and water continues to rise. It is reported that the Pennsylvania railroad bridge at Columbia, Pa., is in imminent danger of being washed away. Thus far no lives have been lost or live stock carried away.

Long Shots Won at Ingleside.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—Long shots were to the front at Ingleside, only one favorite winning. A heavy rain fell all afternoon. The two-year-old race went to Bose Eley, which was played from 100 to 1 to 20 to 1. The Don, a 12 to 1 chance, landed the fourth race.

Russell Goes to His Post.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Feb. 12.—The United States auxiliary cruiser Prairie touched at La Guayra and left immediately for Colon. She has taken W. W. Russell, the newly appointed United States charge d'affaires at Panama, to his post.

HANNA VERY ILL.

Physicians Consider His Condition Serious If Not Precarious.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Senator Hanna's condition is very serious if not precarious. His physicians realize this and are watching the case with the greatest concern. The senator is considerably weaker, and as a result his pulse had run up at 6 o'clock to 106 pulsations to the minute. The increased weakness is the direct result of the fever, as the official bulletin shows there are no complications. The physicians hope that the fever has reached its worst stage, but whether or not it has they declare they are unable to say. They are simply waiting for developments and realize the patient has lost ground the last two days. Stimulants have been given the senator during the day and with beneficial results. He rests well and has retained the nourishment given him during the past twenty-four hours. This latter feature of the case is encouraging to the physicians.

Extraordinary precautions are being taken to insure quiet in and around the hotel so that the senator may get all the natural sleep possible. The motormen of the street cars almost a block away have been requested not to ring their gongs, as their sudden clanging seemed to irritate the senator. After the last visit of the physicians Senator Hanna slept for about an hour and a half, which considerably refreshed him. Dr. Carter remains at the hotel all the time so as to be on hand in case there is a call for him.

The following bulletin on Senator Hanna's condition has been issued:

"Senator Hanna has been resting quietly. His temperature was 102 2-10; pulse, 104; respiration, 28. There has been no change in his general condition. He retains all the nourishment given him for the past twenty-four hours. There are no complications."

BALTIMORE BANKS OPEN.

All Through Financial District Business Is Being Resumed.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 12.—Baltimore is now emerging from the dark cloud cast upon it by the great conflagration of last Sunday and Monday. An incident that inspired the whole community with tremendous confidence was the resumption of business by the banks, deposits being received and checks honored in the usual way. It would be difficult to estimate the volume of transactions in this respect; but, according to the leading bankers, it was gratifyingly large in view of existing conditions.

All through the financial district preparations are being made to open safes and vaults. Those of the German bank and the German Fire Insurance company, Baltimore and Holliday streets, were opened and the cash and books taken out uninjured. The vault of the Marine bank has been opened and found intact. Not one instance has been heard of a vault the contents of which have been seriously damaged.

SHELLS FLYING AROUND.

Santo Domingo Still Suffers From Rebels' Siege.

SANTO DOMINGO, Feb. 12.—The French cruiser Troude has arrived here to protect French subjects on the island. The Spanish cruiser Rio de la Plata has left.

The San Thomas, a French steamer which has arrived here from Europe, has been unable to discharge her cargo. The captain was afraid to enter the river, and the lighters refused to go outside.

The firing around this city continues, many shells fall inside, and property is being damaged.

Lincoln Republican Party Call.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 12.—A call has been issued for a national nominating convention of the Lincoln Republican party to be held in St. Louis on July 25. The call invites the attendance of all persons, white or colored, who favor pensioning former slaves, who believe in paying for property of southerners confiscated or destroyed during the civil war and who favor a national slave school fund, increased wages for mail carriers and union labor. The call is issued by W. R. Vaughan of this city.

Roumania to Occupy Bulgaria.

BUCHAREST, Roumania, Feb. 12.—It is reported here that Premier Stourdza has been sounded by the Austria-Hungarian and Russian governments as to whether in the event of the Macedonian movement assuming serious proportions in the spring Roumania would accept a mandate from the European powers to occupy Bulgaria with troops.

Nantucket Still Isolated.

NANTUCKET, Mass., Feb. 12.—After a long, hard battle with the thick ice which surrounds this island the steamer Nantucket has been compelled to abandon the attempt to force a passage to the open sea. The island is now in the grasp of an ice embargo more extensive than either of the others earlier in the winter.

Houses on Susquehanna Deserted.

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 12. — The condition of the Susquehanna river at Columbia is unchanged. At Marietta the ice on the York county side broke, but without disastrous results. The water at Bainbridge has risen five feet. Houses in the imperiled district have been deserted and all portable property removed.

STORING COAL.

Lehigh Valley Railroad Preparing for Anticipated Freshets Piles Up Coal at South Plainfield.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has been preparing for some time for the breaking up of winter and the annual flooding of the Lehigh Valley, by rushing coal to South Plainfield and Perth Amboy.

Some of the cars going into South Plainfield and Perth Amboy are covered with snow two feet deep. The ice in the Lehigh river and its tributaries is of about the same thickness. It is feared that when the ice breaks up and the snow melts the freshet will be unprecedented. Practically nothing can be done to avert the expected trouble, but the company will lessen the suffering incident to it by having large quantities of all sizes of coal at Perth Amboy and South Plainfield.

ROBERT A. MEEKER'S TALK ON GOOD ROADS

Plainfielder Makes Address Before Members of Good Roads' Congress in Conn.

JERSEY'S FINE WORK

MR. MEEKER IS THE STATE SUPERVISOR OF ROADS.

Recites Provision of New Jersey's Law—Movement Here One of National Growth—The Money That Has Been Spent.

Robert A. Meeker, of this city, State Supervisor of Roads of New Jersey, is a delegate to the Good Roads' Congress which is being held in Hartford, Conn., this week, and the Hartford Times, of Wednesday contains a full account of the proceedings of the congress, together with the pictures of the prominent men present. An excellent likeness of Mr. Meeker is shown.

Mr. Meeker made an address Wednesday afternoon on what had been accomplished by State aid in New Jersey. He said in part:

"The good roads movement in New Jersey is one of natural growth and gradual development. Beginning, as it does, where the street pavements end, and extending through the outlying suburbs to the farms beyond, its end and aim is to bring city and country into closer contact. For this purpose it was necessary to procure a road covering that would be hard and smooth at all seasons of the year, and, at the same time, much less expensive than city pavements.

"Under the provisions of the original New Jersey State aid act, the property owners are required to pay one-tenth and the State one-third of the cost. These payments are virtually a free gift to the county, which pays the remainder and therefore must keep the roads in repair. It is also mandatory upon the boards of freeholders to build a road whenever the property owners present a petition for its improvement and agree to pay one-tenth of its cost.

"The passage of this law created a demand by the friends of the good roads movement for its enforcement, and also an equally determined opposition, which opposition resulted in an appeal to the courts and the mandatory features were sustained. Since that time there has been an increasing demand for roads to be improved under this act, and to meet this it has been necessary to increase the State appropriation by gradual stages from $75,000 in 1892 to $250,000 in 1903, while our present law provides that it may be increased to $400,000, and even this sum would not satisfy all the demands we receive for State aid. In further proof of this, the number of miles built bear testimony. From 34.9 in 1893, the number of miles constructed annually has increased to 155 in 1903, making the total number of miles of roads improved under the provisions of the State aid law, from its enactment to the present time, 952, toward the construction of which the State has contributed $1,551,168.55; in addition to the above there are 48 miles in process of construction, thus bringing the grand total of roads built and under contract, under State supervision, up to 1,000 miles. The foregoing is a brief resume of the growth and progress of the State aid law in New Jersey."

TRUANCY CASE.

John Harkins Concludes to Send His Children to School Rather Than Face Court.

John Harkins' promise to send his children to St. Gabriel's Academy in North Plainfield saved him last night from serving a term in the Somerville jail. Harkins lives in the borough and has several children who are listed as truants. The Board of Education has had its attention called to the habitual truancy of the children and a visit was made to the home of the father. He could give no sound explanation why he did not send his children to school and he was threatened with arrest.

His trial was to have been held last night before Recorder Thomas Doud. A notice was served upon him by Truant Officer Richard McDonald to appear for the hearing but Harkins said that he would see that his children were sent to St. Gabriel's Academy on Monday. He says he is going to remove to this city.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Caspar Boisterle, of Watchung avenue, is detained at home by illness.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. St. John, formerly of this city, but now of Elizabeth, will sail tomorrow by the Savannah Line for St. Augustine, Fla., where they will sojourn during the coming month. They will visit various points of interest in Florida.

Patrick O'Keeffe, of Orchard place, employed at the Pond Machine Tool Works, is detained from work owing to an accident a few days ago. While leaving the works he slipped on some ice and in falling fractured the wrist of his left arm. It will be some time before he can return to his position.

ARRESTED SIX GUILTY ONES

POLICE MADE A RAID AND THE PRISONERS ARE GIVEN LONG SENTENCES.

The police raided a disorderly house at Madison avenue next to the railroad last night, and arrested six inmates, all of whom were sentenced to fifty days in the county jail by City Judge Runyon this morning. The "gang" arrested has given the police considerable annoyance in the past, and complaints of neighbors enabled Chief Kiely to send Patrolmen Overbaugh and Kelly to the "joint" last night and obtain sufficient evidence for conviction. Those arrested and "sent down" were Mrs. Carrie Slover, proprietress, Mrs. Hannah Meadow, Mrs. Sadie Marsh, James J. Fitzgerald, John Galbraith and John Logan.

MISS LOWREY DEAD.

Miss Mary Lowrey, aged twenty years, died yesterday morning at Muhlenberg Hospital. She leaves a sister, Mrs. Donnelly, of 317 Stebbins place, from whose home she will be buried tomorrow morning at 7:30. The interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

School Reciprocity.

The communication received by Samuel Townsend, of the borough school board, was to the effect that a reciprocity plan is likely to be agreed upon between the two educational institutions, enabling a man moving from the borough into the city, or vice versa, to allow his children to finish out the school year in the school where the child started.

Violated Hack Ordinance.

Sentence was suspended on Michael F. Higgins, a hackman at the North avenue station, who appeared before City Judge Runyon yesterday on a charge of violating hack ordinances by asking too much for a fare.

—Edward Shroppe has resigned in the Pond Machine Tool Company's Works.

LINCOLN'S CITIZENS HONORED EMANCIPATOR

Silas Dewey Drake, Gen. J. Madison Drake and Rev. J. B. Cleaver the Speakers.

BANQUET A FEATURE

REV. J. C. CULP OFFERED THE OPENING PRAYER.

The Misses Egel Sang Patriotic Songs, Accompanied by Mrs. vonMinden—S. D. Drake's Speech—Told of a Precious Flag.

A celebration in honor of Lincoln day was held in Lincoln yesterday. Speeches were made by Silas Dewey Drake, of Lincoln; Rev. J. B. Cleaver, of Bound Brook, and Gen. J. Madison Drake, of Elizabeth. Songs were rendered by the Misses Egel, accompanied by Mrs. VonMinden, and a banquet followed.

The exercises opened with a prayer by Rev. J. C. Culp, of Bound Brook. Mayor Silas Dewey Drake was master of ceremonies and in the course of his speech he said: "I am proud of the fact that I lived in the day of Abraham Lincoln, and was familiar with his life, his stuggles and his triumphs. I am proud of the fact that I could answer his call for troops, to help beat back the foe that fired on our starry flag, and who sought the disruption of our glorious union. The soldier boys of '61 to '65 called him father Abraham as they used to sing on the tented field and weary march, 'We are Coming Father Abraham 300,000 more, from California's Golden Gate, and from New England Shore.'

"Last Monday night a hundred old veterans of the war, accompanied Gen. J. Madison Drake to Trenton where they presented to Gov. Murphy, as custodian of the State, the first flag that was unfurled on Virginia soil, my mind goes back to that dark night in '61 when that march was made across long Bridge, and I believe that were Lincoln living today, he would say that that night was an eventful one in his life, as he realized that our brave boys were about to enter the enemy's country, and I saw that old battle flag laid away last Monday night, and could see the tear drop on the bronzed old veterans faces, I could imagine the spirit of Lincoln looking down, and saying, while each State House in our country holds the flags of this regiment, 'There goes at last the flag that its bearer, Ensign J. M. Drake, carried on Virginia soil, on that eventful night in '61, and while I have passed away so long ago, after finishing the work that God laid out for men, and a majority of my soldier boys have answered the last roll called, and the few that are left are striving over relics and flags for safe keeping, where generations yet to follow may get an inspiration and that will fit them for good citizenship and patriotic duty."

Rev. J. B. Cleaver spoke for fifty minutes in his eloquent way, after which Gen. J. Madison Drake delivered a short address. A repast was served to the one hundred persons in the lower hall.

SCHOOL MEETING.

Citizens of North Plainfield to Decide Whether a New School Building Shall be Erected.

A special school meeting will be held in the North Plainfield High School on Somerset street, Tuesday night, February 23, at 8 o'clock, at which time it is proposed to take action concerning the purchase of a plot of ground upon which it is desired to erect a new public school. The Board of Education will ask the voters to authorize the borrowing of money with which to purchase ground and erect a new school, the sum total thought to be necessary being $35,000.

Commensurate Punishment.

In the New Jersey Legislature a law was introduced which proposed imprisonment for three years for any dealer selling cigarettes to boys under 16 years of age. But Governor Murphy quite sensibly insisted upon a change making the imprisonment part three months. Of course, it is an evil to sell cigarettes to mere boys, but a misdemeanor of that sort should not be classed with felonies and crimes which rightly merit severe punishment. The masses would recognize the injustice of the case, and in the end public opinion would practically do away with the law. Good strong fines serve a better end in matters of this sort.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

BIG CROWD AT THE CONCERT

Y. M. C. A. ORCHESTRA PLAYED BEFORE AN EHTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE.

The thirteenth concert of the Y. M. C. A. orchestra not only filled the large association hall last night but the entrance hall as well. The accommodations were altogether insufficient for the crowd that wished to hear the popular numbers and the sopranos solos of Miss Florence Ackor, accompanied on the piano by Miss Charlotte Conger.

The programme presented was the same as that of the twelfth concert given February 1 at which the number of those turned away was enough to warrant a repetition of the programme. Admission to the concert was free, and the silver offering taken up an encouraging benefit to the association. The descriptive march, "The Burning of Rome," which furnished a climax to the programme, was again a popular and capably rendered number. Martin A. Korff led the orchestra.

LEGISLATION FOR FIREMEN

PROPOSED LAW GIVEN TO ATTORNEY-GENERAL M'CARTER FOR INSPECTION.

The Executive Committee of the New Jersey Firemen's Relief Association met in Trenton this week to discuss legislation desired by the firemen. The bill which it is proposed to introduce at this session of the Legislature, and which it is expected will meet the objections which the Supreme Court recently decided existed in the Firemen's Exemption Act, was fully discussed.

The proposed bill has been placed in the hands of Atty.-General McCarter and he is to state whether or not it contains constitutional weaknesses. If it will fully embrace the members of the relief association there will be an endeavor to have the measure made comprehensive enough to also take in the members of the Exempt Firemen's Associations throughout the State.

PLAINFIELDERS AT DAYTONA

DELIGHTFUL CLIME ATTRACTS THOSE WISHING TO ESCAPE CHILLY BLASTS.

While Plainfield is experiencing a long and severe winter, some of its citizens are enjoying the sunny and delightful clime of Daytona, Florida. Here the temperature has been hugging the zero mark of the thermometer, while at Daytona it registers in the vicinity of 84 degrees, such being the temperature in the shade only a few days ago on the porch of the Daytona House.

The people in Daytona are now feasting on delicious fresh peas and strawberries, and other delicacies, enough to make one's mouth water and wish for "the good old summer time," and they are being refreshed by daily baths in the ocean.

In the colony of Plainfielders at Daytona are Clarence M. Rogers, Mrs. W. B. Maxson, Miss Ida Bocap, Mrs. William Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Robert Gerton and daughter, Evelyn, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Newton Highlands; Mr. and Mrs. Edward White, Miss Ernestine C. Smith and Miss Lillian A. Force. Daytona is rapidly becoming a popular resort for Northern people, who want to escape the cold and chilly blasts of winter. The spot is an ideal one and the people are most hospitable.

POLITICAL TALK IN BOROUGH

LIVELY CAMPAIGN EXPECTED AS RESULT OF PAID FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Some exciting campaigning is promised prior to the next election in North Plainfield Election day falls on Tuesday, March 15, and as yet the Democrats are the only ones who have held a council of war. The fight promises to be waged fast and furious when it starts. The firemen do not deny that they would like to see the coming vacancies in the Council filled by men favorable to their interests. A politician, whose sympathies lie with the firemen, in speaking of the action of the Democrats in agitating for a non-partisan ticket, said it is a plan to gain the support of the firemen so that a Democratic representation in the Council can be secured. The hopes of the Democrats in North Plainfield, it its said, depend largely in getting the firemen arrayed with them.

According to the resolution passed in the Council at the February meeting when the paid department ordinance became a law, the volunteer system will disband on election day, March 15. This is a thorn in the side of the firemen which, they say, will spur them on to bitter hostilities during the coming campaign.

P. S. C.'S THIRD ORDER FOR TROLLEY CARS

The Builders Throughout the Country Asked to Submit Prices for Cars Wanted.

FOR ENTIRE SYSTEM

A CONSIGNMENT OF CARS HAS BEEN SHIPPED FROM PHILADELPHIA.

Old Officials May be Reinstated—Col. Hine Says There is a Lot of Work to be Done Yet—Sixty Cars in Meadow Shop.

The Public Service Corporation has decided to place a third order for new trolley cars with one of the large manufacturing concerns of the country. The carbuilders have been made aware of this intention and among the bidders will be the John Stephenson Company of Elizabeth.

Since the city officials have begun to twist the tail of the trolley company, considerable improvement has been noticed in the local service.

New cars are arriving fast and Colonel Hine, the new general manager, thinks he will soon be able to turn out three a day from the Plank road meadow shops, where the electrical equipment is being fitted to the cars as fast as they are received.

To rush things along, a force of men from the John Stephenson Car Works has been sent over to assist the Public Service employes in this work. Today there are about sixty new cars at the meadow shops and every effort is being made to have them ready to go into commission within a week.

Besides the cars which have recently been received from the Brill Brothers' factory at Philadelphia, it was given out this morning that another consignment is on the way from a firm in Cincinnati. The new cars will be scatered over the system on the long runs.

Some new cars were shipped from the Brill shops in Philadelphia yesterday which are included in the sixty at the shops today. New electrical equipment has arrived from Pittsburg to be fitted to these cars to be put into condition for the road.

In speaking of the general condition of the system, Colonel Hine said the things were getting into fairly good shape. "There's a lot to be done yet, but we are getting along satisfactorily," he remarked.

There is some talk of Colonel Hine reinstating some of the old superintendents and other officials who were discharged under the Wheatley administration. Among these mentioned in this connection are Charles M. Shipman, formerly supreintendent of the Essex division, and Thomas Brady, recently superintendent at Jersey City. This rumor will not be confirmed by anyone connected with the Public Service, and the men who are nominated for reinstatements do not know anything of it themselves.

CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOLS

County Superintendent Shearer yesterday received the official report of the result of the Fanwood-Scotch Plains school election held Wednesday. The vote was unanimous for consolidation. The board of school directors will be composed of nine membesr. Each town will elect four members and the State will appoint one.

Elections on the question of consolidation will also be held in New Providence township and New Providence borough, Linden township and Linden borough, and Westfield and Mountainside.

SEQUEL OF CRUDUP CASE

HUSBAND SAYS THAT HE WILL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE FOR WIFE'S DEBTS.

J. B. Alston, the colored night fireman at the electric light plant, was the object of a mysterious attack about 11 o'clock Thursday night. A ball of iron from a lever of a steam valve was hurled at him and missed him narrowly, the missle being hurled through an open door while he was wheeling coal in the electric light building.

Alston is the man who brought a complaint against Rev. Essex J. Crudup, of the Filmore Baptist church, alleging improper conduct with his wife, Mrs. Eugenia Alston. The Grand Jury failed to indict Crudup on this charge. Alston has served formal notice that his wife has left him and that he will not be responsible for debts incurred by her. A legal notice to this effect will be found in another column.

CELEBRATED LINCOLN DAY

WOMEN'S RELIEF CORPS, G. A. R., HELD PATRIOTIC EXERCISES.

Following the regular business meeting of the Women's Relief Corps, G. A. R., last night, patriotic exercises were held in honor of Lincoln's birthday, in G. A. R. Hall, on East Front street. The entertainment provided by the members was cleverly carried out and a pleasant time was had.

The exercises were in charge of Department Instructor Mrs. Emma Cox, assisted by Corps Instructor Mrs. Sarah Mattox. The business meeting was conducted over by the president, Mrs. Sarah E. Baglin, who occupied the chair to which she was recently elected for the first time last night. Miss Try Mattox pleased those present with a recitation entitled "Linclon." Mrs. John Manley sang as did Mrs. Charles Westphal. Mrs. Cox recited. Remarks were made by Comrades M. C. Dobbins, Francis L. Whitely, John Manley and others. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

MERRY JUVENILE AUDIENCE

"ALICE IN WONDERLAND" GIVEN BY S. M. B. AT CRESCENT AVE. CHURCH.

"Alice in Wonderland," portrayed by the members of the Sunshine Mission Band, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, delighted a large juvenile audience yesterday afternoon in the Sunday-school rooms of that church. There were four scenes cleverly reproduced by the twenty members of this organization. The object of holding the entertainment was not only to interest the children on a holiday but to raise money for the benefit of the Day Nursery in Syria. The hall was filled with young people and the proceeds footed up to a lareg amount.

In charge of the arrangements were Miss Helen Bowne, the president and Miss Harriet Goddard, vice president. These two young women made most of the costumes and drilled the children in their respective parts. Leonard Lewis, a lad of five years, charmed the audience with several vocal solos accompanied by Miss Roxanna Love on the piano. Phonographic selections were given by Mrs. Harriet Hall.

PASSING OF NATIONAL GUARD

STATE MILITIA SOON TO BE MADE A PART OF THE REGULAR ARMY.

Governor Murphy and the members of the State Military Board have held a conference over the bill that will probably be introduced in the Legislature Monday evening, by the provisions of which the National Guard of New Jersey will formally accept the Dick bill, and in doing so will become auxiliary to the regular United States army.

It is stated, however, that there are several differences of opinion as to some of the minor details of the bill. Governor Murphy, it is said, has raised a number of minor objections and has made several objections, most of which, it is said, are in accord with the views of the Military Board.

The adoption of the provisions of the Dick bill will be a formal matter, the State Militia having during the past year or more been adapting itself in the matter of uniforms, drills, etc., to its requirements.

Several members of the State Board seen after the meeting said they had no fear that the adoption of the provisions of the Dick bill would result in a depletion of the ranks of the guard by reason of the requirement that makes it necessary that a new oath of allegiance be taken by which the members of the guard pledge themselves to serve for five yeard and to hold themselves in readiness for duty wherever they might be called upon to go, whether in this or any other State.

BANKER'S EYESIGHT TOTALLY DESTROYED

A. J. Brunson Terribly Afflicted as a Result of Explosion While Making Experiment.

EYES SEARED BY FIRE

SPECIALIST SAYS THAT HE WILL BE PERMANENTLY BLINDED.

Brunson Kept in Igorance of His Awful Misfortune—Not Known What Caused Explosion—Victim But 32 Years Old.

It was in a search for a new avenue of wealth that August J. Brunson sacrificed his sight. As a result of an explosion while he was experimenting with chemical compounds in an attempt to discover a quick veneering process his vision was totally destroyed. His eyeballs were almost seared from his head by flames emanating from gasolene and volatile chemicals.

Mr. Brunson is president of the First National Bank and a clever financier. A year ago, in a isolated part of this city, he erected a small brick building, the interior of which he zealously guarded from prying eyes. Almost every afternoon he would go to the place and remain in it until evening, but for what purpose no one knew.

On Thursday afternoon, Feb. 4, residents in the vicinity of "the secret factory," as it is called, were startled by a terrific explosion. Rushing to the place they found one end of the building entirely blown out. Going inside, the bank president was found amid the wreck of a small gasolene engine and unfamiliar paraphernalia. His face and head were a mass of burns, and his clothing was in shreds. He was carried to the home of Dr. George Endicott, where he was made as comfortable as possible while his injuries were closely examined.

Dr. Endicott at once discerned that his eyes were in a critical condition and he summoned Dr. Kipp, a Newark specialist. The latter declared that Mr. Brunson's eyesight was permanently destroyed, as the flames had swept across the eyeballs. As yet the injured man has been been acquainted with the facts in relation to the burns, and he is eagerly anticipating the time when the bandages can be removed.—New York Herald.

FOR A GOLDEN RACKET.

Tuxedo Park Tournament—Dinsmore and Barger Won Preliminary.

TUXEDO PARK, N. Y., Feb. 13.—The amateur racket championship games for the gold racket has begun here on the courts of the Tuxedo Tennis and Racket club. In the drawing Erskine Hewitt and Milton S. Barger, E. Townsend Irvin and Robert Cassett and William B. Dinsmore, Jr., and E. Edwards were paired. Lawrence Waterbury drew a bye. There were two matches decided in the preliminary round, in which Milton S. Barger, the racket champion of New York, easily defeated Erskine Hewitt in three straight sets and E. Edwards of New York won from William B. Dinsmore, Jr., of Tuxedo.

The match between Edwards and Dinsmore, the most exciting event of the day, brought out some excellent rackets and proved a stubborn battle throughout. The third set was easily won by Edwards, but in the fourth Dinsmore pulled himself up with magnificent service and won by a score of 11—15, thus evening the score, but by very shrewd placing of the ball Edwards won the fifth and last set and the match.

In the match between Barger and Hewitt, Hewitt was easily outplayed and showed want of practice, while Barger took to the court at once.

HANNA IS SINKING

Senator Became Unconscious, But Has Rallied.

THERE IS STILL HOPE OF RECOVERY.

Attending Physicians Say the Case Is Desperate, but as He Has Come Through the Present Attack He May Do So Again.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Although Senator Hanna has had a sinking spell and for a time his heart's action stopped, so that artificial respiration had to be resorted to, he rallied perceptibly when oxygen and powerful stimulants had been administered.

After being unconscious for nearly three hours the senator responded slightly to the treatment and since then has been in a semiconscious condition.

Despite this seeming improvement, the attending physicians said that the case was still desperate. When the oxygen treatment was discontinued Senator Hanna breathed naturally, but it was said that if he should have another similar attack he probably could not survive it.

Nurses who were in the sickroom during the crisis say the senator's vitality is wonderful.

Senators, representatives and friends and admirers of Senator Hanna stood around the hotel corridors and spoke in whispers about the struggle the senator was making to rally from the terrible attack which was slowly consuming his vitality.

The doctors have given out some details regarding the senator's attack. For two hours and a half they gave oxygen continuously. At one time the senator's pulse was up to 130, and at another the physicians could not detect it at the wrist. Then they did not give any oxygen for about thirty minutes and then only at intervals. Senator Hanna was, conscious and talked two or three times. Once or twice the doctors could not understand him, and then again they understood when asked for something.

Mr. Dover, Mr. Hanna's secretary, said that the immediate critical crisis had passed and that the doctors think the senator is entirely over the sinking spell. Mr. Dover added that the senator is of course no stronger and if anything is weaker.

Miss Mary Phelps, the senator's niece, who was in the room when the doctor came from the sickroom and heard the announcement of the rally, asked:

"Then you have hope, doctor?"

"Hope?" the doctor replied. "Of course there is hope. When a man rallies from a sinking spell such as the senator had and showed such strength afterward there is the best ground for hope."

Senator Hanna is passing through the climax of his illness, and it was at one time feared he was dying, but he rallied strongly, and there is again some hope that he yet may win the forlorn fight. The odds are much against his recovery, but the sturdy physique of the man, aided by oxygen and powerful stimulants, has brought him through when he was sinking rapidly and possibly may again. It is now a question how long the climax of the fever will last and how many and severe will be any further acute attacks, for the present spell was so severe that another probably would witness the end.

The president and Mrs. Roosevelt called to inquire for Senator Hanna, and Mrs. Roosevelt was with Mrs. Hanna when the doctors announced an improved temperature. The president came later and remained in the senator's apartments nearly half an hour, when he was fully advised of his condition.

Mrs. Shields' Assailant Confesses.

ROANOKE, Va., Feb. 13. — Henry Williams, colored, who was arrested at North Fork, W. Va., Tuesday on suspicion of having committed a murderous assault and outrage on Mrs. G. L. Shields and her three-year-old daughter in their home here on Jan. 30, made a full confession of the crime to William G. Baldwin, president of the Railway Special Agents' Association of the United States and Canada, in the Bluefield (W. Va.) jail. Williams gave up two watches and some clothing stolen from the Shields' home. He was placed on a special train and rushed through to Richmond under a heavy guard. Rewards aggregating $2,000 were offered for the capture of the negro. The local military companies were kept under arms for more than a week after the crime was committed. Several negroes who have expressed themselves in incendiary language concerning the case have been driven out of Roanoke.

JAPAN'S MAIN OBJECT

Capture of Port Arthur Said to Be Imminent.

RUSSIAN TRANSPORT BLOWN UP

China to Declare Neutrality and Thus Keep Out Russian and Japanese Forces—Russian Warships Sink Japanese Merchant Steamer.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Latest reports from the scene of hostilities in the far east indicate that the center of activity at present is Port Arthur and its vicinity. The Japanese warships are reported to be bombarding the city, while troops of the mikado are trying to land from transports at Dalny and attack Port Arthur in the rear. This base of supplies for the Russian warships and land forces is evidently the chief object of the Japanese.

The British government has advices that Port Arthur is likely to be in possession of Japan within a week, and in well informed Japanese circles in London the opinion is expressed that the war will be over in July.

A Chefu dispatch says the British steamer Fu Ping when leaving Port Arthur was fired upon by Russians, and three Chinese members of the crew were wounded. The Russians afterward apologized for firing on the vessel. The Fu Ping upon its arrival at Weihaiwei filed a protest with the British commissioner. The American consul has reported to United States Minister Conger that the Russian authorities have refused to allow the American steamer Pleiades to leave Port Arthur. The Pleiades sailed from Seattle on Feb. 2 with a cargo of flour.

A late dispatch from St. Petersburg says Viceroy Alexeieff reports that the Russian torpedo transport Yenisei has been blown up as the result of accidentally striking a mine at Port Arthur. The Yenisei sank, and Captain Stepanoff, three officers and ninety-one men were lost.

The Yenisei was built at the Baltic works in 1899. She was of 2,500 tons displacement and could make sixteen knots. Her armament consisted of five twelve-pounder and six three-pounder quick firing guns.

A cablegram from Tokyo says:

"Two small Japanese merchant ships, the Seensho Maru and the Nakon Oura Maru, while on their way to Otara, a port on the western coast of Yezo island, from Sakata, a port on the northern coast of the main island of Japan, were fired on Feb. 11 by four Russian men-of-war off the coast of Aomori prefecture, and the latter was sunk, while the former had a narrow escape. The Russian men-of-war are still seen off the western coast of Yezo island. They are supposed to be the first class cruisers which have been shut up at Vladivostok and tried some time ago to join the main squadron at Port Arthur.

Minister Conger has cabled the state department in Washington that the Chinese government would immediately issue a proclamation of neutrality. This will prevent the threatened invasion of Manchuria by the Boxers and also the use of Chinese soil by Russian or Japanese troops.

A fleet of Japanese warships is watching near Chefu for the Russian squadron on its way from Europe to Port Arthur. They will attack it and hope to make its destruction complete. Other Japanese men-of-war are reported on the way to give battle to the Russian fleet thought bottled up by the ice at Vladivostok, but which is reported to have bombarded Hakodate, the capital of the island of Yezo, at the northern end of Japan, on Tuesday. The fleet may now be making its way along the coast destroying other places.

It is now almost certain that three of the torpedo boats which attacked the Russian fleet at Port Arthur Monday night were sunk, with great loss of life. The torpedo fleet, it is said, effected an entrance to the outer harbor by using the Russian signal flashlights.

It is reported that the Japanese troops are advancing rapidly toward the Yalu river, where they expect to engage the Russians. They expect to be able to drive them back and occupy Mukden.

Insurance against the risk of war between France and Great Britain within six months has been increased to 30 per cent by Lloyd's.

St. Petersburg advices say that Russia is evidently not prepared at this time to give an answer to the United States to Secretary Hay's note on the subject of the neutrality of China. As previously stated, hostilities having begun, the military authorities must be consulted, and the czar doubtless will refer the matter to Viceroy Alexeieff if he has not already done so. Russia, it can be said, is certainly as anxious as the United States that the war cause no risings or disorders in China. Indeed, the attitude of China is already causing some misgivings here, as she has not yet declared her neutrality.

It is thought here that the action of the Japanese in flooding Peking with posters relating their victories is part of a well laid campaign projected from the beginning to break dowr Russia's prestige in China for the purpose of ultimately effecting the union of the two races, which would make the "yellow peril" a reality.

Russia has already learned of the position taken by several powers regarding Secretary Hay's note.

Germany and Great Britain, it is understood, both express sympathy with its purpose, but with an important reservation concerning Manchuria, which is now the theater of war. Germany's views in this respect were anticipated, but Great Britain's failure to give Secretary Hay unqualified support has caused surprise here.

An imperial ukase has just been issued. It commands that all the troops in the military establishments in the Siberian military districts be placed in readiness for war, that all the divisions in the far eastern viceroyalty be brought to war strength and that the army and navy reserves in the Siberian and Kazan districts be called out for active service. The authorities are empowered to requisition the necessary horses.

Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister here, has received a dispatch from Tokyo announcing that on Feb. 11 two Japanese merchant steamers, the Nakanoura Maru and Zensho Maru, while on their way from Sakata to Otaru, on the island of Hokkaido, were surrounded and shelled by four Russian warships, presumably the Vladivostok squadron, off the coast of Herunshi (Okushiri?).

The Nakamoura Maru was sunk, but the Zensho Maru escaped and arrived safely at Fukuyama, island of Hokkaido.

The report that Russia is negotiating for permission to bring her Black sea fleet through the Dardanelles cannot be confirmed here. In diplomatic circles, while it is not believed that the porte would offer objections to this, the impression is that such an attempt would precipitate grave complications with the powers signatory to the Dardanelles convention.

Advices received from Jibutil, French Somaliland, say that the Russian squadron which passed Perim Jan. 27 had coaled at Jibutil and will wait there until Feb. 18 for the Russian warships due at Jibutil from Suez.

ANSWER HAY'S NOTE.

Germany, Britain, Italy and Austria Will Accept His Ideas.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—"To Russia and Japan the Washington government has suggested the propriety of limiting hostilities within as small an area as possible and of respecting the neutrality and administrative entity of China that China may be free from disturbances and foreign interests there from menace."

This is the substance of a note addressed by Secretary Hay on Feb. 10 to the St. Petersburg and Tokyo governments. On Feb. 8 in a note to Germany, Great Britain and France Mr. Hay invited taose powers concurrently to address Russia and Japan with the same suggestion, and on Feb. 11 this invitation was extended to Italy, Austria-Hungary, the Netherlands, Denmark, Spain and Belgium.

Germany was the first to respond, with a prompt acceptance of the invitation and the promise that she immediately would address the two combatants.

Great Britain was heard from next, expressing adherence to the principle laid down in the note, but withholding formal acceptance pending an answer to an inquiry whether the "administrative entity" of China involved Manchuria. Japan was heard from quickly, with the answer that she would act readily on the suggestion of the United States if a similar promise could be obtained from Russia.

Italy, Austria-Hungary and the Netherlands expressed sympathy with the idea and promised an answer after consultation with other powers. There is reason to believe that Spain and Belgium also will accept the invitation. Russia thus far has been silent, and the attitude of France is one of indecision.

This is the situation. Meantime it is learned that Germany is addressing the combatants with a note in substance the same as that of Secretary Hay.

Russian Red Cross Aid.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 13.—Count von Ontsoffdashkoff, one of the closest friends of Emperor Alexander III., will be head of the Red Cross work under the empress dowager. The Red Cross has received an appropriation of $2,500,000 from the city of St. Petersburg, and the merchants of the city have promised to give $750,000 more. The city of Moscow and the merchants there have contributed $900,000, and it is expected that the amount available for Red Cross work will reach $5,000,000 within a week. All the officials in the ministries have promised to contribute from 3 to 10 per cent of their salaries. Four thousand hospital beds are ready for shipment, and 4,000 more will go forward within a fortnight.

Refugees From Sunken Warships.

ROME, Feb. 13.—The government has received a message from the commander of the Italian cruiser Elba, which is at Chemulpo, Korea, saying that several Russian sailors from the warships sunk there by the Japanese in the recent engagement took refuge aboard the Elba, where they were kindly received. The commander says further that he cannot deliver these men to the Japanese because they would be made prisoners and that he cannot return them to Russia, as this action might be interpreted as a breach of neutrality.

Bostonian Dropped Dead.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 13.—Mark Knowlton, a well known citizen of Boston, dropped dead at the Union station here while attempting to board a train for the Florida east coast. Mr. Knowlton, accompanied by his daughter, arrived here on a steamer and went direct to the depot. His daughter was by his side when he died. He was a Mason of high standing.

Banquet at Cleveland Abandoned.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 13.—The banquet which was to have been held here last night as the concluding feature of the annual meeting of the Ohio Republican league has been abandoned because of the serious illness of Senator Hanna. Senator Foraker, Governor Herrick and other prominent men in public life were to have spoken.

BIG LOAN TO CUBA.

New York Firm to Supply 1st and Government With $35,000,000.

HAVANA, Feb. 13.—Speyer & Co. of New York have contracted to take the $35,000,000 Cuban loan.

The price to be paid for the bonds is 90½, one-half per cent above the minimum.

The Colonial Trust company of Boston is associated with the handling of the bonds, but the contract is solely in the name of Speyer & Co. The government has been assured that the money will be forthcoming in June.

The bonds are to run forty years, and they will draw interest at the rate of 5 per cent a year.

Besides the internal revenue taxes on liquors, tobacco, matches, etc., which will be levied especially to pay off the loan, an additional guarantee of 15 per cent on the customs collections is given.

Speyer & Co. agreed to supply the $35,000,000, less 9½ per cent, in three payments not later than June, September and December of this year. The company may, however, furnish the whole amount in one payment.

United States Minister Squiers was requested to call at the palace, and the facts of the transaction were communicated to him for transmission to his government.

A DRAMATIC SCENE.

Ohio Republican Clubs Hear of Hanna's Critical Condition.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 13.—A dramatic scene seldom if ever equaled in the history of Ohio politics occurred at the convention of the Ohio League of Republican Clubs here, connecting, as it did, the presidential indorsement of the league and the dying condition of Senator Hanna.

A spirited fight had been precipitated by the report of the committee on resolutions indorsing the candidacy of President Roosevelt for renomination. Objection to this was taken by the Montgomery county delegation, and a heated speech was made by Hon. Robert Nevin of Dayton supporting the stand of the delegation.

The Roosevelt spirit was plainly predominant, and Nevins' voice was frequently drowned by the opposing faction. Amid much confusion the Roosevelt resolution was finally adopted, only Montgomery county dissenting. At this psychological moment Governor Herrick arose on the platform and in a voice choking with emotion read a telegram from Washington announcing that oxygen was being used to sustain Senator Hanna and that it was feared that his condition was hopeless.

POSTAL FRAUDS TRIAL.

Mrs. Lorenz Acquitted and Is a Free Woman.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. — Before court adjourned in the postoffice trial Mrs. Martha J. Lorenz was a free woman. Justice Pritchard, acting on a motion of Mr. Kumler, decided that there was not sufficient evidence to hold her and directed the jury to find a verdict of not guilty. She simply smiled at the announcement and was warmly congratulated by her counsel and friends.

Justice Pritchard's decision came immediately after all the evidence was in. Several witnesses in rebuttal testified, one of whom was John R. Tulles, the stenographer who took down the questions and replies at the time Machen was under investigation in General Bristow's office, May 27, 1903. The witness, under a searching cross examination, admitted that he had made a number of errors in transcribing his notes.

ANARCHY IN BOLIVAR

Government Tried to Oust De Castro, Chief of Army.

MANJARES CAPTURED BARRANQUILLA

Bogota Moved Troops In Order to Insure Return of Joaquin Velez as President of Colombia—De Castro Was For General Reyes.

COLON, Feb. 13.—Political troubles in the department of Bolivar are growing. The steamer El Calvados of the French line has arrived here from Cartagena and Savanilla and brings news of a rebellion and practically a state of anarchy in the department, which has lasted for almost two weeks and which arose from the determination of the government at Bogota to oust Diego de Castro from his position as commander in chief of the military forces in Bolivar.

It was deemed prudent to do this because General de Castro, acting in conjunction with Francisco Insignares, civil governor of Bolivar, sent an expedition up the Magdalena river the latter part of last month to Calama for the purpose of stopping certain government troops who were coming down the river.

The government soldiers were sent down by the Bogota government for the purpose of insuring the election of Joaquin Velez as president of the republic and whose chances were considered slim in Bolivar. Insignares and De Castro purposed to meet this force in the interest of the candidature of General Rafael Reyes. When the two forces met at Banco mutual explanations were made, and Insignares and De Castro were induced to return without fighting.

General Manjares, who is with the government, reached Barranquilla, where General de Castro is stationed, about the end of January and informed De Castro that he held papers from President Marroquin making him (Manjares) commander in chief of the military and naval forces of the department in succession to De Castro. De Castro obstinately refused to give up his post, claiming that he held his appointment from General Reyes, who had been designated supreme commander of all Colombia's military forces, and that he had not been advised to hand over his command to General Manjares.

Upon this refusal General Manjares proceeded to Cartagena, where, without communicating with Governor Insignares, he succeeded in inducing General Araugo to turn over to him the command of the troops then in Cartagena.

As soon as this had been done Manjares, with a battalion of the Cartagena troops, took train for Calama. From Calama he telegraphed to Cartagena to at once send him 500 re-enforcements. The government at Bogota also sent down 4,000 troops under General Monsalve to join and support Manjares. As soon as his forces were collected Manjares started to march on Barranquilla.

In the meantime De Castro had left Barranquilla and started up the river alone. He reached Gamarra and from there got into direct telegraphic communication with President Marroquin on the matter. While De Castro was up the river Manjares and his command, numbering about 2,000 men, reached Barranquilla. Manjares communicated with the officer whom De Castro had left in command there, and this man agreed to turn over the garrison of 3,500 men and the town to Manjares. Manjares entered Barranquilla and took possession without firing a shot.

It is rumored that De Castro has now retired to the province of Santander, where he intends to muster forces, march to Barranquilla and recapture it.

It is regarded as most extraordinary in the department of Bolivar that the disorders did not culminate in the shedding of blood.

Cartagena is now quiet; but, considering the present riotous state of affairs, no one knows what will happen next, and there is much apprehension. Insignares is still governor of the department, but he is expected shortly to be superseded because of his connection with De Castro in opposing the wishes of Bogota.

The result of the presidential election is not known on the coast, but it is said that General Reyes polled a large majority of the votes in the department of Bolivar.

Joaquin Velez has 94 votes over Rafael Reyes, but the returns from five provinces have not yet been received.
